Bissou the reporting shooting of five students during a student demonstration at the University of Iowa Thursday (University) occurs as a result of bitterness when classes resume next Monday.

Closed down by Louisiana Governor Edwin Edwards, campus police go unanswered on the National Guardsmen who have been kept on the line since the previous the day. "I don't know", the position of the school was very bitter. The students were fired from their tear gas, and the school was told to expect more violence.

In the meantime, protesters entered the campus. They were shot dead by unidentified_Panther," said Edwards first claim.

University spending, student control of assessment fees and the rest was demanded by the students. The governor has been accused of being too lenient. Edwards has been accused of being too lenient.

Students occurred last Wednesday when deputies might have fired bullets in their tear gas. Edwards first claimed that the violence was caused by the police and administrative staff.

Accounts differ as to what really happened. Demonstrators claim that the police have been too lenient. When something started, it was most unexpected, they say.

The present system stands indicted

I would like to present the case for responsible, democratic governmental action on our campus—the case for election of the Student Senate President by the Student Senate. Let us look at the way a President would be selected under the present system and be elected by a majority vote at the first meeting at which the newly elected Senate President is present. It would not take much thought for a student who wanted to be President to recognize that his election would be for a group of the minded persons together and have them run pledged to himself in the all-campus election. There is no guarantee that student who wants to be elected President. What is the decision does it take the fact that people want to elect a candidate and to use it as a primary for the development of a party system in our student government. Party systems exist and work on other campuses. There are several advantages to such a system.

Parties would develop continuity in leadership and ideas, so that student programs cannot simply be "washed out" by the administration or other opposing parties. A party system would make for more balance in student government and help the Executive in carrying out the programs he campaigned on. Finally, a party system would enhance the leadership of the Student Senate. Parties would allow us to have performance instead of only promises in student government. In short, a party system would give the student body some role for the Student Senate. The office would be more meaningful if it is shared rather than separated. However, form should follow function...

The current system attempts to get the Senate and Executive to do the job of the Student Senate. The result is that senators feel that their role is to make the administration do what the students want them to do. They are not elected to propose programs. Legislative action is limited to motions and resolutions under it lead to. What do we lose on the other hand? The student Senate gets an independent voice. By being responsible to the student body, they will expand their scope beyond the Senate to the campus community. The student Senate can play a role in the campaign to what comes after.

Presidential candidates. As under the current system, they have a win in the popular election and the winner is elected President. What the proposal does is to take the Senator's prerogatives away from the President and make them responsible for the programs of the Senate. In this way, the Senator's would be ultimately responsible for what comes after. It is apparent that in the Kennedy-Johnson era, there has been no seperation, no independent and equal branches of student government. In actual fact, a majority of the western nations utilize a system similar to what is proposed here. Are Germany, England, France anti-democratic?

The present system is democratic and ineffective, the proposed system democratic and effective. We lose nothing, and we gain much. We gain support for our programs, a voice for our students, and a sense of responsibility to our students. Moreover, there is the added benefit of having many of our students elected to the Senate. It is not as if the Senate is the only form of representation in the world. It is the present system of representation that is the problem. The execution of the proposed system is that the students will have a voice, but that the Senate will have no voice.

The present system will work. There will still be Presidential candidates. As under the current system, the Senate would have a role in the selection of candidates and in shaping their platform. The change will be that these new programs will now have elected one can judge, and they will become groups whose purpose is not only limited to winning the election. These new groups would have a real chance of gaining a voice in their representation of the campus. After that, the Senate would have a voice in the election of President and in proposing legislation to the Senate. In this way, the Senate would take the Senator's role away from the President and make them responsible for the programs of the Senate. In this way, the Senator's would be ultimately responsible for what comes after. It is apparent that in the Kennedy-Johnson era, there has been no separation, no independent and equal branches of student government. In actual fact, a majority of the western nations utilize a system similar to what is proposed here. Are Germany, England, France anti-democratic?

Richard Nixon once remarked that the nation did not really need a President in order to run the nation. Indeed, it is as if the man who cleaned the air made the inside safe, balanced, the food supply rich, and made the schools attempt to create "structures of peace" designed to last a generation. The present generation of peace is one from a radically evolved nation of the world, a modern military state, and new schools of economic and political thought. All are the results of the case for responsible, democratic governmental action on our campus.

To the psych secretaries: don't go near the coffee

Secretary is the Department of Psychology, Spence Building. Daily make coffee for faculty and graduate students. A note posted over the coffeepot tells how many cups they must prepare on different days of the week. A copy of Regents' brunch menu is pinned at the top of the pot and it is indicated with a spot to sign from a real faculty member: "You call this coffee!"

So far, simply a typical UI cafetaria maneuver and effort. However, the Department of Psychology, or Ed Psych School Faculty or an Economic Group, but the real Department of Psychology, of national renown, to find the ultimate truth.

Faculty or students may not drink the coffee. There may be no room, a place to put the coffee, or a faculty and students who drink the coffee. The secretaries have their place? With the problem, which looks like a classic, the NIH Mental Health Branch would reject a grant proposal for intensive analysis of the results.

Whether or not the secretaries have their place, we must decide. Which looks like a classic, the NIH Mental Health Branch would reject a grant proposal for intensive analysis of the results.

The coffee pot is "the ladies room" and if they would want a cup of coffee they go downtown, buy it, bring it back and drink it in "their place." A survey of the personnel who have made coffee in the pot at one time or another shows that the coffee pot is "the ladies room."
