UI, city educators discuss grades

By GINNY CRICKER

For the students of the University of Iowa, the grade system is a bit more complex than a simple A, B, C, D, and F. The system, which is used to assess and communicate a student's level of understanding and mastery of course material, has evolved over time to incorporate a variety of factors.

Says dorm advisor lived with fiancé

By DATEWAN and LARAVY

Jen, a junior majoring in English, has been living with her fiancé, who is also a student at the University of Iowa. Jen has been living with her fiancé, Joe, for the past four months, and they plan to get married later this year.

County to use federal grant for crime prevention plans

The Johnson County Crime Commission wants to expand its programs that help schools and communities deal with crime. The commission has received a federal grant that will allow it to implement several new programs.

Senate ok's busing

Accepts compromise plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, with 60 of its 96 seats in hand, moved toward agreement today on a compromise plan that would allow school districts to continue busing students. The vote was 57-42.

Frigid

Iowa weather this spring is like a Christmas Carol. That's 80-year-old couple looking for a warm blanket, and when they find it, they stuff it into a wall. And when that gets cold, they go searching for another one. This week, that's all the Iowa weather is like. Highs in the mid-70s and lows in the upper 50s are expected throughout the state.

Hash busts

An Iowa City woman was arrested Tuesday for allegedly not paying parking fines that she changed with possession of hashish. Becky Ervin, 31, dealt marijuana and was arrested after a search of her home. According to police, rocks were found in a car parked near the University of Iowa campus.

Lord wontcha buy me...

One of six new additions to the Johnson County, the Lord Wontcha Buy Me 1964 edition of the song. It is a 1978 version and five more should arrive by the end of the year.

70 dead

MAN, W. Va. (AP) — A National Guard helicopter crashed near the town of Marmet, killing all 70 passengers on board. It is the deadliest airport crash in U.S. history.

Abolition

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Legislation to abolish the death penalty was passed by the Iowa Senate today. The bill, which had been introduced by Sen. Bill Balow, passed on a 35-15 vote, with Republicans and Democrats supporting it.

One or two?

The City Council, which will hold a public hearing on the proposal tonight, has been debating whether to build one parking ramp or two. The council has received a report that recommends two ramps, but some members of the council have said they are not convinced.

The staff report presented Monday contained a proposed schedule for construction of the first ramp that calls for building in 2019.
The University of Iowa School of Journalism will be evaluated next week for accreditation by the American Council on Education. For the purpose of the evaluation, the organization known as the Accrediting Committee for Education in Journalism and Mass Communication will visit the school and interview students, faculty, and administrators.

According to a university official, the evaluation will be conducted to determine if the school meets the criteria established by the Accrediting Committee.

The official said that the visit will provide an opportunity for the school to assess its strengths and weaknesses, as well as to identify areas for improvement.

The evaluation process will include a review of the school's curriculum, faculty qualifications, and student performance.

The Accrediting Committee will submit its findings to the American Council on Education, which will then make a recommendation to the Council on Accreditation in Education in Journalism and Mass Communication.

The purpose of the evaluation is to ensure that the University of Iowa School of Journalism continues to provide high-quality education and professional training to its students.

The evaluation is expected to last several days, during which time the Accrediting Committee will conduct interviews with faculty members, students, and administrators.

Upon completion of the evaluation, the Accrediting Committee will submit its report to the Council on Accreditation, which will determine if the school meets the criteria for accreditation.

The evaluation process is an ongoing one, and the University of Iowa School of Journalism is committed to maintaining high standards of education and professional training.

The university is confident that the school will continue to meet the standards set by the Accrediting Committee.

In an interview with the Iowa City Press-Citizen, the university official said, "We are confident that the school will continue to meet the standards set by the Accrediting Committee. We are committed to maintaining high standards of education and professional training."
Holly polar bears

Beaver Creek Lodge Gilchrist, the guy who we (not the editor) and our sources from the newspaper, were told that there would be bears on the hillside. We decided to check it out. We expected to see a bear, but we were surprised to see a bear with a cub. It looked like they were having a good time. We were glad we went.

Po' Shot

Some persons are misunderstood with me because I have failed to express one or two things clearly. One of these is the topic of "the single C.", a more personal one is the question of whether or not to call my name "The Man." We have been discussing this problem in class and I agree that there is a need for more understanding. However, I believe that my name "The Man" is a more appropriate title, since it is suited to my position on the team. It is my opinion that the "single C." is a more unique and interesting title, but I do not think it is as widely recognized as "The Man."

Jesus freaks

It was more than a year ago that I was wandering the streets of Iowa City, looking for something to eat. It was late at night and I was hungry. I saw a person standing outside the Iowa City Library and decided to go inside and ask the librarian for a place to eat. The librarian directed me to a local restaurant where I had a great meal. It was a memorable experience that I will never forget.

A proposal for governance and decision making at the U of I

Faculty, students and administrators must work together to ensure that the best decisions are made. This involves creating a collaborative environment where all voices are heard and valued. It is important to establish clear communication channels so that information can flow freely between all stakeholders. Additionally, it is crucial to have transparent decision-making processes that are inclusive and representative of everyone involved. This will help to ensure that the university remains accountable and responsive to the needs of its constituents.

She wrote 'Nigger can you kill?'

Black poesstress talks about life

NEW YORK (AP) — She says 'Nigger can you kill?' in her poems, and now, soon after her birthday, punk poet Nikki Giovanni says she knows the prove, the lady behind the words.

"To protect Tennessee's wronged children, I'm going away my life, says Miss Giovanni. I can’t imagine being without him. But I can live without my, the revolution, I can live without my, the women, I can live without my, the world."

If this statement sounds too generic for someone who calls herself a "black revolutionist," it is not a contradiction.

"But I can see that the world is changing, and the protest is changing, and the poetry is reflecting the language of the time."

"I will never back from my poems."

"And I’m not going to pull out of this life."

"But the more you get involved, the more you understand, the more you get involved, the more it’s going to be so easy for me to take on the world."

"So as to 'Nigger can you kill?'" she adds.

"This year was written in 1968. There were riots. There was a member of several radical groups going on in the neighborhood."

"The germ is bad. I don’t feel I’ve ever been bad and never have approached one I would have ever wanted to."

"She stands philosophically now and has been talented to be in the field of craft."

"In the early '60s we were going through a certain thing and people were a certain thing, and people have a certain thing."

Poll: Nixon '72 win seen

More than half of Iowa's university students expect President Richard Nixon to be elected in 1972, according to a recent Iowa Opinion Research Bureau poll conducted on the State's four university campuses. Students were asked who they expect to win the presidential election this November. Nixon will win another presidential term in 1972.

Students were also asked if they supported the Democratic candidates running for the party's nomination. Sen. Edmund Muskie was the front runner for the Democratic nomination in 1972. In a recent Gallup poll, it was found that students should be emphasized that students were asked who they expected to win the presidential election, not who they hope will win it.

The injection by individual schools in the presidential election depends on the ability to get out the vote. The only significant variation between the four schools in support of candidates. Students at UNI and have much more support for Kennedy than students at Drake and Iowa State.

Class sizes held on the campus are four times the size of the class program, she said. Six to seven times the size of the class program

The data follows:

The largest class is 'Data Analysis' of the new program is to help students and women's studies. The smallest enrollment, seven students, is in Ethnology of Modern China. Several education classes, traditional Saturday classes, also have substantial enrollments, Ms. Lavin said.

'Harvest' haunts

Since Crosby, Mills, Nash, and Young have split and gone their own ways, a lot of people are wondering where the magic has gone. Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young's latest album is music that has the haunting sound of "Alabama Blue Eyes," or the emotional heart of "Ohio." They haven't found it in a record or in the solo work, but they've split and gone anyway, though Crosby, Nash, and Young themselves have worked together again. Crosby has split and gone again with his current lady, actress Elisabeth, N.J., and Nash has split and gone to London, the other two holding on to some respectability. Some fans are still waiting for them to give them a delicate balance of young, fresh sound included with a sense of reality that has been missing with them.

Then the rains came...

Some of the 11 elephant prostheses purchased from Billy Smart's Circus in England, were shown from the Alumni Center at Fort Elizabeth, N.J. today. The elephants which included two drivers' stools and seven babies were later loaded onto a freight train for a trip to Wichita, Fla., where they will commence with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus.

AKK slips into all-IM point lead

Joe Fenton, the defending inter-mural champions, has taken over at the all-IM point lead. Joe has earned 7 points now, and he is nearly a half box ahead of the nearest competition. Joe is also ahead of the second placeer by 4 points, with Greg Detty (116)紧随其后。The reason for the slight lead is unknown, but Joe has been playing well recently. The lead changed hands several times, but with the recent string of wins, Joe has taken the lead and is now unchallenged at the top of the all-IM point standings.

While Joe Fenton and Sigma Psi are on top of the basketball ladder, the other social fraternities struggle to hold their own. The other fraternities are not far behind, but they are not close to the top. The Delta Kappa team is in third place at this point. The team standings show that Fenton leads the competition, followed closely by AKK, the defending tramural champion, and Sigma Psi.

The Black Raiders ran up an 18-0 lead early in the second half, only to then have their lead go up to 15-0. The Black Raiders had a strong performance, but they were outplayed by Delta Kappa, who scored 23 points in the second half. The Black Raiders are now 2-2 for the season, while Delta Kappa is 3-0. The match will be played today in the weekly Associated Press Basketball poll.
