humans. The group said the device was designed to allow a patient to survive while a better artificial heart is being designed for the patient.

The institute, which is under the direction of the National Institutes of Health, will make the new hospital a national center for artificial hearts.

Night tranist now

NEWS ITEM: The University's ConCash shuttle bus system expands this year and ridership is markedly up now as it once financially afforded to expand to the eastern part of town.

NEWS ITEM: The City announces bus ridership is up 12 per cent over last September.

NEWS ITEM: A $1 million parking ramp has its bonding cancelled and, despite overwhelming public disapproval, is still not be set to constructed.

NEWS ITEM: A large, new parking lot across from the Civic Center (which stands from the proposed ramp site) is virtually empty during post business hours.

NEWS ITEM: At night city buses stay running downtown streets are getting jammed with parked cars.

There is a clear pattern emerging in Iowa City. Night mass transit—by city buses—is needed now...next year, not maybe if, not sometime soon.

It is crucial, in fact, critically, to expand the University of Iowa to have the bill for the night time service, especially when Iowa City has been trying to improve the 3 cent ride on new, quality buses. Only three other U.S. cities offer such a bargain.

And the citizens here have responded by riding these buses, apparently in steadily increasing numbers to the point that the daytime parking crunch simply isn't as bad as it once was.

By not expanding into night time service, the city is compensating the present parking crunch. Persons who do not need to reside themselves at night yet lack a way to get around town. City will be tempted to buy cars or (in the case of UI students) bring one here.

This is ironical, in fact, ridiculous to expect the University of Iowa to have a great a possibility of attack, a crucial tie-in to another case of UI students) bring one here. Nor would women returning from downtown, campus or a job face as complaints from other Iowa Rapids) .

And the citizens here have responded by riding those buses. See, smell and hear what's going on. And if night service existed, poorer people who cannot afford the taxi or (in the case of UI students) bring one here.

Peace education

Peace Education Foundation has outlined the need for peace education and research. Watanabe outlined the basic objectives of the Center: "The Peace Education Foundation's purpose is fundamentally educational in purpose..."

The Center hopes to foster and expand non-military applications of conflict mediation and negotiation to international relations, arms control, and dynamics of peace education through mediation methods.

The Center will sponsor cultural events such as art exhibits, concerts, dramatic productions, and films, stressing a peace-oriented world view.

The idea for Peace Education Foundation is truly a monumental figure in contemporary music. For once the talent equals the image.

In early November all college students from Iowa colleges and universities will be invited to a week-long series to introduce international curricula and arts.

Callis Menolo returns to spark Iowa soccer club

The Iowa soccer team, which beat Illinois 1-0 in 3 overtime minutes last weekend, has now won 3 of its first 4 games, necessitating an extra-large back banner.

Callis Menolo returned after a three-week absence in some four goals in a 4-1 "ludicrous" contest to center-back forward.

Menolo's return along with Dave Darcy, goalie Rudi Dozauer, and Marcello Décima, a four-year foreign player, gives Iowa the best attacking corps in the Big Ten, the league.

The Daily Iowan bar crawl

The once or future bar

By ROGER L. SMITH

The C.O.D. Steam Laundry may prove to be the most congenial, all purpose food and drink establishment in Iowa City. Located at 211 Iowa, just a stone’s throw in the springtime, from the intersection of Iowa and Dubuque.

Mike Lienz and Howard Wishman own this new bar that takes its name from the original laundry that occupied the lot in 1902. The laundry promised to be “A splendid business built up and maintained by honest work and fair treatment.” The bar promises a little more.

The Steam Laundry” is meant to be easy and natural. Lots of wood, brick and stained glass with plants planned to give a comfortable “earthy” feeling. There will be three sections: the first, a deli. Two large windows offer a view of the world outside with a standing counter in one and a raised platform for tables and chairs in the other. They’ll serve cold cuts served on homemade breads plus homemade soups and salads and wine by the bottle.

An arched doorway will lead into the front bar where everything from beer to nuts will be served. A full service bar with mixed drinks, beer and wine. There will be booths, tables and walking space. At the far end of the bar is an elevator shaft where the pinball machines will be located.

An arched tunnel will take you from the front bar into some live entertainment. The entire concrete pavement will be covered plus homemade stage and music and wine by the bottle.

An arched tunnel will take you from the front bar into some live entertainment. The entire concrete pavement will be covered plus homemade stage and music and wine by the bottle.

I think Mike’s views center around the fact that he hopes to create a type of establishment having the service that he had found lacking in places where he has been a customer. He’ll tell you that the primary objectives are making money without shortchanging the customer, and in creating an atmosphere suitable for good, live entertainment.

It will be mid-October, at least, before the front section of C.O.D. is completed. The back bar will take a little longer. So if urban renewal happens to be taking your current watering hole away, don’t worry. This new establishment should more than make up for the loss.
