Tehu wants Communists out
Withdrawal obstacle in place

President Nguyen Van Thieu has been told that he will have to stop the onslaught on South Vietnam if he is to have a legitimate voice in peace talks.

The President's political and military aides told him the withdrawal of American forces is the price he must pay for negotiations.

In an interview in a Saigon hotel, the President's chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Hoang Vi, said the new talks would be the first serious attempts at a settlement of the 3 1/2 year-old war in Indochina.

Hoang said the talks would be held at a neutral location where no one could be accused of giving up the fight.

He said the U.S. would back the proposal for a neutral location but not the idea of a cease-fire as a separate event.

He said the United States would demand guarantees that the talks would bring an end to the fighting.

The President's foreign policy aides have been asked to prepare for a possible change of policy in Washington, which could come any day.

In the meantime, the President's generals are preparing for the withdrawal of American forces.

Editors' notes: Today's article on black fraternities is the second of a two-part series on black fraternities. The first part, which dealt with the history and development of black fraternities, was published in the May 11 issue. This article focuses on the current status and activities of black fraternities.

Reason to cheer, UI budget review

At this point in time, you aren’t supposed to smile about the University of Iowa budget. (There are no smiles in the state of Iowa at present.) The university faces nearly impossible fiscal demands; in 1978/79 the state appropriated $82 million; 1979/80 $73 million; 1980/81 $69 million. It won’t be an easy year.

To put things in perspective, UI students would have to increase their in-state tuition nearly 50 percent to pay for the basic curriculum, those classes which support the core. The student body, according to President Robert Ray, is made up of 29,561 students. The non-tuition budget covers most of the student body’s activities, from the library to the athletic programs.

And yet, Ray claims that the university is not at the disposable level. Despite this, the university is stretching the principle that the university is a social good. Students are considered people, not just a financial resource. The university is attempting to maintain a high level of quality, but at a price that is not sustainable.

But, oddly enough, there might be some cause for optimism in the coming legislative session. The university faces some tough decisions, but there are some things that can be done to alleviate some of the problems. The university is working on a budget that will allow it to maintain its level of quality, but it will require some tough decisions.

A case against legalizing grass

Like selling whiskey to the Indians

The Daily Iowan editorial board is split on this one. The editors are not sold on the idea of legalizing marijuana. They believe that legalizing marijuana would only lead to more problems. The editors believe that the university is a social good and that legalizing marijuana would only lead to more problems.

Government conspiracy

You needn’t assume a conspiracy in your government in order to believe that the government is against you. The government is not your enemy. It is there to serve the interests of the people. If you don’t like what the government is doing, you need to take action and make your voice heard.

Faith in system

Such teachings fail to an economic analysis of what is going on in our society. The economy is not a static system. It is constantly changing. The government is not the only force that can affect the economy. Individual actions, such as consumption, production, and investment, also play a role.

Train needs tracks

Editor's note: Today's contributor is Charles E. Griffin. Griffin submits this article on the occasion of the university's 150th anniversary.

There are a lot of problems involved in running an institution as large as the University of Iowa. The university is a complex system with many different components. It is a system that is constantly changing. The university is not a static entity. It is a system that is constantly adapting to the changing needs of society.

For welfare recipient guaranteed poverty

caroline forell

Welfare fraud. Welfare reform. The welfare system. It's a hot topic for the current administration. The Department of Health and Human Services (HEW) study is aimed at facing the realities of the welfare system and the prohibitive impact it has on families with no males. Although a quarter of the welfare recipients are employed, it is estimated that less than one percent of them work-training programs. It is a direct result, a host of myths and misinformation about the welfare system. The facts are facts and the numbers are numbers. The facts are facts and the numbers are numbers.

The current welfare system is a complex network of state and federal programs designed to provide assistance to individuals and families in need. However, the system is plagued with inefficiencies, overspending, and fraud, which has led to widespread public skepticism and criticism.

The HEW study revealed that one out of five welfare recipients is not a U.S. citizen, and that a significant number of recipients are children. The study also found that a large percentage of welfare recipients are single mothers, often with young children who are vulnerable to abuse and neglect.

The HEW study concluded that the welfare system is expensive and inefficient. It recommends several changes, including tightening eligibility requirements, increasing work requirements, and implementing stricter monitoring of recipients.

In conclusion, the welfare system is complex and complex, and it is time for the government to take action to address the issues. The HEW study is a step towards this direction, and we hope that the government will take the necessary steps to improve the system.

Singer report participation in 'the family salary minimum as a criterion for employment. This is to make sure that everyone does their job. It's not about who does it but that they do it.

The women at the work are maids which carries the burden of the 40 hour work week as a cost of living wage. This is a normal practice after 5 years of employment.

A survey of all employed women was conducted. A preliminary review of 25 questionnaires returned by women at work. With an unemployment rate of 6.7%, the women were asked to uncover attitudes and behavior of the maids.

According to the women, the maids are mostly mothers and sisters. They are not rewarded for their work, they are invisible. The maids are mostly around the age of 25 to 66 years of age. Seven of these replies were from women who had completed some college work.

The mean for length of service to the pay is $7.80. When asked to do janitors' work, 47 respondents said they would do it. With an average of $1.60 to $2.10, the workers were paid for their work.

When asked to work as candy strippers, the workers did not agree. They feel even more lowly when working in these roles. When asked to work with a janitor's uniform, 46 respondents said they would not do it. When asked if they would be happy to work as janitors, custodians, and be paid $10 an hour, 47 agreed.

The women responded to the question all negatively. In spite of advice to the contrary, some unknown student insisted that they would do it. The Board of Regents arranged that I start at 5:30. I work 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. These hours are not good for my family. I work 5:30 to 9:30 and have one half hour for lunch. I feel even lowerly when working in these roles. In fact, 4 of these respondents had worked at a job that had been arranged by the Board of Regents.

In the area of wages, $10 a week was considered the same cost of living wage. The mean for length of the job is 5.1. It's fruitless as far as our wages do not match those of men. The women have more experience in cleaning than men. Why? 4. The men receive more money for their work, when the women do more work than men and also do the job better.

The Board of Regents continues to look for another job. They have received no advice to the contrary. Some unknown student insisted that they would do it. The Board of Regents arranged that I start at 5:30. I work 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. These hours are not good for my family. I work 9:30 to 9:30 and have one half hour for lunch. I feel even lowerly when working in these roles. In fact, 4 of these respondents had worked at a job that had been arranged by the Board of Regents.

In the area of wages, $10 a week was considered the same cost of living wage. The mean for length of the job is 5.1. It's fruitless as far as our wages do not match those of men. The women have more experience in cleaning than men. Why? 4. The men receive more money for their work, when the women do more work than men and also do the job better.

The Board of Regents continues to look for another job. They have received no advice to the contrary. Some unknown student insisted that they would do it. What does a coach do if a prospective student athlete fails a physical?

If it's his freshman, he forgets the younger and gives him another chance. If it's the 3-year-old, he looks to the standard of play of seaworthy counterpart Earl Douthitt.

Douthitt, a 6-foot-1-inch, 205-pound junior from the University of Wisconsin in Madison, was knocked out of high school football, however, nearly stopped his participation in track and field.

"One Stan, the Kent State, Iowa and Iowa State co-ed competition," said Earl. "I took the ACT and I came without knowing what to expect on the ACT and how to take those剩余部分不完整，无法提供完整内容。
