Attacks use of parking fees

Suit filed to halt parking ramp

BY PAUL BAYES
Assistant News Editor

There was a 19% increase in Iowa City and the city council members to stop the construction of the parking ramp.

The suit filed Thursday by Jane Corvin, chief assistant city attorney, claims that the city was violating state law by not providing notice of the meeting.

The suit also accuses the city of making it difficult for the public to attend meetings.

Daley, crowds turn for Demo campaigners

CHICAGO (AP) — Trees of support lined the driveway to the Old South Side home of Mayor Richard J. Daley where Dick Fisher, program director of Democratic Organization officials, and Mayor Daley welcomed President-elect George McGovern in the rain Tuesday afternoon.

Greeting insulin after a morning speech in Minneapolis, the Democratic presidential nominee and his wife, Cornelia, were greeted in Chicago by top aides to the president-elect and Democratic leaders.

The fast starts in Chicago were typical of McGovern’s campaign for president. In large crowds that welcomed him in Milwaukee, St. Louis and Chicago, McGovern has been building momentum.

Sweating it out at Recreation Building

Women have much more right to sweat as men do. Unfortunately the University seems to do its best to deny them this right. That might sound a little weird and nonsensical. It isn't.

At the Recreation Building (which is a very nice new building) there are sauna facilities for men and women. The men's sauna was recently overhauled (it didn't smell so bad anymore) and it has enough room for about ten people. Men cannot take more than two or twenty minutes of intensive sweating, it is usually not necessary to stay longer. It is a false claim.

The women's "sauna" is a little different. It consists of two separate cubicles which hold one person at a time. In other words there is a capacity for two.

Also it is a fact that there are many times when these two little saunas don't even work. You often can sit in one of them without anyone else in there. "Sauna" seems to be used as a nominalism.

It seems that the University Recreational Services could use a little prodding from irate women. It gets pretty tiring to be put on hold for the purpose of sweating, especially when you come with some male friends who are in need of a workout.

Why is the situation the way it is? If the answer is because not enough women come to use the saunas that is not logically sound. The main reason there aren't as many women using the saunas as men is because it's impossible spaces for them to do so.

The most practical solution to all of this of course would be to have a co-ed sauna. That, however, would be too likely to corrupt the tastes of both young men, so that there are some alternatives.

Why not switch rooms weekdays? It would be interesting to see how the men would react to the old little cubicles.

The final possibility of course would be to give women a real sauna of their own. Humor has it that there is a big sauna in the basement of the Recreation Building but it is used exclusively by athletics. Perhaps when the athletics weren't using it, you'd call? Anyway, someone should be done to rectify this unfair situation.

The faile female students and faculty don't have their right to sweat infringed upon any longer.

Why should you vote here

If you're new to campus, or you've never bothered because it was just too hard, very hard, about paginating Iowa City as a whole. But if you are a new resident, or just going to be here for a couple of years, I think it's important that you participate in the local election. It's not going to be easy, but I think it's worth it just to take the time and effort to register to vote in Iowa City.

Never be bashful. Each day this week mobile voter registers are available in the Goldfield Library of the Iowa City Public Library. This is a great time for you to register. The person who will be registering you will take your address and your signature, and then help you fill out the form. You don't have to have a permanent address, just any address in Iowa City.

Don't worry if you register here for a period of years. You wouldn't disenfranchise yourself either. You could go back to your home address when you're visiting the university. That's okay with me.

It will take a little time to get your vote in the ballot box at the polls. But it's not going to be easy, but I think it's worth it just to take the time and effort to register to vote in Iowa City.

One for Schwegel

To the Editor:

 enlightens the public to correct the impression left by your paper, that Mr. Schwegel is a loyal, hardworking editorial writer. In the September 8th issue of the Daily Iowan, Schwegel was quoted in reference to a situation during Vietnam by saying "also, in the Vietnam war, I learned not only what is called a political situation, but what is called a political situation by the people who are on the front line of the war, the people who are in Vietnam, not the people on the front line but the people who are in the university doing the same thing."

I think Schwegel's career in the war is a good example of the people who are not in Vietnam but who are working closely with the people in Vietnam. Schwegel has worked in the Army Forces, and he has seen firsthand the effects of war. He has also been an editorial writer, and his work in the Daily Iowan has been praised by many.

Schwegel's actions in the Vietnam war are commendable and he has contributed to the cause.

Opium plan

WASHINGTON -- The U.S. government's plan to end the war in Laos has received an unfriendly reception from the people of Laos.

The U.S. government has announced plans to end the war in Laos by the end of the year. The plan, which is being implemented by the United Nations, calls for the immediate withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Laos.

The U.S. government has also proposed a 90-day truce, which would allow the people of Laos to negotiate with the U.S. government for a peaceful solution to the war.

There is no guarantee that the people of Laos will accept the U.S. government's plan. In fact, the people of Laos have shown little interest in the plan and have been critical of the U.S. government's actions in the war.

The people of Laos would prefer a permanent solution to the war, such as a treaty that would end the war and bring peace to the region.

The U.S. government has stated that it is committed to finding a peaceful solution to the war in Laos.

The U.S. government has also stated that it is willing to consider any proposals that the people of Laos may have for a peaceful solution to the war.

There is hope that the U.S. government and the people of Laos may be able to work together to find a peaceful solution to the war.

Dean brings new image to nursing

By BARB VEST

Women have traditionally been homemakers, childbearers, and, since the turn of the century, deaconesses, and now the new image for them is to be deans of nursing schools.

When and where these deaconesses led, women must follow like the end of a wave; picking up their belongings and organization, then realizing the next generation's prospects.

Every Barratt is breaking that tradition. In one room of the Capital University building, Mrs. Yost with her husband, Mr. Yost, have a teaching position, as well as two daughters, and one son, and another son was followed by his wife, from Columbus, Ohio, to Iowa City.

There have been many. Euphemists. When bureaucrats saw that the Barratt's were in the mood for a change, it was agreed that the job offer be accepted. The Yost family was the one of the three families in that area who had two daughters, but in reality, the Barratt family.

It was at that time, the UI President, William R. Beardsley, offered one position and accepted it immediately. The job was accepted, interviewed for by former nurses, and the position in which she was appointed deaconesses.

A couple weeks ago I led a group to the emergency room of a hospital in the area. I'm a doctor and we showed them our student 16 fre. Someone told me that even though we're a student, we're changing five dollars for the call. I thought student health was supposed to be free!

According to Skirto Health Director, Dr. Robert A. Brown, the hospital is paying up to $5 for services of the emergency room physician in rendering medical care. Otherwise, the hospital would be offering health care for any medical need.

The dollars charged are charged per service, after the doctor charged $4 per service, during the regular hours of 8-10 p.m. Saturdays, or later hours and holidays.

The only difference was a few more minutes of quiet conversation," said the physician's assistant, "and then we were on our way." For (Iowa), there were six patients waiting to be seen.

"It's just a checkup," said the patient, "I didn't even think about it."

The physician's assistant continued, "It's not just a checkup, it's a health checkup."

The patient nodded, "I see."

The physician's assistant concluded, "And it's free for students under 21."

The patient thanked her and said, "I'll be back in six months."

The physician's assistant wrote the patient's name and contact information on the chart and handed her the prescription. "Here you go," she said. "You can pick it up at the pharmacy."

The patient took the prescription and said, "Thank you." She then left the office, closing the door quietly behind her.

Elaine, the physician's assistant, continued her conversation with the patient. "It's just a checkup," she said. "But it's really important to get checked."

The patient nodded, "I see."

Elaine continued, "It's important because it can help prevent serious complications." She handed the patient the prescription and said, "Here you go. You can pick it up at the pharmacy."

Yanks stop Tiant, Lyle does it again

NEW YORK (AP) — Relief pitcher Bob Robertson and center fielder Ron Blomberg helped preserve New York's victory over Boston with defense. The Yanks beat the Red Sox 2-0 on Tuesday night, giving New York its second victory in three games.

The game was highlighted by a spectacular catch by center fielder Ron Blomberg, who leaped high into the air to make a leaping catch of a line drive hit by Boston's Carl Yastrzemski in the sixth inning.

Blomberg's catch preserved the Yanks' two-run lead, as New York's bullpen, led by Robertson, pitched seven innings of scoreless relief.

Tiant, who pitched five innings, gave up two runs and was credited with the loss. Blomberg's catch was the highlight of the game, but the Yanks' defense also played a key role in preserving the win.

The Yanks' defense was particularly strong in the sixth inning, when Boston had the bases loaded with nobody out. But Blomberg's catch stymied the Red Sox, and Robertson retired the next two batters to end the inning.

Overall, the Yanks' defense was solid, and the bullpen did an excellent job of keeping Boston off the scoreboard.

The win was New York's second in three games against Boston, and it kept the Yanks in first place in the American League East. The Red Sox, meanwhile, fell to 3-4 in their last seven games.

The Yanks' victory was a welcome respite after their recent struggles. The team had lost four of its last six games, but their defense played a key role in turning things around.

Robertson's performance was particularly encouraging, as he pitched seven innings of scoreless relief. The left-hander allowed just one hit and struck out five batters.

With the win, the Yanks moved into first place in the AL East, a half-game ahead of Boston. The Red Sox, meanwhile, fell to 3-4 in their last seven games.

Kokolus’ summer practice
puts Hawk back on target

By BOB DONNEY
Staff Writer

Harry Kokolus, Iowa’s soccer-style kicker, is on target again. The Hawkeyes’ top scorer in 1971 and 11th-20th place in the nation.

“I have something to prove this season,” Kokolus said. “Last year I had some problems, or at least I thought I did, and although I thought I did well, I was caught in a slump.”

Kokolus’ season started on 31 of 84 extra point

Baseball team flies South; Gable begins coaching Oct. 1

By JEROME OWENS
Sports Editor

The Iowa baseball team, complete with the all-important, is off for Yucatan's Independence Day celebration and, hopefully, three baseball games.

The Hawks will play a Yucatan all-star team Friday, Saturday and Sunday. It will be the first of at least three Iowa trips to Des Moines in September that is 10 days to Des Moines. The flights to Merida, in a 15,000-seat stadium. The third game, Friday, is scheduled for Valadolid near Merida.

The city center between Yucatan and Yucatan was originated in 1966. It includes competitive efforts in folklore, education, agriculture and tourism.

Among the 18 players, Banks will take four batting practice: Bryan Jones, Donnie Bick, Skip Veen, Doug Veen and Steve Boyer.

Of that group, Jones and Bick will be starting at second and first base respectively. Steve Veen and Steve Boyer are two of the seven-runs pitching staff that also includes Dave Wiltse, Don Daniel, Mark Edgett and Ed Geil.

Outfielders making the trip are Tom Hulick, Rick Hawks, Jeff Eliopoulos and Tom DeAngelo.

We all think about food but rarely do we give much thought to the persons who prepare our meals around campus. Who are these persons who act as head cooks and bottle washers for nearly 15,000 mouths each day? Who are the persons who prepare nearly 22,000 meals served each day in the university and union cafeterias? It’s true that you can’t live without food, but you’re not quite so sure that you can live without the people who make you what you are.

The food service at the University of Iowa is one of the largest in the country. The Union Food Service and the University dorm dining service are the only two official University agencies besides the hospitals serving food to students. George Droll, dining director at University food service, estimates that nearly 5,000 students consume nearly 1,100 meals a day in dorm cafeterias alone.

According to A. P. Parks, the head director of the Union food service, the Union feeds 1,300 people, 80 percent of whom are students. On their busiest day they serve up to 7,800 meals including all meals in the River Room, the Wheel Room, and the more exclusive State Room. Some of these men and women have been at it day after day for 15 years. They work hard and occasionally hear of complaints about their food; they may not be able to compete with Mom but they try.
