Promotions, problems covered in dialogue

"The procedures of promotion of faculty members and the procedures of promotions for professional staff members were approved by the Board of Regents," Dean Schlesinger told reporters yesterday. He added that the con­ ditions of non-tenured faculty mem­ bers should be governed by the Board of Regents, particularly the Board's decision by Environmental Protection Ad­

Stans: Wage hikes harmful

"It is the duty of the Board of Regents to maintain the integrity of the University and to make the University competitive with the other public universities in the state," said Prof. Jacob. "The Board should be the primary source of funds and the Board should make the necessary decisions."

Hold referendum on law grading change

A revolutionary change may be in the offing for students in the University law school. According to Prof. James R. Schlesinger, a law school referendum will be held on Tuesday, Aug. 15. The change would affect the grading system used by the law school.

The referendum will be held on Tuesday, Aug. 15. The change would affect the grading system used by the law school.

"We are holding this referendum to give the students a voice in the decision-making process," said Prof. James R. Schlesinger, a law school professor. "The students have shown a strong interest in this issue."

New drunk test being used by Hygienic Lab

By BARE YOST

Are you drunk, sober or just under the influence? The Iowa State University Hygienic Laboratory now has a test for you to use and the result will read to you.

At the request of the Iowa Public Health Commission, four years ago, Hygienic Lab Chemist John J. Wilson began a search for a device which could prove more convenient than the present blood test, and more accurate than the psychophysical test, which have been used in the past.

The new respiratory test, which Wilson used to the development of a new test, is based on the age-old principle that the rate of breathing is influenced by the concentration of alcohol in the blood.

At any rate, the device which Wilson has been working with, and which he is now using on the students, is a simple test to do, and it cannot be tampered with to give a false reading.

As the device is placed on the person's mouth, the breath flows through the tube and is measured by a unit which measures the rate of breathing.

The test provides many advantages over the present blood test. A person can cheaply and comfortably have his alcohol level tested.

A breath sample is taken by the officer using a saliva trap. Moisture which could affect the result is removed from the mouthpiece. A saliva trap is used to prevent any moisture from being passed on to the machine.

Van Morrison: good listening

Upstairs at Hygienic Lab, the state's Center for Chemical Research is being operated by Van Morrison.

Van Morrison is the leader of Them, a rock and roll group. He is also the leader of Garbo and the Illinois Music School.

The test is based on the principle that the rate of breathing is influenced by the concentration of alcohol in the blood.

The test has been approved by the Illinois State University, and it is now being used on the students.

For Van Morrison's group, the test is a valuable tool.

Little Murders" returns... for one show

"Little Murders" was an Iowa City favorite. The film did a "revival" and dollar-wise it was short-stopping. What a way to go!

I love Halloween double features at the Englert Theatre Tuesday at 11 p.m. That's great fun.

Writhe appeared on the scene John Fetterley, "Little Murders" in New York, where the show was a sensation somewhere. But, the movie, nonetheless, was presented in the famous theater on an American level and "Little Murders" was the thing. "New York! New York!" where it's always loud and the couple.

Even Arthur steps into this act the old, brilliantly playing a detective whose got a hundred and seven cases on his hands and only a super-heroine can explain them. But by the time you see Andy, any semblance of plot has dissolved, a sense effort further used in advocating more bright, "Coral Enamel." That's because "Little Murders" ends up being an affective source of truly humorous effect, which is pleasant. It's a story you might start to believe but by the time you're half-done, when Fetterley's humorous effect begins to be a little deep at the middle of his line.

The plot of the film comes off as a crazy show through to cornies and "mature comedy" scenes. There's enough acting here, like a mental aberration, but I'm afraid of the film it's real for the rhythm and the modification of the characters. The climax Music should be free. Or as free as possible.

Once a song becomes popular it belongs to the whole world. You hum it. Whistle it. Try to pick it out on your guitar.

Well now there's no easier way to buy the words and music to current hits, because now there's a magazine called Words and Music.

It only costs $1. And for your dollar every issue gives you the words and music of 8 to 10 new current songs.

For instance: our last issue which is on sale now, gives you the words and music to top hits by The Doors, The Bee Gees, 3 Dog Night, Hot Butter, Brothers, Helen Reddy, Bill Withers, Paul Stookey, John Denver, Carole King and Louie

And along with the music there are new and frightening photographs of the stars behind the songs.

Words and Music has developed its own unique style but not a lot of money.

The CPIA's most recent electronic art work, which is now becoming common in the modren world is not familiar to the majority of the audi ence.

Technological art deals with the unique level of actualization which is not related to the re motional world but is a formulated one. An electronic event is one in which a process or contin uum and actualization is not to follow the common actions of control and utilization. The concept was to use reaction time and space of the room. At the enf of the line, one of the color patterns became "sound things" and "robber objects" which visually represented the reaction experience of the room.

In this work the action created a situation in which one can see the rhythm and the modulation of various discovered sounds. It is similar, of course, to the "hysterical" sound thing which produced an electronic atmosphere throughout the room.

It was a lighter Philadelphia press week that look the foot in the face against the New York Giants today. The Eagles are now 2-4. The Eagles are the nation's 8th worst team in all 10 categories of the 10 categories of the yard age. They have lost 6 of 8 games and have 3 of the 10 worst offenses in football. The Eagles are not expected to win this game.

Tales from Sports Writers

"If we are going to win any race this year, it should be this," explained Wisconsin head coach Bob Scharnke last week. "The players realize that this is an important game, and it's about time we won a game.

"Wisconsin was invited several years ago, but we decided not to take the chance to rest this week and face Ohio State. It is an important game for us.

"According to Wisconsin, the game could be a turning point in their season, and it should be as big an event as the 1970 Sugar Bowl. Only Wisconsin's players feel that way. The Big Ten's other teams in the game are not excited at all, that's what a game at Wisconsin is all about.

"Wisconsin will bring a very determined team to Iowa City. Wisconsin's head coach, Jim Fleming, placed much of the blame for last week's defeat on the offensive line, which he feels is the strongest in the nation.

"The Wolves are not expected to win this game, but they will have some surprises, also.

Can Illini do it again?

Can Illinois do it again after last week's upset win over Michigan? The Illini are 4-0, 7-0, and are looking to make their third straight appearance in the Bowl Game. The game features a showdown between Michigan's Jim Plummer and Illini's Mike Ditka. Michigan has the better defense, while Illini has the better offense.

Fairbanks says Sooneers

will be at top strength

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) - Oklahoma head Coach Chuck Fairbanks said Thursday he wants his Sooners to be at full strength when they face Texas Tech on Saturday, but he stressed his primary concern is the Sooners' health and safety.

"We have no plans for any off days before we play Texas Tech," Fairbanks said. "If we have any injuries, we'll be sure to have them treated immediately."

Fairbanks said the Sooners' offensive line is in good shape, and he expects his team to be "ready to play at its best."
Iowa FCA chapter to meet Tuesday

The Iowa chapter of the FCA has scheduled a meeting for Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the R.W.U. Lounge at the Field House. The meeting will be open to all student-athletes and faculty and will feature a presentation by Dunbar Prentice, Iowa State University's athletic director. The meeting will also feature a guest speaker, T.J. Ford, a former Iowa football player who currently coaches at the University of Oregon. The meeting will conclude with a question-and-answer session with the FCA members.

Wideawake, a local chapter of the FCA, will host an annual meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, June 5, at the Wideawake Lounge at the Field House. The meeting will feature a guest speaker, T.J. Ford, a former Iowa football player who currently coaches at the University of Oregon. The meeting will conclude with a question-and-answer session with the FCA members.

Iowa's leader in kickoff return yardage, sophomore linebacker Ben Ferguson, has had his hands full this season as he attempts to recover from three knee injuries. Ferguson rushed for IOWA All-America honors in the low temperatures in the low 20s, and Iowa's seventh-ranked offense had difficulty blocking Iowa's defensive line. The Badgers have been able to generate a great deal of environment with their blocking schemes. Fawley was returning to campus to an audience of crowded Lecture Hall.

Iowa's leader in kickoff return yardage, sophomore linebacker Ben Ferguson, has had his hands full this season as he attempts to recover from three knee injuries. Ferguson rushed for IOWA All-America honors in the low temperatures in the low 20s, and Iowa's seventh-ranked offense had difficulty blocking Iowa's defensive line. The Badgers have been able to generate a great deal of environment with their blocking schemes. Fawley was returning to campus to an audience of crowded Lecture Hall.

CUE changes seating format for Leon Russell concert here

By DAVE HULLAND
For The Daily

The Community for Disenfranchised Diners (CDD) has made one change. It is the one that most irks the upcoming Leon Russell concert concept which also annoys visitors to the organization's dinner for better Futures.

The CDD's seated format, in which patrons sit in assigned seats, is set to run the final concert, which will be on the evening of the 17th. The CDD's check in is at 36 City, 8:30 a.m. Saturday, and the concert will start at 9 a.m.

One of the women who will be attending the concert, but who is unable to do so, is Phyllis Green. Green made the decision to attend the concert, but she is unable to do so because of her health condition.

Green was diagnosed with cancer last year and has been unable to attend concerts since then. She is now in the process of receiving treatment for her illness and hopes to attend the concert at some point in the future.

According to the CDD, the concerts have been well attended and continue to be popular with the community. The organization is currently working on new projects to expand its services.
