Chairman Powell of the Joint Committee on Taxation said the markup was a "bonanza." He called the depletion allowance,"a tax break for oil and gas depletion," as an example of unnecessary tax breaks.

"Every sponsor," he said, "thought there was a tax break that was going to be eliminated. We have a lot of good sponsors of tax reform."

Co-ed dorm pronounced 'a complete success'

By BOB CRAIG
Daily Iowan Writer

Carrie Hall, set up this fall as an experiment in co-educational living for students over 21, has problems inherent to the co-ed concept, says the director of the new residence hall.

"Since the dorm is restricted to people over 21, we have fewer problems with the older types of trouble," said Carrie Hall, 26, an resident in the dorm.

The magazine also notes that the administrative board of the new dorm adjusts its rules as needed.

No one wants to be the only one not to go to the party, but who can afford the money and time for it? And who is going to pay for it if you are the only one not to go? The only solution is to find someone who is interested in going with you and who is willing to share the cost.

The problem with the co-ed dorm is that it is more of a typical community of people living in an apartment instead of one big apartment.

I he foam is all nature’s doing; the first days of warm feeding chlorine into the water. During the winter, the water plant is capable of doing its job just fine, but when temperatures rise, runoff period is passed and the water is too warm to be studied. The City, which is attached to the University’s Water Plant, normally works with the water at a rate of 100 million gallons per day. It is a “free residue,” drained from the 150 million-gallon raw water storage. The City’s raw water is pasteurized and treated by 15 miles of pipes and water treatment plants. During these first two days, the water contains high levels of chlorine that are used to kill any bacteria that might be present.

I got some tests from the area 70 miles from New York City. There was a lot of water, but the water plant was not ready to accept it. I think the most important aspect of this water is that it is being studied by the students and staff film buffs. La Leche League: Back to the breast in Iowa City

By JUDY LENNOX
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

The La Leche League (LLL), an international group that teaches breast feeding through breastfeeding, opened a new chapter in Iowa City March 1.

When Iowa City residents Mrs. Kathleen Tegland and Mrs. Dorothea Johnson organized the Iowa City chapter of the LLL, they hoped to attract 50 to 75 members. At the close of their first meeting, March 1, 11 potential members had expressed interest.

Breastfeeding, Tegland and Johnson said, is the foundation of child rearing. The LLL, an organization that fosters breastfeeding as the best method of feeding babies, was started by two young mothers in Chicago in 1956. They were interested in obtaining help or information about giving their babies their mother's milk.

The international group meets the first Monday of each month and holds a four-month series of discussions and meetings concerning LLL materials, the Womanly Art of Breastfeeding, the handbook of the League. "Our permanent membership is over 30,000 people," said Mrs. Kavaliunas. "We are a worldwide, non-profit organization for next year.

Other speakers include photographers Todd Walker, past member of the Iowa City chapter of the LLL, and film critic for the Daily Iowan, Peter Swedland, photography instructor at the University of Iowa, and film critic for the Daily Iowan. Byline credits for many of the speakers will be made.
