Wages

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee, rebuffing President Nixon, voted Wednesday to boost the basic minimum wage from $1.60 to $2.20 an hour in two steps.

The President had proposed a $2 wage floor. The House went along with his recommendation in passing its minimum wage bill two weeks ago.

The Senate panel also voted to go beyond administration recommendations in expanding coverage of the law by 9 million workers to a total of about 54 million.

Miller

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)— Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, has called a press conference to be held here Thursday.

Miller is expected to announce his candidacy for reelection to a third term in the U.S. Senate.

Bremer

TORONTO (AP) — The Star said Wednesday that President Nixon was followed during his visit to Ottawa last month by Arthur Bremer, the man accused of shooting Gov. George Wallace.

The newspaper quotes senior Ottawa officials as confirming Bremer was in Ottawa during Nixon's visit from April 13 to April 15.

Officials had no comment in Washington. Bremer, a 21-year-old Milwaukeean, is charged with the May 15 shooting in Maryland of Wallace, who is still in the hospital.

Bremer's supposed presence in Canada was discovered when the secret service and the FBI reviewed pictures from the president's Ottawa visit.

Train crash

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP) — Four Burlington Northern crewmen were killed Wednesday night in a fiery collision of two local freight trains about 17 miles southeast of Galesburg between Maquon and Douglas.

A Burlington Northern spokesman said a 66-car train en route to Galesburg from Peoria collided with a 33-car train making the return trip. The spokesman said no dangerous commodities were being hauled.

Bombs

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) — Bombs went off Wednesday night in two cars parked inside the U.S. Army's European Command headquarters compound, killing three American servicemen and injuring five other persons.

It was the second bomb attack on an Army compound in West Germany in the past two weeks. An American lieutenant colonel was killed and 13 persons were injured May 11 by three bombs that shattered the officers' club of the 5th Corps headquarters building in Frankfurt.

No-fault

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Commerce Committee approved Wednesday a bill to establish national no-fault car insurance.

In general terms, the no-fault bill requires an insurance company to pay claims of its own policy holders, within limits. Thus a victim automatically recovers medical rehabilitation expenses, and lost wages, without suing in court.

The measure requires insurance for every driver who has a valid permit to drive. No policy may be cancelled as long as the policy holder's permit is valid and he pays the premiums.

Delegates

WASHINGTON (AP) — George S. McGovern picked up 67 new delegates Tuesday, bringing his total to one third of the votes needed for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The South Dakota senator won all 34 delegate votes at stake in the Oregon primary and another 22 in the Rhode Island primary. And he picked up 11 in Missouri caucuses.

This brings McGovern's total delegate strength to 497½, against the 1,509 it takes to be nominated at the Democratic National Convention in Miami Beach this summer.

President Nixon won all the Republican delegates up Tuesday, 18 in Oregon and 8 in Rhode Island, to bring his total to 533, with 674 needed for nomination.

After two years, Ford case nears end

By LARRY HITT
Daily Iowan University Editor

A Daily Iowan news analysis

Two years ago this month, a University of Iowa professor allegedly damaged a building in an anti-ROTC demonstration on campus, and the salary dispute surrounding the incident is only now about to be resolved.

Stephen D. Ford, former associate professor of Business Administration, allegedly damaged a door in the UI Recreation Building when a group of protestors forced their way into the building in May, 1970.

The university, acting upon a directive from Atty. Gen. Richard C. Turner, withheld triple damages—$180—from Ford's paycheck as a result of the incident.

The money withheld represented three times the amount of the alleged damage to the door, and was withheld upon the basis of section 714.1 of the Iowa Code which provides that any party is liable for three times the amount of the damage if the damage is of a malicious nature.

Ford, who was arrested and charged with "malicious destruction of property," was convicted, but the conviction was later overturned on a technicality—improper jury selection.

The malicious damage charge was then dropped, and Ford pleaded guilty to charges of disturbing the peace.

Since that time, however, the university has retained the $180, even though Ford never admitted to damaging the door, and has not technically been convicted of malicious destruction of property.

Meanwhile the controversy about the dispute grew to involve the American Association of University Professors (AAUP), the state Board of Regents, Turner, and UI Pres. Willard L. Boyd.

At the May meeting of the Regents, the board decided to ignore Turner's advice, and voted to return the matter to the university for settlement.

It now appears that the university will decide, internally, if it owes Ford any money.

Boyd said Wednesday that participants in the case have agreed to settle the issue with a hearing presided over by Law Prof. Ronald Carlson.

Boyd had first suggested this procedure last October, but Ford did not agree to participate at that time, and so the matter went before the Regents.

Ford, meanwhile, assigned his claim to Iowa City attorney Joseph Johnston. Johnston has agreed to participate in the university's internal disposition of the matter, according to Law Prof. David Vernon, who is setting up the hearing.

Vernon said Wednesday that a hearing on the Ford salary case is tentatively scheduled for the "middle of July," and that Carlson will only decide if the university should repay Ford.

To make that decision, however, Vernon said that it would be necessary for Carlson to establish the relationship between Ford and the door that he allegedly damaged.

Depending upon what finding of fact Carlson makes concerning Ford's relationship with the damage to the door, he might have to determine if the criminal statute under which the money was withheld applies in the absence of criminal proceedings, Vernon said.

Carlson's findings will be in the form of recommendations to Boyd, who, although he will make the final decision, said Wednesday that he probably will approve whatever course of action Carlson recommends.

Zoning board approves plans for Melrose Lake apartments

By CHUCK HICKMAN
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

A move to save Melrose Lake was dealt a setback Tuesday night when the Iowa City Planning and Zoning Commission approved plans for construction of apartments on the site by a vote of 5 to 2.

The City Council must approve the plans at its June 6 meeting before developer Robert Thompson can begin building the 300 unit apartment complex.

Thompson, who owns Melrose Lake, is currently draining water from the site in preparation for construction.

Residents of southwest Iowa City, where the lake is located, opposed construction on grounds that any further development would eliminate all recreational land in the area.

John Neff, a spokesman for those against construction of the complex, charged that "haphazard planning" by local officials had allowed the area to become "a hodge-podge of apartments and single family dwellings."

Lack of a coherent planning goal has eliminated all recreational space in the area, he said, adding that neighborhood residents opposed construction plans on several grounds.

Neff said elimination of green space in the area will result in massive water drainage problems for the city. In addition, streets in the area will require improvement due to a greater traffic flow if neighborhood population density is increased.

Neff called for the city to spend its money on acquisition of the lake, rather than spending it on street improvements after the apartments are built.

Neff said Thompson's justification that draining the lake was necessary to provide access to the Neuzil property adjoining the lake was a "phony" claim because the Neuzil property has never had access to Oakcrest Street. He said the issue was contrived by Thompson in order to get city approval of his building plans.

Neff speculated that apartments might be constructed on the Neuzil tract in the near future.

While Thompson has offered to sell his property, including Melrose Lake, for $300,000, Neff said the figure was inflated in order to discourage a public fund raising drive to save the lake.

Neff said Thompson purchased the land for $100,000 and

Agree on joint space mission

Nixon-Brezhnev talks continue

MOSCOW (AP) — President Nixon and Soviet leaders signed an agreement Wednesday to put U.S. and Soviet spacemen into orbit together by 1975, then the President and Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev did some face-to-face bargaining in a long night session.

The leaders hope to sign by the weekend a pact limiting the nuclear missile strength of both nations.

The daytime talks and signing ceremonies took place behind the red brick walls of the Kremlin, but Nixon and Brezhnev moved with close advisers to a secluded suburban dacha for further negotiations over dinner. The President did not return to his Grand Kremlin Palace suite until after midnight.

U.S. officials would not say what was discussed at the night session, at about five hours the longest so far. The Soviet news agency Tass said in reporting on the Wednesday talks that "considerable attention was paid to European problems."

Indications were that the focuses were Europe, a top priority item for Kremlin leaders, and Vietnam, currently one of Nixon's prime problems. Nixon was accompanied to the dacha by national security adviser Henry Kissinger and several members of his staff who specialize in European and Asian affairs.

As the total time of their meetings passed the 15-hour mark the leaders were reported close to final agreement on a strategic arms limitation accord. They have fixed Friday as the target date for a signing ceremony.

The first in a probable series of trade agreements was expected Thursday.

U.S. spokesman Ronald L. Ziegler said there had been "no extensive, extended talks" yet on Vietnam.

Ziegler also insisted that final agreement had not been reached on arms limitation, but it was learned the pact was shaping up this way: one section, in treaty form subject to Senate ratification, would limit the deployment of defensive missiles, reportedly to two sites in each country.

A separate executive agreement, not subject to Senate ratification, would cover offensive land and sea-based missiles. Land-based missile sites would be frozen at present levels but the Soviet would be permitted to catch up in the number of submarine-based launching platforms.

Present missiles on land and sea could be replaced with more sophisticated models as technology permits, but total numbers could not be increased above agreed-upon levels.

Each country could proceed with development of multiple warheads. Some sources said there would be specific provisions for the use of reconnaissance satellites to police the pact.

Nixon ventured from behind the Kremlin walls in the morning for the first time since his arrival Monday as the first American president ever to visit Moscow. He laid a wreath at the tomb of Russia's unknown soldier. He then motored to a government residence just outside Moscow for the dinner with Soviet leaders.

Ms. Nixon went shopping. She bought $163.64 worth of merchandise in a 25-minute tour of GUM, the largest department store in the Soviet Union, then Wednesday night went to the Moscow State Circus.

Bremer pleads innocent of attempt on Wallace

BALTIMORE (AP)—Arthur Herman Bremer, smiling and appearing at ease, pleaded innocent Wednesday to federal charges arising from the attempted assassination of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and the wounding of three other persons at a political rally May 15.

Making his first public appearance since the night of the shootings, the 21-year-old unemployed busboy from Milwaukee replied in a firm voice to formal arraignment questions asked by Chief Judge Edward S. Northrop in the 16-minute hearing in U.S. District Court.

The defendant told Northrop his name and age, that he understood the four charges against him and that he had attended college "one year-plus."

The formal plea was entered by Benjamin Lipsitz, the court-appointed attorney, as Bremer stood before the bench in the company of four guards.

Bremer, also facing state charges, was named Tuesday in a federal indictment alleging the shooting of Wallace and a Secret Service bodyguard, Nicholas J. Zarvos.

Specifically he is charged with shooting a presidential candidate, assaulting a Secret Service agent, bringing a .38-caliber pistol from Wisconsin to Maryland and using the weapon to commit a felony.

Judge Northrop gave Lipsitz 30 days to file motions, half the time the lawyer had requested. The judge said the government would then have five days to respond, after which he would hold a prompt hearing and set a trial date "as expeditiously as possible."

U.S. Atty. George Beall said after the arraignment that he was considering asking the court to order Bremer to undergo a psychiatric examination.

Lipsitz, who declined to answer any questions, lost two attempts Wednesday to get a reduction in the $200,000 bail under which Bremer is being held in tight FBI security at the Baltimore County Jail in suburban Towson.

Security at the downtown federal courthouse was tight. About 80 newsmen and spectators filling the court seats had to undergo electronic searches before entering and were required to remain seated while a phalanx of FBI agents and deputy marshals moved Bremer in and out of the room.

After the hearing the defendant was quickly taken down to a basement loading dock, placed in a Baltimore City police paddy wagon and whisked back to the Towson jail, from where he had been brought sometime before dawn.

No date has been set for arraignment of Bremer on state charges contained in four identical-count indictments returned Tuesday by the Prince Georges County grand jury.

The federal charges could bring a maximum aggregate sentence of 40 years in jail and a $30,000 fine. Because some of the state charges are common law offenses, there is no set penalty.

Viet toll today: 6 jets, 14 men

SAIGON (AP)—Six U.S. aircraft have been lost and 14 American crewmen are missing in the accelerated bombing campaign over North Vietnam and the counterblow by Saigon troops north of Hue, the U.S. Command announced Wednesday.

South Vietnamese marines launched morning raids on enemy-held territory north of the old imperial capital and then pushed for a linkup in Quang Tri Province in hopes of upsetting any plans by the North Vietnamese to attack Hue.

In the air war over North Vietnam, enlarged to include strikes against power and industrial plants, scores of U.S. jets blasted industrial facilities Wednesday in the Haiphong area. The heaviest U.S. losses were in the South, however, at the northern front in Quang Tri.

The assault on Communist-held terrain 30 miles north of Hue was launched when several hundred South Vietnamese marines stormed ashore on Wonder Beach east of Quang Tri City.

At about the same time, U.S. Marine, Army and South Vietnamese air force helicopters landed two more units of several hundred men each along the Street Without Joy, a coastal route where French forces took heavy casualties 20 years ago.

Paris crowds cheered in excitement on Oct. 15, 1973 when a fragile, linen and paper balloon devised by the Montgolfier brothers lifted man on his first flight.

Record number to get degrees from UI Friday

The University of Iowa expects to award the largest number of degrees ever granted at a single UI Commencement Friday morning. An estimated 2,875 students will receive degrees during ceremonies beginning at 9:30 a.m. in the Field House.

About 70 per cent of the students will receive bachelor's degrees.

Students who completed work for their degrees last August and January have been invited to return to the campus to participate in Friday's ceremonies. Summer and winter commencements are no longer held.

UI Pres. Willard L. Boyd will deliver the charge to the graduates and confer degrees. Julia Brumm Kerchner of Emmetsburg, who will receive a bachelor's degree in pharmacy, will give the student charge.

Prof. James Spalding, director of the UI School of Religion, will serve as chaplain, and Robert Ray, dean of the Division of Extension and University Services will be master of ceremonies.

The College of Medicine convocation will be at 8 p.m. Thursday, while the College of Dentistry will hold its convocation at 3:30 p.m. Thursday. Both gatherings will be in the Main Lounge of the Union.

The annual senior dinner of the College of Pharmacy will be at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in the Ballroom of the Union. Also scheduled for Thursday is a 6:30 p.m. recognition ceremony for graduating seniors in the College of Nursing. It will be held in St. Thomas More Church.

Defense rests in Angela's trial

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Angela Davis' attorneys abruptly rested their brief defense case at her murder-kidnap-conspiracy trial Wednesday, declining to allow Ms. Davis to testify in her own behalf.

They had taken only three days and called 12 witnesses to answer claims which the prosecution had outlined in seven weeks with 95 witnesses.

Ms. Davis, 28, black Communist and former UCLA philosophy teacher, sat by smiling as the case was rested. She had contended in her opening statement that the prosecution had "no case at all" against her.

But her attorneys called to the witness stand her friends and political allies to provide alibis and show that Ms. Davis was not connected with a Marin County courthouse invasion which resulted in four deaths.

The prosecution pictured Ms. Davis as the moving force behind a plot in which invaders would seize hostages from the Marin court and exchange them for release of the "Soledad Brothers," three imprisoned black convicts.

Her motive, they said, was a consuming passion for one of the three-prison author George Jackson. The prosecutor read jurors torrid love letters from Ms. Davis to Jackson and showed that the convict's brother Jonathan, 17, carried Ms. Davis' guns into the Marin courthouse.

The defense's last-minute surprise witness was Soledad Brother Fleeta Drumgo, 27, who swore he knew nothing of any plan to free him.

Other defense witnesses placed Ms. Davis away from the crime scene the week before the shootings.

Higher education bill ok'd with busing riders

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed 63 to 15 Wednesday the $21.3-billion higher-education bill containing antibusing riders designed to slow down school desegregation efforts.

The compromise bill would set up the most far-reaching programs ever advanced to aid the nation's colleges and their students.

The overwhelming vote sent the measure to the House where opposition against it is strong.

In the end, many Southern Democrats voted for the bill even though they considered the antibusing provision too weak.

Several liberals, on the other hand voted against the measure. They said it is a landmark education aid bill but viewed the busing riders as strong enough to cause real damage to school desegregation.

The major antibusing rider in the bill would require, until Dec. 31, 1973, a stay of all federal district court busing orders until all appeals had been exhausted.

Southerners said this would give them some relief. Civil rights advocates insisted, however, that it is unconstitutional and that the courts would so hold. But they said it would bring many frivolous appeals in an effort to get stays.

One of the other busing provisions would prohibit use of federal funds for busing to desegregate a school system unless the local district asked for money for this purpose. Even if such a request were made, the funds could not be granted if the busing were over such a great distance as to harm the child or if the child were moved to an interior school.

The third rider directs federal officials not to require or induce local districts to spend state or local funds for such busing unless it is required by the Constitution.

The new college-student aid in the bill would guarantee every student a basic $1,400 annual grant minus his expected family contribution.

The entire student aid package would be financed at a total of $7.5 billion for 1972-75 under the bill. In addition, it would authorize $6.8 billion of insured loans over the period.

The three-year 1973-75 total of general grants to all colleges and universities would be $2.1 billion. These payments would be tied to the number of students in each institution who were receiving federal assistance.

SALT won't reduce U.S. to No. 2, official vows

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Nixon administration took issue Wednesday with conservatives' allegations that the imminent U.S.-Soviet arms-limitation agreement will give the Soviet Union an unbeatable lead in nuclear weapons.

At the State Department, spokesman Charles W. Bray referred to statements by Rep. John M. Ashbrook, a Republican presidential contender, and said:

"Americans need have no fear of the SALT agreement... as much in the interests of the United States as of the Soviet Union, and certainly in the interests of the world community."

Ashbrook, an Ohio conservative, said Tuesday the proposed Salt arrangements "are one-sided on their face," and would "doom the United States to nuclear inferiority."

Similar criticism came from the weekly conservative publication, Human Events, which said the SALT accord "is likely to freeze the United States into a posture of nuclear inferiority."

The critics contend that the strategic arms pact would impose ceilings allowing the Soviet Union to maintain half again as many land-based intercontinental ballistic missiles—ICBMs—as the United States, along with parity or more in submarine missiles. The administration argues that this would be offset by U.S. superiority in numbers of warheads.

The SALT agreement is expected to be signed in Moscow Friday as a showpiece of President Nixon's visit there. The aim of the U.S.-Soviet SALT negotiations, begun in 1969, is to curb the superpower arms race.

Administration officials, declining to be quoted directly prior to announcement of the SALT agreement, indicated the package contains these main elements:

—A treaty under which the United States and the Soviet Union would agree to limit their anti-ballistic missile—(ABM)—arsenal to two sites per country of 100 missiles each.

—A ceiling on land-based and underwater missiles at present levels. The Soviets have about 1,600 ICBMs, the United States has 1,054. The United States has 41 nuclear missile-firing submarines, the Soviets will have 42 counting 17 under construction.

—Provision for some shifting from one missile category to another, within the ceilings.

Blimp enthusiasts form club, float campaign for money

The University of Iowa Balloon Club, an officially recognized student organization, has about 20 members but no balloons.

Gregory E. Herrick, a club member, said, "We need about $5,000 to buy a balloon and another $3,000 to get the club going."

Herrick, 1110 North Dubuque Street, is looking for a grant or donation from an outside source. Although Student Senate didn't fund the club this spring, "that doesn't mean we won't be back for money next fall," he said.

"Once we get the balloon, the physical education department has expressed an interest in offering a course in hot air ballooning for credit, which would make us the first college in the United States to give course credit for ballooning," Herrick said.

He said he thinks the club will rapidly become popular at UI. "Eight to ten hours of flight time is all you need to get a commercial balloon instructor's license."

"We can qualify a lot of student instructors right away, and it costs only $2 an hour to operate a balloon," he said.

Herrick pointed out the "promotional advantages" of ballooning to UI. "Ballooning is a unique sport right now. We could enter the Inter-collegiate Balloon Race and the National Balloon Races held in Indianola, and get the university a lot of national publicity."

"If we get the money for a new balloon, we could have it made to our own specifications—possibly school colors, black and gold, with 'University of Iowa' printed in big letters on the side," he said.

There are presently only 150 licensed balloon pilots in the United States, and only three hot air balloons in Iowa, he said.

Co-ed PE courses available

Several new co-educational physical education courses that will be offered the second half of the session (July 3-27) include Advanced Bowling, 9 a.m.; Advanced Tennis, 9 a.m.; Horseback Riding, 9 to 10:30 a.m.; Skin and Scuba Diving, 11 a.m.; Paddleball, 11 a.m.; Advanced Badminton, 1:10 p.m.; and Advanced Golf, 2:10 p.m.

The P.E. Department has recommended that Principles of Physical Conditioning, a requirement for most entering freshmen, be taken during the first semester of registration.

According to Prof. Donald R. Cassidy, the co-ed courses are being offered again because of favorable student response to the co-ed classes during the spring semester.

"He said the classes offer 'activities that students normally couldn't get in high school'."

There are three other primaries on June 6—in New Jersey, New Mexico, and McGovern's South Dakota, where he is unopposed.

Then comes the finale, in New York, for 278 delegates, elected by district. McGovern is expected to score heavily in that June 20 wrap-up, perhaps gaining 200 or more of the votes at stake.

Whether he can score heavily enough depends on the California contest. There, it's head-on with Humphrey.

A write-in move for the wounded Wallace is only psychological; he is not on the ballot and cannot win.

And in California, it is winner take all—perhaps all the way to the Democratic convention that opens July 10 in Miami Beach.

As goes California, so could Miami

And Humphrey, who has been campaigning there for a week, noted pointedly that "California is an arena all to its own."

There is a record to support that contention. Four years ago, former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy won the Oregon primary over the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and thought he had a big boost for California. Kennedy won the California primary the night he was assassinated.

Eight years ago, when the competition was Republican, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York captured Oregon's primary, went south and lost California to Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

McGovern claimed in his Oregon campaign, but now in his victory statement, that a primary win there would give him momentum that could prove crucial in California.

There. He scored in Illinois, then went nowhere.

His slim hopes of nomination now are pinned to a convention deadlock; he is out of the primary campaign, although he edged ahead of Humphrey to run second in Rhode Island Tuesday.

All through the long primary season, McGovern has been doing better than his rivals in collecting delegates awarded outside the primary states. His national total is now 502½, a shade under one-third of the 1,509 it will take to win nomination. Wallace stands second at 323, Humphrey third at 290½.

McGovern said Tuesday night that whether he can build his vote into a first-ballot presidential nomination hinges largely on whether he can win in California. He could have skipped the "largely."

'Copter pioneer hits dove attitude

Igor Sikorsky

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP)—Aviation pioneer Igor I. Sikorsky described as nonsense the arguments of anti-war groups that Sikorsky Aircraft should stop making military helicopters for use in Vietnam because of the choppers' destructive capabilities.

"We use shoes, automobiles and tanks in Vietnam as much as helicopters," Sikorsky said in an interview conducted in advance of his 83rd birthday Thursday. "A helicopter is destructive because war in general is destructive," he said.

He also said helicopters are "very important for lifesaving in war." Sikorsky manufactures a helicopter that is used for rescuing U.S. pilots downed behind enemy lines.

Sikorsky retired as engineering manager of Sikorsky Aircraft in 1957 at age 68, but still serves as engineering consultant and comes to his office at the plant several days each week.

He says the greatest achievement of his 63-year aviation career was designing the first practical helicopter.

Other achievements that Sikorsky says are "parallel" in importance are his construction and flying of the world's first multiengine airplane in 1913 and his work on some of the first aircraft to fly transcontinental routes.

"I don't have time to start anything brand-new," Sikorsky says, but he remains greatly interested in crane-type helicopters. "These helicopters are of very considerable importance in carrying loads, irrespective of roads, mountains, or swamps," according to Sikorsky.

He says they will be extremely important in the future.

Sikorsky was born in Kiev, Russia in 1889. He built his first helicopter in 1909, and in 1910 built and flew his first fixedwing aircraft.

Sikorsky left Russia in 1919 and came to the United States after short stays in England and France.

In 1923 he organized the Sikorsky Aero Engineering Corp. and built the S29A, a twin-engine, all-metal transport.

A number of other aircraft followed, including the S38 amphibian, which Pan American World Airways used to blaze air trails to Central and South America.

Sikorsky's company joined United Aircraft Corp. in 1929.

Local urban renewal head seeks federal statement on eco impact

Local urban renewal officials, trying to eliminate any possible stumbling blocks from the path of Iowa City's renewal project, have asked that an environmental impact statement for the program be issued if one is required.

Urban Renewal Director John B. Klaus said he has written the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) asking officials there to determine whether an impact statement is necessary.

He said that if such a statement is required, it is possible that an injunction could be granted to stop HUD from funding the project until the statement is issued.

Klaus said he "doubts very seriously" that the funding will be stopped but said if an injunction did stop HUD funding "it could put us back where we were in '67 and '68" when an injunction brought the renewal project to a halt.

Associated Press news analysis

The form chart to date: McGovern won Tuesday in Oregon and Rhode Island, earlier in Nebraska and Massachusetts, after his underestimated campaign took off with victory in Wisconsin.

Wallace was the victor in Michigan, Maryland, Florida, North Carolina, Tennessee and his own Alabama.

Humphrey's victories came in Pennsylvania, in Ohio, narrowly, and over Wallace in West Virginia and Indiana.

That leaves Muskie, which is just what the primaries did. He won in New Hampshire, but McGovern began cutting him down with a strong showing

He said that if such a statement is required, it is possible that an injunction could be granted to stop HUD from funding the project until the statement is issued.

Klaus said he "doubts very seriously" that the funding will be stopped but said if an injunction did stop HUD funding "it could put us back where we were in '67 and '68" when an injunction brought the renewal project to a halt.

Richard H. Winter, a leader of a local group that opposed the controversial downtown parking ramp, said an injunction is "a possibility" if Citizens for Environmental Action is not satisfied with HUD's response to a letter the group wrote.

In that letter CEA asked for an environmental impact statement for the parking ramp, which the City Council has approved and will finance with $2 million worth of revenue bonds.

Klaus said he is not "overly concerned" about the CEA action because he said HUD will issue an impact statement if it is required.

He explained that it has not been determined if such a statement is necessary for the Iowa City program because the requirements of the federal Environmental Policy Act of 1969 are "unclear" as they apply to the local project.

Woman seeks $1 million Sues UI doctors for negligence

An Ottumwa woman is suing the state of Iowa and two University Hospital physicians for a total of $1 million for allegedly giving her husband negligent treatment during the two days he was in the hospital before his death.

Anna K. Thurman, in a suit filed Wednesday in Johnson County District Court, asks for $500,000 from the state and $500,000 jointly from Dr. Gerald F. DiBona, a University of Iowa assistant professor of internal medicine, and Dr. Mary C. Webster, a resident in urology at the hospitals.

In her suit, Ms. Thurman, the mother of five, says her husband, Jerry, entered University Hospitals on May 25, 1970 and died there two days later.

In addition to charging the state with negligence in the care and treatment of her husband, Ms. Thurman contends that her husband was placed in a large ward without sufficient personnel to allow adequate observation.

She claims that her husband died of loss of blood, as a result of treatment.

Schneider seeks election to third term as sheriff

Johnson County Sheriff Maynard E. Schneider announced Wednesday that he will seek his third four-year term as the county's top law enforcer.

Schneider, a Democrat and sheriff since 1964, said in his announcement that he believes "good law enforcement is preventive law enforcement."

He said that if re-elected, he plans to continue educational emphasis in his department.

Schneider's announcement assures a primary election battle for the sheriff's spot on the Democratic ticket. William A. Kidwell, 2502 Wayne Avenue, a Democrat, announced his candidacy for sheriff earlier this year.

Appoint group to probe racism

The Iowa City School Board has appointed a five member commission to investigate racism in local schools.

Board Pres. Phillip E. Cline said the commission is charged with investigating a complaint which led to the commission's formation, as well as determining the extent of racial attitudes in the schools and in what ways these attitudes are manifested. The commission, four men and one woman, is also expected to report on ways of eliminating racial attitudes in the school system.

The commission was chosen by board member Ann Pedderson and Simon Walker, a spokesman for persons who complained last month that racism exists in the schools.

The commission will be headed by William G. Buss, a University of Iowa law professor.

Dear Bugle:

"Something strange has happened. An unusual recording by a relatively unknown artist has made it big on Top 40 radio. I am referring to 'American Pie' by Don McLean.

Now that's not really the strange part. What is strange is that many supposedly aware people have condemned the record as being top 40 shit! I object!

I would ask these dilettantes, some of whom have indignantly and pedantically complained to a WZMF morning jockey about his playing the record, to listen with awareness and sensitivity to the whole recording.

Let McLean speak of the day "Music" died. The "Music" of another age. An age when it was so very good and easy not to have to think too deeply. Yesterday, when your troubles seemed far away. Allow McLean to outline for you as no history teacher ever has, the events that brought us where we are today... the demise of Elvis, the incredible influence of the Beatles, the assassination of President Kennedy, the Democratic convention of 1968, the passing of Janis Joplin and all that meant, the inauguration of President Nixon, and the moon flights... to mention just a few.

BUGLE AMERICAN Milwaukee, Wis.

After that first big step, listen to McLean's "American Pie" album! McLean shows himself to be not only a wonderful musician but an intensely beautiful poet.

One cut, "Vincent," says all there is to know about the genius that was Vincent Van Gogh. Mind you, Don McLean does not write song lyrics but poetry. McLean's 'story' of Van Gogh's struggle with himself and with an 'audience' which was not yet ready to even tolerate him fills the listener with rage and pity.

I find very, very little of any real value in the wide world of art. Don McLean is an exception. In the midst of a thousand heroic attempts, McLean has made it. Not since Dylan have I been so excited about a poet-musician. Please listen to him!"

LETTERS

Jesus people

To the editor:

During the years of my graduate program here at Iowa I have been impressed many times with the fairness of The Daily Iowan in allowing itself to be the springboard for the discussion of issues, no matter how controversial those issues may seem at the time.

Judging from articles, editorials and letters to the editor which have appeared during the past two weeks, there is one controversial issue which has been the subject of great misunderstanding, the Jesus movement.

The first point of misunderstanding revolves around the designation of all Jesus people as "freaks." There are some freaks in the Jesus movement and we are thankful for them. But this obscures the fact that the one great dynamic of the Jesus movement is that it has showed great diversity, cutting across all racial, socio-economic and educational lines, including in Iowa City people who are students, janitors, professors, physicians, factory workers, scientists, engineers, at least one graduate dean, secretaries, milkmen, craftsmen, school teachers, as just a partial list. The movement should not be underestimated either in its strength or versatility. It is a growing movement, one which even Timothy Leary is quoted to have stated will be a powerful force to reckon with in the days ahead. Those who underestimate the Jesus movement should not forget that when one of its chief spokesmen, David Wilkerson came to Iowa City last fall, a crowd numbering over 3000 was attracted with very little publicity. Of these 3000, the great number was made up by Jesus people.

The second misconception is the misunderstanding that Jesus people do not oppose the Viet Nam War. Jesus people are unalterably opposed to all war including the Viet Nam War, but they are also people who do their homework and have found through a study of history that man estranged from God is a savage animal whose natural posture is war. In the spectrum of recorded history war has been the rule, peace the exception. This phenomenon has existed regardless of the particular political system in control. Jesus people have made two additional observations in regard to this, first that numerous demonstrations for peace have been tried during the long history of man's conflict with his brothers, and none of these has worked. More war was the only result either on an intranational or international level. Second, they have observed that throughout the history of the world that the only real periods of great social concern from which all of the great social improvements originated, were periods following in the wake of the great Christian awakenings, Jesus movements. Always the message is the same. All of the basic problems faced by collective man are attributable to the one basic problem of individual man, estrangement from the rebellion against his creator. During the discussions of the past years I have heard only one viable solution to man's basic problem and it's found in the person of Jesus Christ. When a man invites Jesus into his life the change in man is from the inside out. When he commits his life totally to Jesus, God helps man screw his head back on right and he sees his brothers and their needs in the proper perspective. The problem with the institutional church today is that for the past fifty years it has majored in social concerns and social action to the virtual exclusion of ministering to man's primary spiritual need, his estrangement from God. As a result, the Church has lost its identity as a spiritual force and is in such bad shape that it is about to lose its identity as a social force.

The Jesus restoration movement, like all the great Jesus awakenings of history has altered this trend, for it has identified once again man's primary problem, has offered a concrete practical solution to this problem and has placed social concern and social action back into perspective as the natural expressions of the life Jesus has changed. Total commitment to anybody or anything is not an easy matter. Man does not take this step lightly and I guess the whole situation boils down to one issue, and that issue revolves around just how dedicated people in Iowa City really are to bring peace to the world. The only amount of peace that this world has ever seen has come from the inward peace of Jesus and its outward social expression, as demonstrated in the lives of those totally committed to him.

Courage

To the editor:

I have read and heard a number of statements recently concerning the courage of Gov. Wallace. He has vowed to fight on in spite of his injury. This is all very fine, and he deserves a certain amount of admiration for his personal strength. But is his courage all that unique?

Every day people are injured, maimed, paralyzed, deprived of loved ones. Except most of these people don't receive the nation's best medical care, the sympathy of millions of people; they don't have unlimited financial resources, they don't have the publicity, they don't have nearly the same opportunities looming in the future. The paradigm of human love is forgiving, and loving, the very people who are torturing and killing you. Likewise, the paradigm of human courage is found only in those who continue cheerfully when all other personal considerations warrant despair.

The American public need not look to Gov. Wallace as an example of courage. They need look no further than the nearest hospital, rehabilitation center, rest home, ghetto, down the block and around the corner. There they will find a multitude of broken, wasting people. But among them they will find those whose courage makes Gov. Wallace look like a quitter. Perhaps in fact he is a man of paradigmatic courage, but we could only find that out if his situation were vastly different.

Memory lane

Well, folks, it's all over. Except for some of us that have incompletes dangling like dingleballs over a small body of water, we're FREE. For now.

Let us at this time pause and reflect upon the last year or years, depending on however long you've been dealing here, and see if some clear pattern doesn't emerge. And of course it doesn't.

I used to think school was something like taking a shit. You know the analogy (no pun intended): 1) subject is fed, over a prescribed length of time, a given quantity of whatever, some of which is digestible and usable, and the rest of which is transferred to the organ designed to eliminate the need for storing useless substances; 2) At specific times within a given period subject is required to utilize that organ, which is otherwise vestigial; 3) this cycle is to be repeated ad infinitum. Some life, huh?

Well, this semester I didn't eat anything, thinking that when I had to utilize my organ there would be nothing to eliminate. It didn't work. I'm still full of shit.

Which brings us to the hypothesis: Can a student pumped full of shit for 17 years find happiness in the real world?

Where were you bound for, unknown man, wobbling along on bony legs beneath your load, could you not feel the blind eyes stare upon your back or smell the madness in the air around you?

Why did you try so hard to get where you are going, racing the creeping night to your poor bowl of rice?
Did you not hear the silent laughing scream behind you that would not wait, or listen to replies?

The load's not heavy any more for you now, is it?

for night's caught up and long since overtaken you

Ski in Brazil this summer, but bring your own snow

GARIBALDI, Brazil (AP)—Looking for a really off beat winter sport. Try tropical skiing in Brazil. You can ski all year round in your Bermudas and a T-shirt. There is sledding to your heart's content and an unending supply of champagne. There's just one hitch: no snow. Garibaldi, population 8,000, founded by Italian immigrants in Southern Brazil's wine country, has Latin America's only artificial ski slopes. But so what if there's no snow. Garibaldi has everything else: a 40-seat chairlift, nearly 1,000 meters—more than half a mile of slopes for beginners and intermediates, ski instructors dressed in flame-red sweaters, and a cozy ski lodge with a fireplace to warm the after-ski crowd when the mercury hits a low of 59 degrees. There's also an air conditioner in case it gets a bit warmer. Soon, it will have a skating rink for the roller skate crowd, a ski-jumping trampoline, and a skyscraper hotel in the shape of a champagne bottle. "President Medici Ski Station" is the brain child of David Santini, a 38-year-old Brazilian civil engineer who caught the ski bug on his honeymoon in Italy 10 years ago. Longing to do something for his hometown, he combed Europe for ideas for artificial ski slopes. After trying everything from plastic to rubber, Santini settled for polyethylene, started a factory which produces bathmats at slack times during the year, and bought the handsome real estate overlooking Garibaldi. Five years and $180,000 later, without a single bank loan, Santini had cleared the brush around the pinetrees and the cactus and clamped 120,000 pieces of polyethylene triangles together on three runs. Soon, the town of Garibaldi was building its own special light skis in guajuvira tropical wood, and special boots with soft cushioning replacing heavy socks as internal protection. For the prospective skier, Garibaldi is an 82 mile drive from the coastal city of Porto Alegre. For about $3 a ski buff can rent skis, shoes and an instructor for an hour on the slopes, with the lift thrown in free. Skiing on polyethylene is faster than on snow. The snowplow technique works, but it takes a bit longer to turn. Advanced skiers say parallel turning and braking does not stop you as suddenly as on powder or even crusty snow. If you take a tumble, the matchstick style "hairs" of the polyethylene give you about the same reception as a bathmat would if you slid out of your tub. To make your trip smoother, Santini has devised a system to lubricate your skis with two sponge-covered rollers impregnated with simple gas station motor oil. You "graze up" before every time you go down.

DI Record Review

Good start for Reed

Lou Reed was a guitar player with Warhol's Velvet Underground. Reed founded the group but Warhol sucked it up and made it part of his kinky world. Reed is now on his own with an album called Lou Reed. The album is good. Reed has a nice voice. The material hints at the styles of various performers but is original. That is, it borrows usually without copying. While the cover lists nine members in the back up group, the album is not over produced. It doesn't have the heavy quality that many rock albums have when lots of players are employed; that drowns itself out. The album starts with a good boogie tune "I Can't Stand It." Reed's voice comes over well, the lyrics are interesting, and it has a good bass. The only problem is a weak ending, a repetition of "I can't stand it" until the fade out. "Walk and Talk" borrows heavily from "Brown Sugar" and therein lies its weakness. The intros to the two songs are identical. The "Brown Sugar" intro comes up loud and clear during the chorus of Reed's tune. The Stones do it better, but still it's a good cut. If you like to boogie, those are probably the two best cuts on the album. But the album shows not only some originality but also versatility. There is a lot of material to choose from. Lillian Roxon, author of Rock Encyclopedia, says that Reed wants to be a commercial success. This release is a good start. —Dave Helland

New home is pile of junk

HONOLULU (AP)—A University of Hawaii professor and his students have designed a house they say the world's homeless can build at practically no cost, and it may even bring in a little income. "The idea was to design a home they can build using materials from junkpiles and so on that would provide facilities squatter shacks don't have," graduate student Dennis Parker said in an interview. In June, Parker and other students will live in a model of such a house they erected on the university campus to test its livability. It's not much to look at, made of 1-by-3 inch boards, burlap bags which had been dipped in cement and a little plastic stripping.

But Bruce Etherington, chairman of the university's department of architecture, says such homes will help thousands of squatters in Asia and elsewhere, providing a family of four a place to live "without creating friction." The most sophisticated thing about the 10-by-12 foot prototype is its toilet. It should delight any ecologist, since it recycles human waste. The water goes through a system of filters and purifiers and then to a tank for use for showering. A barrel collects rainwater from the roof for drinking and cooking.

Solid waste is collected in a barrel under the house, where it turns into methane gas and is piped to the kitchen stove for cooking. The extra income might come if a "home incinerator" is added for burning the waste down into phosphate products valuable to industry.

Heaters won't be necessary in most parts of the underdeveloped world. In fact, the roof is split to provide ventilation and a sheet of polyethylene stripping across the ceiling wards off the sun's rays.

Female FBI agents? Would you want your daughter to pack a .38?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Female G-man? FBI employes in a dozen cities can't understand why a woman would apply to be a special agent and some special agents wouldn't want their daughters to be one.

But since Acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III reversed the late J. Edgar Hoover's rigid policy against hiring women for crime investigation, hundreds of women have inquired about becoming special agents, a spot check showed.

The telephone check of 12 field offices and a visit to bureau headquarters here turned up polite, cordial responses from employes asked for information about obtaining a job as female special agent.

But typical of comments was this from an agent in New York who declined to give his name:

"The job isn't for a woman. There's a lot of danger involved. She'll have the same duties as men. No pampering. Now really, would you want to see your daughter packing a .38 revolver?"

A secretary at FBI headquarters, who said she's received more than 100 queries since the men-only policy was changed, said few women meet the 5-foot-7 height requirement and so far only one has applied.

"Before the change," she said, "I thought I'd like to be an agent. It cried 'discrimination, discrimination.' But now that it's a possibility, I've changed my mind. Those jobs can be pretty rough."

A San Francisco agent said some of his colleagues fear women agents will make their work more dangerous.

"For instance," he said, "when you take someone with you on an arrest, he's the guy who may save your life. If a fellow is with a 120-pound girl, he'd have to do most of the job. Fellows aren't too enthusiastic about making an arrests with a girl with them."

In Dallas, a woman who said she's been with the FBI for 30 years said: "It isn't glamorous like they show you on TV.

You're on call 24 hours a day. You're expected to work two hours a day overtime. You have to have an unblemished record. That means none of your relatives can have been arrested.

"But I'd be happy to send you an application if you're still interested."

FBI employes stress that women agents will be granted no special privileges. At an intensive 14-week training course, they must qualify with revolver, shotgun and rifle, meet stiff pull-up, sit-up and push-up requirements and run two miles in 17 minutes.

Applicants must be graduates of law school or accounting majors in college who have had one year experience in their profession. Otherwise, they must have a college degree and three years professional working experience.

Currently, 3,000 qualified men are on the waiting list.

Battle for 'series' berth starts today

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Four teams who re-placed perennial powers to earn NCAA baseball berths launch District 4 tournament play today at 1 p.m.

Big Ten winner Iowa, 21-14, takes on at-large selection Central Michigan, 27-9-1, in the opener and host Bowling Green, the Mid-American champion with a 22-10-2 mark, plays Midwestern Conference victor Northern Illinois, 24-6.

Play in the double elimination tournament continues Friday with three games. The title contest is Saturday with the winner advancing to the College World Series June 9-14 at Omaha, Neb.

Iowa, winning its first conference championship in 33 years, knocked off powerful Minnesota on the way.

Bowling Green broke the domination Western Michigan and Ohio University had held on the Mid-American title. It was the first sole conference title for any school besides Ohio and Western in Mid-American history.

Northern Illinois beat defending NCAA district champion Southern Illinois two of three games. Central Michigan takes an at-large spot that often goes to Notre Dame.

It's the first appearance for any of the teams in NCAA tournament play, although Central Michigan did reach the college division finals last year before joining major schools.

Only one Iowa radio station, KXIC-FM (100.7) will carry the Hawkeyes' opening district 4 game. Gene Clausen will re-create a play-by-play account from reports phoned back by Phil Haddy, Iowa's assistant sports information director.

Mark Tschopp will go to the mound for Iowa in the opener.

NBA warns league stars

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — National Basketball Association Commissioner Walter Kennedy Wednesday warned NBA players scheduled to participate in tonight's All-Star game against the American Basketball Association they would be fined as a minimum an amount they receive for playing in the game at the Nassau Coliseum.

The commissioner, who is attending an NBA meeting in Phoenix, Ariz., also said in a statement issued through his office in New York, that the players might be subject to further penalties.

Kennedy said Tuesday night in Phoenix that the players from his league would be subject to suspensions or fines if they participated in the second annual game between the rival leagues.

He said that most of the NBA club owners had informed him of their promised action to keep the players from participating in the game.

Old butcher, Frazier, to meet 'The Butcher'

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Joe Frazier, who came out of a Philadelphia slaughterhouse to gain fame in the ring, will defend his world heavyweight championship against Ron Stander Thursday night in this meat packing center.

Frazier was rated a 10-1 favorite for the fight which was scheduled to start at 10:25 p.m. EDT, and seen on home television beginning at 10 p.m.

The champion, who once stripped sides of beef for $105 a week and who got $2.5 million for fighting Muhammad Ali, was guaranteed $150,000 from television and was to get 40 per cent of the live gate after taxes.

Stander, called the Bluffs Butcher from the fact he lives in neighboring Council Bluffs, Iowa, and because of his fighting style and not because of an occupation, was to get 20 per cent of the live gate and half of the foreign television revenue.

Both men are sluggers and the chances are excellent that the fight at the 10,050-seat Omaha Civic Auditorium, expected to be sold out, will not last the scheduled 15 rounds.

Frazier has scored 24 knockouts in winning all 28 of his pro fights. Stander has 23 victories, 15 by knockout, one loss and a draw.

The only common opponent they have had is Manuel Ramos. Frazier knocked Ramos out in two rounds in New York in 1966. Stander fought a draw with the Mexican here in 1970 and then outpointed him in 10 rounds here last year.

One important difference in the fighters is that Frazier has never been cut while Stander is known as a bleeder and has had more than 60 stitches in his face to back up the reputation.

Frazier, 28, is 5-foot-11½ and has a 73½-inch reach. Stander, 27, is 5-11 with a 70-inch reach.

Each fighter is expected to weigh between 210 and 215. Frazier weighed 215½ in his last fight when he stopped Terry Daniels in four rounds in New Orleans Jan. 15. Stander weighed 241 — he's been heavier — in taking a 10-round decision over John Mac March 20 at Council Bluffs.

This will be Frazier's fourth defense since he won universal title approval by stopping Jimmy Ellis in five rounds Feb. 16, 1970, and it will be a fight for charity. Frazier is giving half of his purse to research for sickle cell anemia and his manager, Yank Durham, whose 4-year-old son has the disease, is donating his entire cut.

The Cornhusker Boxing Club, Inc., promoter of the live bout, is giving $5,000 to the charity. Television coverage on a 150-station network in this country and via satellite in foreign countries is being handled by TVS Television Network.

WANTED: Hard-nosed reporters and assorted special writers.

Do you like to pry into other people's affairs? Won't you take no for an answer? Do you like to drink? Would you enjoy having a press pass that would get you into city council meetings and behind police lines?

Well, all that's only incidental and insignificant.

The plain facts are this:

The Daily Iowan is in need of some good, hard-nosed reporters and special writers. And if you've got a decent head on your shoulders, you're a likely candidate.

That's right...no experience necessary.

You might be eligible for academic credit working for us, too. Many articles are provided for us through the course "journalism practicum," which might be the 1, 2 or 3 hour afternoon course you could use this summer. As a beginner or as an advanced writer.

Or we might be able to arrange special project credit for "speciality writing" through political science, business or other likely departments.

On top of that, there's going to be a monthly pool of bonus money that you, as a DI staffer, would be eligible for. And a little extra of that never hurt.

We're going to be trying to do a little more this summer. In depth series and reporter teams to dig up the University, Iowa City, and Iowa scenes. Increased entertainment and fine arts. Major league baseball and recreational sports. What there is to do around Corn City. And "magazine" pieces about a whole range of things.

Even if you only want to volunteer or freelance, come up and see us sometime. We can give you more particulars about the paper.

Just remember—if you can write for a mass audience—no matter what discipline, college or background you're from—it's a feather in your cap. Many times, a very convincing one.

Learn how this summer or this fall. You know, it's a way to beat the heat, folks.

FOR INFORMATION ON DI WRITING: Call 353-6210 for Dave Helland or any summer staff member.

FOR INFORMATION ON JOURNALISM PRACTICUM, be sure to see the course instructor at summer registration.

It isn't exactly Bogart, but it'll have to do. Help the community out and help yourself out.
