WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate voted Tuesday to put the nation on year-round Daylight Time. The measure, approved as part of the federal election authorization bill, would require states to adopt daylight time, which has never before been used in the nation.

The measure has already passed the House and will go to President Ford later this year. The Senate action makes it likely that the nation will return to daylight time during the summer months.

Dorm residents will pay up to 14 percent more for dormitory rates if the Associated Board of Residence Halls (ABHR) at UI pass a dormitory rate increase passed recently by the University of Iowa student senate.

The dorm board, which oversees the operation of all six dormitories on campus, has the power to set dorm rates. The dorm board recently passed the 14 percent increase, which is expected to be passed by the state legislature.

The increase is the result of a review of the dormitory budget for the past year. The Associated Board of Residence Halls maintains the dormitories and provides services to students.

The Associated Board of Residence Halls (ABHR) is a student organization that sets the dormitory rates for all six dormitories on campus. The rates are based on a variety of factors, including the cost of operation, maintenance, and inflation.

Revising the university's budget for the 1972-73 academic year, the Associated Board of Residence Halls, or ABHR, has recommended a 14 percent increase in dormitory rates.

The increase is expected to be passed by the state legislature and will provide revenue for the dormitories. The ABHR is responsible for setting the dormitory rates and the increase is expected to help cover the cost of operation and maintenance.

Release of Ottes evidence 'improper'

By JIM FLEMING Staff Writer

District Court Judge Harlow Woodruff this week continued a trial on whether a former University of Iowa Student Bank president was properly removed from the bank's board of directors.

The former president, an ABHR member who was also a dormitory resident, was removed from the board in 1972. The ABHR is responsible for setting the dormitory rates and the increase is expected to help cover the cost of operation and maintenance.

Halle indicted on forgery charge

James W. Halle was indicted on a charge of forgery on the basis of the evidence obtained in the investigation of a forgery case.

The basis of the charge is the forgery of a check for $100 which was drawn on the bank. The bank, which is currently tied up in a forgery conviction, was also accused of overcharging its customers.

According to J. E. Wachter, Chief of Detectives, an employee of the bank was involved in a check cashing scheme and was arrested on Feb. 12, 1973.

Although the bank had no record of the arrest when it was first reported, the bank was later able to find the indictment and linked it to the forgery case.

Halle was later arrested on Feb. 14, 1973 and charged with forgery.

Halle had been a suspect in the investigation for several months before the charges were filed. The bank had previously refused to cooperate with the police on the investigation.

Halle was later convicted of forgery and sentenced to five years in prison. He also served a 10-year prison sentence for fraud.

Halle had been a prominent figure in the bank's operations and was known for his unorthodox business practices, including the use of forged checks and the sale of non-existent products.

The bank had previously refused to cooperate with the police on the investigation, and the bank's records were subsequently destroyed, making it difficult to gather evidence against Halle.

Despite ISPIRG objections
City approves Burlington widening

The Iowa City Council gave its approval Tuesday to the widening of a section of background street in Burlington in spite of objections from the Iowa Iwnned Public Interest Research Group (ISPIRG). The plan, which was deferred from the council's meeting last week by ISPIRG, is expected to cost $75,000 and will take about a year to complete. The project also includes adding a sidewalk to the north side of the street.

The plan would involve the four through traffic lanes on the block widened from two northbound to four northbound lanes, allowing the construction of a median in the center of the street. The city would also add a sidewalk to the north side of the street, which has bricks under the blacktop, thus allowing the surrounding "canyon" to be widened. The street is on an old, narrow plot that was originally an old farm.

A proposal calling for more cooperation between academic and administration, the councilors said, would make the proposal more appealing to the residents. However, the councilors said, the plan could be opposed by the University of Northern Iowa, which is considering the construction of a new student center.

The project is expected to be completed by the end of the next fiscal year. Facilities Director Earl T. Clay said the construction schedule would allow for the widening of the street in the fall. The project would also involve the widening of the opposing lane and the construction of a median in the center of the street. The project would also add a sidewalk to the north side of the street.

CAMBUS money and priorities

Contrary to recent reports, CAMBUS is the most frequently student arrival on this campus. The service is the most successful student-run operation at the university and it deserves all the support and foresight necessary to guarantee its availability.

CAMBUS is utilized daily by thousands of university students, faculty, and staff as both a primary and secondary means of transportation. Workgroups have been urged to park they own cars and use CAMBUS as a means of travel and use the system to its respective buildings. Many have responded by making full and use use of the service.

But what makes the system as desirable as the constant attempts of those in charge, both on the administrative and student levels, to not update the system with the public. When the idea was put forth, many thought that students would be able to keep up with the work necessary to make it go. They have been proven wrong. Students, along with the help of John Dooley, have constantly thought the work and planning necessary to make CAMBUS successful.

Those involved have always been looking forward to "head off" severe problems and make full use of opportunities to improve the concept. The listed of the many changes to improve the system comes in the form of a possibility for a federal grant to buy new buses. Establish shuttles at the bus stops and build a permanent headquarters for CAMBUS operations. The federal grant, if received, would shoulder off per cent of the estimated cost of $829,800. That would mean $414,000 for the university to come up with.

It has also been said that the university may not even apply for the grant. The reasoning is that money is unprecedentedly short and may be needed elsewhere in the institution. It is hard to argue with that kind of talk.

The present administration has no way backed in total support of CAMBUS. Last spring when finances were already tight the budget was stretched to include additional funds for the service.

However, it also must be noted that in light of the energy shortage and interest in alternative forms of transportation, it would seem permissible to at least try to raise interest and public awareness of the university students and employees. Priority is first when they include rational as well as monetary considerations.

...and droppings

Tuesday's heavy rain and "flush floods," which were in no way predicted in The Daily Iowan weather forecast, did more than give the university population a wash and warning.

What the rain really did was save the lives of many people, who would have otherwise shipped their waste to our municipal library. For the rain accomplished what the UI Physical Plant failed to accomplish. The "flush floods," or flushing droppings from the library sidewalk.

The rain, an unexpected surprise, besides possessing an ugly color, was a mercy in the morning. Around 8 a.m., just before the dew would evaporate, these droppings would create a slick surface upon which many students and faculty would have been slipping.

New

To the Editor:

The University of Iowa has been mentioned on national television. This came about when officials of the magazine NEWsweek discovered that the University of Iowa group of Americans for Freedom had displeased their correspondent, Charles, concerning the conservative viewpoint.

Mary Kirk, who is editor of the magazine NEWsweek, published an article which was in line with the article as the local area.

Interested people who were interested in the conservative movement contacted Mike Ulrich, editor of Iowa's magazine NEWsweek. As a result of this, Milford was invited to speak in several large halls and even as Codates of Army and Air Force officers gathered in "Yap," while at the Fill Hall.

There is also a trend by the high school age group to gather information on the conservative viewpoint, which was closely monitored by the inquiring mind of a New Hampshire political consultant.

Error made?

To the Editor:

I'm writing to correct an error made in Dr. Flehm's column, "Our country needs" in the November 21 issue of your paper. The statement is "That is how we会让你" is really not what I meant to say. I meant to say that such things as the purchase of permanent fuel, transmogrifying many day care centers, and constraining the property value along Melrose Avenue has not been a problem for many of the student's ideas of running and that the future should be more electrically minded from the posture of our energy system.

That will leave the future electrically minded, should such a situation arise. If our country is going to run on electricity, and one can and should, we need to be more electrically minded in our thinking, so that such a situation is not actually to be expected.

That is how we should go about running our country. It is a good time for us to start thinking about how we should run our country and how we should run our own lives. It is a good time for us to start thinking about our own lives and how we should run them, so that such a situation is not actually to be expected.

For the future of our country, it is a good time for us to start thinking about how we should run our country and how we should run our own lives. It is a good time for us to start thinking about our own lives and how we should run them, so that such a situation is not actually to be expected.

Finally, if my column is reprinted in your paper, I would appreciate it if you would correct the error that I made in it. I would also appreciate it if you would let me know if there is anything else that I need to correct in my column.

Melpo melrose widening

To the Editor:

I am writing to express my objection to the widening of the Melrose Avenue. I believe that this will be a very bad idea, especially for the people who live in the area.

I have seen many problems in the past, and I believe that this will only make things worse. I think that the university should be made to pay for this widening, because it will be a burden on the taxpayers.

I believe that the widening of the Melrose Avenue will not be beneficial to the people who live in the area. I think that it will only make things worse, and that the university should be made to pay for this widening.

Nixon's worth triples while President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's net worth was supposed to have tripled during his presidency, but federal investigators found that the amount was much smaller.

The inquiry, which was launched after Nixon's resignation, was conducted by the Justice Department and the Internal Revenue Service.

The investigation found that Nixon's net worth was $200,000 in 1973, when he left office, and that it had increased to $600,000 by 1977.

The increase was largely due to the sale of a New Orleans hotel to Gulf Oil Corp.

The investigation also found that Nixon had received gifts of jewelry, art, and other items from foreign leaders, but that the gifts were not reported as income.

The investigation concluded that Nixon had not filed the required tax returns for the years 1973 to 1977.

The findings were contained in a report released by the Senate Watergate Committee in 1979.

Haldeman has previously denied any knowledge of the tape erasure.

The investigation also found that Haldeman had made false statements to the Senate Watergate Committee in 1973.

The committee had asked Haldeman if he had any knowledge of the tape erasure, and he had said no.

Haldeman's story was later contradicted by a tape recording of a conversation between Haldeman and White House Press Secretary Ron Ziegler.

The tape recording showed that Haldeman had said yes.

The investigation concluded that Haldeman had lied to the Senate Watergate Committee.

The findings were contained in a report released by the Senate Watergate Committee in 1979.

The report was later used as evidence in the Watergate hearings.

Winter storm slams Iowa; causes extensive damage

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Iowa's first winter storm has left several communities without telephone service and knocked out radio stations KVUE and KBBW off the air at Iowa Falls.

At one storm center, the tiny town of Clear Lake, residents say they were left with no power and no water. Two people were reported missing, and one person was reported injured.

The National Weather Service said the storm would bring heavy snow and strong winds to parts of the state, including Des Moines, which was expected to receive up to 12 inches of snow.

Consequences of absenteeism have been a hot topic in Congress this year, with some lawmakers calling for increased penalties for those who miss votes.

In a statement, House Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy said: "We are taking the problem of congressional absenteeism seriously and have already enacted reforms to deal with an old problem - one that has been present in Congress for far too long.

"Today's post-Watergate political climate is different, and the public expects Congress to show up and do its job in a responsible way. We must hold ourselves to the same standards as the American people do.

"That's why we are taking steps to prevent members from missing votes and to ensure that they are held accountable for their actions. We have already taken steps to improve the attendance information and to increase the penalties for those who do not show up for votes.

"But we cannot stop there. Congress must be willing to do whatever it takes to ensure that our legislators are present and engaged in the business of government.

"We are committed to this goal, and we will continue to fight to make sure that every member of Congress is present and accounted for.

"I urge all members of Congress to join us in this effort and to work together to strengthen our democracy and the confidence of the American people in our elected representatives."

Simon states future fuel conservation steps

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's newly named energy czar, William E. Simon, said Tuesday the Nixon administration is considering fuel price increases, rationing or a combination of the two to cut gasoline consumption by 10 percent. However, Simon emphasized the steps would be voluntary.

After President Nixon personally announced Simon's appointment as head of a new federal energy office. Simon told reporters that a decision on whether to raise gasoline prices would be made in the first few weeks of the new administration's office. He said raising the prices poses problems and he would consider it a last resort.

Iowa stops Drake, 70-55

By RON EVERSON

Iowa football fans found reason to celebrate late Saturday night, when the Hawkeyes defeated the University of Detroit Mercy, 70-55. The win came after a tough battle, with the Hawks holding on for victory in the final minutes.

The game was a close one, with both teams showing their strength in the early moments. However, Iowa, led by center Mary Smith, was able to gain an early lead and maintain it throughout the game.

Smith, who finished with a career-high 23 points, scored the first basket of the game, giving Iowa a 3-0 lead. Drake tried to respond, but the Hawks were able to maintain their lead, thanks to strong play from their defense.

Iowa's defense was particularly effective in the second half, holding Drake to just 24 points. The Hawks were able to pull away from the Bulldogs in the final minutes, with Smith leading the way with 14 points in the fourth quarter.

The win was a welcome victory for the Hawks, who have been struggling in recent weeks. With the win, Iowa moves to 7-5 on the season and 2-1 in conference play.

OSU's Hicks second

Cappelletti wins Heisman Trophy

NEW YORK (AP) — John Cappelletti, who almost quit college to play pro football last year, reaped the rewards of his winning ways in Big Ten play Tuesday when he was named winner of the Heisman Trophy.

The 5-foot-11, 230-pound running back from Ohio State, 6-1 4/2, more than doubled the points total of 1,000,000,000, which he had been awarded in the voting for the trophy last year.

The win came as little surprise, though. Cappelletti had been favored to win the award since the start of the season, and he had compiled impressive numbers throughout the year.

Cappelletti, who finished second in last year's voting, had a solid year despite playing in less than ideal conditions. He ran for 1,471 yards and 25 touchdowns, and was named to the All-Big Ten team.

The win is the first for an Ohio State player since 1962, when Lee Roy Selmon took home the trophy.

Ohio State was led by quarterback Gino Cappelletti, who received 229 first-place votes and 679 points.

Ohio State finished the season 10-2 and ranked No. 1 in the final AP poll.

Iowa's offense was top-notch, led by quarterback John Cappelletti. The offense scored 147 points, and the defense held the Bulldogs to just 14 points.

The Hawkeyes were led by center Mary Smith, who finished the game with 23 points and 14 rebounds.

Iowa's defense was particularly effective in the second half, holding Drake to just 24 points. The Hawks were able to pull away from the Bulldogs in the final minutes, with Smith leading the way with 14 points in the fourth quarter.

The win was a welcome victory for the Hawks, who have been struggling in recent weeks. With the win, Iowa moves to 7-5 on the season and 2-1 in conference play.

Iowa exploded for 17 points in the second half, with center Mary Smith leading the way with 14 points in the fourth quarter.

The win was a response to a 28-20 loss to Iowa State earlier in the season, and the Hawks were able to use their strong defense and offense to come back and win.

WANTED to buy - Indian, Harley

Rumors spread all day that the Angel-Cub deal was off. Montreal's winning bid was based on the belief that the Cubs would send out a fielder to take over the Angel's baseball operation.

The Cubs, however, were tight-lipped about the offer, and no formal announcement was made.

Miami 27-0 victory Sunday.

In the deal that wasn't made, Santo's option to refuse the deal came as part of the new sports scripts agreement between baseball and the Major League Players Association last spring.

The agreement allowed Santo to refuse a trade to any team except those in the Midwest. The Cubs, however, had not yet determined which teams he was eligible to refuse.

Santo was the first time the player's option to refuse a trade was used. The option was incorporated into the agreement as a way of protecting players from being traded to teams that they would not want to play for.

The Yacht Club was the first team to make a move on the St. Louis, but the Cubs were not interested in making a deal with the Yacht Club.
