Gas rationing

HONG KONG (AP) - The nation's first program to control gas rationing in the wake of the oil crisis may be expanded to other cities if the plan shows it can help the city's gas crisis.

Details of the program were announced today by Governor George Avenell. It is based on the American-finished plate concept, similar to Chicago's gasoline control. Cars with odd-numbered license plates will be able to buy gasoline on odd-numbered days, even-numbered plates on even-numbered days.

The program was described as "emergency rules and regulations" for the Hong Kong Transportation Department.

The basis for which the program was drawn up is in part by violence at two gasoline stations last week. A station owner in Happy Valley was stabbed with a tire iron when he refused to sell a man a full tank of gasoline and another station which was closed last week had several broken气罐s destroyed.

Demonstrate

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) - Demonstrators backing a bill to extend federal funds by the nation's mentally retarded demanded from President John F. Kennedy a humanitarian award for his work on behalf of the mentally retarded.

It was "a small contingent of about 150 persons participated in a demonstration charging that the Kennedy administration has not done enough to help the mentally retarded."

- By GAIL WILLIAMS
- With contributions from ALFRED DAVIS and DONNA DAVIS

The Chicano-In-American Center, which promotes activism among the Chicano community, has many plans for the coming semester. The center, which was organized by students during the last school year, is continuing its activities and is now open to new members.

Many of the Chicano and American studies students have been working closely with the center. They have been offering political education to the community, especially to younger people. The center has been holding weekly meetings and has plans for future events.

In addition to the educational work, the center is also organizing community activities. They have been working with local organizations to promote community involvement.

The center also has a newsletter called "The View" which is distributed to the community.

Corvallis rape case retrial results in dismissal of jury

- By MARIA LULIS
- Staff Writer

In a retrial of James Allen Shively, 26, convicted of raping a Corvallis nurse last May, a jury of six men and six women were dismissed when they couldn't reach a verdict.

District Court Judge Robert Odenaker said the jury had deliberated the case for 15 hours and had heard 10 days of testimony.

The dismissal of the Corvallis jury was a repeat of what happened following the November trial where the jurors were also dismissed because they couldn't reach a verdict.

Judge Odenaker then granted bail to the defendant, 93-day old Paul Pintor.

County Attorney Tim Martin presented the most damaging evidence against Shively during the second day of the trial. Testimony, an analyst with the state's forensic science division (BCS), turned the single bullet fired in Young automobile to border police agreement engineered by Kissinger. Lightly armed Israeli forces were engaged in a firefight with the main Israeli forces in the hills at the border between the two countries, according to the sources.

The transcript showed only three in the defense: Shively, James Allan, and a young Pinky automobile (the witness), a Scott County automobile (the defendant) and the automobile belonging to defendant Young.

Martin intimated that upon the victory of Pintor, the defense would have the opportunity to present the witness's list of Israeli war equipment. The prosecutor agreed with the defense's position.

Brezhnev visits Cuba this week

- By MARIA LULIS
- Staff Writer

S.S. S. S.

President Leonid Brezhnev is expected to arrive in Havana this week and will meet with Cuban officials to discuss various matters.

The visit is expected to be a significant one as Brezhnev is known for his strong stance on the issue of Cuba and the United States.

The visit will be the first visit of a sitting Soviet leader to Cuba since 1974 when President Jimmy Carter met with Brezhnev in Moscow.

Brezhnev's visit is expected to be a three-week run, and it is scheduled for mid-November.

Responsibility and impeachment

Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. in his most recent book, "The Imperial Presidency," reminds us that in the first congress James Madison argued that the power to remove government officials belongs to the President. This makes the President responsible to the public for the conduct of all policy. For him to be re-elected, he must have a clear conscience and be able to hold himself accountable for his actions. In his book, Schlesinger mentions that the Internal Revenue Department, the Office of Missing Persons, and the Warren Commission, which was established in 1974 to investigate the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, were all put in place by the President.

There are some presidential scholars and historians who view Madison's interpretation of presidential responsibility as not applying to government officials, specifically those in the executive branch, as being too broad. This argument is that the executive branch is responsible for its actions and that it is the President who is accountable for every action of his subordinates. The creation of Madison's interpretation of presidential responsibility appears to be reasonable and sound. No one would hold a President accountable for the disloyalty of his staff. The President is not expected to be a babysitter or a watchman. He is expected to possess the same level of trust and respect as an alerting him to potential misconduct by officers he appoints.

William J. Clinton, during his presidency, faced several scandals, including the Lewinsky affair. The President is responsible for the conduct of all policy, for him to be re-elected, he must have a clear conscience and be able to hold himself accountable for his actions. In his book, Schlesinger mentions that the Internal Revenue Department, the Office of Missing Persons, and the Warren Commission, which was established in 1974 to investigate the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, were all put in place by the President.

"What should I spend on a music system?"

At the Stereo Shop, we sell and repair a variety of carefully chosen stereo music systems, ranging in price from about $50 to several thousand dollars. If you come in and spend a longer time, you might find something that interests you, and I'll tell you what we think you should spend.

What to look for:

1. Obviously a statement as good as the price is subjective to all kinds of qualifications.

2. A wide variety of music systems, ranging in price from $50 to several thousand dollars.

3. It has enough controls and features to suit the needs of most music lovers, without the expense of conventional hifi.

4. Its performance and durability are such that it is highly useful to the components involved.

5. If it's simple to operate, and the components are paired to the listener's ear, I won't recommend your equipment to begin with.

6. It is fully customizable for your ears, and further demanding by your own service department.

7. The equipment: A long list of specifications on each component in a music system is subjective to all kinds of qualifications.

8. The Sony 646 A AM/FM receiver, another example of the same kind of thinking, is series of components that can be sold as a complete system.

9. The Mirocorder-452 Auto Recording is one of the most popular, and reliable, in its price category at a standard price.

There is a gentle automatic changing mechanism and a convenient control. The Shure M&K cartridge picc notues on the sound quality, and reliable as its parts; with its high frequency caps, and the Sony M-8A receiver.

10. Guaranteed 20,000 Miles First time reduced: En- joy savings and a smooth ride with the Datsun 810. Four miles of strength and solidness, under a wide 8 series tread.

11. Guaranteed 12,000 Miles Sears Lowest Priced Fall '76 Tire.

12. Guaranteed 40,000 Miles Steel Radial Tire for American cars.
Meditators claim grade-point boost

By DAVID SANDS
Special to The Daily Iowan

The Student International Meditation Society will offer another course in the training of the Science of Creative Intelligence again this semester. The principal instructor for the course will be John P. Ludlow, II, Iowa Prof. of Mathematics and teacher of SCI at ISU, and Dr. Mahesh Khanna, Founder of Maharishi Vedic University.

SCI was first offered for credit at Stanford University in 1969, with a class attendance of 25. It is now offered on many campuses for credit, and it is available as a private course of study in Iowa City.

The objectives of the course are to promote meditation, study the examination of the causes of change, and to transcend the states of awareness at all levels of consciousness. The use of SCI, derived from the orderly directed nature of change as studied in physical, biological and social sciences, SCI examines what is common to all sciences and this understanding leads to the understanding of all meaningful knowledge.

At all levels of awareness there is SCI, but it is a theoretical part to the practice of knowledge and is a practical aspect to verify the theory. The theoretical aspect of SCI provides a framework for the examination of natural laws and processes of change in creative and constructive ways. Change produces new forms of increasing complexity.

Thematic scientific research on the effects of TM has been conducted at universities and research institutions in recent years. The results of the practice are measurable and reproducible. SCI is a technique of perfect awareness which allows the individual to transcend the normal states of awareness and to enter into the state of pure consciousness. This is a state of awareness which is experienced in profound sleep, but with the mind highly alert. This state of mind, characterized by reduced oxygen consumption, is the basis for the relaxation response. This focus of awareness is generated through the regular practice of the technique. Transcendental Meditation (TM) instruction is included with the course. Attention of meditation with normal activity develops a steady, all-lasting state of pure consciousness. Consciousness that is more resistant to disease is the final result. The final result is that the nervous system is capable of supporting an expanded awareness. The improved psychology is noted with significant decreases in mental stress, anxiety, blood pressure, self-criticism, etc., and an increase in positive character traits of concern and well-being, creativity, productivity, and personal sensitivity and awareness.

The SCI course consists of 30 lessons, presented around other techniques designed to assist the student in expanding awareness and structuring the body. Consequently, the body is more resistant to disease. The practical aspect of SCI, leading to the foundation of TM, leading to the creation of the full human potential to improve the life against crime, suffering, drug abuse and war and to improve the human environment and economy, and to achieve the spiritual goals of mankind.

SCI offers what no course or program can. SCI develops the capacity of the student to transcend the states of awareness at all levels of consciousness. In other courses of study, information is structured and presented in the linear fashion. Traditionally, students are judged on their (seemingly) linear, non-linear and non-linear, material and non-material progressions of change. SCI is structured and presented in a linear fashion. Course of the grape—a wine cellar

Storing your apartment’s wine cellar begins with knowing what to look for on a label. The next is your consumption of the grape in start tasting.

Every wine has a distinctive, the aromatic which is the distinctive, the distinctive aroma which is the only label on the bottle. There are others which are dry to the taste, and are also in the middle flavor that begins in your wine's aroma.

To enjoy a wine, stuff the bouquet, sip, then gently roll the wine in your mouth, then hold it as you briefly before finally swallowing.

Choosing wine is a fine matter should be any more difficult than selecting from a liver menu—except that the selection is more limited and the cost is a little higher. You may select by price, by type, or by a note. You draw a blank on brand names and look for the name of the wine itself. It is then the name of the wine itself.

Send it back

Send a wine back if it is not to your taste. The wine you received was the wrong one, the wine is not to your taste, or the wine is not to your taste.

Union offers free Friday night plays

By MAX VILLARREAL
Special to The Daily Iowan

On Friday evening, January 19, a group of interested members of the University of Iowa was entertained by a humorous treatment of two college players, for the evening was dedicated to the world of the tennis court.

The two players, portrayed by members of the University of Iowa, performed a play that was both entertaining and informative. The performers were dressed in the authentic attire of tennis players, and their movements were vividly captured.

In these plays, the following performers: Russ and Soh, brothers, are power struggle with the other brothers. A group of adolescent boys, in the hierarch, are unified in its function. However, they are inside the court as well.

The most humorous treatment of two college players was for the evening was dedicated to the world of the tennis court.

Rules of thumb

1. Find the Rule of Thumb about what wine, appetizer wines with hors d’oeuvres, canapes, or cheeses, and dry table wines with bread, cheese, and fresh bread.

2. Red table wines complement red meat, chops, game, soups. White wines, and most other hearty foods.

3. White table wines are best with white meats, fowl, seafoods, salads, and fresh fish.

To fully enjoy a wine, swirl a small quantity to the back of your tongue, where most of the flavor will be. Then, when a waiter or waitress serves the wine, one tip covers the tip. When a waiter or waitress serves the wine, one tip covers the tip. When a waiter or waitress serves the wine, one tip covers the tip. To uncork

To uncork champagne or other sparkling wine, cut the foil on the neck and pull it off. Hold the bottle, open the cork, and turn the handle. If the cork does not come out, knock it off the bottle, and replace the cork.

The cork should be removed by pulling on the cork. If the cork does not come out, knock it off the bottle, and replace the cork.

Champagne is any wine, any time, any reason or reason.

Like all rules, these were violated at the time. Wine’s touch with what sticks around because it seems to work best at the time. If you want to be a real go-to, get your wine a good one.

Do not get a red bottle and serve it in a "right" glass. They are practically always cheaper, but are sometimes not suitable for red and white wines.

Dessert wines, most of dessert wines.

On meeting a Brazilian Indian...

HARRISUA (AP) - The first true meeting of Brazil's indigenous Indian population in years with American educators was a success because in case you read it's a success because it was in face with positive results.

At a hotel room in Brazil, what you should do it now is to tune in to a Radio Brazil Station.

Engineers and anthropologists from the United States, Brazil and other countries met last week for the first time in Brasilia.

It was the second of a few days of meetings in the world's largest nation to discuss plans for an important Indian conference.

Ride the High Country

Two American westerns mark turning point

By DAVID MATTI BURTON

The westerns "High Country" and "Valance" are two of the most highly anticipated films of the year, and they are both based on the history of that genre.

"High Country" is a film about the American Director's Series, and this week's selections of the new, civilized west, is a repeat from 1972, with hundreds of soldiers and hundreds of dance features Mia Farrow as a housewife.

On January 28th, 1974, the Daily Iowan will be holding a contest to give away tickets to the film "High Country." The contest will be run by the Daily Iowan's staff, and any student at the University of Iowa is eligible to enter.

The contest will run from January 28th to February 1st, and the winner will be announced on February 2nd.

Rules:

1. Photos may be picked up at the DI after March 1.
2. The contest is open to all students at the University of Iowa.
3. Photos must be submitted by February 1st.
4. The winner will be announced on February 2nd.

Good luck!

An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure, so don't take any chances. Be sure to enter the contest and win free tickets to "High Country."

Knoedel sets high jump mark

By GREG LUND

Sports Editor

Saturday, Jan. 18, a military figure stood on the track at Western and saw Mr. Joe Frazier of the New York Giants jump over a 7-foot high hurdle. The feat raised the lid on his high jump record with a leap of 6 feet 4 inches. Knoedel's jump brought him a ＄300 prize and $100 for each notch above the record.
