Robert Krummer, chairman of the Iowa Regents on education, said that the current funding system is "very inflexible" and called for more flexibility in planning budgets. He also questioned the rationale behind the cuts in funding which have led to increased tuition rates.

The state budget guidelines for fiscal year 1977-78 are due to be released this year. The guidelines are expected to set the overall budget at $1.5 billion, with an emphasis on education and health care.

The Iowa Regents, which govern the three state universities and the Iowa School for the Deaf, are set to meet next week to discuss the budget guidelines. The meeting is expected to be attended by university presidents and other members of the state board of regents.

Nonresident hike may devastate UI

State Education and Welfare representatives contend that the expansion of health-related college enrollments is needed to meet the demands of the state's growing population. They also argue that increased tuition rates are necessary to maintain the quality of education provided.

The cuts in funding have led to a reduction in the number of courses offered, which has resulted in increased tuition rates. The state board of regents is expected to discuss ways to address this issue at its next meeting.

Term expires June 31

John Neubauer is the last to leave the board of regents.

The Iowa Board of Regents is the governing body for the state's public universities, including the University of Iowa, Iowa State University, and the University of Northern Iowa. The board is responsible for overseeing the management and operations of these institutions.

The board is composed of nine members, who are appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Iowa Senate. The current board includes representatives from different parts of the state, including urban and rural areas.

The board is scheduled to meet next week to consider the budget guidelines for fiscal year 1977-78. The meeting is expected to be attended by university presidents and other members of the state board of regents.

Boyd explained the present distinction between residents and nonresidents. While the resident status is not being increased, and a nonresident status is possible, the nonresident status is increased, there could be a time when the resident status is increased, and the nonresident status is kept.

PAT develops new lease for tenant-landlord use

By HARRY WILDE
Student Affairs Writer
Protection Association for Tenants (PAF) plans to reply in a new lease to landlords who violate the lease.

"The new PAFT lease is under a new lease which forbids landlords from evicting tenants," says Mike Pflie, legal director, who drafted the lease.

The lease is based on the tenant's right to a secure and healthy environment, and includes provisions to protect tenants from rent increases and evictions.

The tenant is responsible for paying rent and maintaining the property in a clean and safe condition.

Supervisors expected to approve Burger bid

The Johnson County Board of Supervisors is expected to approve a new lease for Burger Co. at the end of the month.

The new lease would include two judge's chambers and a new courtroom, according to the projected schedule.

Superintendent of public instruction

A new superintendent will be appointed by the Board of Education to replace the current superintendent.

The new superintendent is expected to focus on improving educational standards and increasing student achievement.

New death penalty law considered

Legislators in the state are considering changes to the death penalty law, including the possibility of a new penalty for certain crimes.

Some proposals include life in prison without the possibility of parole, while others propose the abolition of the death penalty altogether.

Meat alternatives save money

Dorm food fees optional

Many people feel that dorm food is high priced, nutritionally unbalanced and just plain bad. What if the university gave you the choice of how much you would pay for your meals? It would be a complex system that would appeal to most students.

"Dorm food fees optional" is a plan proposed by Dennis B. Shieman, assistant professor of home economics. Shieman has first hand experience with the food her family is fed at the university and she is convinced that a cafeteria meal is not the answer.

She explained that the food is very expensive and high priced. Shieman also mentioned that she has had many conversations with her friends and that many of them feel the same way that she does.

She feels that the university should give students the option of paying more for their meals or eating off-campus. Shieman explained that the money that is taken from students for their meals should be given back to them in the form of a scholarship.

"I think that the university should give students the option of paying more for their meals or eating off-campus. This way, students can choose what works best for them. I believe that the university should give students the option of paying more for their meals or eating off-campus. This way, students can choose what works best for them.

Extra protein is needed by young men, but it is unnecessary for young women. Shieman also mentioned that the meat in protein content is about the same as that of any other food. Cite Stuit's "ignorance." The establishment of an article in The Daily Iowan-Iowa City, Iowa.

The text discusses the U.S. involvement in Vietnam, with a focus on the Nixon administration's approach to the war and the impact on university employees. The text argues that the government's policies were not in the best interest of the country and that there should be a different approach to the conflict.

Carmichael no demagogue

Carmichael is not a demagogue. He has a unique ability to speak to the needs and desires of the people, as evidenced by his ability to mobilize large numbers of people and to lead them in a common cause. His speeches are not just words flung about, but are carefully crafted to address the issues at hand and to inspire action.

Defends Israel

The argument defending Israel is based on the idea that the policies of the Israeli government are justifiable in their efforts to protect their people from a perceived threat. The writer argues that the government is acting in the best interest of its citizens and that the international community should support their efforts.

Amazing! KK, Hawks upset third-ranked Gophers, 79-77

By REYNOLDS OWENS

MINNEAPOLIS—It works both ways. Sunday Bill Musselman turned down the head basketball coaching job at Florida. Monday, he had his application rejected for the Big Ten's Minnesota.

Musselman, who was the nation's No. 1 Division I coaching prospect, had planned on a self-imposed post-season travel of the Minnesota campus before formally presenting his credentials.

From the airport, the coach talked about Miami and the University of Florida, where he played four years under Enterline and Mosley. A former assistant at Wisconsin, Musselman turned down the coaching job at Miami, but was never interviewed for the Florida post.

But the controversial Minneapolis native was waiting for a Big Ten offer, no less than the one he received from Enterline.

"The Minnesota letter was the only one," Musselman said. "I feel very strongly about the Big Ten. It means something to me. And there is no doubt that Minnesota is a Big Ten school.""
