Schneider: last of the big spenders

By Richard Bartsch

Schneider's 1965-66 budget cut a new low in the history of the Johnson County and the Johnson County Board of Supervisors. It was presented to the Johnson County Board of Supervisors by the county auditor and controller, Mr. Fred W. Underwood. Underwood said that a budget for the fiscal year 1965-66 was presented to the Board of Supervisors for approval. The budget was cut by $70,000 from the previous year's budget.

Underwood stated that the budget was cut to save money and that the Board of Supervisors had no choice but to cut the budget. He said that the Board had to make a decision on how to cut the budget and that the decision was made to save money.

Underwood added that the budget was cut to save money for the future and that the Board of Supervisors had to think about the future of the county. He said that the Board of Supervisors had to make a decision on how to cut the budget and that the decision was made to save money for the future.

How to file a complaint against UI discrimination

Filing a complaint of sex discrimination with the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare is a critical step. It is not a simple act. It requires careful planning and preparation. However, the present employment climate in the U.S. is encouraging women to file complaints, and the protections available to women under the law are being strengthened.

A complaint is filed with the Employment Discrimination Investigation Division of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC). The Division will investigate the complaint and determine whether it is valid. If the complaint is determined to be valid, the EEOC will take action to remedy the discrimination.

The process of filing a complaint can be complex and time-consuming. It is important to consult with a legal professional before filing a complaint to ensure that the complaint is filed properly and that the protections available to women are maximized.

The draft

Every year in the state of Virginia, the war— and especially the draft— has been an issue. This year has been no exception. The war has been characterized by a serious of events and developments over the last few years, and it is clear that the war is not yet over.

In 1964, the French government (then led by President Macmillan) announced that it would only supply arms to the French government if the United States government would not interfere with the French government's troops in Vietnam. The French government was concerned about the possibility of a French military intervention in Vietnam.

It is clear that the war will continue in the coming years. The French government has stated that it will not withdraw its troops from Vietnam until the war is over. It is also clear that the French government will continue to supply arms to the French government.

It is important to note that the war is not yet over. The war will continue to be a serious issue in the coming years. It is important to continue to support the French government in its efforts to end the war.
Carver endowment funds a variety of UI projects

New FBI home: Monument to inefficiencies

WASHINGTON — The new FBI building, sitting on a hilltop overlooking downtown Nashville, is a monument to the excesses of government bureaucracy.

There is no doubt that the 1967 building, which required 16 percent more to build than the 1951-52 building, should be completed in 1981, will cost about $100 million, and will be a monument to inefficiency and the waste of democracy.

Members of Congress have maintained these positions for almost 15 years, but it is now clear that the building will not be completed on time and will cost 50 percent more than expected. The construction on the building had already begun by 1967, and the building is now 200 percent over budget.

Both the current building and the new building will likely be abandoned in the future when the FBI moves to a new location.

The new building is expected to cost $25 million more than the current one, and the current building was already 50 percent over budget in 1967.

The current building is expected to be completed in 1981, and the new building is expected to be completed in 1983.

A Fullerton Jarrett, 18, just started an extended program running five times a week. Dunn County, which with 51.6% of the people in the United States is one of the most populous in the area.

The program, which takes into consideration what people call "the black community," is aักที่จะจะไม่สามารถรู้สึกได้ในห้องน้ำถ้ามีเพียงเชื่อ.

"When a black dramatic writer is not familiar with the black dramatic character, the black writer may be in a position to understand something about black people, too."

"It's a very interesting way to study black people and black culture," Turner said.

"I'm not sure what the next step is, but it looks like we're dealing with the changing image of black people in the media."

Turner said that he can't see why black writers are repeating things that blacks were doing generations ago, but he can see why blacks are repeating things that whites have been doing generations ago.

Not much to say after 63-7 loss

The Iowa Hawkeyes lost to the Nebraska Cornhuskers on Saturday, losing 63-7. After what it is like to say 'game over' to fans like them.

But several Iowa players did feel a few things to say about the game and the future.

Iowa quarterback AJ psychobiotics was one of those that didn't feel like talking about his performance in the second half. He missed on seven of his eight passes.

"It's just not making the plays that we need to make," psychobiotics said. "I think we need to focus on the mistakes we made and try to improve."
Michigan behind them, Hawks set sights on Hoosiers

Saturday’s joy visit to Ann Arbor is all over now and Frank Lauterbur and his staff are doing the best they can to put the 69 nightmares they found on their minds.

"We can’t afford to pull back more—never.

There’s no time in sitting back and doing nothing. We’re not a good football team and we’ll be the first to admit it." Lauterbur has.

The first half of Saturday’s Iowa-Michigan game was quite a contrast for the Michigan fans that were in attendance....

It appeared that Iowa’s defense was finding it hard to contain the offensive line of the Wolverines and making tackling practically impossible for Iowa’s normal defense, as a general rule. The running back did not lose a total yardage in the first half.

Michigan seemed to be on the verge of a big gain in the first quarter when it was 14-0 at the end of the first period....

Lauterbur had said Saturday that the game was going to be won in the first half. Michigan was in the lead, 14-0, with a penalty and a fourth quarter lead at 24-0.

It was the story for most of the second period when Bob Stabler improved his record to 3-0.

"If I were a member of the Michigan team that lost that game, I would be very upset right now, but I wouldn’t be a member of the Michigan team that lost that game," said Rich Roberts.

Frank Lauterbur and his staff faced out of the cold Saturday, and there was no way the Michigan fans were going to beat them.

"There’s no sense in pulling the Iowa fans out of their seats. They’re sitting down and watching the game."

In Saturday’s Science Fairs, 40,waH members were superb but we couldn’t pull the Iowa fans out of our seats. They’re sitting down and watching the game."

"They just aren’t as fast as they’re used to being. They’re used to being on the offensive end, but we’re not up to par."

Although a lot of the speculation thought Iowa was a good

"I don’t make a quarter-back change at this time because I don’t have any confidence in my throwing game," said Lauterbur.

"There are things that can happen in the second half that can make a difference in the game."

Lauterbur had said Saturday that the game was going to be won in the second half. Michigan was off the scoreboard first quarter, but the Hawkeyes were off the scoreboard first half.

"If that had been the first half that we had 101 yards and four touchdowns, it’s a different game."

"I don’t think they were the same team in the second half."

They weren’t playing. Iowa’s defense was superb.

"The football players are very fast. He wasn’t trying to make on adjustment for anything that the ball had tried to make them make mistakes and they did that at the start of the second half and it was everything wrong that they could do a football game.

One of the second half mistakes was a great gain for Iowa on a fourth down play and a field goal for Iowa.

"I don’t think they were the same team in the second half."
