Bearable

Today's weather isn't fit for a Chinese panda bear, the largest of the world's 13 species. Bears, after all, generally only feel on the cold, but it's raining and snowing on the streets of New York City. The temperature was only 3 degrees Fahrenheit, and the rain was coming down in sheets. However, the bears are managing well, with some looking for shelter under car hoods and others huddling close to each other for warmth.

The Iowa Senate was not scheduled to vote on anything today due to the weather. The Senate is currently in recess and is expected to resume business tomorrow.

Syrian jets raid Israeli

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Syrian jets bombed Israeli positions in the occupied Golan Heights near the border with Syria in a move that raised fears of a full-scale war, the Israeli government said yesterday.

The Israeli Defense Ministry said two Israeli jets have already been damaged in the attack, and warned that it will retaliate.

The ministry said that the attack was in response to a recent Israeli air strike on a Syrian military base near the border. It added that the Syrian government has been increasing its military presence in the area.

The attack comes after a week of tensions between Israel and Syria, following a series of incidents including the downing of an Israeli drone by Syrian forces.

Israel has also been accused of launching several raids on Syrian targets in recent months, raising concerns about a potential full-scale war.

The Israeli military said it has strengthened its defenses and has increased its readiness for a potential full-scale war.

The Syrian government has denied any involvement in the attacks and said it will respond in kind.

The situation remains volatile, with both Israel and Syria maintaining a high state of alert.

The next ten years

The underclass is intolerable. The University's student population is made up of two racial and two cultural groups. The two groups will never be able to live in harmony until the need felt by both is heard.

The solution is to create a minority group. The University's minority group will be the Hispanic culture. It will be created by a special committee. The committee will be made up of faculty, students, and campus officials. The committee will be charged with the task of creating a cultural group that will be separate from the majority of the student body.

This minority group will be given special privileges and opportunities. They will be given access to more resources and funding. They will be given a voice in the decision-making process of the University. They will be given the opportunity to form their own community and culture within the University.

The University will become a two-campus system. The majority campus will be the majority culture, and the minority campus will be the Hispanic culture. This will allow the University to accommodate both groups and prevent conflict.

This plan will require a significant investment of time and resources. However, it is necessary to create a more inclusive and diverse University. By creating a minority group, the University can become a more equitable and just institution.

A proposal for governance and decision making at the end of the century

I propose that we create a new type of governance for the University. This governance will be based on the principles of inclusivity, equity, and accountability.

The governance structure will consist of a council made up of faculty, students, staff, and alumni. The council will be responsible for making decisions about the University's operations and policies. The council will be elected by the University community and will be accountable to that community.

The council will have the following responsibilities:

1. To develop and implement a strategic plan for the University's future.
2. To ensure the University's operations are consistent with its mission.
3. To oversee the University's financial operations.
4. To ensure the University's policies and practices are inclusive and equitable.

The council will be supported by a staff of administrators who will be responsible for implementing the council's decisions.

I believe this governance structure will allow the University to become a more inclusive and equitable institution. By involving all members of the University community in the decision-making process, we can ensure that the University's policies and practices are in line with the values of the community.
Envision loop plan to reduce traffic

Cops, tax men sterilize sex mecca

Copenhagen (AP) — The Danish capital is no longer a mecca for women after the police and tax men have come around to the idea of sterilizing sex practitioners.

The police and tax men have come around to the idea of sterilizing sex practitioners to reduce the incidence of venereal disease and to reduce the burden on the state budget.

The police have arrested several sex practitioners and have taken them to court on charges of prostitution.

The tax men have also begun to investigate the finances of the sex practitioners and have seized their assets.

The move has been met with mixed reactions, with some saying it is a step too far, while others welcome it as a means of controlling the sex trade.

The Danish government has also announced plans to introduce a law that will make it illegal to have sex without a partner.

The government has also announced plans to close down all the sex clubs in the country and to ban all sex performances.

The plan to reduce traffic

The Danish government has announced plans to reduce traffic by introducing a new system of traffic flow.

The system, which is designed to keep traffic moving and utilize road space more efficiently, will be introduced in Copenhagen and other major cities.

The government has also announced plans to increase public transportation facilities and to encourage the use of bicycles and other forms of non-motorized transport.

Says doctors overbilled patients $500 million

WASHINGTON - Of every $5 billed by doctors last year, one cent was for services that doctors said they never performed, according to a grand total of excessive physician fees reported to the government.

The American Medical Association said that doctors have set $500 million in fees that patients never received, or that were charged for services that doctors said they never performed, or that were charged at a rate that is the government's benchmark for the same service.

The AMA said that the government had identified $10 million in fees that doctors said they never performed, but that doctors had billed for services that were never received, or that were charged at a rate that is the government's benchmark for the same service.

IRS advises early start on income tax returns

Although millions of tax payers expect the under-withholding problem to be solved with the newly enacted advertising, higher withholding allowances began to reduce the amounts of money withheld by groups taxpaying business and government employees, the new law has been delayed in taking effect.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has announced that the 1971 withholding tables will be available in January.

"The withholding rules for 1971 have been revised to accommodate the increased cost of living," said an IRS spokesman. "This will result in lower withholding amounts for most taxpayers."

There is a good reason for being patient and calm. Many taxpayers may find they will see a reduced amount of their income withheld in 1971, as the new withholding rules will take effect.
