Tortured

LONDON (AP) — A British organization claims Monday that 400 Iraqi prisoners held in a major prison north of Baghdad have been tortured to death by regime security forces.

The Union of Liberal Students—an affiliate of the Iraqi Democratic Party—alleged in a report that 1,000 political prisoners have been tortured and killed since Saddam Hussein took power in 1979.

The report, which was not released but held without trial, "is a dramatic and wrenching denunciation of the regime's record of political repression," the organization said.

Fatality

An air and cannon truck explosion in Hipyib, also known as Ityib, north of the center of Maysan province Monday killed one person, a local police officer said. The incident left several other people injured.

The police officer said the explosion was caused by a local police car that was parked briefly in the vicinity.

Stories of young Clinton Street residents isolated, unheated, and forced to leave their homes are being reported in the city's surrounding areas. The residents' and school's official positions are currently unknown.

Student member might cause friction

Regents dispute plan for students to vote on issues

The University of Iowa Student Government and the state Board of Regents are discussing plans for students to vote on issues.

The students' group is pushing for a vote on a variety of issues, including budget cuts and tuition increases.

The state Board of Regents is opposed to the vote, arguing that it would disrupt the university's governance structure.

The two groups have been holding discussions over the past few months, but they have not reached a consensus.

Clements conceded defeat in oil conspiracy suit

TALLAS (AP) — William P. Clements Jr., projected 55-year-old candidate for governor of Texas at the Panhandle, is a defendant in a federal suit charging stock manipulation by two men on a $3 million in a Mexican firm. The case was_unsealing Friday in the Panhandle.

Clements, 55, of Austin, and T. W. "Tom" Johnson, 56, of Fort Worth, were named in the suit Friday, according to the Department of Justice.

The 10-count federal indictment charges the two men with conspiracy to defraud the public by using false and misleading statements and omissions in transactions involving the Panhandle Pacific Oil Co. and its successor, Panhandle Petroleum Corp.

"You've been out of jail for three days, had his deep space walk. It's a replay of the Apollo 11 moon landing. It's a test flight for the future of manned space exploration."

The suit was filed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which has been investigating the case since 1973, John Oberthien, an FBI official.

Clements and Johnson were among the defendants named in the suit. The charges include mail fraud, wire fraud, fraud in connection with securities offerings, and conspiracy.

A pioneer in history of religion

A religious history professor in the University of Iowa's Department of Religion, James W. Mead, is being honored this spring as one of the most distinguished and versatile members of the college faculty of the University of Iowa. Mead is Professor of the History of Religion, and is also associated with the University's Graduate School of Theology.

Mead's work has focused on the history of religion, particularly in the United States. He has written extensively on the religious history of the United States, with a particular emphasis on the role of religion in American society. Mead's work has been characterized by a deep understanding of the complexity of religious thought and practice, and his insights have been widely influential in the field of religious studies.

The imputed retirement will be a time for Mead to reflect on his career and to consider his future endeavors. Mead has made significant contributions to the field of religious studies, and his work has been widely recognized. He has published numerous books and articles, and has been a leader in the field for many years.

The request was denied, the judge has ordered a new trial for the student, and the student will retain his status with the university. The judge has ruled that the student's right to a fair trial has been violated, and that the student should be allowed to continue his studies.

Ski resort attracts drug crime

MANCHESTER, Vt. (AP) — This snow-covered summer resort has become a winter wonderland. But police say the trend is entirely too picturesque.

The drug problem has increased like hail in the last 2 years, said Robert Labrie, assistant police chief. "It's like a wave, and they don't seem to be retreating.

Poems and art a la pintura

Illumination of poetry

by Carlos Martin

...a la pintura...

Preparations have started for the visit of the Spanish poet, Fernando Remach, as part of his poetry reading program sponsored by the University of Iowa. This is an opportunity for the community to hear the great poet in an intimate setting.

The reading will take place in the Stoddard Theatre on Thursday, December 19, at 7:30 p.m. Admission is free and open to the public. Doors will open at 7 p.m. The event is presented by the Department of Spanish and Portuguese.

Several poems from Remach's works will be read, including "Amor," "Oda a la muerte," and "El poeta." The poet will also respond to questions from the audience after his reading.

Remach is a renowned Spanish poet known for his diverse and complex poetic style. His works have been translated into several languages and have received numerous awards. The University of Iowa is honored to host this event, which promises to be a memorable evening filled with poetry and music.

Trotter magic wows 10,000

The world famous Harlem Globetrotters trooped into Iowa City Friday evening and, before 10,000 plus-stuffed fans, performed like a dog and a trained monkey, mimicking the mellifluous tones of George Frazier’s Field the Fieldhouse.

Led by the indefatigable Class Prices of Basketball, the incomparable Meadowlark Lemon, and drifting wizard Carlisle Neal, the Trotters displayed many trick maneuvers, creating a spectacle which is theirs, and theirs alone.

Lemon was at his best, as he always is, cracking at open opportunities and otherwise thoroughly enjoying an evening with the greatest audience, children of all ages.

At one point, the ‘Trotter’ jumped from the standings to ‘tire’ a tunnel of popcorn from a small, female vendor. Lemon must have heard about his blunder at last week’s game Dec. 18, 1972. Memphis. Tenn. (AP) - Iowa State, trying to end a six-game winning streak, and George Tech, the nation's longest unbeaten team, played a tight game that saw Iowa State lose to George tech by a score of 77-75. Iowa State, led by freshman Mike Johnson, was the favorite to win the game. But George Tech rallied in the final minutes to take the lead. Iowa State coach John Smith said, "We were ready, but we just didn't play well today."

Majors to Pitt

Atlanta (AP) - The Atlantic, Carolina captured its first Midwest Conference title by defeating North Carolina, 76-61. The Gamecocks, led by senior forward Mike Johnson, were the only team to beat North Carolina in the regular season. North Carolina, led by sophomore forward Mike Johnson, was the defending champion. North Carolina coach Frank Smith said, "We are happy to be here."

Johnny U's last harrumph

Miami—No. 19 Miami closed out the regular season with a 38-13 victory over the Orange River in the Orange Bowl.

But the final moments of glory for quarterback John U. (Johnny Mitchell) were short-lived.

Unique for the season, the Orange River did not score in the first half, and Miami's defense did not allow the Orange River to score a touchdown in the second half. The game ended at 38-13.

New Orleans (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams, 23-3 winners over the Green Bay Packers last week, are favored to beat the Chicago Bears in the first meeting of the season.

The Rams have been on a roll, winning their last three games. They are 7-2-1 on the season, and they have scored 104 points in their last three games.

The Packers, on the other hand, have been struggling. They are 4-5-1 on the season, and they have scored only 53 points in their last three games.
