WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon will meet with the Japanese Prime Minister Tanaka Kakuei Hanah at his home and for talks to bolster relations between the two nations.

The talks, expected to focus on trade issues, are to follow Nixon's visit to Japan's capital and will be the first official visit to the United States by a Japanese leader since World War II.

WASHINGTON (AP) - A State Department report showed that the resumption of full-scale American aid to South Vietnam, announced by the White House on Saturday morning, is expected to be paid by South Vietnamese with an estimated $3.5 billion in foreign assistance to the United States. For any person to be paid with these resources, the United States would have to be paid in full for the first time.

The report showed that of about $3.5 billion in aid to the military, Kirkwood and Secretary of Defense Clark have been promising for over a year.

But only Nixon, French, and Secretary of State Kissinger have been promising for over a year.

Protein a "no-no" with PKU daily Iowas News-Bulletin, Watching the rest of the family eat regular meals can be very frustrating when you're the one in the family with phenylketonuria (PKU). You might be tempted to quit school, drop out of sports, and give up your job. But studies show that with proper diet and knowledge, people with PKU can lead normal lives.

Restricted

Only certain foods have been proven to be harmful to people with PKU. These foods include proteins and certain amino acids. Aminos acids are basic units of proteins that are found in all food we eat. People with PKU cannot break down these amino acids properly, which can lead to serious health problems.

The special diet consists of foods such as meat, milk, cheese, and eggs, which contain high levels of phenylalanine, a harmful amino acid. People with PKU must follow a diet that is low in phenylalanine and high in other nutrients, such as carbohydrates and fats.

For people with PKU, the diet is not restricted to just foods. They must also avoid substances such as caffeine, certain medications, and some vitamins. The diet can be challenging, but with the proper support and education, people with PKU can lead healthy, fulfilling lives.

Spirey stays on ticket; campaigns officially now

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Vice PresidentSpi ran Gordon Spirey, Jr., announced Monday that he will run in the mid-term elections as an independent candidate for governor of Alaska.

The special election will be held on September 19, 2023. Spirey received 50.2% of the vote in the primary election, but was not nominated by the Alaska Democratic Party. He will run as an independent candidate in the general election.

Spirey is a former state senator and has been involved in Alaska politics for many years. He previously ran for governor in 2019 and was defeated by Mike Dunleavy.

His campaign platform focuses on a variety of issues, including education, healthcare, and the economy. Spirey has also expressed interest in addressing the state's high cost of living and improving public transportation.

Spirey's campaign is currently seeking financial support to ensure that he can compete effectively in the general election.

Smith

Ronald E. Smith, Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate, announced Monday that he will run as a candidate for the Senate seat being vacated by retiring U.S. Senator Harriett schema (D-AK). Smith is a former state legislator and has held various positions in the state government, including serving as a member of the Alaska Public Utilities Board.

Smith's campaign platform focuses on a variety of issues, including improving Alaska's infrastructure, protecting the environment, and creating jobs. He has also expressed interest in addressing the state's high cost of living and improving public transportation.

Smith's campaign is currently seeking financial support to ensure that he can compete effectively in the general election.

Has the Iowa City Police Department quietly changed its patrol car policy? Recently, I've noticed two new patrol cars, as opposed to the usual one-seater patrol cars.

"There is no change in our policy of one-seat cars," Bernard Yost, captain of patrol, told The Daily Iowan. "We use one-seat cars because they offer the officers more freedom to maneuver and respond to situations more efficiently."

Every city has its occasional miscreant who decides to make trouble, and in Iowa City, the one-seat car provides a great advantage for the cops when they need to chase and capture these troublemakers.

Another reason for the new patrol car policy is the increased number of immigrants in the city, which includes the training with experienced police officers.

Just came home from Berkeley, where I realized that I can't seem to get along with any police car, ever. I'm usually out on the Bay Area, and I was wondering if there are any drivers around here that have taken one of those old beat-up cop cars. I'd like to borrow one for a while."

Yes, and if you're really bold, why don't you ask for the one that's out in your neighborhood most of the time?"

Old ladies, and the Gods of this earth, the Gods of this earth ...

There's a fine little snack bar on the corner where you can get great coffee and a great breakfast.

"We're very proud of our coffee," the lady behind the counter told me. "It's the best coffee in the world."
Defeated generals:
-Chiefs of Staff

The name of another U.S. commander in Saigon has been linked to a few of those who have tried and just pulled off an imperialist military victory in South Vietnam. Gen. Chung Ching has been linked again to replace Gen. William Westmoreland as America's chief of staff.

The list of their failures and the reasons they failed revives much about the U.S. presence in Vietnam these last 10 years.

Gen. Paul Harkins was the first to head the U.S. Saigon command when it was set up in February 1961. He was defeated in his program of "special war," the televangelist-guided war in which the U.S. would supply money, training, strategic and tactical direction but not the combat troops.

Harkins was replaced by the "finder" of special war, Gen. Maxwell Taylor. But to get the concept back in gear, Harkins failed his mission because of the U.S. failure to supply the troops and all modern weapons short of nuclear arms.

To run "limited war," Taylor was replaced by Westmoreland. A maximum of 200,000 U.S. troops was considered necessary at that time to defeat the Communist forces in South Vietnam. Taylor took the job in the spring of 1961.

But some 200,000 U.S. troops were certainly not enough to strip the Chinese of their valuable alternative to the North Vietnam's war economy. The Chinese have been shipping in huge quantities of raw materials to the South Vietnam's war economy as the Chinese ship primaries and its attitude cases.

Is McGovern real alternative?

(The liberal crusade of Son. George McGovern is about to begin. That is some strange word, one which Writers Review Writer Lowell May takes in and depth and makes you think what it means to you. I mean.

The prediction and the fear raised by the uninhibited liberal sweep by the moderate, and its turnabout in the state of Oregon has and does not have to be a Liberal crusade at all. The turnabout is the failure of the prediction. But it is not the same.

The Oregon case is the failure of the prediction. But it is not the same. It is a victory for the moderate, and it is a victory for the Ruskite revolution in America, but not a victory for the most and a victory revolutionary goal.

Liberal Nixon

After all of this time the experience in France was the example. Laos and Hong Kong were the models, and reform—return to an aristocratic or autocratic or mercantile system—were.

No, it is the Liberal crusade way. It may be another name, but as a rabble alternative in the long history of sham political revolutions, the cliche of which the West has lived since those times, is a seeming simply tempers our enthusiasm in the liberal way.

Make no mistake about it, McGovern is a Liberal crusade. The Nixon campaign and its agents did the work of organizing and paying for it. It is an attempt to get the country back into the political system, to make politics a game for the people. It is a return to a political system which is not in the people.

There is little doubt that George McGovern would be a significant addition to the set of the people's campaign. He is one of the major candidates, and he is one of the major candidates to be president.

The real role of the people is in the political life of the country. It is not in the political activity of the government. It is not in the political activity of the government. It is not in the political activity of the government. It is not in the political activity of the government.

It is in the political activity of the government. It is not in the political activity of the government. It is not in the political activity of the government. It is not in the political activity of the government.

Iowa City journalist at Demos convention

(To those who saw Senator Sandlin, by his own admission, at the Democratic National League for Peace and Freedom, it was no political mistake that he was a KKK radio interviewer at the time.

But what was one of the most interesting things Sandlin said? He told me he had a plan to try to represent Iowa City as an independent, meaning a plan that had to be one of the time, one of the place, one of the people.

He said, "I'm not sure if I'm going to have a plan at all."

I'm pretty sure that I'm going to have a plan at all."

Richard Nixon said in 1980 that he was too busy to be president, that he was too busy to be president, that he was too busy to be president.

"McGovern is an exception."

A double off the glove of Ken Caminiti in the seventh inning gave the Orioles a 2-1 victory over the Yankees Saturday night at Shibe Park.

With the score 2-1, Larry Howard, the Yankees' second baseman, had trouble doubling off the glove of Caminiti. He bobbled the ball and the Orioles had the game tied.

In the seventh inning of the nightcap, Padres reliever Mark Schauer hit Ron Hunt with a pitch in the left hand in the sixth inning. Hunt had broken the major league record for being hit, first, formerly held by Mo魏e Marshall.

Reds' Simpson claims foul play

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Reds' pitcher Ken Turnquist said Saturday's fastball offered by Pirates reliever Bob Voelkle was too low and the Pirates应该 know that the ball was in the strike zone.

Turnquist, 24, said it was his third straight game with a four-hitter allowed, but he thought he had pitched a complete game in the Pirates' 3-0 victory.

After giving up two runs in the fifth inning, Turnquist went to the Pirate dugout and told a friend, "They should know that the ball was in the strike zone.

The Big Ten

By TRUMAN HOOPER, III

Sports Editor

In the Big Ten, the year was and handsomely concluded for the pre-season No. 1 team which surfaced and ran away with the conference title, completing the season with a 9-1 record.

Defensively, the starting line-up remained intact from the previous season, with Senior Rudy Westbrook and Dave Sayler remaining as the primary quarters and with front four intercepts from Tom Marinar, George Santini, Don Costello and Bud Williams.

Senior Brian Smith, junior Randy Grubbs and Vic Rodriguez, will be back at the backs. While coach Vince Ketcher has a bunch of young backs, A. C. Bailey and Dean.

In the secondary defenses, the expected trio is solid-Mark Varty, Pat Healy and John Karrick.

In the rushing department, the Buckeye frosh Van Pelt has been a secret weapon since last year.

Ohio has two major problems:
quarterback Pat Purdy and the backfield. Purdy will have an honest shot at guiding the Big Ten into the Final Four, but the backfield remains in the hands of three junior Mike Nieson. Nieson may be the best back in the conference, but he must be careful during games against the Wolverines and Michigan.

Michigan will be a tough opponent for Ohio in the coming weeks. The Wolverines have three of the best backs in the country, including Henry Young.

Dave Benson and Jerry Schmitt will be the key men for Ohio in the offensive line. If there's nothing to write home about from the Buckeyes' offensive line, that will be the reason why Ohio State's offense has struggled.

Michigan will be a tough case to crack, but the Buckeyes have the offensive firepower to outscore the Wolverines.

The Ohio State defense will be the key to the team's success. Daigle, a four-year starter, will be the leader of the defensive line. The Buckeyes' secondary will be solid with senior Brian Smith, junior Randy
Grubbs and Vic Rodriguez.

The Minnesota defense will be the key to the team's success. Daigle, a four-year
starter, will be the leader of the defensive line. The Buckeyes' secondary will be solid with senior Brian Smith, junior Randy
Grubbs and Vic Rodriguez.

The Pennsylvania defense
will be the key to the team's success. Daigle, a four-year
starter, will be the leader of the defensive line. The Buckeyes' secondary will be solid with senior Brian Smith, junior Randy
Grubbs and Vic Rodriguez.

The Illinois defense will be the key to the team's success. Daigle, a four-year
starter, will be the leader of the defensive line. The Buckeyes' secondary will be solid with senior Brian Smith, junior Randy Grubbs and Vic Rodriguez.
