Countdown begins for Apollo flight

WASHINGTON (AP) - The White House announced Monday that President Nixon has ordered the beginning of preparations for the countdown and launch of the landing module of the Apollo 17 mission.

The President issued the order at a meeting with his top-level staff this morning, as the count was expected to begin in the next few days.

The landing module, which will carry three astronauts to the surface of the moon, is scheduled to be launched on November 12th. This will be the last mission of the Apollo program.

President Nixon announced the decision at a press conference today, saying that the United States is determined to maintain its leadership in space exploration.

"I have made this decision," Nixon said, "after careful consideration of all the facts and circumstances. I believe that it is in the best interests of our country and of our people.

"The United States is a great nation, and we must continue to lead the world in the exploration of space."

Home for elderly damaged

ATLANTA (AP) — Nine persons perished and 12 were in¬ jured when fire broke out early Friday morn¬ ing in a three-story building housing an old people's home and a drugstore with a variety of its¬ ternal shops. Fire raged through the building at 12:01 a.m. and just over an hour later, despite the efforts of 300 firemen who battled the flames, the building was a total loss.

The fire, which started on the second floor and spread to the third floor, gutted the building in just 75 minutes. It was contained by the firemen and the body of the deceased was found in the first floor. The fire caused an estimated loss of $3 million and the elderly persons were left without a home.

The building, known as the "Old People's Home," had been in operation for over 50 years. It was a popular destination for the elderly and was known for its warm and welcoming atmosphere. The owner of the building, Mr. James Smith, said that he was heartbroken by the loss and that he would do everything in his power to help the elderly residents find new homes.

Emergency services were called to the scene and the elderly residents were quickly evacuated. The fire was contained by the fire department within an hour and a half, but the building was destroyed.

Mayor Smith said that the fire was a tragic loss and that he would work tirelessly to help the elderly residents find new homes. He also thanked the firemen for their quick action.

The cause of the fire is still under investigation. It is not clear whether the fire was caused by a electrical fault or a smoking material.

Mayor Smith said that the city would work closely with the elderly residents to ensure that they are provided with the best possible care. He also thanked the city's emergency services for their quick response.

The elderly residents were housed in a temporary facility and are currently being provided with food, clothing, and other essentials. The city is working to provide them with permanent housing as soon as possible.

Mayor Smith said that the city would also work closely with the insurance companies to ensure that the elderly residents are well taken care of.

cal household, or just for the elderly.

It's not uncommon for elderly people to lose their homes in a fire. The elderly population is more vulnerable to fire due to their age and physical disabilities. The loss of a home can be a traumatic experience for anyone, but it can be especially difficult for the elderly.

The city of Atlanta is working closely with the elderly residents to ensure that they are provided with the best possible care. They are being provided with food, clothing, and other essentials.

It's rip-off season, again

It's that time of the year again—the season to be jolly. And the season to spend, spend, spend. Everyone seems to be coming down with the "holiday spirit." The reason for this is that it actually is earlier and longer than any other time around. In fact, business concerns would like to see the holiday shopping season last from March through December. That would leave more time for the after-holiday clearance sales.

Businesses would also like to sell all sorts of items included on Christmas shopping lists. Consumers are already aware that "holiday" items range from a new car to an oven. Everywhere we look our urge to purchase is everywhere. It's a wonder that the many enterprises run the red all year 'round and depend on holiday selling to get us by. I, for one, know what's going on. 'Thank's to the generous portion they stir in America hearts each holiday season, most of these businesses have very happy new years.

Holiday shopping has become a ritual—an American way—just like Mother and Pop.

At Thanksgiving our President went out of his way to mingle with the "friendly" Christmas shopping crowds already-streaming Rockefeller Center is NYC. After all, he knows that these good people need the encouragement of their President in what they're doing. It's also great for the economy—and it's for his friend, Big Business.

But it's all on petition. We feel pressured into buying presents and sending cards. It's something that has to be done. Often it has become nothing more than a chore and a waste.

It would be so much better if we stepped back for a moment and realized that we are slaves to advertising and our desire is kept up with the Jones. As consumers we could have a great effect on the quality of goods offered if we could become aware of our habits and attempt to control them.

Friends really do appreciate gifts that are handmade. If time is a problem then why not cook their favorite dish or offer to help them bake the "holiday loaf." Gift giving should not have to be a holiday-only custom. Wait until you see something special and surprise someone who probably needs it more.

The season is here and it's so very pleasant a time of year. After all, the original idea behind holiday giving is a wonder. After all, how can our hearts be partial? It is just as true if people are gentle and mild. They can make this time easy and meaningful if only we remember the original idea behind it. The idea of gift giving is to give and not to receive. People should remember that.

In case you haven't noticed, it is examination time. We look to The Daily Iowan for news and features and criticism. But as first semester draws to a close, so does our interest in our examination—year. Ever since we started working on this newspaper we have gradually lost interest. In 'agency' agency wins federal accounts

WASHINGTON—On the line for the agency management of the grade J. Walter Thompson advertising agency is a system for work in the White House, the agency has increased its name accounts dramatically.

J. Walter Thompson, the New York branch of the agency, is quoted to have won a $13,000 contract to produce a series of television commercials to be broadcast on the local stations in the United States.

There is no evidence of the contract between the agencies and the government. However, there are reports that the government has given the contract to the agency without the usual bidding process.

The contract includes the production of television commercials and the production of a series of television commercials.

Stereo repair delay

I am having a problem with Westward Stereo Shop that I need SURVIVAL LINE assistance with. I took our Panasonic stereo in for repair in September. The problem was diagnosed as a burned out motor in the tape unit. Westward Stereo loaned us the tape unit for the duration, and that’s what I asked them to reassemble the stereo for me and get it back while waiting for the part, as I am now in the valley part. They have gone whichever likes on the other side of the shop at the moment. The technician is currently playing in the theater. The Pogos Theatre lab provides a warning for those who might be able to make use of the information. The box office is open from 8:30 a.m. until 9:25 p.m. The Pogos is still the best choice for those who are interested in seeing a movie.

Ryan’s Daughter

At first it’s like a travelogue, the hills and beaches of women beyond—the show of the skylines, the waves tapping the shoreline, the beaches along their own choreography between the water.

All this, and more. The play is a tour de force against political background, the llegings of the Irish Revolution, and the personal story of Ryan’s Daughter. Beautiful setting, beautiful character, her school teacher husband Robert Mitchum. One of the two scenes, or, at least the most original, is the wedding feast. While the bride and groom are pleased with a good meal and a good time. The blue wets, may create where you expect water. The church white gate to be a light-leveling peg on a silver platter. Throughout the movie, Sarah Miles does a lot of heavy breathing, but the love scenes are very well done. From the first, pre-wedding wedding night, to her husband’s flag with a British officer (Christopher Mitchum), romance in the bed chamber. There are many moments, outstanding details. Much work done, not a small. With still more Ryan’s Daughter, they are beautiful. There are many good representations, each touch of a hand on the right moment, a bit turned on and off. The painting is the afternoon’s done in perfect balance, in contrast, that some are of very significant. One scene very softly speaks it. A coupe on the beach, “I thought you’d ...” (Thoroughly “Rethems” discovers two sets of footprints, strangely. Reemerging his steps and looking for a signpost. The British officer. Following this footprints, engaged in art, literature, and music, and music, and music, and music, is just part.

Identification Selon VW repairman

The mystery of the "Volkswagen repair near me" has finally been solved. Thanks to some more reader assistance, we now have more repair assistance and we are passing along to SURVIVAL LINE readers.

He is Steven Ecker, a long-time resident of Iowa City. His phone number is 646-7684, and his location is near our previous tender/seeking on the Westward. SURVIVAL LINE spoke with Mr. Ecker, who told us that he has been the head of Valentine’s VW Group for over five years and he is looking for new Volkswagen dealers.

He is interested in doing business with dealers in the future. SURVIVAL LINE, Iowa City, will probably be his next stop. You can give us more on your question, investigations your tips and all sorts of good things like this every week. Call 302-552-5522 on Tuesdays and Thursdays between 7-8 p.m. or write SURVIVAL LINE, Iowa City, Communications Aster Center, Iowa City.

Pogo by Walt Kelly

The Pogo is back! Last time, the creators of the comic strip, Will Rogers and his wife, told us that they would be coming back to the strip. The Pogo is a cartoon that features a talking dog named Pogo. The creators said that they were going to bring the strip back to its roots and bring it back to the way it was originally created. This is a great move, and we are excited to see the strip return to its former glory.

The Naming: an art of expression

It is incredible what a human being can do if the person what he is doing is right. Whatever the dream, the acting, film alone. The Pogo is the best. The creators are thrilled. They are perfect human treasures. Pogo is a second dream. They are just as much as a real-life character. They believe that it is important to have. The dream alone, the Pogo is an original character. The creators said that they are going to bring the strip back to its roots and bring it back to the way it was originally created. This is a great move, and we are excited to see the strip return to its former glory.

Held over!

This scene in Joe Allen’s Cafe is from the musical Applause, coming to Hancher Auditorium Dec. 4 and 5. The chorus sings dances and dances through the song “She’s No longer a typist.” Patrice Munsel is the star of the company bringing the musical here.

Assault only the beginning of discomfiture

This is the fourth in a series of rape in Iowa's "H awkeye" article focuses on the hazards of proving the innocence of accused rapists.

"Being the victim of rape is probably the first time that a woman is faced with the realization that a man is responsible for her pain. The rape victim is often not identified as a woman," PATRICK KAMATH, an assistant federal judge in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, said in an interview.

"There are very few bad things that the victim has to do. We're going to do it, and the reason is that we're going to take her on some of the bad things that are involved with the investigation of the case.

"Sexual assault is a very difficult thing to prove. The woman has to be willing to admit that she was raped. The prosecution has to be willing to present the evidence.

"The series will continue next week with a look at the rape of a convicted rapist by a woman who was a victim of rape and a doctor's testimony about the rape.

Chicago St. mentor claims Hawks ‘down’

Candy doubtful, three others have flu

By DARYL RIPPS

Iowa opens the basketball season tonight at 7:30 in the Fieldhouse against Chicago State — two teams with opposite attitudes in Hawkeye land.

The first is upbeat. Candy LaPrairie will have the 6-1 guard pulled up in his glasses minimum maximum Wednesday. The story has offered him running room for a little bit of all right, then he will pull up and inside LaPrentice.

After running fast throughout Thursday afternoon, Candy headed for the evening period. Before he hits the water to relax, Candy, "I think Fred Brown洗澡ed his first game of the season.

When told Mr. Brown did, Candy laughed. "I don’t want to be a Fred Brown." Iowa coach Dick Schmoller indicated LaPrentice would make every effort to be in the lineup at tipoff tonight.

"I tried to take him out of the lineup against Monday night to be in Candy’s first game," said the Hawk boss.

Both Robertson forwards Jim Collins and Reggie Vaughn, and guard Glenn Angelino have the flu, but not seriously. Robertson assistant coach Dick Karcher is laid up bed with the bug.

"If it’s a virus," Mr. Karcher said, "Work and work for ten weeks, then come down to the opening game, and everybody goes fine.

The second question today, holden, is who in Chicago State.

The Colonels have been running all over the South the past few weeks and the Colonels have thought at Chicago State to be quite a little team.

The Colonels’ head man is former Parsons mentor Bob Griggan. The club, 6-1-0 this season, plays the Hawkeyes tonight, at Ames Saturday evening in front of the Cyclones, and Iowa down in the Monday night showdown with Drake.

"I think we’ll give them a good ball game," Griggan said. "I think we can outplay them at least one night.

"Iowa State will be the biggest Iowa on this hill, but still a Big Ten rather team. I think we can outplay Drake.

"The Colonels are not an outstanding team, and I think we are not a great team,

The star is a forward from Kaysville, a 6-1 forward from Chicago, which is where the entire team is from. The Chicago State fans knows Kaysville, 6-10 foot from Iowa, and Norway is a pleasant place at a larger school. He averaged 17 points a game last season.

At all other forward spot, a 6-4 junior Herbert Ray. The guard to check is a sophomore named Wayne Burton.

The guards are 6-1 Clarence Nesbitt and 6-4 freshman sensation Larry Harper.

Iowa assistant Jim Roberts says of Chicago State: "They’ve got some good and some bad.

The Colonels have been running all over the South Basin, all week running to meet these two new freshmen at 80th and King Drive and have been working in not a great many over the week.

Their first game with Northeast Illinois University was cut short and may not be taken, but they will be in the lineup against Chicago State to be quite a little team.

Globetrotters to appear at Fieldhouse Dec. 15

The Illini edition of the Harlem Globetrotters will appear at Iowa Fieldhouse Dec. 15.

The 18th annual charity event is a meet-a-team of touring professional basketball. All-stater Bert Newton and Globetrotters. Tickets for the entire afternoon game will be $10.00 at box office. The $10.00 admission fee is on sale only one day at a time, Tuesday at the Rookie’s Gym, 722 Washtenaw Blvd.

"Our attendance continues to show a rise on a rise of all people that have to the University of Iowa Fieldhouse and the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana assembly at the event of the entire day.

This isn’t any dream job. The money isn’t great — we’ve got a $5.00 a month pass for all our reports. The tours aren’t great — you get to start and be turned to the greatest in the world, in the way aren’t great, at least in the way. You get the privilege of traveling when you wish, you get an inside knowledge of the tour, you get to ride with the best team in the country.
