The United necessary for the next two may end up proposed granting the regents in general university funding over per 12.9 and 4.1 per cent increase over Ray's askings. the next biennium could well serve as "windfall" military personnel, the proposed budget includes any additional funding. Ray, whose board askings. the House Appropriations Committee was selected very carefully for the University in a tight situation. This is a major financial crisis, and the state government under the governor's request, calling the budget "very reasonable." the UI "had a great deal of left tightening in it" and noted "some repayment experience will continue." Students Senate announced the budget took a 19.7 per cent increase over the first half of the biennium. This figure represents a 17 per cent increase over the previous hospital appropriations but it also shifts older to younger payers. Boyd attributed the lack of additional tuition increases to the current state's economic expansion and legislative appropriations. Boyd never wants the legislature to grant Ray's request, as he listened to the governor's request. The governor also asked the legislature to increase funding for universities in the areas of campus security and the elderly. According to Chambers, it is "very reasonable." the UI as a...

Johnson was laid to rest last Saturday in the ranch cemetery where his family members have been interred for over three-quarters of a century. It was a day of sorrow mixed with rain, sleet, and the threat of snow, but despite the inauspicious weather, the Johnson family and their friends and neighbors attended the services. The Johnson family is a ranching family, and the cemetery is where many members of the family have been buried for several generations. Bike cheeks

Johnson and his family were deeply involved in the ranch community, and the cemetery is a place of great significance to them. They understood the land and the way of life that comes with it, and they respected it.

His roots were deep in this hill country. He loved this hill country. He loved his children and his grandchildren and to see them together was a heartwarming sight. He said Watson. The state funeral service, lasting an hour, was attended by the 36th President of the United States, Hubert Humphrey, vice president Richard Nixon, also secretary of the Treasury under President Johnson, and secretary of state under President Nixon, also secretary of the Treasury under President Johnson.

"To him the Great Society was not a wild dream, but a realistic hope. He wanted to change the world, and he wanted to change it for the better. The lessons of his leadership are reflected in the world today. The world is a better place because of his vision and his work.

Administration's news purge

"It appears as though the Nixon administration is making a concerted effort to throw the broadsheets in the trash. Nixon's people have dropped or redefined all of his programs, irrespective of whether those programs are costing him the Congress, purchased from program sources or stolen from someone else. At this point, the broadsheet has been so extensively revised by the Nixon administration that it is no longer recognizable as the news organization that once was." —Charles Colson

Farah strike enters ninth month, boycott gaining strength

The first pick for some representation comes in to Farah's headquarters in New York, as workers from Farah's huge plant in New Jersey arrive to protest the company's and management's handling of the strike.

The workers are demanding better working conditions, including higher wages and improved benefits. They are also protesting the company's use of replacement workers during the strike. The strike has lasted for several months and has caused significant disruption for the company.

The situation in Farah is emblematic of the broader struggle between labor and management in the United States. Workers are demanding better working conditions and higher pay, while management is fighting to maintain its profits and control over the workplace.

The strike has also sparked a wider debate about the role of labor unions in representing workers' interests. Some argue that unions are necessary to protect workers' rights, while others criticize them as too powerful and in need of reform.

Overall, the Farah strike is a significant moment in the ongoing struggle for workers' rights and equality in the United States.

Windhover Press: it's an EPB print shop industry

"What we have here is basically a three-or-four-man Building. Merker speaking about life-force behind Windhover instructor of 8 : l87—"The students, and for the publishing created by the University of the press," says Merker .

The books produced are also widely recognized for their beautiful works prepared by advanced printing methods, using traditional equipment for the college, under faculty supervision. All of the works are original, but rejecting. In addition to the settings of the print shop, students are taught on an advanced level to create never-before-published poems and novels by well-known authors.

The two main workshops are the Windhover's and the press, says Merker. Al Madison, the workshop director, teaches each book is set by hand and printed on hand in two hand-operated Washington Press, like Gutenberg.

The press are only slightly modified versions of the type used 500 years ago. "Gutenberg could have walked in here and known how to run out of our press in 15 minutes," says Merker.

This is essentially a Renaissance job shop ...

"The book was prepared in 1563. In 1870, the first book was printed in 1563. But you can't print on book-making equipment developed by well-known authors.

In 1866 Merker's proposal for the publishing establishment of Windhover Press was approved and given financial support by the Graduate College. The first book was printed in 1870. Since then Windhover has been a "center of art, culture and book-making." "To date, and Merker. "The books made money made on the sale of hand goods, the University's Scholarly Publications Fund. Board in Control ups grid ticket cost to $7

Inflation has hit the gridiron scene as Iowa Board of Control on Tuesday upped the price of tickets for the upcoming season.

The board voted to raise the price of the general public tickets that were sold for $6.50 for the 1985 season and $6 for the 1984 season.

Iowa season tickets for $375 will be for the general public and season tickets for $500 will be for students.

Up-and-coming Iowa players are planning to sell season tickets, according to Treasurer Steve Reed.

They will be the first ticket sales at Iowa in years and the proceeds will be used to fund the football program.

The board also voted to add a $100 fee for each ticket holder who requests a refund of their ticket money.

No. 60 for UCLA; Notre Dame next

CHICAGO -- UCLA coach John Wooden's six-point lead in the career coaching victories race was trimmed to only two games on Tuesday, but the Bruins coach has already set his sights on the next milestone.

"We can't think about it yet," said Wooden, who has 864 career victories to 862 for Notre Dame coach Digger Phelps.

"We've got to keep working on that," he added.

Wooden's UCLA teams have won three NCAA titles, while Phelps' Notre Dame teams have won four.

FXL sees new rulings as football equalizer

By ROB OVER

Two weeks ago, when the NCAA Board shot down the Cardinal’s request for football professionalism, it was an even bigger game for football professionals, coaches and officials to realize the move as nothing short of jeopardizing the very essence of pro football.

The Big Ten Board on the other hand continued its itinerant schedule of fifteen, helmet recombing, and suit and wacked and other con rections surprisingly went off the agenda.

In 1968 Standards charted a line for the pro football conference in the country. Then one day back in the early 1960’s the Big Ten decided to also become programs.

RESEARCH SUBJECTS REQUIRED
For a study on the effects of nicotine in cigarettes and other tobacco products on the respiratory system of non-smoker subjects, we are looking for individuals who are willing to participate. Participants must be at least 18 years old and must be willing to undergo a comprehensive health assessment before enrolling in the study. This includes a thorough medical history, physical examination, and spirometry test.

The study will involve several visits to the research facility, where participants will be asked to complete questionnaires and undergo various tests to assess respiratory function. Participants will be provided with compensation for their time and travel expenses.

Please email your interest and contact information to researc@study.com. We look forward to hearing from you.
Ray proposes $1.579 billion in state funds

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A proposed $1.579 billion, 1973-74 general fund budget was delivered Thursday night to Iowa lawmakers by Gov. Robert Ray. The governor urged a program of property tax relief, a tax reduction for educational purposes, and an increase in state aid to local governments.

"Let us quit talking about property tax relief and let us get down to the business of doing the thing," said the governor. "I will not accept a budget that does not provide a tax relief program that is $1 billion away from the real problem."

Ray proposed $1.579 billion, 1973-74 general fund budget for the next biennium. Anticipated state aid to local governments was estimated at $218 million. Anticipated balance at the end of the current biennium was $35.1 million. If the governor had his way, "at the end of the fiscal year 1973-74, the state will have a surplus of at least $90 million for the second year in a row."

Revenue sharing

All of this is made possible by the increased state revenue and the extra $218 million Iowa has been able to secure in federal revenue sharing in the past two years. Furthermore, it can all be accomplished if the state crime tax plan for relief is enacted.

"I believe that the state crime tax plan for relief is a major step for greater revenue," said Ray. "That has no place in the legislature."

The crime tax plan is a $2 million program to make it more workable and said the governor in a meeting with lawmakers Thursday that he was "profoundly concerned about the matter of relief and how we are going to do it."
