Washington, D.C. — Another day of failure at the U.S. Capitol is proving to be a challenge for Representative Arlo Goodwin (D-Mass.).

"It's a tough situation here," Goodwin said. "I'm still trying to figure out where I stand on this issue."

Despite the challenges, Goodwin said he remains committed to his principles.

"I believe in the power of the people," Goodwin said. "I think we can make a difference."
Iowa City rapes must be stopped!

(The Editor's note: As a public service to our readers, today's Viewpoint page focusses on the subject of rape, specifically rape in Iowa City. The articles on the pages were prepared by Women Against Rape, the Women's Center.)

Eight known rapes or attempted rapes in Iowa City in three weeks. One woman forced into a car as she walked downtown, one woman knifed at knifepoint in her apartment, two in a car driven by a rifle-carrying man; two attacked in parked cars, one woman isolated by a small crowd, threatened in front of a downtown tavern; another grabbed as she tried to run from an armed, well-traveled street.

Eight victimized, traumatised.

At the local police station to report their "incidents," women are informed of their legal rights, asked to take a lie detector "around here;" asked to maybe see their rapist one more time as they cherish him in their hearts, never to happen twice.

Made to wait for an hour at University Hospital before exams.

These women, still having to sometimes walk the streets alone, cooperate with police efforts to get a prosecution, and function in a world that says "she probably asked for it," can't tell us their stories in the media.

The articles on this page are placed there by women who are angry at these violent attacks, who are not longer surprised by such news, and who know that it's for this stop with hope that women who share our anger will join us. Women Against Rape (WAR) is in a stop to assaults on women. WAR will meet at 5:30 p.m. Monday, August, 15 in the Women's Center. 3 East Market.

Proceed to the Civic Center, where we will meet with the City Council to invite all Women Against Rape—women to join us.

Demands:
1. Women must have the right to arm themselves against attackers
2. Women who injure, maim, or kill in their own defense should not be prosecuted
3. Women must be provided public transportation at night
4. The streets of Iowa City should be thoroughly patrolled and well-lit at all times
5. Three women should have to be told all information about all rapes through the news media. The information should be public, the description of rapist so the public can help apprehend the rapist, and details of weapons or body parts found
6. People of Iowa City should be alert to calls for help from women being attacked
7. Women should have the choice to report a rape to a woman police officer, who will be subjected to the humiliating interrogation of a male officer
8. Women who have been raped are not the victims, not the suspect. The regular police must not longer treat women as the guilty party.

—Women Against Rape

8 rapes have been attempted or committed in the last 3 weeks. Women, be prepared to defend yourselves.

The horror that males generate regretted from Spasms, Paper of Revolutionary Leeds, May-June 1970 issue...

I realized that my whole being was torn... the most basic fact that I think is known to women—fat of being raped. My mind wanders and I thought about how afraid we are to go alone—even in groups. Many call police, many call the lady helicopter. They want protection.

I remember being raped myself, and being forced to call a police officer to come with me to the police station. I was dropped off there alone. I had to explain how I was raped. I had to "prove" it to them. I had to say how I felt. I had to talk to them about it. And then, because of the way they look at me, makes why try to give this impression by saying "I feel so dirty..." or "I feel like a damn slut..." or "part of growing up..." or "I'm just a sex addict..."

In this case, where females or female-females or female-males, or whatever name we choose to use in describing our relationships in this society between each sex, we are not alone. Women are being raped. This is not a war against society, but a war against the males of the world. The world is filled with these rapists. There are as many thieves as there are women. They take what they want. They use force or threats, don't think about it. They feel so very hungry that sometimes they have no other way around. We all are helping, we are helping in the whole capitalist society as it is now. They are forced to be alone, and they are forced to never be with each other. And they are forced to believe that sex is what is essential to them.

I'm a woman who was raped and I'm not alone. We are aware that we are part of something, that we are not alone. We are aware that there are many of us who have been raped, but there are many of us who are not being raped, too. Women Against Rape is an attempt to bring us together, to raise this whole matter to everyone's attention, to realize that the whole world is male-dominated.

Women all know the brutality of a rape. We know the terror, the pain, the fear. We are aware of the many other wars that we are fighting in this world. The world is filled with rapists. There are as many thieves as there are women. They take what they want. They use force or threats, don't think about it. They feel so very hungry that sometimes they have no other way around. Atlanta Braves’ Henry Aaron and New York Yankees’ Mickey Mantle were the American League’s most consistent batters last season. The two .300 men are the only ones from the same conference who are still batting at that level. Mantle had a career-best 154 home runs, while Aaron’s 153 were his third straight 150 mark.
