Jury rules Angela free on all counts

Iowa Citians rejoice at "not-guilty" verdict

"Thank you, Jesus," was the reaction of one group of spectators. Angela Davis Innocent of charges of murder, kidnapping and conspiracy. Davis was acquitted by an all-white jury in Los Angeles in the trial of 28-year-old Chil-Isn't that great news?" exclaimed another spectator.

"I'm not going to allow myself to be at the center of this storm," she said. "I'm not going to allow myself to be used as a symbol of anything."

"I'm going to live my life as I've always lived it," she said. "I'm going to continue to be a human being."

on crisis center

The selection process starts with a group interview. Each volunteer is in a group of two or three and the process continues with a written examination. Those who pass are then interviewed by the center's staff. The interview process is a way for volunteers to demonstrate their readiness to handle the crisis, but it also serves as a way for the center to ensure that volunteers are prepared for the job.

The interview process is a way for volunteers to demonstrate their readiness to handle the crisis, but it also serves as a way for the center to ensure that volunteers are prepared for the job. It involves answering questions about their background, their experiences, and their ability to work with people in crisis.

Once volunteers are selected, they are provided with training and support. The center's staff provides ongoing support, including regular meetings and continuing education opportunities. This training and support are important to ensure that volunteers are able to handle the challenges of working with people in crisis.

The center's mission is to provide a caring and compassionate environment for people in crisis. They work to ensure that volunteers are able to provide the support and resources that people in crisis need.

Finally, after 40 hours of training and preparation, the volunteers are ready to start their first three-hour shift.

The volunteer program is a way for people to give back to their community. It provides a way for people to make a difference in the lives of others, and it also provides a way for people to learn new skills and gain experience.

Volunteers aren't just window dressing. They are a critical part of the center's mission. They are the people who provide the support and resources that people in crisis need. They are the people who are there to listen, to talk, and to help.

Wallace hurts labor-union vote

WASHINGTON (AP) - Alabama Gov. George Wallace was described by labor leaders Thursday as anisky political force who could seriously hurt their chances next fall of winning a majority vote in the labor-bloc region of the South.

The duality of the Wallace campaign was underscored by the fact that while his own political fortunes were declining, labor was beginning to find new support in the South.

Wallace was described as a formidable political figure who had once been the unchallenged leader of the Southern Democratic party. But he now is seen as a weak candidate who cannot win in the South and who may not even win in his own state.

Wallace's campaign is viewed as a major obstacle to the labor bloc's goal of winning a majority vote in the labor-bloc region of the South. But labor leaders say they are not discouraged and will continue to work hard to elect a labor bloc candidate.

Eddie Allen, Iowa (AP) - Pioneer publisher and former member of the Iowa Labor Union, has been named a member of the National Labor Committee for the State of Iowa. The committee is composed of labor, business and political leaders in the state and is dedicated to the promotion of labor-management cooperation and the resolution of labor disputes.

The committee includes the following members: John H. Dean, president of the Iowa Labor Union; Charles R. Johnson, secretary-treasurer of the Iowa Labor Union; and William J. O'Brien, executive director of the Iowa Labor Union.

The Iowa Labor Union is a federation of local labor unions in the state. It is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations (AFL-CIO).

The committee's purpose is to promote a spirit of cooperation and understanding between labor and management and to work for the resolution of labor disputes in an orderly and peaceful manner.
Where our heads are heading

Editor's note: Pulitzer Prize winner Jack Anderson here outlines his latest book today. (His controversial column "Washington Week," appearing in Chicago Sun-Times last week, will appear today in the Chicago Sun-Times.)

WASHINGTON - The venerable 86-year-old dean of the press, Rep. William D. Cellar, D-N.Y., has resigned his office after a year of turmoil and frustration.

The congressman from New York has been under fire for the past year for his handling of the public's business and for the way he has managed the House.

It was not clear whether the congressman would resign his office or stay in the House for the rest of the session. But it is clear that he will be unable to continue in his present capacity.

Rep. John Anderson was among those who were shocked by the manner in which the congressman handled the public's business. Anderson said he was surprised by the congressman's failure to see the importance of his position.

"As a member of Congress," Anderson said, "I feel that it is important for me to see the importance of the position of congressman.
