SAN FRANCISCO — The Institute of the American Geologists will give $3 million to the University of Iowa Racketeering and Environmental Protection in the form of a multi-million dollar campaign, according to the federal court.

A campaign official said the funds would be used to fund environmental and educational programs at the university, including the establishment of a new department of environmental science.

The Institute of the American Geologists was founded in 1946 and is a nonprofit organization dedicated to the protection of the environment.

The gift, which comes in response to the recent controversy surrounding the University of Iowa's decision to build a new nuclear power plant, will be matched by an additional $1 million from the National Science Foundation.

"This is a significant contribution to the University of Iowa and the field of environmental science," said Dr. John D. Williams, president of the Institute of the American Geologists.

"This gift will enable us to continue our important work in protecting the environment and ensuring a sustainable future for all Americans.

"We are grateful to the Institute of the American Geologists for their generous support and look forward to working together to make a real difference in the world of environmental science.

"We are committed to advancing our mission and will use these funds to support research, education, and community outreach programs.

"We are excited to see what we can accomplish with this gift and look forward to seeing the impact it will have."

This is NOT — I repeat — NOT an issue!

The people from the free medical clinic called yesterday afternoon and wrote about a story in the Daily Journal about the Free Medical Clinic, which stated that the clinic was closing down. The people from the clinic called to say that the story was not accurate and that the clinic was not closing down.

The people from the clinic stated that they had been working hard to keep the clinic open and that they had been doing everything in their power to keep the clinic running. They also stated that they had received a lot of support from the community and that they were determined to keep the clinic open.

The people from the clinic also stated that they had been working with the local government to find a solution to the problem and that they were confident that they would be able to find a solution.

The people from the clinic also stated that they were committed to providing healthcare to the community and that they were determined to keep the clinic open.

The people from the clinic thanked everyone for their support and asked everyone to continue to support the clinic.

Greek problems on agenda— Big Ten Greeks confer in Union

By Greek organization representatives from one of the Big Ten schools gathered in Iowa City Thursday to confer on various problems within the Greek system. The meeting is the first of the annual Big Ten Interfraternity and Panhellenic Conferences which run through Saturday. (The University of Minnesota chapter was to arrive today.)

The purpose of the conference is to discuss social problems and the Greek system. House representatives of the conference are part of the B.T. I.F.P. (Big Ten Interfraternity Panhellenic) which meets today and Friday to discuss the Greek system. If the conference member school is represented by a representative of the Greek system it is to be notified of the conference and asked to send a representative to the conference.

Record review: Bloodrock just too Funkish

Bloodrock U.S.A.
(Capitol SNAP 8041)

Pete Bellfonte is not only the brains but the face of the trio. He sings, plays the guitar, and writes the music. The other two members of the group, Buddy Sharp and Paul Lapidus, are better musicians, but the group is stronger because of Bellfonte's star presence.

The instrumentation on this album is not exactly explosive, but it sets the mood for the songs. The melody is catchy, the vocals are soulful, and the overall sound is appealing. Bloodrock has a definite blues influence, which adds to the excitement.

On the other hand, the songs are not particularly creative or original. They tend to stick to a formula that lacks depth. Bloodrock lacks the intensity and passion of some of the other bands in the genre. But they have a good feel for the genre, and their sound is polished and professional.

In summary, Bloodrock's U.S.A. album is a strong effort that shows promise. If they continue to evolve and improve their sound, they could be a force to be reckoned with in the Funk market.
Heavy classical schedule upcoming

As a schedule director with the University of Iowa orchestra, I have attended performances all over the world to an outdoor stage in London and seats in the Pittsburgh Symphony in New York. I have been interested in European music ever since I was a child growing up in Cedar Rapids, and the United States, and the Masonic Memorial Union.

I have been a member of the Iowa University community at the University of Iowa, and the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Carlos Kalmar, will present the Iowa Symphony Orchestra in the Main Lounge of the Iowa Union Building at 2 p.m. on Sunday, November 1, for the Iowa University women's band. Schmehlher: We'll stop Iowa 'completely'

BY RICHARD DOUGHERTY

Daily Iowaon Sports Editor

The Iowa Hawkeyes are going to be a tough test for any team this season, and the Buckeyes will be no exception. The Hawkeyes have shown that they are a strong team, and the Buckeyes will have to be ready for them.

The Buckeyes' defense will have to be on top of its game to stop the Iowa offense. The Hawkeyes have a strong running attack, and the Buckeyes' defensive line will have to be ready to stop them. The Hawkeyes also have a strong passing game, and the Buckeyes will have to be ready to stop that as well.

The Buckeyes' offense will have to be ready to score against the Hawkeyes' defense. The Hawkeyes have a strong defense, so the Buckeyes will have to be creative to score against them.

The Buckeyes will also have to be ready for the Hawkeyes on special teams. The Hawkeyes have a strong special teams unit, and the Buckeyes will have to be ready to stop them.

In summary, the Buckeyes will have to be ready for the Hawkeyes in every aspect of the game. If they are, they can compete with the Hawkeyes and come away with a win.
