Iowa Student Agencies "out of business"

By Mary Walsheim
News Editor

The Board of Student Agencies has voted to dissolve two of its agencies, the Board of Student Agencies-Iowa City (BSA-IC) and the Iowa Alumni Board of Directors (IABD), according to a statement made by Student Activities Director Dr. James Waddell.

The BSA-IC, which is a coordinating body for the Iowa Student Agencies, has voted to dissolve the agency due to a lack of funding. The agency has been in operation for 50 years and has been responsible for coordinating the activities of the various student agencies on the Iowa City campus.

The IABD, which represents the Iowa alumni, has also voted to dissolve the agency due to a lack of funding. The agency has been in operation for 40 years and has been responsible for representing the interests of Iowa alumni.

The decision to dissolve both agencies was made after a thorough review of the financial status of both organizations. The agencies have been struggling to meet their financial obligations and have been unable to secure sufficient funding to continue operations.

The dissolution of both agencies is effective immediately. The Iowa Student Agencies will continue to operate, but will not include the Board of Student Agencies-Iowa City or the Iowa Alumni Board of Directors.

The Iowa Student Agencies will continue to operate under the current leadership, and the agency will continue to work towards finding a solution to the financial challenges faced by the organization.

The dissolution of both agencies is a difficult decision, but it is necessary to ensure the continued viability of the Iowa Student Agencies.

The agency will continue to work with its member organizations to find ways to increase funding and to ensure the continued success of the organization.

The Iowa Student Agencies will continue to work towards finding ways to improve the student experience on the Iowa City campus and to provide opportunities for students to engage in meaningful activities.
Violation of UI library procedure leads to classroom disturbance

by CHUCK HICKMAN
Contribution Editor

A student who violated a written procedure led to a classroom disturbance.

The incident occurred after a student employee of the library gave out confidential information regarding the library. The student was suspended and later reinstated.

The incident raised questions about the adequacy of procedures, and led to a classroom disturbance.

I.C. voters hazy on bond issue

Nearly 60 percent of the registered voters recently polled did not know how to vote on the $13 million bond issue.

The poll—conducted by the Iowa Opinion Research Bureau, Inc.—found that nearly 60 percent of the registered voters did not know how to vote on the bond issue.

The poll results showed that the bond issue was not a priority for the voters.

Screenplay

A 12-page, 8,000-word first draft in the form of a feature length screenplay was submitted to the festival by Gordon Schopp, president of A.I. College

The screenplay was written by a student and is to be featured in the festival in order to encourage more writers to enter the festival.

The judging for the competition is open to anyone with a completed feature length screenplay.

Albert Raps Nixon on 'attack'

President Nixon has been attacked by Albert Raps, a former CIA agent, in a new book, "The Attack on Nixon." The book details Nixon's attempts to sabotage the Watergate investigation.

Raps charges that Nixon's campaign manager, John D. Ehrlichman, was behind the break-in at the Watergate Hotel.

The book is expected to be a bestseller and is scheduled to be released on April 12.

Tuition hikes and legislators

The Iowa legislature—and particularly the University of Iowa—has been the target of increasing tuition hikes. Administrators are once again taking issues to the legislature, proposing a tuition hike for the fiscal year 1975. An increase in tuition is the first step toward cutting costs, administrators say.

The increase is proposed to be 7% for in-state students and 10% for out-of-state students. This is in addition to the 4% increase proposed last year. The increase is necessary, administrators say, because of the rising cost of operations and the increasing cost of living.

The increase is not the only issue facing the University of Iowa. The state's budget is also under pressure, and the University will have to find ways to cut costs in other areas.

The University of Iowa is not alone in facing these issues. Many other universities in the state and across the country are also facing budget cuts and tuition hikes.

The increase is expected to be controversial, and there will likely be public debate on the issue. The University of Iowa will have to work hard to explain its need for the increase to the public and to the legislature.

Rent deposit regulations

Senate passes landlord-tenant bill

BY MICHAEL McCANN
Legislative Correspondent

DEB McDOUGLAS, Des Moines — The Iowa Senate has approved a landlord-tenant bill which sets down specific regulations for the withholding and return of rent deposits that have been passed to the tenant by the landlord.

The 39-1 vote, which requires the landlord to give the tenant within 15 days their written return instructions, return the deposit in the tenant's name, or return the deposit without delay, was the result of a Senate committee meeting on the legislation.

The bill passed the Senate with a 39-1 vote

The Committee, major farm organizations gave conditional support to the trade bill while the National Milk Producers Federation, the American Farm Bureau Federation, the American Soybean Association and the American Peanut Council called for a vote of no confidence in the U.S. Administration.

In testimony of the facts sketched of the trade bill, the National Milk Producers Federation, the American Farm Bureau Federation, the American Soybean Association and the American Peanut Council called for a vote of no confidence in the U.S. Administration.

The committee also approved a request by the National Milk Producers Federation, the American Farm Bureau Federation, the American Soybean Association and the American Peanut Council to allow the farmer to retain the use of the deposit for a reasonable period of time.

As it came from the Senate, the bill contains "one single word about the use of the deposit," according to Agriculture Secretary Maurice Van Nostrand.

"That one single word," Van Nostrand said, "is vividly clear that without radical change the bill will do nothing for tenant farmers and other persons who have been denied the use of the deposit."

Film decrtes approved society values

By PHIL BROWN

One of the legacies of the production discourse is the presence of the P.I.T. group of the same name. Through their activity, "P.I.T. values" were valued and was the focus of the Moaner's Verdict. These values were an essential part of the production discourse and were often the focus of intense debates and discussions.

The rest of the humor is clearly oriented around the main character, Chaplin. The comedy of the film is one of the most notable aspects of the production. It is through the use of this comedy that the film is able to satirize and comment on the values of the society.

Verdoux is not only a dutiful and admirable family man. For the first time in 25 years, he is happily married. The rest of the humor is clearly oriented around the main character, Chaplin. The comedy of the film is one of the most notable aspects of the production. It is through the use of this comedy that the film is able to satirize and comment on the values of the society.

The problem of the film is not that it is not in line with the experiments and radical work which went on in the 1920s; it is that we now know that those experiments and radical work went on in the 1920s.

The problem is that we now know that those experiments and radical work went on in the 1920s. The film was probably the first to use this comedy to satirize and comment on the values of the society. Blazing Saddles

Brooks’ grabbag takes on almost everything

by Dave Helland

The faint-hearted must be warned, for the movie Blazing Saddles is a raucous, irreverent look at the Western genre. The title notwithstanding, it’s a Western, all right, but a very different one from the usual fare. The movie is packed with humor, satire, and social commentary, making it a truly unique Western.

The movie opens with a scene that sets the tone for the rest of the film. A group of cowhands are seen building a fence, when they are interrupted by the arrival of a new man in town. The new man, played by Mel Brooks, is a gunslinger who rides into town on a black horse. The cowhands are surprised by his appearance, but they quickly adapt to the situation.

The rest of the movie is filled with jokes, satire, and social commentary. The movie lampoons the Western genre itself, as well as the politics of the time. The humor is not for everyone, but it is certainly unique.

In conclusion, Blazing Saddles is a truly unique Western movie. It is not for everyone, but it is definitely worth seeing for those who are looking for something different.

Baker's brother, "This is the second in a series of our annual baseball forecasts for the "Madhouse of the Midwest," Milwaukee, the St. Louis Cardinals, Chicago, dealing with divisional races in both the American and National League.

By CHUCK HICKMAN

In his baseball mind, the Hall of Famer's thinking appears to reside in the realm of the International League, Na tional League. Every spring and fall, when the season winds up, Bob talks the same way he used to categorize his seasons as a player and as manager. A few of the names he used to talk about the same way back then are still hanging around. Since he is a New Yorker, he knows one thing is for sure, the Yankees will—as always—win the world championship. The other two? The other two are still up in the air. He has been a New Yorker ever since before he was a kid. There are no other generations when you think about the Giants. You think about the Yankees.

As for the other two places, Bob has no idea. All he knows is that the entire National League is definitely going to be up for grabs this year. There is no way you can look at the standings and predict who is going to win the National League East. The rest? The rest is just as up in the air. The Brooklyn Dodgers are definitely going to be in there. They have a chance. They have a shot. The rest? Don't even think about it.

Bob is a New Yorker. He knows that this is the way it is. The Yankees win the world championship. The other two? The other two are still up in the air. He has been a New Yorker ever since before he was a kid. There are no other generations when you think about the Giants. You think about the Yankees.

As for the other two places, Bob has no idea. All he knows is that the entire National League is definitely going to be up for grabs this year. There is no way you can look at the standings and predict who is going to win the National League East. The rest? The rest is just as up in the air. The Brooklyn Dodgers are definitely going to be in there. They have a chance. They have a shot. The rest? Don't even think about it.

Entrice can be picked up in room 123 of the Field House for the weightlifting contest to be held April 11. It is the second event in a three-month series which will be sponsored by the Iowa Weightlifting Club and the Daily Iowan. The winner will be presented with a $300 prize. Entries must be made by Friday at 5:00 p.m. The contest is open to Iowa State's residents, and the winner will be selected by a panel of judges.

The killing streak started after a basket by Nance Washington gave Marquette a 28-27 lead, followed by two layups and a technical foul on the玩er and Towe finished with 16 points-the same as he scored in the third game.

It was the North Carolina State team's third victory in the eight games over a two-year span. In 1976, the Elite Eight Sweetheart Sweethearts were a powerful team, but they lost to the Wolfpack 76-64.

Late in the game, the Wolfpack's% won the right to play in the NCAA playoffs again this year.
