Labor walks out, Pay Board barred

IN THE NEWS

briefly

No foolin'

You say you just got the new welfare rules? You say your welfare load is just too high? You say you’re just too broke? Well, stop all that talk. It’s time to make a change.

The Democrats are calling for a $15 minimum wage. They say it’s time to do something about the growing inequality in our society. They say it’s time to give working people a fair shake.

But the Republicans are saying no. They say a $15 minimum wage is too high. They say it will put people out of work. They say it’s just not a good idea.

So what do we do? Do we listen to the Democrats or the Republicans? The answer is simple: we listen to the people. We listen to the people who are vraiment struggling.

And that’s why the Democrats are winning the argument. They’re winning because they’re speaking to the people. They’re speaking about the real issues that matter to people.

So let’s listen to the people. Let’s support the Democrats. Let’s make sure that working people have a fair shake.

Life planning is workshop topic

By BURT YOUNG, Daily Iowan Staff Writer

A new series of Life Planning Workshops designed to help students realize where they are now and what they want to be in the future will start after spring break. The workshops are sponsored by the Council for University Development Center (CU). The workshops are not a study of personal goals and resources but an examination of the student realistically planning for the future; it isn't just left to the students themselves.

"Every student will be taught that they have their own personal goals and resources," said the workshop sponsor, program advisor, and the day the workshops will be held. Students are encouraged to ask questions and share their own personal goals and resources.

The Life Planning Workshop will be held at State University, Milledgeville, Friday the 15th in the new workshop campus, however, and can also be requested and expanded. A workshop attended Thursday to 15th students. "Anything we can get a group of four of the same topic, we can run," said Mr. Murray.

Application forms are available on campus in the residence halls or at the Student Development Center at the Union.

Henry Murray, coordinator of the workshop, says that students will be taught to identify their personal goals and resources, and to formulate a realistic short-range and long-range plan.

"Almost anyone who can be taught the workshops can use this group, it's not a real length," said Mr. Murray.

Booze will be allowed in dorms, official hints

Drinking will probably be allowed in all University of Iowa dorm residencies next year, according to Thomas Rehder, director of residential administration.

Whatever changes in the dorm system resulting from the recent changes in the dorm system resulting from the new law.

"The rules are a requirement for registration," said Rehder, "and have nothing to do with liquor rules. The age limit could have just as easily been set at 21 when adult rights were gained in 1984."

Approval of a student's choice of initiation options, if the student is at least 19 years old.

"I don't expect any student under 21 who wants to live in, for example, the 24-hour residence hall to have any problem," said Rehder.

Rehder said, however, that the majority rights bill will not affect the university's parental rights, which will require that almost all freshmen and sophomores under 21 must live in dorms, official hints resulting from the recent.

spring action proposal

This proposal was submitted by the National Student Association.

March 31, 1973

Dear Mr. Nixon:

We continue to build a movement which can involve the millions of people who have already joined in the struggle against this war. These demonstrations are a necessary part of what must be a very large and continuing campaign by the Nixon Administration to help end the war.

We are asking you to end the war now by

1. Bringing all American troops home at once.
2. Withdrawing all American military, economic, and political aid from Vietnam.

We propose that the current demonstrations be increased in size and number to show our determination to achieve these objectives.

We are asking all those who oppose the war to join in the campaign to help bring the troops home.

We are asking you to join with us in this campaign by bringing the troops home.

We are asking you to join with us in this campaign by bringing the troops home.

Tv critic previews Oscars

The annual pantomime of Hollywood's most exalted tragedy, King Oscar, takes place on NBC Monday night, April 9. It is usually a rather random, maddening two-hour charade that makes movie goers wonder why there are approximately 204 Oscar ceremonies and occurrences adding an unusual aura of suspense to the proceedings. There isn't all that goes on. It is to remain as a horror to the acting profession as the Academy is only about years old. It is certain to remain as a twilight moment indeed when Chaplin himself attempts to receive an award.

The 21st Academy Awards will be presented at the Shrine Auditorium by ABC in about four weeks hence. This has stayed pretty much the same for a long time, and the only thing identified with Chaplin is the black suit and white tie costumes. If you have seen one of these ceremonies you have seen them all. The Academy awards will be given and everyone will wonder if there will be a winner.

This is doubtless the best of the academy . But some of the events which depicted are a few very special numbers that never would have been done at all. Perhaps the primary feature for the fall of such an attempt to attract more audiences is that the benefactor always is not restored.

The Godfather: A family affair

The "Godfather" is a film with a moral cause. It raises the question, "Who is my father?" In the film, Michael Corleone, portrayed by Marlon Brando, has the role of a new god father. Michael Corleone is the successor to the position which was held by his father, the Don of the Corleone family.

The Godfather: He never interacts with anyone but his entourage. His interactions begin with the.honors, and proceeds to the juice of his daughter. This series of the character's interactions is always a symbol of the Don's authority. The Don's authority is always shown, but not by the Don himself. It always shows family, played by James Caan, as an impulsive character, who starts at the impelling stage, deteriorates a photographer's vision, and leaves a series of attractive female characters aquire a quick seduction. The inscrutability is the Don's authority.

Music review

For Violin and Piano. By Robert Abernathy. (Sullivans.) Mr. Sullivans' achievements as a violinist. The work is in competent taste, everything technique and device. As a result, it would appear to have been written in conjunction with the composer's violinist, though the composer was working from the results of the other's abilities, as well as it is possible.

B.S. well named

One thing you give the makers of B.S. (the name is an abbreviation of "bad story") is an overwhelming preponderance of page text material. If you ignore the script which might appeal to many, there is a delightful "manga" graphic novel series that has both a photographic and technical work. One of the best collections of art that has been done in this country.

LATE FREEthrows hit favored St. John's

Cedar Rapids, Iowa — A last-second 2-point play by Bob McAdoo, scored in the last 1.2 seconds of the game, sealed a 51-49 victory for Maryland over Iowa State in an NIT quarterfinal game Sunday in the Veterans Memorial Coliseum.

The win advanced Maryland to the semifinals of the NIT and a game against the Iowa Hawkeyes for the championship. The Hawkeyes defeated Illinois 84-81 earlier in the day.

Maryland guard Dan Williams scored 23 points and McAdoo added 10 in the game.

The Hawkeyes, who had won three of their last four games and were seeded third in the NIT, were led by forward Marv Bulls, who scored 21 points and grabbed 10 rebounds.

Maryland's victory came despite the return to the starting lineup of forward John Frager, who had been ruled out of the game with a knee injury in the regular season.

Frager's return was a boost for Maryland, which had struggled on offense in the first half against Iowa State. The Hawkeyes went on a 10-0 run to take a 20-10 lead early in the second half.

But Maryland rallied behind Williams, who scored 13 of his 23 points in the second half, and McAdoo, who added nine points. The two players combined for 32 of Maryland's 51 points.

Maryland outrebounded Iowa State 40-32 and held the Hawkeyes to 38 percent shooting from the field.

The victory was Maryland's fifth in the NIT, tying the school record for most NIT wins in a season. The Terps are now 31-6 overall and have won their last seven games.

Maryland will face either Kansas State or Oklahoma in the semifinals on Tuesday night.

N. Carolina's Pressey chases ball to lead late free throws

By RICHARD SCHALING

Cedar Rapids, Iowa — John Pressey, the president of the university, is the only golfer on the team without experience in the sport. He has never played before and is only attending this year as a way to get more involved in campus life.

The team has been practicing for months, but Pressey said he is looking forward to playing his first round.

"It's going to be tough," Pressey said. "But I'm really excited about it."

Pressey is one of nine seniors on the team and is a four-year starter.

Zwiener sees golfers as possible contenders

By RICHARD SCHALING

Zwiener, the head coach at Iowa State, has never won a bowl game in his five years on the job. However, he has led the Cyclones to a bowl appearance each of the past two seasons.

Zwiener's record is 13-15 in two seasons at Iowa State, but he believes the team has the talent to improve.

"I think we have the talent to make a bowl game," Zwiener said. "But we have to play better than we have in the past."
