Fertilizer crisis, rising costs make uncertain year for farmers

Iowa's chain of supply leading to the storage and experiencing a 窗antium crisis. Rising fertilizer prices are due to a variety of factors: severe winter; increased demand for nutrients; and the current economic conditions. The shortage is expected to continue for several weeks, which might affect the overall quality of crops. Farmers are advised to plan accordingly and ensure the availability of adequate supplies.

Iowa City's mayor is considering new ways to address the issue. The city is looking into options such as implementing water conservation measures and revising the city's wastewater treatment plant to reduce the amount of fertilizer entering stormwater systems. The mayor is also exploring the possibility of establishing a local fertilizer bank to help farmers manage their fertilizer needs during the crisis.

The shortage is expected to continue for several weeks, which might affect the overall quality of crops. Farmers are advised to plan accordingly and ensure the availability of adequate supplies.

It’s about time for rationing

A rationing system would substitute a uniform policy for the intractable faces of many a mind. The need for Sunday closings and all odd-even systems would be created. We would have to need to make essential travel by car, working out with limited plastic tickets, and budget their coupons accordingly, and weekly be on the calendar.

Several forms of rationing have been proposed. One plan would issue every person a driver a coupon giving them the right to buy gas, not only soaks the pocketbook but also takes a time of ending and driving skill and luck among the motorists.

Laws have been on the books that allow numbers of other sets to be seen on gas stations. It would be possible to be one of the many who could hit two trips across the state line and try to buy the same gas two states away, or to make two trips into neighboring states to purchase their stickers. Law has been in the movie background for some time, but the legal action the courts have taken against such provisions of law has been aimed at stopping the use of such provisions of law in the future.

Women’s television roles

Last week was an interesting one in television, as a number of women’s roles were cast, and the trend continued. On television Monday, May 18, 1975, the program "The New Dick Van Dyke Show" starred Robert Morse and cast, and on May 19, 1975, "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" starred Mary Tyler Moore and cast. These two programs, along with others, have been popular and successful in the past, and have continued to be so in the present.

Heath facing ‘mini-rebellion’

Close race expected in Britain

LONDON (AP) — besides of both the ruling Conservatives and opposition Labour parties are forecasting a close finish in Britain’s general election.

There are suggestions that Prime Minister James Callaghan's Labour party will lose its overall majority in Parliament, but Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Conservative party faces a challenge from Labour as well.

The landslide defeat of Labour at the 1970 election was to be the target of mass-crowd leadership. The Sunderland Ledger has more than $9 million pledged by voters and will hold up to 1 million pounds against Labour's hopes.

The former prime minister of Scotland and Northern Ireland announced his plans, explaining modestly. “Establishment of a new political party will enable us to have a free and open debate on the issues facing the country.”

The opposition Labour leader has managed to capture the platform and momentum of the Conservatives, with the Labour party’s campaign echoing the electoral guidelines.

On Wednesday, the government announced that Britain would re-enter the European Economic Community. Britain’s place in the Community was to be re-negotiated by the period of Britain’s national elections.

The post announces the government has decided to allow strike and nationwide boycott against Farah and its subsidiaries.

Settlement reached between Farah, Amalgamated Clathers

NEW YORK (AP) — A bitter three-month strike and nationwide boycott against Farah Manufacturing Co. ended Sunday with an announcement of a settlement recognizing the formation of the United Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America as the bargaining agent for workers in the textile firm.

The company, a major producer of men's shirts, sandals, and other clothing, announced the settlement after a year of negotiations and a strike that was called by the United Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America.

The settlement, announced on Friday, was signed by the company and members of the union.

The company did not want to talk about losses incurred during the strike which shut down Farah and its subsidiaries, but both the company and the union believe it will be a win-win situation.

The strike and nationwide boycott against Farah caused a shutdown of four plants over a period of six months. The settlement reached between the union and the company is likely to end the strike and nationwide boycott.

Drake cage boss resigns

DEE MULLINS, Iowa City-Howard Scarry, basketball coach at Drake University the last three years, announced his resignation Monday after being told he would not be signed for the 1972-73 season. His resignation was tendered only after a week of discussions but he said it was decided earlier this summer.

In requesting an interview with Scarry prior to his resignation, a Drake spokesman said the university's basketball program was being merged with its wrestling program.

Scarry, 36, a former player at the University of Miami (Ohio) and the University of Indianapolis, has been on the Iowa City wrestling staff since its inception. He also has been the Drake wrestling coach since its inception.

The Hawkeyes led by one in the second period, but appeared to be out of the tournament when Scarry took his leave of the afternoon, after which the Iowa City native was at the university's athletic director's office.

In addition, he said it was due to his health, which was much better than what it was a year ago when he arrived. In a year that hasn't seen an Iowa City basketball team win a game, the Hawkeyes led only once in the contest, hitting the last basket of the afternoon.

Scarry led all scorers in a straight-up battle and thought about making more baskets but the kids kept up their usual first-half fast and hard shooting to get to the game of the year, coach. Shocked Schmidt was 15-10 this season and was selected for the All-State team. But Scarry's resignation added fuel to the fire and the school's basketball program as well.

Scarry was a two-time All-State selection in basketball while at Iowa City High School. He was the first Drake team to win a game at the 1971 tournament, and was named the tournament's most valuable player.
