Boyd

University of Iowa Pres. Willard Boyd denied Sunday night that high level university administration officials now face dismissal.

Responding to a statement issued Thursday by two UI student senate officers claiming that two or possibly more administrators may be fired this summer, Boyd said, "I don't know about any such dismissals nor do I contemplate any dismissals."

The senate executives, Craig Karsen, A2, and Rod Miller, A3, senate president and vice-president, said the recent resignations of Provost Ray Heffner and assistant to the president Robert Engel, represent "trends directed toward usurping students power" because replacements of these officials, if made, will take place during summer months when "student reaction to the crisis will be at a minimum."

"I don't know how to respond to this matter," Boyd said. "Karsen never talked to me about it."

Boyd said he "tries hard to work with students" and the recent resignations of his two top aides "can in no way be construed as dismissals."

Bella

NEW YORK (AP)—Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N. Y., says she will cosponsor a resolution asking the House of Representatives to conduct an inquiry on whether grounds exist for impeaching President Nixon.

The resolution will be introduced this week, she said in a Saturday appearance at Columbia University. "to demonstrate that the President is not above the law."

The congresswoman rejected the argument that even if Nixon were implicated, it should be overlooked for the sake of government stability.

As for the prospect of Vice President Agnew succeeding an impeached Nixon, Ms. Abzug said that was not "a happy prospect."

But she said if Nixon were removed, "his successor ... would have to show extreme caution and much greater deference to Congress."

Summit?

MOSCOW (AP)—Henry A. Kissinger and Leonid I. Brezhnev continued talks Sunday at a country hideaway and were believed to be arranging a summit conference next month in the United States.

For the first time since the presidential troubleshooter arrived in Moscow on Friday, the U.S. embassy disclosed he was meeting with Brezhnev and top officials who would accompany the Communist party leader to America.

Both sides have kept a tight news blackout on the talks since Kissinger refused comment on arrival and was whisked to a forested government compound along the Volga, 60 miles north of Moscow.

May walk

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A Chinese physician who is treating Gov. George C. Wallace with acupuncture says there is a chance — "maybe" — that the governor will be able to walk again.

Dr. Ling Sun Chu said in an interview that he is encouraged by the results of the treatment so far, and that Wallace is improving steadily. Wallace has taken several acupuncture treatments.

Spy Canada?

TORONTO, Ont. (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau said this weekend he is certain Americans are spying on Canada but did not indicate that illegal tactics are involved.

"Probably if we had the wherewithal, we'd be spying on them," he said in a Toronto television interview.

Ozark

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Issues other than wages were holding up a back-to-work agreement between members of the striking Aircraft Mechanics Fraternal Association and Ozark Air Lines, a union spokesman said Sunday night.

Both sides announced a tentative agreement Friday night but negotiations continued Saturday and Sunday in an effort to end the walkout by the 560 member union which has grounded Ozark's planes since April 19.

Rain

The Reverend Billy Ash Wednesday, pastor of the Church of the Goey Death and Discount House of Grace-Saving, and part-time purveyor of kosher meat, was trampled Friday night while in quest of a local store's "Blue Light Special".

Wednesday, recovering from his ordeal at Religious Cretin Hospital, received a card from Church officers on Sunday. It read "The Officers of your Church, by a vote of 12-3, wish you a speedy recovery and a quick return to your pulpit."

Clutching his "milk container full of malted milk balls, for the next five minutes only 58 cents", Wednesday will see today unfold through his hospital window as rain and possible thunderstorms diminish to mere cloudiness. Highs around 60, low tonight in the upper 40s.

Tuesday's forecast was a draw. Season's record: 18-3-5.

State agents raid 'bootleg' party Gays charge 'harassment'

By TOM TAUKE
Staff Writer

State and local law enforcement officials raided an Iowa City Gay Liberation Front party Saturday night and arrested two University of Iowa students for alleged bootlegging violations of Iowa liquor laws.

State liquor agents, the Johnson County Sheriff's Department, Iowa City Police and the Iowa Highway Patrol combined forces to raid the "Gay Pride dance" at the Unitarian Church, 10 S. Gilbert.

GLF spokesman Glen Kellogg, of UI's Nursing Service, charged that the raid was "harassment" of GLF by state and local law enforcement agencies.

Beer not sold

According to Kellogg, two kegs of beer were available at the party. "but the beer was not being sold." Those present were asked for a "contribution" of $1 to cover the cost of the beer," he said. "I know some people said they couldn't afford the money and they were still served," he added.

"I don't know where there was any violation of the law," Kellogg said. "It's not the first time we've had a party there, and we've never been harassed before."

Loran Thomas Rodewald, A4, and Gard Arthur Roper, G, both of 1001 Lakeside Manor, bartenders at the party, were arrested by state officials and released on their own recognizance.

Glen Miller Epstein, 32, 747 Grant, was also arrested by Iowa City Police after the raid on a charge of intoxication.

$12 in receipts

Two beer kegs, one serving device and about $12 in cash were reportedly confiscated by law enforcement agents.

Details of the raid and subsequent arrests are sketchy. Local officials claimed "little knowledge" of the incident, and state agents were unavailable for comment.

According to Iowa City Public Safety Director David G. Epstein, agents from the Beer and Liquor Enforcement Division of the Iowa Department of Public Safety were "in charge" of the raid.

"It was a state liquor case. We were asked to assist and we assisted," he said.

Took part

Johnson County Sheriff Gary Hughes said his office took part in the raid, but he denied further knowledge of the incident.

A spokesperson for the sheriff's office said state agents were tipped off to the alleged violations of beer laws at the party by an advertisement in Friday's edition of The Daily Iowan.

When questioned about the harassment charge, Epstein said that "if other organizations do the same thing and we know about them, they will be charged."

About 100 persons attended the party held to commemorate the fourth anniversary of the New York City Stonewall riots.

THE DAILY IOWAN

John: Nixon ouster 'ridiculous'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Martha Mitchell's reported suggestion that President Nixon resign because of Watergate "is ridiculous," her husband, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, said Sunday.

Mitchell's statement, released by the Committee to Re-elect the President, from which he resigned nearly a year ago, was replying to a United Press International story reporting on Martha Mitchell's call to UPI White House correspondent Helen Thomas on Saturday.

The story quoted Ms. Mitchell as saying the President should resign, retire or "say good-bye" "in order to give credibility to the Republican party and credibility to the United States."

"I think he let the country down," the story quoted her as saying.

"Martha's late-night telephone call has been good fun and games in the past," Mitchell said in his statement Sunday. "However, this is a serious issue. I am surprised and disappointed that the United Press International would take advantage of a personal phone call made under the stress of the current situation and then treat it as a sensational public statement."

He said his wife "is entitled to more consideration and courtesy than that, particularly from a reporter whom she had considered a personal friend."

"Any thought of the President resigning is ridiculous."

Neither the UPI story nor the former attorney general indicated Ms. Mitchell had asked that her conversation be off the record. She has developed a reputation for her outspoken remarks in telephone conversations with Thomas and other reporters.

Ms. Mitchell had said recently she wanted to testify about the Watergate because she could expose what really happened. But in a deposition taken by attorneys in a

Watergate-related suit last week, she said she had no access to documents connected with the affair and that her knowledge of improper conduct was based on women's intuition.

Meanwhile, Sen. Edward J. Gurney said, "We have a governmental crisis at hand in this country." The presidency, he said, is "sort of adrift, like a ship with its sails torn by a storm and without a rudder."

The Florida Republican, a member of the Senate Judiciary and Watergate committees, was interviewed on the CBS broadcast "Face the Nation."

Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, former Republican national chairman, said the Watergate scandal has damaged President Nixon's credibility, but "I don't think it is fatal... much depends on what happens as the facts come out in the Watergate."

In another development, Time and Newsweek magazines said ousted presidential counsel John W. Dean III is prepared to testify that President Nixon personally congratulated him for covering up the administration's involvement in the break-in and bugging of Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate building complex.

Newsweek said Nixon remarked at a meeting in the Oval Office last September with Dean and White House chief of staff H.R. (Bob) Haldeman: "Good job, John. Bob told me what a great job you've been doing." Time said the meeting was among Nixon, Dean and domestic-affairs adviser John D. Ehrlichman and that Nixon said:

"John here tells me you've been doing fine work."

Neither magazine identified its source in announcing that the stories would be published in issues that reach newsstands Monday.

Dole, interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers," said an administration shift toward more liberal, or centrist, policies "might be helpful politically now that some of Nixon's top aides associated with more right-wing policies have left the White House."

Nixon tapped media, says Time

NEW YORK (AP) — Time magazine said Sunday that FBI wiretaps on reporters' telephones were ordered by President Nixon early in 1969 and were stolen from the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's office after Hoover used them to "blackmail" the administration.

Time said it learned the Nixon administration's "willingness to spy, snoop and wiretap" dates back at least to the President's order in 1969 to tap the phones of reporters in an effort to find out how newsmen were learning of military policy discussions.

We're best in the breadbasket

The Daily Iowan has been named the "best all-around student newspaper" in its five-state region by Sigma Delta Chi, a professional journalism society.

And three other DI staff members received individual honors—including a first and second place in news reporting—during the society's Mark of Excellence luncheon and regional conference in Omaha Saturday.

Finishing behind the DI in the competition were the University of Kansas Daily Kansan and the Kansas State Collegian in the SDX region-7 competition. There were 12 entries in the Iowa-Kansas-Missouri-Nebraska-southern Illinois area.

Public Affairs Writer William G. Hladky, A3, 612 E. Court St., nailed down first place in headline news writing, while Assoc. News Editor Nancy Stevens, A4, 109½ S. Clinton St. was runner-up in that category.

Hladky won for articles published in another local newspaper before he joined the DI staff in January as an investigative reporter.

He recently headed up a team of reporters that did an extensive investigation of the University of Iowa Campus Security department.

Stevens has covered both city and university events for the DI during the past two years.

The other DI winner was Feature Editor Barb Yost, A4, 906 E. College, who took third place in editorial writing.

"You've got to credit this to a hard-working staff that hasn't let up all year," DI Editor Steve Baker said. "While we haven't been able to do all that we should have done, we've made solid progress in becoming a university community newspaper."

Baker said a prime goal of this year's DI has been a "consistent interesting day-to-day product, with emphasis on in-depth coverage."

Last November, the DI was one of two campus newspapers in the nation to receive a "blue ribbon" award for community service from the National Editorial Foundation.

Hladky and the DI now move on to Sigma Delta Chi's national competition with other regional first place winners.

$8,000 damage to UI bus in dual explosions Friday

By TOWNSEND HOOPES, III
Sports Editor

Damage estimates to a University of Iowa bus which carried the Hawkeye baseball team to Madison, Wis. for a doubleheader have risen considerably since Friday morning's dual-explosion incident.

No one was injured in the blasts which occurred about 4:30 a.m. Authorities suspect arson and speculate the explosions were related to several other fires in the area Friday.

The bus was parked at the rear of the downtown Madison Howard Johnson Motor Lodge where the UI team was staying.

Earlier media accounts estimated damage to the bus at $1,000, but Iowa head baseball coach Duane Banks told The Daily Iowan Sunday he estimates the damage at between $8,000 and $10,000.

"Apparently, four fire bombs were thrown at the bus," Banks said. "Two of the four struck the back of the bus, causing extensive fire damage to the back (engine compartment), sides and roof."

Banks added that the interior of the bus suffered smoke damage only.

"I was awakened by two explosions," Banks recalled. "I later discovered they were the back tires blowing out."

"At the time, I thought it was someone shooting outside. I was afraid to get up to see what it was—afraid I might get shot."

The motel has been the subject of recent unrest since its construction displaced several hundred Wisconsin students from the previously low-rent neighborhood.

"I think they (the bombs) were meant for the motel and not for us," said Banks. "But for the safety of the kids, I ordered police protection. I wasn't going to take any chances."

"We had a security guard with us at all times for the remainder of our stay in Madison."

The driver of the bus, Vincent J. Kinney, of 723 Oakland Av., Iowa City, said Sunday night that previous damage estimates were "way too low. I'd say possibly between $8,000 and $10,000."

Kinney said he was awakened by Banks early Friday morning, but did not hear any explosions because "I was on my way down in the elevator."

While Kinney made arrangements to return the damaged bus to Iowa City, UI officials hurriedly dispatched a second bus to carry the team to Evanston, Ill. for Saturday's doubleheader against Northwestern.

Said Banks, "after Friday morning, it was difficult to get our minds on baseball."

Knee disarmament near, say Indian militants

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — An agreement for disarmament and further negotiations to end the 68-day occupation of historic Wounded Knee by militant Indians was announced Sunday.

The further discussions are to involve representatives of the White House who will come to the Pine Ridge Reservation.

Deputy Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Richard Hellstern and American Indian Movement (AIM) attorney Ramon Roubideaux jointly announced the agreement and said it is to be effective Wednesday, beginning at 9 a.m. EDT.

At that time the government will remove all armored personnel carriers, while occupants of Wounded Knee are to lay down their weapons, ammunition and explosives.

The agreement calls for the Indians to evacuate their bunkers and assemble at their teepee chapel in the village to surrender their arms to personnel of the Community Relations Service (CRS) of the Justice Department.

The weapons will be processed by government officials, and legal weapons will be returned to their owners within 24 hours, Hellstern and Roubideaux said. CRS personnel will then divide Wounded Knee occupants into three groups — those with outstanding arrest warrants will be taken to nearby Rapid City for legal proceedings; permanent residents will be allowed to return to their homes; and all other occupants will arrange for transportation from the reservation.

The agreement was signed by 11 Oglala Sioux tribal elders and by Hellstern, Interior Department Solicitor Kent Frizzell and director of U.S. Marshal Service Wayne Colburn. Roubideaux said Dennis Banks and Carter Camp, AIM leaders at Wounded Knee since the start of the occupation Feb. 27, did not sign the agreement.

The attorney made public a letter from Banks saying: "I have reviewed the agreement, and find that the document falls outside the protection of the U.S. Constitution. I will submit to the arms laydown because the chiefs and headmen have agreed."

"Also, AIM's job is done here. It must be understood AIM was called on to aid these Oglalas in their struggle against repressive government forces."

To rock or not?

Promoters say yes;
Jones County no

By MARY WALLBAUM
Student Affairs Writer
A conflict of opinions exists between Board of Supervisors members and rock concert promoters on the possibility of holding a Memorial Day weekend rock concert in Jones County.

Louis Hanken, Jones County Board of Supervisors member, said Sunday night that the newly revised county code contains a clause that forbids rock concerts from being held in the county.

"We had to come up with something to head them (Sound Storm Productions Inc., rock concert promoters) off," Hanken said, adding the county attorney has been working on developing a new county code for several months.

Even if county ordinances allowed rock concerts, Hanken said Soundstorm Productions Inc. would have to appear before the Board to obtain a permit for the concert and they have not done so. However, Marvin Gates of Sound Storm Productions said he was in Jones County several weeks ago and could find no ordinance that would forbid holding a rock concert in the non-zoned county.

"Unless they have come up with an ordinance I had no knowledge of, I see no reason how they could stop us," Gates said.

Gates added that a land site was already available for the concert and that he is currently working on concert logistics.

Soundstorm Productions has received no word from county officials at this time that a concert could not be held in the county, Gates said.

Soundstorm Productions promoter Don Bobo had said last week that his attorney would go to Jones County this past week-end to obtain final approval from county officials for holding the concert.

But Hanken said he has never been in contact with any representatives of Soundstorm Productions.

Jones County Board of supervisors chairman Jim Moran added that the board decided "several weeks ago that we are not going to have any concert here."

Although Moran was not willing to state the reasons for the board's decision, Hanken said, "Soundstorm Productions would have to come up with a lot of money for us to hold it here. We don't want to have something here that will cost the taxpayers a lot of money."

Sound Storm earlier had been eying some Johnson County sites but apparently backed off after a restrictive "public displays" code was passed unanimously by the County Board of Supervisors.

Prisoners released to ransom consul; more demands made

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — Mexico fulfilled its bargain with guerrilla kidnapers Sunday by flying 30 freed prisoners safely to Cuba.

But, later, officials said the guerrillas had issued more demands to be met before they would release the U.S. consul general, Terrance G. Leonhardy.

"The situation has become extremely complicated. There are new demands," said Alberto Orozco Romero, governor of Jalisco state. He did not specify the demands.

A short time before, Romero had received a note—apparently from Leonhardy—saying the diplomat was in good health and unharmed.

Another message, by telephone, was received by Ms. Leonhardy—moments after a Cuban Embassy official announced on television that the freed prisoners had arrived safely in Havana.

The kidnapers had promised to release Leonhardy after the television announcement was made. Romero said Ms. Leon-hardy quoted the telephone caller as saying: "You will await instructions at this telephone. We will give you these instructions later."

That was the first time the diplomat's wife had heard anything directly from the kidnapers since her husband was abducted Friday afternoon.

A Mexican air force plane flew the 30 guerrillas and terrorists released from seven widespread jails to Havana Sunday morning as the kidnapers had demanded.

Jorge Reyes Vega, first secretary of the Cuban Embassy, met the final demand by announcing the prisoners' safe arrival on a nationwide radio and television hookup. The kidnapers pledged they would free Leonhardy after such a broadcast.

President Luis Echeverria had ordered the government to meet all demands in order to safeguard the diplomat's life.

Leonhardy, 58, was seized near his suburban home by a revolutionary guerrilla group calling itself the Armed Revolutionary Forces of the People.

Student AMA supports prescription methadone

CHICAGO (AP) — The Student American Medical Association Sunday adopted a resolution favoring the legalization of methadone as a prescription drug and calling for physicians to be trained in the treatment of heroin addicts.

The resolution was one of several adopted at the closing session of the group's three-day convention in Chicago. Others included:

—Setting up a fund to help rebuild bomb-damaged Bach Mai Hospital in Hanoi.

—Calling for clearer distinctions between educational and promotional material related to over-the-counter drugs.

—Seeking formation of a review board for experiments involving human subjects.

Tuna call

Some canned tuna bearing the Chicken-of-the-Sea and Van Camp labels has been removed from Iowa City food stores.

Only those cans bearing the two-line code of a product which may have caused the death of a Moline, Ill. woman are being removed.

A county coroner in Silvis, Ill., said Mildred Rodts, 53, Moline was poisoned by a can of Chicken-of-the-Sea tuna she ate in a salad Wednesday, although government officials say it is too early to tell if the tuna was responsible.

As some of the product involved may have already been sold, consumers are advised to check any cans in stock before use.

The code of the possibly contaminated tuna is:
2H9M3

Anti-Palo

Two environmental groups severely criticized safety aspects of the Duane Arnold Energy Center at Palo in a recent environmental impact hearing.

John Laitner, for Iowa Student Public Interest Research Group (ISPARG), issued a statement in "opposition to the licensing" of the center.

In his statement, Laitner listed a number of inadequacies in papers that have been filed with the Atomic Energy Commission by Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric.

ISPARG criticisms focused mainly on radiation hazards and the reliability of the cooling system.

George W. Brown, vice-chairman of the Iowa Citizens for Environmental Quality, strongly criticized the proposed precautions taken by the plant for the transportation of atomic fuel to Palo.

Returned

The two boys taken from the pediatrics ward at University Hospitals Wednesday night were returned Friday morning.

The boys were allegedly taken from the hospital by relatives of their mother, Doris McDonnell.

The children had been placed in the hospital for observation under court order Wednesday afternoon after law enforcement officials and social services authorities were called to investigate a civil matter in which McDonnell was allegedly beaten by a male acquaintance.

According to Iowa City police, the children were found Thursday by the Iowa Highway Patrol at Ollie, Iowa.

Police indicated Friday that charge of child stealing will not be filed against the two men.

Session more liberal, except with money

Small: Iowa House lacks leadership

By RONALD JENKINS
Legislative Correspondent
DES MOINES—For Art Small, D-Iowa City, this session of Iowa's Sixty-fifth General

Assembly is only "just starting to get into gear." Small, characterizes the earlier part of the session as "extremely slow" due to a lack of House leadership by the Republicans who, although in the majority, have been unable to control members of their own party.

Small said the House is still looking for a "ruling majority." The most distressing aspect of this legislature, Small says, has been the "unwillingness of the Republican leadership to consider the taking up of tax reform measures."

"They have been adamant in their refusal to take up things like making the state personal income tax more progressive and going over the whole corporate tax structure to take the burden off the average wage earner," Small said.

Now in his second year and serving as assistant minority leader, Small said this session is more liberal than others except in fiscal matters.

Tower-sitter seeks child custody

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—As heart-attack victim Larry Wiese continued his protest by refusing to come down from a 700-foot-high television tower Monday, his 28-year-old wife leveled strong criticism against juvenile authorities who removed the couple's three children from their home a week earlier.

"Nobody's safe if this is what they can do," Wyomma Wiese said. "They talk about cruelty to children. What is this county doing to ours?"

"According to Iowa law, there should have been a caseworker here to straighten this out. And there should have been hearings before they took the children."

"This is not right. It could happen to anyone." Polk County Juvenile Court Judge Don Tidrick said the children, ages 5, 7 and 8 years, had been sent to a juvenile home last Monday after an anonymous complaint was received that they were being neglected.

Does the county have the authority to remove the children without a comprehensive investigation and hearing?

"When we get the children back—when all charges have been dropped—then he'll come down," Ms. Wiese said. She said her husband draws a government disability check after suffering a heart attack three years ago. She said Wiese is an Air Force and Army veteran but doesn't know how long he served.

Tidrick said Sunday night he

Small

Small said he expects some of these differences won't be solved on the floor but will be fought out in conference committees.

One area where there could be a difference between House and Senate appropriations is in the Board of Regents's recommendations, Small said, adding that he expects the regents' budget "will be treated with more open-mindedness, because the anti-education feeling that ran so high two years ago is not as prevalent."

"It will probably end up at, or plenty close to, the Governor's budget," he said. "But it could yet fall apart. I don't think the Governor's budget is in any way exorbitant—it could have been a healthier budget."

For the most part, Small's success in getting legislation passed this session has been with carryovers—bills he introduced two years ago as a freshman legislator.

These successes include passage by one or both houses of rent and property tax relief for the elderly, the strict guidelines of the TRACIS bill to control use of computerized information and the creation of the penal ombudsman office.

'Bugs bunny' bidder for state animal post

Daily Iowan News Services
DES MOINES—A much-ballyhooed push to get the ladybug declared as Iowa's official state bug now seems to be doomed, but that hasn't stopped Rep. David Stanley, R-Muscatine, from suggesting that Iowa should also have a state animal.

hope to Iowa communities suffering from population decline.

The rabbit, Stanley claims, would be perfect.

—"The rabbit is a happy and innocent creature, unconcerned with such problems as abortion, bingo and the road use tax"—issues which the legislature has been wrestling.

Reasons for that choice listed in a resolution he reportedly wrote and now circulating at the statehouse—although not filed for legislative consideration—include:

Noting the slow progress of the current legislative session, the resolution says a "public ceremony" to celebrate the rabbit's new title "shall be held immediately after the adjournment of the 1973 session of the General Assembly on Sept. 18, 1973."

—"The silence of the rabbit sets a worthy example for legislators and other politicians."

And the ceremony must involve the state's official rock, tree, flower and bird—and the unofficial bug—as the governor pulls the newly official animal out of a hat belonging to Democratic leader of the legislature, the resolution specifies.

Parking ramps and common sense

Our City Council is neither very enlightened nor very perceptive. They took a look at the results of the April 1972 referendum which soundly defeated the proposed general obligation bonds program to finance the building of a $2 million parking ramp and decided that the defeat meant that the people of Iowa City wanted three ramps costing $8 million instead.

These multi-story ramps are to be part of a capital improvements plan covering the next five years. Land still has to be acquired for two of them. It all goes along with our "thriving" urban renewal program and is considered to be an absolute necessity. The claim is that without the ramps the city will not have enough parking spaces to meet Federal standards. But, 2000 spaces would meet these standards and we have more than 2000 spaces now.

If the Council were to guarantee that all on-street parking would be eliminated by the ramps, more sympathy might develop for the idea. At present, however, no such plans are in the making.

Instead, there will be an overabundance of parking. In fact, there already is. Mass transportation will be pushed into the background and the automobile will be further encouraged.

Environmentally this is unhealthy. Economically it may be disastrous. Not only is it becoming more expensive to drive cars with less than no relief in sight, but those who do drive cars have already shown their explicit preference for a different type of shopping area.

For the Iowa City central business district to think that it will be able to compete with the Mall in its availability of parking space is foolish. The main attraction the Mall offers is free parking facilities. The City can't afford to offer the same.

Furthermore, another shopping center is going to be constructed nearby. Upon its completion the Iowa City business area will be even less in the running for the type of shopper who is attracted to huge shopping centers.

The stores located downtown at the moment mainly cater to students and other University-related people. New downtown stores tend to be in the student business too. The Iowa City Council ought to face up to this reality and make the most of it in the urban renewal efforts.

Downtown cannot be what it is not.

Matter of conscience

To the Editor:

I have completed reading the Vietnam accords, which will probably be viewed by future historians as one of the world's most sordid episodes in all American history.

The question arises why this was not terminated years ago—at least four years ago? Why did they country permit itself to become so callous and confused over the "righteousness" of a war which was illegal because it had never been declared according to our constitutional methods?

Why did we allow the military to instigate new, disgraceful methods of destruction never used before in order to achieve their objective?

Why did we sanction the bombing and killing of millions of helpless, impoverished people and let their fortunes be confiscated? This has resulted in six million refugees, which could become a world problem.

Why did we permit ourselves to be deceived and lied to by elected officials in high command and by an enlarged, uncontrolled military machine which had become too powerful? This was all accomplished through the loss of 45,928 Americans killed in action and 300,000 wounded.

We spent almost $137 billion in defoliating all living things and destroying human life which will never return. The fabulous cost of the war will be added to our national debt for future unborn generations to assume, who played no part in making decisions.

No amount of reparations can compensate for our bombing of the Vietnam countryside by lawless and reckless methods. Divergent opinions at home contributed to dividing this country into irreconcilable factions which brought hatred and harm.

After 11 years of war one shares the bewilderment of the two grandchildren who question their grandfather in the poem "The Battle of Blenheim", by Robert Southey.

"But what good came of it at last?" quoth little Peterkin.

"Why, that I cannot tell," said he;

"But 'twas a famous victory."

If human beings possess a conscience, then this war should haunt us for the remainder of our days.

'OBVIOUSLY ANOTHER LEGITIMATE REACTION BY OUR SEVERELY PROVOKED HERO COMRADES!'

U.S.—Mexican cooperation Scheme to deport illegal aliens revealed

WASHINGTON (LNS)—Recently, cooperation between the Immigration Departments of the United States and Mexico has come to light in an incredible scheme to deport Mexicans who are living illegally inside the U.S. And the "removal" system, as the Immigration authorities call it, has its illegal aspects as well.

Every other night at around midnight, about 120 Mexicans who have been discovered to be in the U.S. illegally are loaded onto buses that carry them three miles to a deserted area southeast of San Diego, opposite the Tijuana airstrip.

The buses drive through a gate in the fence which marks the Mexican border. On the other side of the border, Mexican Immigration officials conduct the Mexicans on to a waiting plane to be flown 1200 miles deep into the interior of Mexico—far from their Mexican homes and from the U.S. border. For this trip the Mexican must pay $39.

All the U.S. government has the legal right to do is to deport illegal aliens out of the U.S. and in the case of Mexicans, just to put them over the border into Mexico. Once the people are over the border, the U.S. has no jurisdiction over them.

Nor does the Mexican government have the legal authority to force those deported by the U.S. into the interior of Mexico since Mexicans who enter the U.S. illegally have broken no Mexican laws in doing so.

However, should these Mexican deportees protest this scheme, they are threatened with a review of their records. If the U.S. Immigration Bureau finds that they have been in the U.S. illegally before, they can be tried and imprisoned for up to two years and fined $1000. So most of them cooperate.

But once the plane is in the air, the airline crew tells the passengers that they can avoid being flown into the interior to be dropped off penniless far from their homes if they are willing to pay off the crew.

The airplane lands back at the Tijuana airstrip. Those who have the money pay the crew, get off the plane and sneak back across the border into the U.S. The rest are flown into the interior of Mexico as previously planned.

This extortion is definitely illegal. Leonard W. Gilman, Southwest regional Immigration Service Commissioner, has sworn before two Federal grand juries recently that U.S. Attorney General

Richard Kleindienst helped set up the "removal" program. Kleindienst however has denied this.

Also implicated in the scheme are John Alessio, a prominent and politically powerful millionaire from San Diego now serving a prison term for tax evasion, and Armando Verdugo, a kingpin of Tijuana vending machines, and a business associate of Alessio.

Somewhere between two and three million Mexicans enter the U.S. illegally each year, mostly in search of work to support their families at home. They provide much of the cheap labor on which the agricultural economy of the Southwest is based.

Because they need work so desperately, they are prime targets for exploitation by growers and city industrialists alike. The fear of deportation makes them willing to put up with below-minimum wages and bad working conditions. And, since they are in the country illegally, they cannot organize or be members of unions, or demand any protection under existing U.S. laws.

Kissinger worried by Watergate

WASHINGTON—The White House staff is in a state of shell shock. But no one is more distressed over the Watergate scandal than Henry Kissinger. He's afraid it will weaken President Nixon at the same time that

He also made a triumphant stop in Warsaw on his way home. The Poles have roped off and made a museum of the room where he signed a Polish-American pact, and have bolted down the chair in which he sat. From Moscow to Peking and Warsaw to Budapest, the Communist leaders talk only of cooperation with Richard Nixon.

They still tend to dismiss the Watergate scandal as an internal matter. But insofar as it weakens the President's authority, Watergate will hamper his conduct of foreign affairs. At the next summit meeting, the weight may be on Brezhnev's side of the table.

by jack anderson

Chairman Leonid Brezhnev is gaining strength inside the Kremlin.

World leaders have a keen sense of power. The President came out of the 1972 election with a landslide victory. This not only meant he would be President for four more years but would be in a strong position to choose his successor. He had reached a pinnacle of power that made him more formidable in foreign affairs.

But now his power has been eroded by the Watergate scandal. World leaders have been quick to sense that the President is slipping, that he is losing his authority to commit the United States.

This coincides with a shake-up inside the Kremlin, which strengthens Brezhnev. He suddenly is stronger and the President weaker for their next face-to-face confrontation in Washington.

The last time they met in Moscow, most of the weight was on Nixon's side of the bargaining table. Those who have had access to the secret accounts of the summit meeting say the President profoundly impressed his hosts. Tourist guides still point to visitors the building where President Nixon stayed.

UIEA comments on disability

Editor's note: Today's Soapbox Soundoff comes from the University of Iowa Employees Association and is by their business manager, Les Chisholm.

This is an attempt to explain the disability insurance policy of the University of Iowa. Not a very exciting topic? Maybe not, but disability insurance is critically important to all University employees. You should and must know what your rights are in terms of disability benefits. Changes in policy need to be made, but first you have to understand present policy.

What is Disability? The Total Disability Insurance Program is intended to provide a regular income (until age 65) for any University worker who becomes totally disabled. To be eligible, you have to be enrolled in the program and have a doctor's statement certifying that you are in fact "unable to perform any work for wage or profit." The length of time one is disabled will depend upon the type of work one performs and the nature of the disabling injury or illness. For example, a person who breaks a leg may only be out a few months at most, while one who suffers a heart attack may have to be off the job for a year or more. Even with a doctor's statement, the insurance company will conduct an investigation of the case before authorizing disability payments, but in practice the doctor's judgment is honored.

Who is Eligible? For purposes of Disability Insurance, University workers are segregated into Groups I and II. Group I is defined as those with an annual salary of $7500 or more. Group II as those with an annual salary of less than $7500. The major difference in treatment of these two groups is in basic coverage. Workers who fall into Group II are not eligible to participate in the Disability program until they have been employed by the University in continuous service for 3 or more years. During the first three years of employment, they do not pay into the program nor are they eligible for benefits should they become disabled.

Why is this distinction made? Because the workers of Group II are more likely to be injured on the job and thus more likely to need the benefits of Disability Insurance. Thus, to include Group II people would increase the cost of the program, so instead Group II is excluded for three years.

What do you get? Disability does not pay you your full monthly income. Instead, it pays a percentage of that income (which, of course, means the payments will be inadequate, since salaries here are inadequate to begin with).

When a person is eligible to receive disability benefits, payments will be 75 per cent of regular salary for the first three months. After that, the payments range from 12 per cent to 60 per cent of salary, depending upon the number of completed years of continuous service. If one is disabled due to work-related injury, then eligibility for Workmen's Compensation can be established. This will not add to your total benefits, however, because any money received for Workmen's Compensation will lessen, dollar for dollar, disability payments.

When do you get it? You can begin to collect disability payments following the 112th working day that you have been disabled. You will also receive payments for the previous 22 working days, but you do not collect any benefits until the 112th day. Before this time, you will be eligible to receive sick leave pay up to the total of your accumulated sick leave (which can be no more than 90 days, of course). Medical bills will be paid out of any health insurance policies you hold.

How do you get it? As soon as you become disabled, contact the Payroll Office for the necessary forms. Payroll will assist you with the paperwork. (UIEA will also help if you wish). The insurance company is then responsible for processing your claim, checking with your doctor. They will run a routine check to verify your disability. The frequency that they repeat the check will vary with the type and duration of the disability.

What does it cost? The worker pays an annual premium, deducted in monthly installments, which is computed thusly: $7.20 for each $1000 annual salary. Thus, someone who earns $5000 a year, will pay in $36.00. The University estimates that the workers pay one-third of the total cost of the program, with the University picking up the rest of the cost.

Are there any other inequities? Yes, and again the folks in Group I benefit. The insurance company keeps the funds and records of Groups I and II separate. The "experience rate," that is, the frequency of claims, of Group I is often so low that they receive a dividend. This past year, Group I received approximately 72 per cent of what they had paid into the program. There have been occasions when they got back more than they paid. For at least the last 5 years, Group II has received no dividends. The rich get richer, and the poor get poorer.

Summary. UIEA compiled the above information through careful reading of University policy and several discussions with University administrators. This fact sheet was done because several University employees asked questions regarding the University's Disability Program. We hope this answers any questions you have. If not, or if your experience contradicts what we have said, please let us know. Contact UIEA at 354-1001 for questions about this or any other University policy.

Chart key

By the Survival Services Staff
The methodology for The Daily Iowan-Student Legal Services price survey is:
—Items are randomly selected from the total list of items used by the federal government in compiling the monthly Consumer Price Index. The list is varied to account for differing regional preferences and availabilities.
—A pure total of the items is not an accurate reflection of the stores' standings. Items are "weighted" according to the importance to the consumer. This weighting is the same as that used by the federal government.

—To minimize distortion due to variations in quality in such items as produce and meat, the survey sets up specific guidelines for keeping the characteristics of these items as consistent as possible. These guidelines are strictly followed by our researcher.

Bilingual and bicultural rulings confuse citizens

MIAMI (AP) — Dade County has been officially declared bilingual and bicultural, but no one is really quite sure what it means.
"I really don't know," confessed Dade County Mayor Jack Orr, who should have because it was his resolution which the county commission adopted recently.
"But we'll almost certainly have all street and office signs printed in both English and Spanish and have bilingual people in all the government offices," Orr said.
"And we should have county tests, such as contractors' qualifying exams, in both Spanish and English," he added.
The resolution called for creation of a division of bilingual and bicultural affairs in the county manager's office to implement the proposal.
County Manager Ray Goode said that he wasn't sure who he would appoint to the agency or just what its duties would be.
Despite the uncertainty, the Miami area's huge Latin colony of 300,000—90 per cent of whom are expatriate Cubans—was delighted by the decision. They considered it a victory in a campaign seeking better local government services for the Spanish-speaking.
The prime mover behind the resolution, Cuban-born banker Bernardo Benes, told the commission, "Today is a beautiful day for Dade County and its Spanish-speaking people. You are making official what is already a fact of life, that Dade County is already a bicultural county."
Dr. Carmen Marina, director of Biscayne College's Bilingual Institute, says many Cubans "are realizing that this is their home, and they want to participate in the community. But when you don't speak the language you are shut off—completely."

The few criticisms expressed have come primarily from private citizens, some of them anonymous letter writers to Orr, and the commission. Some people sympathetic to the Latin community believe the resolution will further discourage some Spanish-speaking residents from learning English.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A strike by broadcasting engineers against the Pulitzer Publishing Co., which forced the cancellation of the Saturday and Sunday editions of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, ended Sunday afternoon when the union members ratified a new three-year contract.
Members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 4 walked off the job Saturday morning at Pulitzer's broadcasting stations, KSD-TV and KSD radio and set up pickets at the studios and newspaper building.

Going hungry in U.S.
Study: food programs miss half

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Hunger Committee said Sunday that federal food programs are serving only half the nation's poor.
The Midwest appears to be most lax in seeing that federally subsidized food programs get to their residents subsisting in poverty, the committee said, while Southern states, pinpointed as the worst offenders five years ago, are now much more responsive.
The staff of the committee prepared current statistical profiles on counties showing the number of poor and how many are helped by either surplus commodity distribution or by food stamps.
The comparison with a pioneer 1968 hunger study by a Citizens' Board of Inquiry into Hunger and Malnutrition showed only a minimal drop in counties considered to be offering inadequate anti-poverty food programs.
In 1968, there were 280 such counties; in 1973, there are 263.
The report estimated the number of poor persons at 13.7 per cent of the nation's population, or 26.7 million, and said 48 per cent of these persons received no food assistance of any kind, despite assurances in recent years from the Department of Agriculture that the "food gap" was being closed.
The report said great progress had been made in the years since the conclusions were made public by the Hunger USA report of 1968—that congressionally mandated federal food programs were not being used by hundreds of counties are still rated as "hunger counties," the report said.

In 1967, the federal food stamp and donated foods programs served only 5.4 million persons, provided very limited benefits and varied widely in administration, the Hunger Committee report noted.
The spotlight put on the original "hunger counties" and greatly expanded federal programs has brought a dramatic tripling in the number of persons benefitting, the report said, but there is much still to be done and no time for self-congratulations.
The committee report noted that states such as West Virginia, Alabama and Mississippi have relatively few jobs available and have a lower than average standard of living.
"But they are also states in which a clear effort has been made to get the food assistance to the eligible poor," the report said.
"By contrast, states such as Iowa, Nebraska and Wisconsin have numbers of counties doing a poor job of providing food assistance but few or no counties in the poverty column (with above average numbers of poor persons)," the report said.

Buying a home

I will be buying a house soon, and am unfamiliar with how to go about this venture sensibly. Is there a text or guide available which tells all a person needs to know about buying a house?

S.B.

Buying a house is a major undertaking, and you're wise to read up first. SURVIVAL LINE spoke with Judy Kelley, reference librarian at the Iowa City Public Library, who told us that the library has quite a few pamphlets and other literature on this subject. In addition, the library carries Consumer Reports, which is one of the most reliable sources of information for consumers. Most of the library's home-buying literature can be checked out for your use at home.

Iowa Book and Supply stocks a book entitled, How to Judge A House by A.M. Watkins (published by Hawthorne). This should contain most of the information you will need. If it is not in stock, you may place an order for the book at Iowa Book.

Another source of information is the Iowa City Consumer Watchdog Service. Ms. Jean Tester is in charge of this, and her phone number is 337-5075.

Food survey puzzlement

In last week's DI food survey I noticed that A&P and Star Food were shown as being tied. I realize that for most items their prices were quite similar, but what of the fact that Star was so much cheaper than A & P on both the bread and milk? E.M.

Simple, really.

It is true that on those heavily-weighted (high importance) items, bread and milk, Star was lower by 17 cents and 8 cents respectively.

But if you check the prices on the two fresh meat products surveyed, pork chops and round steak, which are of somewhat less importance in a market basket than bread and milk, you will find that Star was higher by 24 cents and 16 cents respectively on those.

The prices on the remainder of the items surveyed at the two stores were more or less in balance. Thus the tie rating.

We should mention that the Star price on the pork chops, as noted in the published chart, was for loin chops, as versus the rib chops priced at the other stores. When the survey was made on that Wednesday afternoon, rib chops were unavailable at Star so the loin chops were priced, as a shopper wanting to buy pork chops at Star would have had to take loin chops. Even if we were to adjust (which the federal study, and hence the DI-SLS study, doesn't) for the traditional 10 cents a pound premium that loin chops cost over rib chops, the Star price would still be 14 cents a pound higher than A&P's, a rather significant difference.

SURVIVAL phones silent

SURVIVAL LINE's phones will not be ringing again until June. SURVIVAL LINE will continue to appear daily through May 16, however. During this period our staff will continue to work on the avalanche of your problems and questions that currently has us inundated.

Should you have a problem that can't wait until our phones start ringing again in June, write to us at Communications Center, Iowa City, and we'll try to help.

SURVIVAL GOURMET

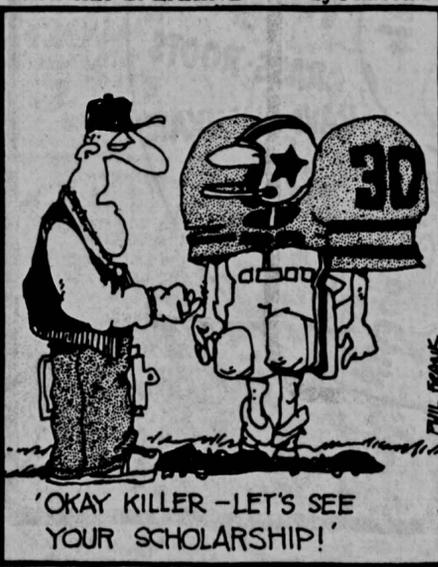

Your contributions to SURVIVAL LINE's Survival Gourmet are earnestly solicited. Send your recipes, one to a card or page, (and, hopefully, typed) to Tummy-Ache, The Daily Iowan, Iowa City, Iowa.

A gobble-gobble version of the elegant beef Wellington is today's Survival Gourmet recipe. The ground turkey adds a new flavor dimension, and it is economical too. This is an excellent dish to serve to guests.

TURKEY RING

Grate 1/2 small onion, 1 c. diced carrots, and add to 1 lb. ground turkey, and brown in skillet. Add 1 egg (beaten), 1/2 tsp. mace (optional), 1 tsp. salt, and 1/4 tsp. pepper. Cool thoroughly. Make a box of prepared biscuit dough. Roll into rectangle 9"x15" and about 1/4" thick. Spread with meat mixture. Roll up like jelly roll. Make roll into circle by bringing ends together. Place on baking sheet. With scissors cut half through ring at one-inch intervals. Brush with milk. Bake at 400 degrees for 30 min. Fill center with peas and serve with gravy made by heating 1 can cream of celery soup. Serves 6.

Christ lives again

'John Baptist is a freaky preacher at the Coralville Reservoir'

By BARB YOST
Feature Editor

If Jesus Christ were alive today, he'd have been born in a mobile home in Bondurant, Iowa, feed the 5,000 at Woodstock on hotdogs, and be accused of homosexuality.

Duane Schmidt, 1954 University of Iowa graduate in dentistry, decided there was "an enormous gap between people involved in the Christian movement, and the established church. I wondered why."

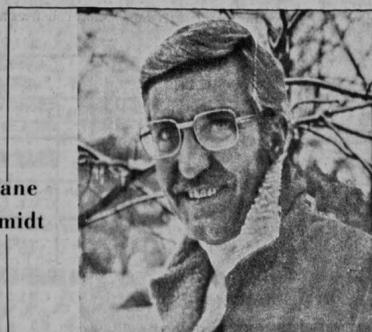

He explained he "wanted to parallel the life of Jesus Christ in modern times," and so he wrote The Late J.C. The book gives a chronical of Christ's life, from 1939 to 1972, with newspaper clippings and other accounts of what his life would be like today. From a simple birth announcement on page 2 of the Des Moines Register to an editorial eulogizing on his life and death, it relates events and anecdotes such as his cure of a Viet Nam victim, the restoration of an 8 year old girl hit by a car, and turning water into champagne at a friend's wedding.

John Baptist is a hippy preacher at the Coralville Reservoir.

Jesus Christ International (JCI), of which Christ is president, is staffed with 12 vice presidents: Rocky Peters, Jim and Jack Zebedeo, Andy Simon, Phil Six, Bart Hollomew, Jim Alpheus, and his son Judas.

Duane Schmidt

Sam Patriot, Matt Hew, and Tom Nail.

In the end, Christ is tried in New York City by district attorney Homer Pilate, and then murdered by a sniper. A few days later, he shows up back in Iowa to have lunch with his mother, Ms. Mary Davidson.

Schmidt, 43, did his research by reading several versions of the New Testament, talking to Drake Newman Community priests, and discussing Christ's life with ministers. He said he had no trouble finding a parallel to Bethlehem—"Iowa was the perfect place. It's a nothing state."

After graduating from Iowa, Schmidt went to Fort Dodge where he practiced dentistry for twelve years. He now practices part time in Newton, and is planning more books. "I've got more in the works," he said.

The Late J.C. is being released nationally, and he's currently on a midwestern publicity tour to speak on and discuss his book. He has also been asked to preach in several churches.

The whole reason for writing the book, he said, was to see what Christ would be like if he lived today.

"At first I thought he would support established religion. But as I checked and did research, I realized that wasn't true. Christ would be appalled at what's happening today in his name, such as the materialism of Christianity, the Irish revolts where Protestants and Catholics are attempting to kill each other off. Churches are social organizations and country clubs."

"People of the Jesus movement are criticized for saying that earning a huge pile of bread is not important. It's a Jesus generation gap."

"Christ is either God in man or the greatest fraud that ever lied. In The Late J.C., you still have to make your own choice."

And as J.C. himself said at Woodstock, "Remember, brothers and sisters, a trip with Jesus is an upper you'll never forget."

MORE FLOODING. U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) said last week that he thought impeachment proceedings were a sure bet if President Nixon is pretty firmly implicated in the Watergate mess. He says he doesn't care who's at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave., but "it's got to be kept clean." P.S. Goldwater doesn't think Nixon did it. Meanwhile, Charles Morgan, Jr., one of the Watergate prosecutors, told a Kansas audience last week that the Checkers boy's "days are numbered." "I make the flat prediction that he will be impeached or will resign," Morgan said. "He is guilty." Some people in D.C. are reportedly bringing out old "Nixon's the One" buttons. Heh, heh.

&+!&. Bob Fosse, Oscar winner for the direction of Cabaret, is now set to do the film biography of the late comedian and badmouth satirist Lenny Bruce. A nightclub comic named Sandy Baron is reported running in the lead for the part, but Fosse may still turn to Joel Grey, supporting actor winner for Cabaret. MCHALE'S IGLOO. Maybe it's hype, but Ernest Borgnine is telling people that his most gratifying film role since Marty (back in the '50's) is as a railroad cop toughie in Emperor of the North Pole. Lee Marvin stars, too, as a hobo.

GOT A FEW EXTRA BUCKS? $110 to $170 will get you a ticket to the September Isle of Man jazzfest. It headlines Duke Ellington, Woody Herman and a host of others. It's also in England and is the first major jazz marathon in the British Isles. By the way, you can see Ellington at Hancher for as low as 50 cents a student ticket later this month.

NO MORE THREE DOG NIGHT. If you're heading off to Cuba this summer, don't count on hearing your favorite rockers on the airwaves there. U.S. and British pop and folk singers have been banned from Cuban radio so there'll be a bigger market and more interest in native Cuban performers.

KIDSTUFF. You Saturday morning hard core cartoon freaks got some new stuff coming your way next fall. NBC offers an animated Star Trek, Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kids (plural), and the Addams Family, while CBS is counting on My Favorite Martian to offset ABC's new biggie dogger (Lassie's Rescue Rangers). Oughtta be a gas, but don't worry, civilization has been saved. The Brady Kids are back.

PARTRIDGES MEET THE LIONS. In an apparent attempt to kill off The Partridge Family, ABC has put the little birds opposite All in the Family next fall. This has made Dave Madden (who plays the group's manager) kind of upset. "Our only hope lies in the continuation of the writer's strike, which is preventing new shows from being created," Madden says. "We could add lib better plots than we usually get." But Madden says they may be able to attract part of the audience away from Family. "Archie Bunker is a product of ignorance and immaturity," he said. "Hell, our show is filled with ignorance and immaturity." And David Cassidy singing, too. Yuk.

IN HOT WATER. Lipton Tea is in a brew with the Media Access Project. Seems Lipton withdrew its ads on Maude when the All in the Family spinoff started talking about marijuana and abortion in its jokes because Maude no longer had the "environment for our products." A Project letter questioned why "brisk" Lipton tea can "be marketed only in a bland environment."

THANKS. Hats off to C.O.D. Steam Laundry for bringing in Wilderness Road, with their comedy-rock act. Let's hope this is the beginning of getting many more outside regional-national bookings into local bars.

CONTEST OF THE WEEK. Atlanta area high schoolers have been competing in the "America, Why I Love Her" essay contest. It's a promo deal for John Wayne's new RCA album. Let's see, now, let me count the ways.

Abroad? Get a mug shot Europe: passports, visas

This is the last in a series on European travel, prepared by the University of Iowa Office of International Education and Services. For more information, call the office, 353-6249.

If you plan to drive a car while in Europe, check with the local American Automobile Association, 1070 William Street, Iowa City, about the licensing procedures in the countries you plan to visit. The local AAA can provide you with an International Drivers Permit if you have a U.S. license, $3 and two billfold or passport photos.

Money

Most people advise using travellers checks when going abroad since they can be exchanged for local currency easily in most cities and if lost or stolen can be reissued. The usual charge for $100 in travellers checks is $1 i.e. 1 per cent of the total amount. Some banks issue at no extra charge. The key to deciding on the type of travellers check is how many branches the issuing agency has abroad, in case your checks are lost or stolen. However, for cashing them, most banks will readily do it as will many restaurants, hotels and stores. Sometimes the rate of exchange is better in banks than in hotels or restaurants while some stores even give discounts for travellers checks.

Two sources of free information on exchange rates, are Values and Measures Throughout the World. Secretariat, Swiss Bank Corporation, 15 Nassau Street, N.Y., N.Y. 10005; Are you Planning a Trip to Another Country? Perera Co. Inc., 636 Fifth Ave., N.Y., N.Y. 10020, available only at their office but a copy will shortly be available at the Office of International Education, 214 Jessup Hall. In Europe, most air, train or ship terminals have offices where you can buy local currencies.

Passports

You need a United States Passport if you are going abroad this summer. It can be applied for locally at the Post Office and costs $12 (money orders will be processed faster than personal checks). Bring along proof of your citizenship (a certified copy of your birth certificate is best but other things like a certified baptismal certificate are accepted). If you are a naturalized citizen, your naturalization papers are necessary. Also needed are 2 recent photographs (2 1/2 inches square with a white background) and identification (a drivers license, selective service card or UI student ID card). If you have all these things in order, the minimum time to wait for your passport will be 9-14 days.

Visas

For visits of less than 3 months, U.S. citizens do not require visas in Western Europe. Visits to Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia and East Germany do require visas in advance while Romania, Hungary (usually) and Bulgaria issue visas at the border. For further information, you can write to each country's embassy or tourist office. Address lists are available in the OIES.

Tourist literature

Both the Harvard Guide Let's Go and the Council on International Exchange's Guide Whole World Handbook lists the state tourist offices of all the European countries. These will often provide you with free literature. Many countries have sent the OIES such literature if you're interested in browsing.

Lecturer to explain how to develop an inner peace, ESP

Inner Peace will be explained and demonstrated at the Carousel Inn, Iowa City. The Inner Peace Movement is "a personal development program with tools for effective living."

It includes in its program an awareness of extra-sensory perception. The lectures and demonstration will be conducted by Bob Stolling, a board member of the movement. Included in the lecture will be a discussion of "energy, how you can use your own energy, self-awareness, bringing into balance your thought and feeling" according to Carol Atkins, IPM assistant state administrator of north Texas. "Stolling will be discussing man and the universe—where he's come from, where he's going, and what he's doing here. He'll also be speaking about the means of communication we use—the sixth sense, which some people refer to as the psychic, intuition, hunches. He talks about it in the different aspects, how people can develop it." The first session, Tuesday, will be only a lecture, at a charge of $1.50, and Wednesday will be a lecture and clinic for $3, "to compensate for travel and clinic expenses." The lecture will be an explanation of the movement by Stolling, and the Wednesday clinic will be a demonstration of the philosophies and techniques, and a demonstration of ESP.

Folks at the inn aren't too freaky

As long as film viewers continue to pay money and spend time in film houses, moviemakers will continue to exploit film. Thus, The Folks At Red Wolf Inn comes to Cinema I & II. In this particular film, the filmmaker is never certain whether he is making a "horror spoof" or expects us to take his cheap thrills seriously. He finally settles for simple exploitation.

With the price of meat being what it is today, the folks at the inn have decided to protest in their own peculiar way. Linda suddenly finds she is on the menu. Now that I have spoiled the ten minutes of suspense contained in this film you won't have to go see it. Seriously, don't spend your time or money on this film. Go see The Emigrants, or any number of other good films around town.

Giants sweep Cubs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Chris Speier drove in a pair of runs with a triple and a single, boosting San Francisco to a 4-3 victory and a sweep of Sunday's doubleheader with the Chicago Cubs.

The Giants won the fight-scarred opener 11-9 on Bobby Bonds' 12th-inning homer.

Jim Willoughby, 3-2, won the second game on Speier's timely hitting and a run-scoring single by rookie Mike Phillips off loser Larry Gura which broke a 11 tie in the fourth.

Heated words were exchanged after Pappas came close to hitting Barr with the first pitch. Dave Rader scored all the way from first on the wild pitch while the players stood around arguing on the infield.

CHICAGO (AP) — Wilbur Wood became major league baseball's first seven-game winner and Bill Melton drove in four runs as the Chicago White Sox won their ninth straight game with an 11-2 rout of the New York Yankees Sunday.

The winning streak is the longest in the American League this year and the longest for the White Sox since 1967.

West hurt; Knicks grab series lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Willis Reed scored 22 points and Earl Monroe contributed 21 as the New York Knicks held off the Los Angeles Lakers for an 87-83 victory Sunday and gained a 2-1 lead in their National Basketball Association championship playoff series.

Game No. 4 in the best-of-7 set will be played Tuesday night at Madison Square Garden.

The Knicks, ice-cold in their shooting in their first half, rallied in the second half to overcome the Lakers, who were hampered by the loss of high-scoring Jerry West. The Lakers' leading scorer through the first two games with a 28-point average sat out the entire final period with a pulled groin muscle.

West got only one point in the third quarter.

The Lakers' 83 points was their lowest in their playoff history. Their previous low was 88 against the Boston Celtics in an 89-88 setback on April 29, 1969.

The game's drama unfolded in the closing minutes when the Lakers cut a New York lead of 10 points early in the fourth period to only two, 85-83, on Keith Erickson's layup with 55 seconds remaining.

The Lakers then regained the ball 19 seconds later when Reed was called for a traveling.

Los Angeles called time out, then set up a play in which Erickson took a jumper from the left side. The ball bounced off the back rim and Reed recovered.

The Knicks held on until Walt Frazier was fouled with two seconds to play. He sank both free throws, sealing the victory.

The Knicks took charge in the third quarter, outscoring Los Angeles 25-13, holding the Lakers to one basket in the final eight minutes of the period.

New York forged ahead for

Normally placid Wilt Chamberlain blew his cool during Sunday's third NBA playoff game between Chamberlain's Los Angeles Lakers and the New York Knicks. Chamberlain let off a little steam at official Jack Madden (7). In the end, Madden had the last word and the Knicks won 87-83 to take a 2-1 margin in the best-of-seven championship series.

Cards blanked

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Al Downing stopped St. Louis on two hits and Joe Ferguson slammed his sixth home run as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Cardinals 3-0 Sunday.

The only hits allowed by Downing was a sixth-inning single by losing pitcher Alan Foster and a scratch, double in the eighth by Ray Busse.

Brewers 3-2

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Solo home runs by Darrell Porter in the eighth inning and Johnny Briggs in the fifth backed Jerry Bell's four-hit pitching Sunday and carried the Milwaukee Brewers to a 3-2 victory over the Kansas City Royals.

Porter had only one hit in his previous 13 times at bat when he smashed a pitch from Dick Drago into the right-center field bleachers, breaking a 2-2 deadlock.

Astros hot

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Watson brought Houston from behind with a three-run homer in the sixth inning and Lee May's grand slam highlighted a seven-run explosion in the seventh as the red-hot Astros buried the New York Mets 14-8 Sunday.

The Astros, winning their eighth straight game, used long-ball power to wipe out an early 7-3 New York lead.

A's sweep

CLEVELAND (AP) — Home runs by Deron Johnson, Gene Tenace and Sal Bando powered the Oakland A's to a 7-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians Sunday and a sweep of their double header.

Johnson's first American League homer, Tenace's eighth and Bando's sixth accounted for five runs and provided Vida Blue with his second victory.

Ken Holtzman scattered five hits in winning the opener 12-0 for his fifth triumph. He was backed by 18 hits, including Joe Rudi's fourth homer.

IM Corner

By Bob Denney

You try and schedule a softball tournament before finals to relieve the pre-battle pressure, you stage an outdoor track meet to help teams gather needed points, and you look forward to ending the year with a dramatic race to the team title but find everything's gone against you.

That's the way IM Coordinator Warren Slebos must have felt as the final two events (softball and track) on the IM calendar were rained heavily upon under the skies at Finkbine Field.

Today's finals of the softball tournament are scheduled for 4:15 p.m. If the remaining die-hards finish it out—it's a miracle.

Co-ed kings, the Easy Hitters meet the Mulls for their title match; the Furlongs (of basketball fame) swat it out with Future Generations Past for the fast-pitch crown, and four teams (unknown at press time) are trying to finish their slow-pitch battles before the final exams finish them.

"It's really discouraging to have so much bad weather," Slebos said Sunday. "The early school year coupled with the May showers have been killers. Despite it all, it was a most successful year."

With record turnouts in most of the year's events, Slebos can relax at home with a warm cup of coffee for intramurals has grown a bit more.

EMMING: Last Thursday's outdoor track meet should have been held indoors. The rains forced but one day's activity for the meet.

Phi Kappa Sigma's Jim Rizzuti turned in the finest all-round performance with victories in the 120 low hurdles (:13.7), the 60 high hurdles (:07.5), and the grueling pentathlon.

Rizzuti was one of six to enter the demanding pentathlon. His showing included: placing third in the shot put with a toss of 31-31½; leaping to second in the long jump with a 20-1½ effort; running a :07.7 60 high hurdles for a first; capturing the mile run at 5:03.7, and winning the 100 yard dash in :10.9. Needless to say, it was Rizzuti's day.

The remaining six events saw independent Bob Wiese win the mile in a fine 4:54.0 time. Delta Sigma Delta's Steve Gerkin won the 440 yard run with a :51.9 clocking, teammate Rick Nielsen strode into first with a :10.4 effort in the 100 yard dash. Alpha Kappa Kappa won the 440-yard relay in :48.0; team member Greg Paulson helped out with a first in the football throw, by lofting the pigskin 196-7. The Delta Sigs came back in the meet's finale with a 1:38.2 finish in the 880 relay.

The long jump, high jump, and shot put were cancelled due to the rain. The IM track records set included: Nielsen's 100 yard dash of :10.4 breaking Mark Urchek's 1972 time (:10.5).

Steve Gerkin's 440 run mark in :51.9, compared to Mike Kitchell's 1971 :53.0 performance, and AKK's Paulson setting a record in the football throw,

Big 10 titles hopes vanish, Hawks suffer 1-3 weekend

By TOWNSEND HOOPES, III
Sports Editor

Iowa's baseball team met with misfortune and extinction from the Big Ten title race as it bowed twice to Wisconsin on Friday, and could manage only a split with the Wildcats of Northwestern Saturday in Evanston.

The defending champion Hawkeyes dropped to 6-8 in conference play and 14-12 overall, with twin bills against Illinois and Purdue remaining (May 18-19).

Iowa's dual loss to the Badgers marked the third consecutive "Black Friday" during the '73 campaign, and followed an early morning blast which resulted in extensive damage to the Hawks' mode of transportation, a university bus.

The hexed Hawkeyes jumped out to an early 5-1 lead in the Madison opener, only to have the game knotted at 5-5 through five complete innings.

The tie-breaker came in the bottom of the seventh with Badger runners on first and second and Frank Sims on the hill in relief of starter Jimmy Linn.

A routine ground ball, which would have sent the contest into

Good and bad news for netters

By DICK DE JONG
Staff Writer

The Iowa tennis team came out of the weekend with one win, one loss AND one very good chance of being the second best team in the Big Ten.

The bridesmaid's role in the Big Ten is not too bad considering Michigan, the bride, is ranked No. 5 in the nation.

The whole weekend of tennis action reports like a "good news—bad news" comedy act.

The routine starts on Friday when the Hawkeyes beat Michigan State, 6-3, (good news) but on Saturday, Michigan pummeled the Hawk netters, 7-2, (bad news).

But good news, two matches is the most won this season from Michigan by a Big Ten team, all the other Wolverine opponents have been blanked.

On Friday, the skit begins to take shape in the No. 1 singles match pitting Rod Kubat of Iowa against the Spartan's Rick Better.

The confrontation seasawed from bad to good as Vetter took the first set, winning a tiebreaker. Kubat countered with a strong second set victory. But Kubat dropped the dead-even third set when he double faulted match point.

The final good news for the Hawks Friday came in the No. 1 doubles match. But that little drama seemed like bad news for a moment. Kubat and Ian Phillips, who had been in the hospital with a kidney stone attack earlier in the week, had lost their first set to Vetter and Larry Stark but rebounded to take the second.

Vetter and Stark had the Hawk duo on the ropes in the third set leading 5-4 and 40-15 in the tenth game, needing only one winning serve to cop the match.

The Spartan pair seemed to have won that victory point when Stark spiked a return from the net, bad news. But Stark also hit the net with his racket giving the point to the Hawks.

Kubat and Phillips went on from that point to break the Spartans' serve, take their own and then break again to win the match. But, alas, Iowa's Steve Dickinson and Bruce Nagel finished the day by dropping their doubles match after they both had won convincingly in singles.

Saturday belonged to Michigan with its showcase of impressive freshmen headed by Victory Amaya ranked fourth nationally.

Amaya began the day, that saw all of Iowa's 14-meet victory string collapse, by beating Rod Kubat with a cannon serve coming from his six foot five frame.

Kubat looked as if he could crack Amaya's composure, but the Wolverine was too strong and won the match in straight sets.

The most exciting match Saturday occurred at No. 4 singles which pitted Dickinson against Michigan's Dick Ravreby.

Craig Petra had just won Iowa's only singles match and Dickinson's was the final singles match to be decided. If Dickinson wins his match, Iowa will be down 4-2 with a chance to win the meet with three victories in the doubles.

extra frames, got by shortstop Brad Trickey and allowed the winning run to cross the plate.

In the nightcap, Iowa hurler Mark Ewell (3-4) was touched for 11 hits in the first three innings, giving the Badgers a commanding 6-1 advantage.

The Hawkeye's could manage only three hits in the entire game—one a solo home run by catcher Bobby Elliott in the fifth inning, his second.

Iowa's only other run came in the opening frame when Tom Hilinski was issued a free pass, stole second, went to third on Dave Marshall's fly ball to left-center field, and scored on a sacrifice fly by Jeff Elgin.

Badger centerfielder Tom Shipley maintained his blistering league-leading hitting pace (.448) as he went four-for-seven in Friday's combined action.

On Saturday, the Hawks exploded for six runs in the eighth inning of the opener to blitz Northwestern, 12-7, as Dan Dalziel seven-hit the Wildcats to earn his fourth victory in five outings.

After allowing NU a 2-0 margin in the second inning the Hawkeyes batted around in the fourth, collecting four runs on a two-run single by Trickey, a bases-loaded walk to first baseman Steve Stumpff, and a Wildcat throwing error.

Bryan Jones' two-run homer in the fifth—his second of the season—gave Iowa a 6-2 advantage. But the 'Cats countered with four runs in the sixth to knot the test.

In the nightcap, the Hawks powered their way to 2-0 and 4-8 margins on the strength of seven hits, but Iowa hurlers could not stem the tide as they issued 13 walks while allowing only four Wildcat hits.

Through five frames, starter Jim Wise had one-hit the Wild-

First six events power Hawks Cretz' marauders squelch Wildcats

By GREG LUND
Staff Writer

Freshman Gary Ladick won the shot put and the discus Saturday, leading the Iowa track team to an 82-62 dual meet victory over Northwestern.

Ladick tossed the shot 46-3½ to win the event and then came back to fling the discus 138-3 to defeat teammate Jim Jensen.

A strong southerly wind prevented the athletes from showing better performances during the meet, according to Iowa head track coach Francis Cretzmeier.

"The wind was a nuisance," said Cretzmeier, "but everybody did a good job for us."

The Hawkeyes won the first six events and seemed to have an insurmountable lead. The Wildcats, however, won seven of the last nine to pull closer to the Iowa total.

Tom Loechel started Iowa's victory string in the first running event of the afternoon, winning the 3,000 meter steeplechase in 9:36.2. Teammate Jim Knoedel finished third in the race.

One of the most exciting races of the afternoon was the 440-yard relay. The Iowa team (Al Matthews, Rod Wellington, Don Adams and Dick Eisenlauer) lead most of the way, but the final 110 yards was a race between Eisenlauer and Northwestern's highly touted Ted Edwards. Eisenlauer just nipped Edwards at the tape as both teams were clocked at 42.4.

Iowa captain John Clark came on to win the mile run against the wind in 4:07.7. Later, Clark ran the half-mile but did not finish in the top three.

"John had worked real hard on Thursday," said Cretzmeier, "he was pretty tired after winning the mile."

The wind also affected Bill Knoedel as he won the high jump at six feet, six inches.

"By the time I got up to the bar I felt like I was walking," the Iowa City freshman said.

An upset was recorded in the 440-yard run as Eisenlauer was nipped at the tape by NU's Gerald Smith, who won the quarter in a :48.8 clocking. Eisenlauer had finished ahead of Smith at the Big Ten indoor championships in March.

Mike Fiesler won the 120-yard high hurdles in :15.4, drawing praise from the Hawkeye mentor.

"Mike was sick and running against the wind," said Cretz.

The three-mile run ended in a tie as Iowa's Jay Sheldon and Morrison Reid linked hands with 50 yards to go to break the tape at the same time. The Hawks completed a sweep of the event as Steve Holland finished third.

Rounding out the list of Iowa winners was sophomore pole vaulter Dave Nielsen who outdueled Northwestern's all-around cinderman, Rolfe Jeremus.

The versatile Jeremus competed in four events for the Wildcats, winning none, but picking up eight points.

The meet was Iowa's last competition until the Big Ten championships in Minneapolis, May 18-19.

"We weren't real concerned with the times in the meet," Cretzmeier said. "The time to get them down is at the conference meet."

Splash and go

Montreal, 4-0

CHICAGO (AP) — Second-period goals by Yvan Cournoyer and Chuck LeFley in a span of 90 seconds powered Montreal to a 4-0 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks Sunday and gave the Canadiens a commanding 3-1 lead in the best-of-7 Stanley Cup finals.

Goalie Ken Dryden, the Vezina Trophy winner, kicked out only 19 Chicago shots to earn his first playoff shutout.

The scene now shifts to Montreal where the Canadiens can clinch their 18th Stanley Cup Tuesday night.

The Black Hawks haven't won a playoff game at Montreal in 13 attempts dating back to 1962.

Montreal jumped ahead at 1:08 of the first period when the puck trickled off Mark Tardiff's stick past goalie Tony Esposito, who had been pulled out of position on passes by Cournoyer and Jacques LeMaire.

Crampton scores

HOUSTON (AP) — Australian Bruce Crampton scored his third victory of the season Sunday when he won the Houston Open with a front-running 72 in the final round and vaulted into the season's leading money winning spot.

The curly-haired veteran of 17 years on the American pro golf tour picked up $41,000 from the total purse of $205,000, pushed his earnings to $153,678 for the year and moved past idle Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino into the top spot on the money list.

Crampton, who had rounds of 67 and 66 Friday and Saturday, played it conservatively in Sunday's final 18 holes on the 6,905-yard Quail Valley golf club course. He finished with a 277 total, 11-under par and a comfortable single stroke in front of charging Dave Stockton.

Hat trick

BOSTON (AP) — Larry Pleau scored three goals and Tommy Webster contributed two more as the New England Whalers defeated the Winnipeg Jets 9-6 Sunday for the first World Hockey Association championship.

The Whalers, who won nine consecutive playoff games at home, took the best-of-7 series 4-1 in capturing the Avco World Cup.

Pleau crushed Winnipeg's last hopes by completing his hat trick with a pair of goals within two minutes after the Jets had pulled to a thin 6-5.

Winston 500

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — David Pearson rode a Mercury to an easy victory in the Winston 500-mile stock car race Sunday after a frightening, high-speed crash eliminated three of his chief rivals and 15 of the original 60 starters.

Pearson, 38, a cool-headed veteran of 15 years as a pro, managed to work his way through the wreckage left from the 190 miles per hour pileup and came home a full lap ahead of Chevrolet-driving Donnie Allison on the 2.66-mile Alabama International Speedway.

Third place went to Benny Parsons, fourth to Clarence Lovell, and fifth to Cecil Gordon, all in Chevrolets.

Finley charge

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Memphis Tams owner Charles O. Finley says he has reported possible conflict-of-interest action by American Basketball Association Commissioner Robert S. Carlson to ABA President Bill Daniels of the Utah Stars.

Finley made his announcement in a telephone interview with The Memphis Commercial Appeal Saturday night.

Finley charged Carlson personally put two groups in touch with him for negotiations to purchase the Tams, then requested "a very sizeable amount of money (a finder's fee) should I sell to either group," the Chicago sports magnate said by telephone from Cleveland where he flew after the ABA trustees meeting in Indianapolis.

Carlson asserted Saturday that Finley sought permission to move the Tams to Los Angeles during the trustees meeting. He said Finley's protests over the loss of former Memphis State forward Larry Kenon to the New York Nets was a diversionary tactic to conceal attempts to move or sell the Tams.

Pasarell romp

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Charlie Pasarell, of Puerto Rico, scoring his first tournament victory since last December, defeated Tony Roche of Australia, 6-1, 3-6, 6-3, Sunday in the finals of the $15,000 Glenwood Manor Invitational Tennis Tournament.

The triumph, the first for Pasarell since he won the Clean Air Classic in New York, was worth $3,500.

Watergate scandal not new on political scene

NEW YORK (AP)—From George Washington to Richard M. Nixon, American presidents have been plagued by scandals in their official families which have led to criminal trails, suicides, unexpected resignations and sudden oblivion.

"Watergate" now joins such terms as "mugwump", "Teapot Dome" and "influence peddler." The scandals have involved a grasp for power or a grasp for money or both.

When Thomas Jefferson retired as secretary of state in 1793, Washington appointed Edmund Randolph of Virginia as his successor.

Washington had recently concluded a treaty with Britain which was violently opposed by the "French Party" in the United States. A certain Citizen Fauchet sent a dispatch to Paris hinting that Randolph had asked for a "few thousand dollars."

Get dispatch

The British captured the dispatch and sent it to Washington who confronted Randolph with it. That gentleman promptly resigned.

Just 10 years later Jefferson, then president, instigated the impeachment of Justice Samuel Chase of the Supreme Court for malfeasance and misfeasance in office. Chase was acquitted and most authorities agree this established the independence of the Supreme Court from White House control.

The most famous of all American conspiracies was involved Aaron Burr.

While still Jefferson's vice president, in the winter of 1804-05, Burr approached the British minister and offered to detach newly-acquire Louisiana from the United States for $500,000 plus the loan of a British naval squadron. Britain, deeply involved in its wars with Napoleon, said no.

Free of office, Burr proceeded down the Ohio and Mississippi selling a project to conquer Mexico, make himself Emperor and set up the Louisiana territory as an independent republic.

Burr was tried for treason, but acquitted on the grounds that his forces had collapsed before they could damage the United States.

Newspaper supporting incumbent Federalist John Quincy Adams printed lurid details of alleged premarital relations between Democrat Andrew Jackson and his wife; papers supporting Jackson called Adams' installation of a billiard table and a chess set in the White House putting in "gaming tables and gambling furniture."

Jackson won. He went on to appoint one of his chief campaign managers, Samuel Swartwout, as collector of the port of New York — then the biggest patronage job at presidential disposal.

Big Steal

Swartwout stole over $1 million.

Civil War hero Gen. Ulysses S. Grant was another victim of his appointees. His confidants connived with such speculators as Jim Fisk and Jay Gould to corner the gold market; his men, including Vice President Schuyler Colfax, helped the Credit Mobilier to drain the Union Pacific railroad for their benefits; Grant's private secretary, Gen. Orville E. Babcock, defrauded the government of millions in whiskey taxes.

In the morale climate of the Gilded Age, none were punished.

The Republicans in 1884 nominated House Speaker James C. Blaine who, while in office, had made $100,000 as broker for the bonds of a bankrupt railroad.

Some Republicans calling themselves mugwumps, bolted to Democrat Grover Cleveland who enlightened the campaign by admitting that he had an illegitimate child.

Blaine lost, not because of dishonesty, but because an earnest supporter called the Democrats the party of "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion" and the backlash carried the election.

Scandals involving the White House and presidential elections were relatively quiet until the administration of Warren G. Harding who took office in 1921.

The key word of his administration's scandals is Teapot Dome, but the bribe-eased lease of that naval oil reserve to Harry F. Sinclair was only a small part of it.

The "Ohio gang" moved into Washington with Harding and soon took over the government.

Harry M. Daugherty, a professional lobbyist who had managed Harding's senate campaign in 1914, was named attorney general. His valet, Jess Smith, was given an office in the Justice Department and became the official administration fixer.

Another presidential pal, Gaston B. Means, served as administration bootlegger during those prohibition days. Means later confessed that he had received bribes of more than $7 million from the rum-runners and claimed he turned it over to Smith. Smith committed suicide.

When the Teapot Dome scandal was exposed by the St. Louis Dispatch, Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, was sent to jail for taking $300,000 for the lease.

It's a long way in time and money from these millions to the mink coats and deep freezes of the "mess in Washington" under President Harry S. Truman.

Nixon was a major spokesman against these shenanigans and, in his famous "Checkers" speech, talked about his wife's "plain Republican cloth coat."

Impetus for the campaign came from an article in the now-defunct Look magazine called "The Scandalous Years" which exposed favors to convicted criminals and the "five per centers" who for that sum persuaded the Department of Justice to refrain from prosecuting various offenders.

Pentagon defense team to ask charges be dropped

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Defense attorneys in the Pentagon papers trial said Sunday that they will go to a federal appeals court to ask that the charges against Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo be dismissed immediately on grounds that the White House tried to compromise the judge.

The attorneys said they were working on a petition for a writ of mandamus to be filed Monday with the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeal. They said they would ask the court to order U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne to dismiss the charges of espionage, conspiracy and theft against Ellsberg and Russo.

The appeal to the higher court comes after Byrne refused on Friday to dismiss the case. The dismissal motion was based on the defense's contention that Byrne had been prejudiced during the trial by a White House offer to consider Byrne for the post of FBI director.

Byrne is still considering the possibility of dismissal of the case because of a link between the controversial Watergate incident in Washington and a burglary at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist. He has taken a motion to that effect under submission for further consideration and said he would not make that decision until he has received all facts in his probe of the matter.

He is seeking to find out whether the Justice Department used "tainted evidence" illegally obtained through the burglary.

The attorneys said Sunday that they will contend in their appeal that the court was "compromised" by two meetings with former presidential adviser John D. Ehrlichman last month.

Byrne has announced in court all details of the meeting, attempting to set the record straight. He said that at Ehrlichman's request he visited the Western White House on April 5 and was approached about becoming FBI director.

Byrne said he refused to consider the position while the Pentagon papers trial was going on. He said he had no discussion about the trial with Ehrlichman or with President Nixon, whom he met briefly.

Later, Byrne revealed that he was contacted again by Ehrlichman and met again with the presidential adviser on April 7 at an unspecified location in Santa Monica. He said that he continued to refuse to discuss the possibilities of his taking over the FBI job and said there was no talk about the Pentagon papers trial.

Defense attorneys argued that although Byrne assured them there was no discussion of the trial, it was still improper for him to have had contact with White House officials during a case involving charges of violation of government rules.

Ellsberg, 42, and Russo, 36, are charged with espionage, conspiracy and theft for copying the Pentagon's top-secret study of the Vietnam war.

The situation was complicated further when defense attorneys elicited from Byrne another detail—that he had been introduced to President Nixon's foreign policy advisory, Henry Kissinger, at a party during the same week he met with Ehrlichman.

The attorneys noted that Kissinger's name has been mentioned frequently in testimony at the trial because he was a key figure in the Vietnam war negotiations.

War at new high Peace helicopter draws fire

SAIGON (AP)—Fighting across South Vietnam was reported Sunday to have soared to its highest level in three weeks, and an international peacekeeping helicopter was fired on over a "contested" area in the Mekong Delta, commission sources said.

It was the third time in a little more than a month that helicopters of the four-nation International Commission of Control and Supervision have been fired on. The first incident, April 7, caused nine deaths, but the latter two have resulted in no injuries and no damage.

The latest incident is certain to stir new protests in the commission, particularly from Canada, which may decide to pull out of the peacekeeping force at the end of this month. The commission has curtailed its flights to essential missions, restricting its movements and thus making it ineffective as an observation force.

The latest helicopter carried four Poles, a Canadian, an American contract employee and an American crew. Commission sources said. They reported that it drew "a couple of bursts" of small arms fire while flying from Tri Ton, near the Cambodian border, to Vi Thanh, 110 miles southwest of Saigon.

At the same time, the Saigon command said Communist-led troops fired small arms and a Soviet-built, hand-fired, Strela heat-seeking missile at three government helicopters in another contested area of the Mekong Delta, about 50 miles southwest of Saigon. Two of the helicopters were lightly damaged and there were no casualties, the Saigon command said. The helicopters were on liaison and resupply missions, a communique reported.

The Saigon command said the thrust of the increased action again was aimed at the western defense line of the old imperial capital of Hue.

Despite the intensification, no major battles were reported and the fighting remained on a small scale, although government positions on Hue's western defense line took about 600 rounds of mortar fire.

At the same time, there were reliable reports that North Vietnam had improved its nearly 100-mile road network from Sepone, in southern Laos to the A Shau valley in the northwestern quarter of South Vietnam.

Reports reaching Saigon said the North Vietnamese had rebuilt the A Shau Valley into a major supply base as a threat to Hue, 25 miles to the northeast.

At least eight surface-to-air missile sites have been established.
