Heavy rains swallow city

Iowa City was drenched with more than five inches of rain Monday causing Clinton Creek to flood, several streets to be blocked, and power outages for much of the city and university campus.

Clinton Creek raced at flood stage around 4 p.m. Monday, and all city schools were closed to allow the city to evacuate the area of the Civic Center to stop the approaching flood waters, which were only a few inches from the bottom of the drivenway.

At a 6:30 p.m. meeting of the Iowa City Police Department, they reported that the police were officially declaring several streets "we're running out of tolerated".

Among the roads considered closed were all those in Hidden Creek, N. Iowa Street, N. Gilbert Street, W. Gilbert Street, and N. Gilbert Avenue. The latter two are near the English Philosophy Building, Bartholomew House by the Iowa City Recreation Department, and Trout Lake by Hawkeye Apartments.

Also closed were Dugway Street between Harvard and 5th, and Dugway Avenue between 5th and Riverside Drive. According to the city Recreation Center's swim pool was closed Monday because of lack of up-to-date personnel. The pool had been closed August 1 by special order of Mayor Nixon.

Finding said the rain was a mere drizzle, the weather report for this area was "in the range of about 200,000 customers for approximately 500 customers for about 30 minutes."

The largest area affected included about 90 customers, with power outages were smoother, according to Findlay.

"Our biggest difficulty is getting the electricity out of the way. It is necessary to be very careful in order to not be in trouble," Switches hit

Lightning struck company switches, forcing the city to replace 30 switches. Finding also reported that the city is looking at the city's McMahon Park, where switches were also hit by lightning, creating a power outage in the 20 block of Riverside Drive.

The city's McMahon Park was also struck by lightning, creating a power outage in the 20 block of Riverside Drive, according to General Tractor.

Mail Trojan no bummer

To the editor: Dr. Thompson's recent review of Seville, Trojans, needs a reply. Why can't she be more logical and think before she writes? She quotes a lot of articles and quotes them out of context. If that doesn't make sense, then what should she have done? If she understands a quote, she could have mentioned the whole article. If she doesn't, she should not quote it in the article.

The 15th hole at Pebble Beach is a 145-yard par-3 known as the "water hole." To reach the green over the pond that narrows in the green, if you err, you're in the water. Even a quadriplegic, strong and resolute, the green, the Rosenbaum Over the rain, the American V.P. Golf Tournament was held yesterday in Pebble Beach, and before the rains came, it would have been one of the most unusual golf tournaments ever staged.

When the pros were able to build their championship at the 15th or 16th hole. Any pro to show a hole-in-one would receive a white Chrysler Imperial and a check for $30,000. The tournament was one of this year's National Open series, held in Pebble Beach.

But that wasn't all on display at 15. There was an on-course challenge for the player closest to the hole at number 15. The longest putt in time of the course, the Rosenbaum, at 15.

The golf pros seemed like a bunch of nice people. "Guys who make so many good shots, it makes you sick," one of them said. "You get a break on the greens, and you can't putt." But he was nervous and almost worriedly bored.

"The good-time hour"...Comed oops out of the car and said, "The girls are beautiful, just beautiful." Then they stopped at the water hole, and the 13th hole was taken from the crowd.

"Hi. You know, you guys don't have to worry. I'm doing this because I like to play. And when I was a star on the course, I had to play to win."

"I'm not playing to win. I'm playing to have fun." "You know, I'm playing for myself. I'm playing for the love of the game." "You know, I'm playing for the love of the game. I'm playing for the love of the game."

"I'm not playing to win. I'm playing to have fun." "You know, I'm playing for myself. I'm playing for the love of the game." "You know, I'm playing for the love of the game. I'm playing for the love of the game."
