OPINIONS

Either go way or go all the way

It think it’s about time for a lot of people in positions of “respect” and “authority” to stand up for the rights of the people in war with their own cause. Words are fine, Willard, but is your body? This body has been sent to protest and to work with the people, and yes, was arrested. As I understand it, this mark you and others as the “wise” and “responsible” people to put their lives on the line as well.

In May, 1943, a group of people from the midnight entertainment industry are going to Washington to demonstrate against the war and, if necessary, get arrested in the process. “And so,” the people would tell him, “sprinkle them with the chain stores and the boardwalks and the Constitutional and you have the age of stupidity come to a head. We have been given a chance to protest and to work with the people.”

With this in mind, there are a few things to consider:

1. There are increasing numbers of individuals in this country who feel that the human being is more than his wealth, his property or his status which results in men being treated like animals and, even if on a subliminal level, that the Constitution has failed to deal a final blow to the institution of slavery, as well as every other institution along the same line. We have been given a chance to protest and to work with the people who believe in the American position as the world’s strongest power to be the mandate to use force and diplomatic persuasion (terri-

2. In this sense, the people would tell him, “and you take your line on everyone else, your sincerity in opposing this war is hollow.

3. There is a strong movement among the people to work for an equal voice in community matters, not only for the Negro, but for all peoples. They are organized and they are using their voices to communicate, even if on a subliminal level, that the Constitution had failed to deal a final blow to the institution of slavery, as well as every other institution along the same line. We have been given a chance to protest and to work with the people who believe in the American position as the world’s strongest power to be the mandate to use force and diplomatic persuasion (terri-

4. In the meantime, the people have been given a chance to protest and to work with the people who believe in the American position as the world’s strongest power to be the mandate to use force and diplomatic persuasion (terri-

5. Perhaps the most important single factor that has kept the black American community, and Negroes in general, in a state of fear and anxiety is the fear that he or she will be killed in the name of the Constitution. The Khrushchev era—crisis to co-existence

In 1954 Khrushchev was elected first secretary of the Communist party of the Soviet Union, and in 1958 he replaced Stalin as head of the country. Khrushchev's policies were a mixture of reform and repression.

Khrushchev put Soviet national interests ahead of the interests of other nations, and his policies toward the United States were especially hostile. He was willing to use nuclear weapons if necessary, and he was determined to bring about a communist revolution in the West.

However, Khrushchev's domestic policies were more moderate. He introduced some economic reforms, and he allowed for some free expression of ideas. But his economic reforms were not very successful, and they were accompanied by a rise in inflation.

Khrushchev's policies were a source of tension with the United States, which was led by President John F. Kennedy. Kennedy was determined to contain the spread of communism, and he was willing to use military force if necessary.

The Cold War between the United States and the Soviet Union was at a peak during the Khrushchev era. The two superpowers were engaged in a arms race, and they were also competing for influence in other parts of the world.

The Khrushchev era ended in 1964, when he was replaced by Leonid Brezhnev. The Brezhnev era was more stable, but it was also characterized by a slowing of economic growth and an increase in political repression.

The end of the Khrushchev era was a relief for many people in the Soviet Union, but it was also a loss for those who had supported his policies.

The Khrushchev era was a time of great change, and it had a profound impact on the history of the world.
