briefly

Airport taxes
WASHINGTON (AP) -- The Port of Seattle has ordered military aircraft to avoid airports in the area, as it appeared it may have to give up its coveted position as a potential international airport.

Philadelphia charges $1 billion to all passengers at major airports in the region, according to one expert, who said the Port of Seattle did not have the money to pay for the service.

Four states and more than a dozen cities, including Portland, are expected to see similar tax increases.

Nixon no shoo-in
WASHINGTON (AP) -- The president-elect today said his main task at the moment is to end the war in Vietnam, and that Nixon is a shoo-in for the presidency.

The recommendation was made after an extensive and careful review of the candidates' qualifications for the post. Nixon's name was placed first on the list of potential candidates for the presidency.

Pet law

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The American Bar Association has recommended that pet owners be required to undergo a special examination before their pets are allowed to participate in any public event.

The study concluded that many pets are not healthy enough to participate in public events and that pet owners should be required to undergo a special examination before their pets are allowed to participate.

Poor bus service

WASHINGTON (AP) -- A bus service in the state is being investigated after it was reported that the buses were not being maintained properly.

The investigation was prompted by complaints from residents who said the buses were not being maintained properly.

Court backs McGovern

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The Supreme Court has ruled that the Democratic party is not required to accept the party's nominee for president.

The court ruled that the Democratic party is not required to accept the party's nominee for president.

Both decisions favor George

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The Supreme Court has ruled that the Democratic party is not required to accept the party's nominee for president.

The court ruled that the Democratic party is not required to accept the party's nominee for president.

HHH plans to fight

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The mayor of Atlanta has announced plans to fight a proposed federal grant to the city.

The mayor said the federal grant is not in the best interest of the city.

Abahny: vows storm

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The governor of the state has vowed to fight any attempt to impose a storm warning on the state.

The governor said the state is not ready for a storm warning and that the state is not prepared to respond to any storm warning.

Warmer

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The temperature is expected to rise in the coming days, according to the National Weather Service.

The forecast calls for a high of 80 degrees in the area on Monday.

Norm was identified as a suspect in the murder of a woman.

Norm was identified as a suspect in the murder of a woman.

Hijack foil

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The Federal Bureau of Investigation has foiled a hijacking attempt at an airport.

The hijacker entered the airport with a gun and demanded to speak with a particular person.

The FBI agent in charge said the hijacker was not a threat to the safety of the passengers and was not allowed to enter the airport.

Both decisions favor George

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The Supreme Court has ruled that the Democratic party is not required to accept the party's nominee for president.

The court ruled that the Democratic party is not required to accept the party's nominee for president.

Thursday, May 12, 1972

Iowa City, Iowa

Iowa City, Iowa

Iowa City, Iowa

Iowa City, Iowa

Iowa City, Iowa

Iowa City, Iowa

Iowa City, Iowa

Iowa City, Iowa

Iowa City, Iowa

Iowa City, Iowa

Iowa City, Iowa

Iowa City, Iowa

Iowa City, Iowa

Iowa City, Iowa
Soviets stall match

REYNOLDS, Idaho (AP) — Bobby Fischer apologized for his recent threatening comments to the United Nations general assembly yesterday, and his resignation as president of the World Chess Federation will take effect Nov. 1.

Fischer, 37, had been president of the World Chess Federation since 1959. His resignation is effective immediately, and he will be replaced by his former secretary, Harry Golombek of England.

"I am deeply sorry for my action," Fischer said at the ceremony. "I am deeply sorry to the people of the Soviet Union and to the world.

"I apologize to all the people of the world who were offended by my action."
Hijack attempt fails; hostage unharmed

BETHLEHEM, N.Y. - A medical worker thoughtfully thor- oughly examined the chief suspect Wednes- day as he held his hostage for nearly six hours before letting her go. The suspect, who had held the student nurse hostage since early Wednesday, was identified as a former student of the hospital.

The suspect, who was later identified as Michael Smith, 30, was charged with assault and abduction. Smith was taken to the hospital where he was treated for minor injuries.

The hostage situation began when Smith, a former student nurse, entered the hospital's emergency room and held a female nurse hostage. The nurse was later released safely.

Smith was later identified as a former student nurse who had been dismissed from the hospital several months ago. He had been convicted of assault and grand larceny in 2002.

Smith's motive for the hijack was unclear, but authorities believed he was seeking revenge for his dismissal.

The hostage situation ended peacefully, and Smith was taken into custody without incident. The nurse was later reunited with her family.

The hostage situation highlights the need for increased security measures in hospitals and other health care facilities. It also underscores the importance of early intervention in cases of mental health issues.

Larger supply lowers dollar price

NEW YORK (AP) - Current low prices for the dollar in Europe are due to the result of a larger supply of dollars distributed overseas in the American economy, some heading brokers believe.

The dollar was lower in European markets Wednesday but only because banks are turning over more European dollars (dollars held or owed in Europe) to buy dollars. But the fact that the dollar is rising on dollar bills is not going to be good to see because the dollar will not be devalued again.

"There is no lack of confidence in the dollar," said William Watanabe, a professor at Armagh Research. "However, we have not seen a large market in dollars since the end of the war in Europe. I expect the dollar to remain weak for some time.

But in the shorter term, the dollar is expected to remain strong as the European economies continue to grow. The dollar is currently trading at $1.10 to the euro, up from $1.05 last week.

'Pollution' within limits

River still safe

Today's Periscope focuses on the Iowa River, which flows through the state's agricultural heartland. The river is one of the nation's most important waterways, providing a vital source of water for irrigation, navigation, and recreation.

Despite its importance, the Iowa River is not immune to pollution. Agricultural runoff is a major source of contamination, as are point sources such as municipal sewage treatment plants.

Farmers, like other businesses, are on the hook for pollution. But farmers have unique challenges, such as the need to maintain high yields while also keeping costs low.

Some farmers are taking steps to reduce their impact on the environment. For example, some are using cover crops to reduce erosion, while others are using precision farming techniques to optimize fertilizer use.

Periscope is a daily news analysis program on The Daily Iowan.

Court orders surgery despite father's protest

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) -- The Iowa Supreme Court has ordered a juvenile taken from her home to undergo a psychiatric evaluation and medical treatment if she's absolutely necessary.

The parents asked to be relieved of their care and custody of the child on January 15, 2016. However, the court said the child's mental and physical condition is in the child's best interest.

The parents have been living in the Coralville area since June 15, 2015, according to Owen. Smith, a 24-year-old man, was found dead on the day the order was entered.

The parents said they plan to appeal the decision, but the order remains in effect.

The child's case has been widely covered, with many calling for her release. However, the court said the child's condition is too serious to ignore.

The child is currently in the care of Child Protective Services.

 Larger supply lowers dollar price

NEW YORK, N.Y. - Current low prices for the dollar in Europe are due to the result of a larger supply of dollars distributed overseas in the American economy, some heading brokers believe.

The dollar was lower in European markets Wednesday but only because banks are turning over more European dollars (dollars held or owed in Europe) to buy dollars. But the fact that the dollar is rising on dollar bills is not going to be good to see because the dollar will not be devalued again.

"There is no lack of confidence in the dollar," said William Watanabe, a professor at Armagh Research. "However, we have not seen a large market in dollars since the end of the war in Europe. I expect the dollar to remain weak for some time.

But in the shorter term, the dollar is expected to remain strong as the European economies continue to grow. The dollar is currently trading at $1.10 to the euro, up from $1.05 last week.

'Pollution' within limits

River still safe

Today's Periscope focuses on the Iowa River, which flows through the state's agricultural heartland. The river is one of the nation's most important waterways, providing a vital source of water for irrigation, navigation, and recreation.

Despite its importance, the Iowa River is not immune to pollution. Agricultural runoff is a major source of contamination, as are point sources such as municipal sewage treatment plants.

Farmers, like other businesses, are on the hook for pollution. But farmers have unique challenges, such as the need to maintain high yields while also keeping costs low.

Some farmers are taking steps to reduce their impact on the environment. For example, some are using cover crops to reduce erosion, while others are using precision farming techniques to optimize fertilizer use.

Periscope is a daily news analysis program on The Daily Iowan.

Court orders surgery despite father's protest

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) -- The Iowa Supreme Court has ordered a juvenile taken from her home to undergo a psychiatric evaluation and medical treatment if she's absolutely necessary.

The parents asked to be relieved of their care and custody of the child on January 15, 2016. However, the court said the child's mental and physical condition is in the child's best interest.

The parents have been living in the Coralville area since June 15, 2015, according to Owen. Smith, a 24-year-old man, was found dead on the day the order was entered.

The parents said they plan to appeal the decision, but the order remains in effect.

The child is currently in the care of Child Protective Services.

The Daily Iowan

The New York Times
The Washington Post
The Los Angeles Times

What Do These Newspapers Have in Common?

Simply this. All of them will have reporters on hand at the Democratic Convention in Miami to file firsthand reports on all the action taking place.

For a somewhat different view of what goes into a political convention, follow Daily Iowan editor Steve Baker as he tries to find out what's really happening in Miami.

Behind the normal plastic TV rhetoric and the usual newspaper political tinsel, there will be real human beings in Miami - hippies, yippies, politicians, pigs, prostitutes, and thousands of others - all involved in a process that may have a profound effect on all of us.

Try the Daily Iowan viewpoint of the Democratic Convention. We think you'll find it worthwhile experience.
Another case of blind justice

A friend of mine was found guilty on a pot possession charge last week in Montana. His story points out a lot of what's wrong with what passes for justice in American courts.

His possession amounted to walking into a friend's apartment 30 seconds before the police raided it. The police found my friend in the living room, and some dope in the bedroom. That was enough evidence to constitute possession for the police. They flashed my friend's name.

Unfortunately, this is not enough to constitute possession in court. Possession in court means pretty much the same as it does in the dictionary. You have to own the thing, or have it on your person, in your car, etc. Being in someone else's apartment.

Instead of just dropping the charges, the DA insisted on going ahead with the nonsense against my friend. But he was nice enough to let me know that he would make a deal. The deal was that he would drop the case if my friend waived his right to a fair trial. So instead of some $200 (in lawyer's fees) for not possessing marijuana.

Talking on fluoride

I have been more and more interested in the cancellation of my talk to the dental school because of the anti-press activities of the Register of Iowa and the Register's state-wide newspapers, and this is what it's all about.

I wish that a state board that expelled my friend were also expelled for this.

The typical conservative response is that he should have been cooperative.

WASHINGTON—More than two years in the making, the federal government has finally adopted a plan to fluoridate public water supplies in the United States.

The plan, adopted with much fanfare by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, is designed to bring fluoride to the nation's 700,000 water systems.

Daily Iowan

The government's evidence includes five checks made out to Hyg to pay Fortner, a Collins aide who the government now says kicked back $2,500.

But the government also has evidence that it got Fortner and Collins at the same time, from Fortner to Collins and vice versa, out of $5,000 in cash kickbacks that the government believes are the fruit of their conspiracy.

The report concludes that Fortner and Collins were part of a broader conspiracy involving Fortner, Collins, and several other employees.

Bob Brouwer

The Daily Iowan is published and written by students of the University of Iowa in the original columns of the paper which began March 16, 1919.

Steve Buckler

B. REPEAL THE RACIST IMMIGRATION LAWS, and

D. REPEAL THE RACIST IMMIGRATION LAWS,

E. Repeal the racist immigration laws.

The government's evidence includes five checks made out to Hyg to pay Fortner, a Collins aide who the government now says kicked back $2,500.

But the government also has evidence that it got Fortner and Collins at the same time, from Fortner to Collins and vice versa, out of $5,000 in cash kickbacks that the government believes are the fruit of their conspiracy.

The report concludes that Fortner and Collins were part of a broader conspiracy involving Fortner, Collins, and several other employees.

Bob Brouwer

The Daily Iowan is published and written by students of the University of Iowa in the original columns of the paper which began March 16, 1919.

Steve Buckler

B. REPEAL THE RACIST IMMIGRATION LAWS, and

D. REPEAL THE RACIST IMMIGRATION LAWS,

E. Repeal the racist immigration laws.

The government's evidence includes five checks made out to Hyg to pay Fortner, a Collins aide who the government now says kicked back $2,500.

But the government also has evidence that it got Fortner and Collins at the same time, from Fortner to Collins and vice versa, out of $5,000 in cash kickbacks that the government believes are the fruit of their conspiracy.

The report concludes that Fortner and Collins were part of a broader conspiracy involving Fortner, Collins, and several other employees.

Bob Brouwer

The Daily Iowan is published and written by students of the University of Iowa in the original columns of the paper which began March 16, 1919.

Steve Buckler

B. REPEAL THE RACIST IMMIGRATION LAWS, and

D. REPEAL THE RACIST IMMIGRATION LAWS,

E. Repeal the racist immigration laws.

The government's evidence includes five checks made out to Hyg to pay Fortner, a Collins aide who the government now says kicked back $2,500.

But the government also has evidence that it got Fortner and Collins at the same time, from Fortner to Collins and vice versa, out of $5,000 in cash kickbacks that the government believes are the fruit of their conspiracy.

The report concludes that Fortner and Collins were part of a broader conspiracy involving Fortner, Collins, and several other employees.

Bob Brouwer

The Daily Iowan is published and written by students of the University of Iowa in the original columns of the paper which began March 16, 1919.

Steve Buckler

B. REPEAL THE RACIST IMMIGRATION LAWS, and

D. REPEAL THE RACIST IMMIGRATION LAWS,

E. Repeal the racist immigration laws.

The government's evidence includes five checks made out to Hyg to pay Fortner, a Collins aide who the government now says kicked back $2,500.

But the government also has evidence that it got Fortner and Collins at the same time, from Fortner to Collins and vice versa, out of $5,000 in cash kickbacks that the government believes are the fruit of their conspiracy.

The report concludes that Fortner and Collins were part of a broader conspiracy involving Fortner, Collins, and several other employees.

Bob Brouwer

The Daily Iowan is published and written by students of the University of Iowa in the original columns of the paper which began March 16, 1919.

Steve Buckler

B. REPEAL THE RACIST IMMIGRATION LAWS, and

D. REPEAL THE RACIST IMMIGRATION LAWS,

E. Repeal the racist immigration laws.

The government's evidence includes five checks made out to Hyg to pay Fortner, a Collins aide who the government now says kicked back $2,500.

But the government also has evidence that it got Fortner and Collins at the same time, from Fortner to Collins and vice versa, out of $5,000 in cash kickbacks that the government believes are the fruit of their conspiracy.

The report concludes that Fortner and Collins were part of a broader conspiracy involving Fortner, Collins, and several other employees.

Bob Brouwer

The Daily Iowan is published and written by students of the University of Iowa in the original columns of the paper which began March 16, 1919.

Steve Buckler

B. REPEAL THE RACIST IMMIGRATION LAWS, and

D. REPEAL THE RACIST IMMIGRATION LAWS,

E. Repeal the racist immigration laws.

The government's evidence includes five checks made out to Hyg to pay Fortner, a Collins aide who the government now says kicked back $2,500.

But the government also has evidence that it got Fortner and Collins at the same time, from Fortner to Collins and vice versa, out of $5,000 in cash kickbacks that the government believes are the fruit of their conspiracy.

The report concludes that Fortner and Collins were part of a broader conspiracy involving Fortner, Collins, and several other employees.

Bob Brouwer

The Daily Iowan is published and written by students of the University of Iowa in the original columns of the paper which began March 16, 1919.

Steve Buckler

B. REPEAL THE RACIST IMMIGRATION LAWS, and

D. REPEAL THE RACIST IMMIGRATION LAWS,

E. Repeal the racist immigration laws.

The government's evidence includes five checks made out to Hyg to pay Fortner, a Collins aide who the government now says kicked back $2,500.

But the government also has evidence that it got Fortner and Collins at the same time, from Fortner to Collins and vice versa, out of $5,000 in cash kickbacks that the government believes are the fruit of their conspiracy.

The report concludes that Fortner and Collins were part of a broader conspiracy involving Fortner, Collins, and several other employees.

Bob Brouwer

The Daily Iowan is published and written by students of the University of Iowa in the original columns of the paper which began March 16, 1919.

Steve Buckler

B. REPEAL THE RACIST IMMIGRATION LAWS, and

D. REPEAL THE RACIST IMMIGRATION LAWS,

E. Repeal the racist immigration laws.

The government's evidence includes five checks made out to Hyg to pay Fortner, a Collins aide who the government now says kicked back $2,500.

But the government also has evidence that it got Fortner and Collins at the same time, from Fortner to Collins and vice versa, out of $5,000 in cash kickbacks that the government believes are the fruit of their conspiracy.

The report concludes that Fortner and Collins were part of a broader conspiracy involving Fortner, Collins, and several other employees.

Bob Brouwer

The Daily Iowan is published and written by students of the University of Iowa in the original columns of the paper which began March 16, 1919.

Steve Buckler

B. REPEAL THE RACIST IMMIGRATION LAWS, and

D. REPEAL THE RACIST IMMIGRATION LAWS,

E. Repeal the racist immigration laws.
SURVIVAL LINE cuts red tape, answers your questions. Investigate your tires and air for sorts of good things like that each morning. Call BIZ�UD 2237 and Thursday night from 7-9 p.m. or write SURVIVAL LINE, The Daily Information, Communications Building, Iowa City.

I understand that there are some kind of Scandinavian dance festival centered in this town. Where, when, and anything else you should have, please?—P.F.

All you, SURVIVAL LINE and the Iowa Arts Council think you’re taking about Denmark’s “Dance Fest,” to be held

This year, if you want repent from you must real—well, it’s life, isn’t it? I’m just glad you’re not around to hear what I’m saying to you. I’m glad you’re not around to hear what I’m saying to you. I’m glad you’re not around to hear what I’m saying to you.

The “guy” I want to visit you. I want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don't want you to talk to you.

To the group, I think the officers of the group are not around to hear what I’m saying to you. I’m glad you’re not around to hear what I’m saying to you. I’m glad you’re not around to hear what I’m saying to you.

The “guy” I want to visit you. I want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don't want you to talk to you.

The “guy” I want to visit you. I want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don't want you to talk to you.

To the group, I think the officers of the group are not around to hear what I’m saying to you. I’m glad you’re not around to hear what I’m saying to you. I’m glad you’re not around to hear what I’m saying to you.

The “guy” I want to visit you. I want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don't want you to talk to you.

To the group, I think the officers of the group are not around to hear what I’m saying to you. I’m glad you’re not around to hear what I’m saying to you. I’m glad you’re not around to hear what I’m saying to you.

The “guy” I want to visit you. I want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don’t want you to talk to you. I don't want you to talk to you.

To the group, I think the officers of the group are not around to hear what I’m saying to you. I’m glad you’re not around to hear what I’m saying to you. I’m glad you’re not around to hear what I’m saying to you.
Michael Harper reads

BUTTERFLY tickets available by mail

A full season repertoire is presented when the UT Opera Theatre presents Madame Butterfly. The Pulitzer opera opened for its run on July 1st, and it was presented almost 10 years ago, with Normandy-Rubio singing the title role. She will appear in the part in the second and final performance this summer, with Lorna Simeone taking the role the other two nights. All performances are scheduled for a p.m. at Manhattan Auditorium. The title shared by the role in the Italian opera is the subjective one-time role of Butterfly. She was the first performance when she escaped from her father to(pk) in America, a woman who wishes to adopt the child, producing the final tragedy in Madame Butterfly's lifetime.

GRA-AND-CENTRAL: clockwork tournament

BY LILY YOST

New York City correspondent

In the course of one's researches in Grand Central Station, you may come across a man who looks like a living time-piece. With his unsmiling eyes, his drooping hat, his blase expression, he can make one feel as if he were the very symbol of that great empire of metal and steel, the metropolis of the great age of the railroad. Yet, despite the fact that the New York Central is the largest railroad in the world, the timekeeper is just as individual as he is in any other part of the country. For instance, when the train arrives at the station, the timekeeper is there to see that it is on time, and that the passengers are not overcharged. The man who runs the clock is a man of the world, and a man of his time, and the more one talks to him, the more one is impressed with his ability to keep the public satisfied.

It's eerie deary

"Dracula': terror, laughs

"Count Dracula is a very, very different character than the one in the book." That was right up to the moment when he awoke, Mrs. Lettsom Leavitt, one of the four "actors" who bring the Count to life, said in the Beacon Reporter Theatre, Tomorrow.

Mrs. Lettsom Leavitt, the director and producer of the production, handles the role of the vampire in the production. She said that the character is being portrayed as a comic figure. The Count is said to have been played by a series of actors, beginning with the original Dracula, the character portrayed by Bela Lugosi in the 1930s.

Ms. Lettsom Leavitt, who has been involved in the production for several years, said that the character is being portrayed as a comic figure. The Count is said to have been played by a series of actors, beginning with the original Dracula, the character portrayed by Bela Lugosi in the 1930s.

The show调度 to end all shows, Mrs. Lettsom Leavitt, says, "It's too many, but not too many, and the world to have familiar come to the production."
Drug pioneer gave long-lasting relief to Hawkeye athletes

By HENRY MURRAY

Ten years ago, in the fall of 1961, Dr. William D. Lauderdale went to work at the University of Iowa. He was to spend the next 13 years as director of the University Hospital's Physical Therapy Department.

Dr. Lauderdale was a man of many talents. He was a gifted athlete, a brilliant scholar, and a dedicated medical professional. But perhaps his greatest legacy was the development of "Bufferin," a medication that has provided relief to millions of people suffering from chronic pain.

Bufferin was first introduced in 1949, and it quickly became a staple in many American medicine cabinets. Its effectiveness in relieving pain and inflammation is due in large part to its active ingredient, ibuprofen.

Dr. Lauderdale was instrumental in the development of Bufferin, and he also helped to make it a household name. His dedication to improving the lives of his patients was evident in everything he did, from his work in the clinic to his volunteer work in the community.

The legacy of Dr. Lauderdale lives on today, as Bufferin continues to be one of the most widely used pain relievers in the world. His contributions to the field of physical therapy and medicine will not be forgotten, and his impact on the lives of countless patients will never be measured.

Drug pioneer gave long-lasting relief to Hawkeye athletes

By HENRY MURRAY

Ten years ago, in the fall of 1961, Dr. William D. Lauderdale went to work at the University of Iowa. He was to spend the next 13 years as director of the University Hospital's Physical Therapy Department.

Dr. Lauderdale was a man of many talents. He was a gifted athlete, a brilliant scholar, and a dedicated medical professional. But perhaps his greatest legacy was the development of "Bufferin," a medication that has provided relief to millions of people suffering from chronic pain.

Bufferin was first introduced in 1949, and it quickly became a staple in many American medicine cabinets. Its effectiveness in relieving pain and inflammation is due in large part to its active ingredient, ibuprofen.

Dr. Lauderdale was instrumental in the development of Bufferin, and he also helped to make it a household name. His dedication to improving the lives of his patients was evident in everything he did, from his work in the clinic to his volunteer work in the community.

The legacy of Dr. Lauderdale lives on today, as Bufferin continues to be one of the most widely used pain relievers in the world. His contributions to the field of physical therapy and medicine will not be forgotten, and his impact on the lives of countless patients will never be measured.

Drug pioneer gave long-lasting relief to Hawkeye athletes

By HENRY MURRAY

Ten years ago, in the fall of 1961, Dr. William D. Lauderdale went to work at the University of Iowa. He was to spend the next 13 years as director of the University Hospital's Physical Therapy Department.

Dr. Lauderdale was a man of many talents. He was a gifted athlete, a brilliant scholar, and a dedicated medical professional. But perhaps his greatest legacy was the development of "Bufferin," a medication that has provided relief to millions of people suffering from chronic pain.

Bufferin was first introduced in 1949, and it quickly became a staple in many American medicine cabinets. Its effectiveness in relieving pain and inflammation is due in large part to its active ingredient, ibuprofen.

Dr. Lauderdale was instrumental in the development of Bufferin, and he also helped to make it a household name. His dedication to improving the lives of his patients was evident in everything he did, from his work in the clinic to his volunteer work in the community.

The legacy of Dr. Lauderdale lives on today, as Bufferin continues to be one of the most widely used pain relievers in the world. His contributions to the field of physical therapy and medicine will not be forgotten, and his impact on the lives of countless patients will never be measured.