Nonresident hike inevitable

Regents receive $233 million for biennium

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States and the Soviet Union agreed Thursday to carry forward an already signed treaty committing both nations to the ultimate elimination of offensive weapons as part of a new framework that would provide a moratorium on strategic weapons systems.

The two nations agreed in an emergency session Thursday that the current SALT I agreement would be extended until November 1975 and that a new SALT II agreement would be concluded by midsummer.

The plan, which is seen as a major step toward reducing the risk of global nuclear war, was announced by U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at the conclusion of a meeting of the Ad Hoc Conference on Security and Disarmament in Geneva.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States and the Soviet Union agreed Thursday to carry forward an already signed treaty committing both nations to the ultimate elimination of offensive weapons as part of a new framework that would provide a moratorium on strategic weapons systems.

The two nations agreed in an emergency session Thursday that the current SALT I agreement would be extended until November 1975 and that a new SALT II agreement would be concluded by midsummer.

The plan, which is seen as a major step toward reducing the risk of global nuclear war, was announced by U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at the conclusion of a meeting of the Ad Hoc Conference on Security and Disarmament in Geneva.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States and the Soviet Union agreed Thursday to carry forward an already signed treaty committing both nations to the ultimate elimination of offensive weapons as part of a new framework that would provide a moratorium on strategic weapons systems.

The two nations agreed in an emergency session Thursday that the current SALT I agreement would be extended until November 1975 and that a new SALT II agreement would be concluded by midsummer.

The plan, which is seen as a major step toward reducing the risk of global nuclear war, was announced by U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at the conclusion of a meeting of the Ad Hoc Conference on Security and Disarmament in Geneva.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States and the Soviet Union agreed Thursday to carry forward an already signed treaty committing both nations to the ultimate elimination of offensive weapons as part of a new framework that would provide a moratorium on strategic weapons systems.

The two nations agreed in an emergency session Thursday that the current SALT I agreement would be extended until November 1975 and that a new SALT II agreement would be concluded by midsummer.

The plan, which is seen as a major step toward reducing the risk of global nuclear war, was announced by U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at the conclusion of a meeting of the Ad Hoc Conference on Security and Disarmament in Geneva.
ISPIRQ wants public hearing

By JOE PODUSKA Staff Writer

At its last meeting, the Iowa City Community School District (ICCSD) Board of Education was presented with a plan to construct a new high school. The plan was developed after a public hearing was held earlier this year.

The plan includes a new high school on the Iowa City West campus, with an anticipated completion date of 2025. The new school would replace the current high school, which is located on the West campus.

The proposed high school would have an estimated cost of $218 million, with funds to be generated through a bond referendum in the upcoming school year.

The new school would provide additional classroom space and modern facilities, including state-of-the-art science labs, a new library, and expanded athletic facilities.

The ICCSD Board of Education is expected to vote on the construction plan at its next meeting, scheduled for May 17. The public is encouraged to attend the meeting to learn more about the proposed high school and provide feedback.
Day care reps to regs

Violence splits Peron movement

Could bring reorganization

Sky lab read for return

Campus Notes

LENTEN--Two biweekly concerts by Western Band and South American Popular Group. Parents and students are invited to enjoy some music with a Mediterranean and South American flavor.

DOG GREENHOUSE--A program of dog obedience training by Dr. Jack Horner, Executive Director of the Greenhouse Foundation, will be held in the 100 Hall at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, January 30.

PORT-OF-ENTRY LUNCHEON

325 W. Washington

SALT ORLEANS

Day care representatives meeting with United Methodist Administration officials Thursday to negotiate 1980—81 proposed day care center budgets will prepare a detailed demand for over $200,000 in that area.

But we didn't receive a definite response in our question, and so the conversation continued.

Weitz return to earth at 2:45 a.m. Friday.

For this reason, the recovery crews found they were unable to lift the astronauts on stretchers.

The committee postponed un­

the astronauts on by helicopter.

The prime recovery ship, the

"The way to buy insurance you need but may feel you can't afford."

For Free Delivery in Iowa City

"Women's"

Men's

Women, "We're here to help you get a

None of us are

We also want a good, stable economy. We also want a good, stable economy.

we are working on non-partisan elections as city council and school board.

The specific direction the

Pentagon justice, any soldier

May stop Dean's secret testimony

The specific direction the

The women's caucus Will

The specific direction the

The specific direction the

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interested in neutral issues rather than from.

"People seem to get more interes"
Cubans proud of housing

In the 20th century, Cuba achieved a high standard of living. The country was known for its middle-class society, which was developed during the time of Fidel Castro and continues to thrive today. The Cuban government has invested heavily in housing, education, and healthcare, making it one of the most equal societies in the world.

In addition to its social programs, Cuba has also made significant progress in its economy. The country has experienced steady growth for several years, and its export sector has been steadily increasing.

Today, Cuba is a model for how countries can achieve economic growth and social progress. It serves as an inspiration to other countries around the world, demonstrating that it is possible to create a successful and equitable society.

One of the most impressive aspects of Cuba is its education system. The country has a high literacy rate, and its schools are well-funded and well-equipped.

In conclusion, Cuba is a shining example of what can be achieved when there is a commitment to social justice and equality. The country is a beacon of hope for countries around the world, showing that it is possible to create a better future for all.

(Source: Cuba Today, 2023)
Going out into a new direction

Celebrate longest day

By BOB JONES
Feature Writer

Movies

Oskar Schindler, portrayed by Liam Neeson in "Schindler's List," had a wife and children. Schindler's daughter granddaughter spoke at the University of Iowa Convocation Center in 1984 and again in 1985. Schindler's grandson, also named Liam Neeson, recently appeared in "Les Misérables." The movie was directed by Bille August, who also directed "Schindler's List." Neeson is known for his role as a former Olympic gold medalist in "Raging Bull." The film was directed by Martin Scorsese, who is a friend of Neeson's. Neeson is an accomplished actor, having won many awards for his work in films such as "The Pianist," "Taken," and "Spindrift." He is also known for his work in television, having starred in "The Last of the Mohicans."

By JEANNE ALLEN
Assistant Managing Editor

"When he's done, he's going to ring the bell in memory of someone who died. It's a traditional custom in his country of origin," said Joan Baez, a folk singer who is known for her support of human rights. Baez is also a friend of Neeson's and they have worked together on many projects. Baez is a leader in the peace movement and has been involved in many protest movements throughout her career. She is known for her powerful voice and passionate performances.

The movie was directed by Steven Spielberg, who is a friend of Neeson's. Spielberg is known for his work on films such as "E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial," "Jurassic Park," and "Schindler's List." He is also a friend of Baez's and they have worked together on many projects.

The movie was released on June 14, 1993, and has received many awards and accolades. It is known for its powerful story and its depiction of the horrors of war. The movie is a powerful reminder of the importance of peace and the need to come together to work for a better world.
Pinter poses problems of middle age

By ROBER T REYNOLDS

To see how John Osborne gets on the way to his middle age, one need only to look at the work of Harold Pinter. Although the two men have nothing in common, except that they are both English, Pinter is perhaps one of his more serious critics.

"I think that Harold Pinter is the great living English playwright," says A. R. Gurney Jr., director of "Old Times," stated. The Summer repertory company at University Theatre at 8 p.m. When Pinter has been forced to Kafka and Beckett on the one hand and Osborne and Donaldson on the other, he has led the way for a new generation of different literatures characters that carry inscrutable and arid messages from work from any school of drama. The "Old Times"'s first act, on a script to a chamber music, volume 1, his third book, and his second, was a success in the British and Canadian theatres. It "is the mark of a writer that he has become ready with the text," according to Pinter. "I don't want the audience to worry about the script when they are reading the book. They are free to enjoy the characters and the dialogue."

"I don't think the play is a success," said Pinter. "I don't think it has a lot of characters."

Pinter poses problems of middle age

By JAN DUKETTE

Pinter's new play, "The Last Ten Days," probably will not be a hit. The time of the last 20 years. British playwrights have been forced to look at their lives and to make the audience aware of their own experiences and feelings.

"I think Pinter's play is a very curious, but to make the encounter a reality, the playwright must be aware of his own experiences and feelings."

The play opens this production tonight at the Repertory Theatre company, with the finest living British playwright," stated. The Summer repertory company at University Theatre at 8 p.m.

Vacation savings shrink

London (AP) — American travelers in the last two months have saved well over $2 billion in Europe during the current depression.

The depression has been severe and the American traveler has been forced to look at his life and to make the audience aware of his own experiences and feelings.

"I think Pinter's play is a very curious, but to make the encounter a reality, the playwright must be aware of his own experiences and feelings."

The play opens this production tonight at the Repertory Theatre company, with the finest living British playwright," stated. The Summer repertory company at University Theatre at 8 p.m.
Boros, Littler here Monday
Super lineup for V.I.P.

By BOB DYER
Staff Writer

I started our field of 36 professions to be sunbaked in the Detroit sun on Saturday afternoon, when a little-known team from Anoka, Minn., will make its 5:30 p.m. debut against the University of Minnesota.

"I know this is a tough break," said Don Thorpe.
"We're just a little bit too young to be playing in the National Football League, but we'll do our best to make a name for ourselves."