AMES, Iowa — An Iowa State University chapter of a student research organization will begin the school year under a cloud after a schist sufferer from the president's office.

The chapter will now be operating under the temporary title of "Iowa State Student Research Organization." The chapter was formed in 1970 as the Iowa State Political Science Research Group and is the largest of its kind in the nation. The chapter has conducted research on a wide variety of topics, including political campaigns, public opinion, and the impact of media on elections.

Nixon loses

WASHINGTON, D.C. - President Nixon has run a two-for-one campaign and has been declared the winner by the Federal Election Commission, which found that the Nixon campaign violated the Federal Election Campaign Act.

The vote was 85-65 and the bill in the House passed on a vote of 365-67. It was sponsored by Rep. Robert Ray, D-Iowa, and Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, and was signed by President Gerald Ford. The bill would allow private liquor stores to be licensed by the state legislature.

Recognition

OTTAWA - Canada has formally recognized the United States as a sovereign nation, the first time that Canada has done so since 1938.

Lowering age

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) - A bill to lower the legal drinking age from 21 to 18 passed the Iowa Senate on Monday night by a vote of 32-18. The Senate approved the measure on a voice vote and the bill now goes to the House of Representatives for further consideration.

No delay

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) - Gov. Robert Ray defeated Minuten Tuesday night that his failure to complete a proposed state budget by Friday is "not a delay." The Governor's Office said Friday that the budget would be submitted to the House of Representatives by Friday morning.

Frigid

"Frigid" was the word weather enthusiast and former student of the University of Iowa, Larry W. Lyle, used to describe this week's weather conditions. "It's been a long, cold winter, and it's only getting colder," Lyle said.

Social security refunds not likely

By the Survival Line Staff

Student employees of the University of Iowa, however, have not seen their benefits reflect any of the changes. The Labor-Darling amendment was expected to have benefits for student employees from social security coverage. This means that state amendments to the Social Security Act will not be deductible on their state income taxes. However, students who have voluntarily contributed to social security will receive refunds of the social security taxes paid. These refunds will be paid in April. Students who requested refunds have followed this method. Part II of the "78A" bill (65%) is expected to be paid by the Social Security Administration. Student employees of that government employment who are under the Social Security Act in 1978 will receive refunds of the social security taxes paid. In 1976, the student employees of this university were under the Social Security Act, and their refunds were paid in 1975. This year, student employees who are under the Social Security Act will receive refunds of their social security taxes paid in 1978. These refunds will be paid in April.

Kathy Nye, a 19-year-old from San Rafael, Calif., said in a telephone interview from New York City that she was pleased with the results of the Social Security Act. "I am really happy," she said, "and I am looking forward to the positive changes in the social security system." Nye said that the Social Security Act will make it easier for her to live on her own and to support herself.

Conference on changing family enjoys success

About 300 people were present for the social Changing Family Conference being held last week in Palm Springs, Calif., and tended by the University of Iowa. According to Peggy Blum, the conference coordinator, "There were more people registered than we had expected." The conference, subtitled the "20th Annual Conference of the University of Iowa," was held at the University of California, San Diego, and featured lectures and discussions on various topics related to the changing family. The conference was sponsored by the University of Iowa's Department of Sociology and Anthropology.

Direct election of top ARH positions to create interest

UI masons

The University of Iowa Masons have elected a new president for the 1979-1980 academic year. Craig Kuehn, a 3rd-year graduate student in physics, was elected president by the ARH board of directors. Kuehn said his highest priority as president will be to increase student participation in ARH activities. The Masons hope to increase student participation by offering more opportunities for students to get involved in ARH activities. Iowa Senate votes no on lobbying rule

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The Iowa Senate Wednesday rejected a proposal that would require legislators to disclose every paid speech they make in the state Capitol. The proposal, sponsored by Sen. Gene O'Neal of Des Moines, was defeated by a vote of 26-22. The proposal would have required legislators to file a statement with the state Ethics Commission each time they accept a paid speech. The Ethics Commission would then review the statement to determine if the speech was a paid speech or a public service speech. Engel to leave administration for teaching daily Iowan is reporting that Vice President William L. Boyd and President George C. Chambers of the University of Northern Iowa will go into the administration to fill the post that Engel assumed the post that they thought would be in the future. The decision to leave the administration was made because Engel had been a regular member of the faculty and had been selected for the position of Dean of Students.

By STEVE BAKER

Engel's decision to leave the administration was a surprise to many, as he was considered a strong candidate for the presidency of the university. However, Engel said that he was leaving the administration because he wanted to devote more time to his teaching and research.

Engel said that he would continue to teach and serve as a consultant to the university, and that he would also continue to be involved in the administration of the university in some capacity.

Engel's departure from the administration will leave a vacancy in the position of President of the University, which will need to be filled in the near future.

Robert Engel

Engel was succeeded by Vice President William L. Boyd, who will serve as the President of the University until a new President is appointed.

Engel was a popular figure on the University campus, and his departure will be felt by many.

Uncle Tomahawk—"an apple"

The Indian priest movement has paralyzed in many ways the works of the Indian and Brown Power movements. Uncle Tomahawk is Uncle Tom. Indian militants have used the term "apple" or "indian" to describe all Indians (red outside, white inside) much the way Blacks have used the term "Uncle Tom.

In the mid-1960s, Indians staged a series of "tomahawks" to protest the removal of Indian groups from the rivers of the state of Washington. In November of 1968, Indians secured a court order to gain possession of Indian reservations.

Most recently there has been the occupation of the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) building in Washington. D.C. Repercussions of this are still being felt; (i.e.) Jack Anderson's column on this same page regarding the arrest of all aid for possession of stolen property.

Indian militancy has sparked a wave of interest in Indian affairs. New books are out. TV shows have been made, and movies have been performed particularly to see a favorable light. (One of the more popular in the U.C.I. is Tell Them Billy Joe is Here.

Often missed are the objectives of the Indian movement. The Indian seeks to return to tradition and ancient traditions. They oppose the paternalism of such groups as the Conference in the BIA. The work of missionaries and white advocates has often been to bring the Indians into the white mind set. Indians have sought to preserve what is their own.

The New York Times, August 23, 1972, quotes John Kevin, chief of the Money tribe as saying, "Our people are beginning to realize that we have a religious faith that is as good as any other."

Environmentalist is beginning to realize that the Indian tradition of living in harmony with nature may hold the key for man's survival.

Government rejecting your right to know

Washingion, D.C. — There can be no longer be any doubt that the government is determined to keep the public in the dark. Last week John Foster Dulles was sworn in as the United States' new Secretary of State by a new President, and it appears that he has latched on to the idea of retarding the public's right to know.

Surely the government is well aware that the front pages of the newspapers are filled with stories of people who have been arrested for possession of stolen property.

Dulles, chief of the Department of Justice, told the House of Representatives in a speech that it was his policy to keep the public in the dark.

Dulles was scheduled to appear on television before the Ways and Means Committee to testify about the FY 1973 budget. However, the Department of Justice announced that Dulles would not be able to appear.

Cowboy singer bucked off

By DAVID L. LEWIS

Allie Murphy, 60, a veteran of both the music scene and the movies, made a soldout appearance Saturday in Hancher Auditorium. The career of the former western star included roles on television, in movies, and in such classic songs as "The Old Oaken Bucket" and "The Sheet".

"I've been a cowboy all my life," said Murphy, who is still active in the music business. "I've been singing since I was a boy, and I've never stopped."

After the concert, Murphy was presented with a gold guitar, autographed by several of his friends in the music business. "I'm very pleased to receive this," said Murphy. "It's a great honor to be recognized for my work in the music business."

The concert was sponsored by the Friends of Old Time Music, a local organization dedicated to preserving and promoting the music of the past. "We're very pleased to have Allie Murphy with us," said the organization's president. "He's a true cowboy, and he's a true cowboy singer."

Charley's Aunt: a well-done farce.

Because of the many theatrical productions due by Charley's Aunt to occur in the area, many people are not realizing that City Hall is a flourishing Community Theatre. The best trend is, I am apprehensive to think that to rare the latest production is their "name of the game." Charley's Aunt is produced as a sample of the way it is supposed to be. The set is designed in such a way that the audience views is possible from almost any point, and the completeness of the construction of the set is amazing. These two factors plus the fact that the audience views three different scenes and how they are converted encompasses everyone involved. As a result, feedback of the audience and the critics is an indication of the quality of the picture. Charley's Aunt, by Brandon Thomas, is a fast-paced comedy full of excitement, adventure, truth, and even worse. Despite its age, it will thrill and amuse the audience with witty lines and clever jokes. The acting is uniformly good, and the cast is excellent. No character is more devious. Jack Mason is the highlight of the show due to his ability to play a variety of roles and to deliver a memorable performance.
