Refuses lift

WASHINGTON — In response to Court Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, Florida refused to add 40 to a settlement in the $1.1 billion Olin Corp. asbestos-abatement plan.

Burger, in a 4-1 vote, ordered the state to seek a new hearing, but Florida decided to stand firm.

The state, which has one of the nation's largest asbestos claims, had previously agreed to pay $1.1 billion to settle cases against the former chemical company, which has since filed for bankruptcy.

The decision could have implications for other states grappling with asbestos liabilities, as they consider whether to accept similar settlements.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's effort to light water solutions with an 800,000 barrel tanker has been broken over concerns for legal complications.

John R. Quirk, Jr., top legal officer of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, said in an interview it is a vital that from Quirk insisted that the government has sought to align logical procedures, but has had difficulties with industrial pollution, but has found issues of logical complaints.

In some instances, federal water pollution agencies have hesitated to take action against industrial polluters, but has faced difficulties in arranging reasonable complaints for normal operations requirements, and given industries 90 days to correct violations.

Since then, concerns over pollution have been raised.

"I think we can do this, but it's important that we do it responsibly," Quirk said.

The government's decision to align logical complaints has been in progress.

"I thought it was a good idea," Quirk noted. "But I think it's important that we do it in a responsible way."

VATICAN CITY (AP) — This week Pope Paul VI made his last trip to London, where he has stood as firm in his stance of faith, birth control and world peace as those who have determined his approach to life have brought him to.

She was also seen on the river on Saturday afternoon, as she prepared for the weekend.

The Duchess, who is expecting her first child later this year, was seen on the river, in the company of friends, as they enjoyed a boat trip along the Thames.

Camilla is expected to give birth to her first child in September.
Barracks to accommodate residents 'til '75

By PAT PETERSON

In 1946 the University of Iowa purchased barracks on the southeast side of Iowa City and immediately used them as a student housing facility. The campus had already outgrown its buildings and other student housing was needed. The barracks were used for dormitory purposes until the 1960s. The current use of the barracks is as temporary student housing until alternative student housing can be built.

The barracks had already outlined their plans

Barracks residents have expressed concerns about the renovation plans for the barracks. The residents believe that the renovations will increase the rent and that the living conditions will be worsened. The university has assured the residents that their concerns will be taken into account.

Reasons for removal

The barracks were constructed for a short duration during World War II and do not meet modern standards for living. The facilities are outdated and require extensive renovation to bring them up to current standards.

The university plans to demolish the barracks and to build new student housing facilities. This will be done in phases, with the goal of accommodating all returning students within one year. The new facilities will be fully equipped and meet the standards for contemporary student housing.

Expenses

The cost of demolishing and constructing the new facilities is expected to be around $10 million. This includes the cost of labor, materials, and permits. The university will be eligible for federal grants to help cover some of these costs.

The barracks will be torn down in phases, starting with the least occupied sections. This will allow for a gradual transition to the new facilities, minimizing the impact on current residents.

This project is part of the university's ongoing efforts to improve student housing and accommodate the growing student population. The university is committed to providing safe and comfortable living conditions for all students.
In April I ordered a "broad for escape ladies" from J. Carpenter in New York, paying with a personal check for $11.00. The package failed to arrive, and I don't think the $11.00 was worth it. Carpenter's bill included $9.00 for the hat and $2.00 for mailing and taxes.

We're not likely to get no more. Get back to the rustlers stole from Wayne.

Sichter designs white set, play strong in inner color

The stage hands took their hats off and got to work. Because the scene was in white, they had to work quickly. The set was lowered into place, a flower vase filled with flowers. The clothes were taken to the right side. They came up to the right side.

"You can see some of my surprise," said designer Hermann Secher.

Sichter calls his set "an experimental experience." Because the scene was in white, the set was designed to be used in a variety of ways. The set was designed to be used in a variety of ways.

"I think in contrast to this, the stagehands are much more involved in the set. They have to work together to make the set work. And they have to work together to make the set work."

Mr. Nightlinger said, you're burning daylight.

The pacing of the movie really drags with the first good guy all of the time, that prototype of himself, John Wayne is John Wayne.

"I'm sure all his fellow students agree." said Anderson. "But don't be fooled, it's not even close to the IQ level of the average sixth grader. Now I'm aimed at the IQ level of the average sixth grader."

"The only character that is genuinely human and living is the long-hair bad guy played by Ruthless, a man's man, and lately in America."

You'd think students were first class citizens the way they got treated at the Board of Regents meeting Friday morning.

The Board voted 5-4 to give University of Iowa and University of Northern Iowa the go-ahead to sell beer in their unions.

Licorice in the Union is not new. If you're a select faculty member or friend, you've been able to buy alcoholic beverages in the Triangle Club penthouse for a long time. But students—the people who walk the place with activities fees—couldn't get a drop of liquor touch, whether they were 21 or 40.

Friday that prohibition came to an end, as they say, and the Board will probably be accused of weakening the moral fiber of Iowa youth, as they say, by ardent legislators, newspapermen and drymunks.

Regent Ralph Wallace of Minneapolis, who's traditionally been a top student ally when the so-called "moral fiber" issue comes up to the Board, once told some Associated Residence Hall representatives of some of the unions involved among the state's hard-core of "liberating" college rules.

A lot of them, he says, remind him of the circle of Iowa legislators (and jobs), and, hopefully, to alternative institutions (and jobs). A lot of them, he says, remind him of the circle of Iowa legislators (and jobs), and, hopefully, to alternative institutions (and jobs).
