Hall's attorney objects to trial evidence

Concerning fingerprint, hair samples

The judges say the jury has the right to consider the evidence and the defendant Hall has the right to contest it. The defense attorney says that the fingerprint evidence should be excluded because it was obtained in violation of the defendant's constitutional rights.

The lawyer for the prosecution, however, argues that the fingerprint evidence is admissible because it was obtained legally and is relevant to the case.

The court ultimately rules that the fingerprint evidence can be considered by the jury, but the defense attorney reserves the right to challenge its admissibility on appeal.

The court also rules that the hair samples can be considered by the jury, but the defense attorney reserves the right to challenge their admissibility on appeal.

The court order is final, and the case proceeds to trial.
HUD officials withdraw ultimatum forcing I.C. to finance renewal

By BILL BIRMENHAM

Officials of the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development have withdrawn an ultimatum which would have placed a $2.5 million finance burden upon the city of Iowa City. The original ultimatum was made by HUD officials that Iowa City would be required to finance a $2.5 million budget surplus for the operation of the public parking lots.

The ultimatum was withdrawn after the Iowa City Housing Authority met with representatives of HUD officials and the City Council and City Hall Monday.

HUD had originally insisted that the ultimatum be met with a proposal to meet the $2.5 million deficit by issuing a so-called revenue bond requiring no voter approval, which was rejected by HUD because the city did not notify the county of its intentions.

The second plan, which would have financed the city construction through revenue bonds requiring no voter approval, was rejected by HUD because the city did not follow the proper procedure.

Under a plan negotiated Monday, but not to be finalized today by HUD—city's urban renewal contract with the federal department would include special requirements for city-owned parking and certain street improvements, according to Mayor Edgar Curren. If the plan is accepted by HUD it is expected that HUD and Iowa City will enter into a new contract.

The post-Vietnam syndrome, a feeling of anger, frustration, and alienation, is prevalent among representatives of the University of Iowa Veterans' Association (UIVVA) and the veterans of the Vietnam War. UIVVA, said that more than half of the veterans of the university have a post-Vietnam syndrome.

Veterans of that era were not welcomed home with parades as the public was embarrassed by the war. They were looked upon as scapegoats," said Nick Blaney, president of the University of Iowa Veterans' Association. "People wanted badly to forget the Vietnam conflict and have been able to do this by forgetting the veterans," said Tom Rother, UIVVA's president.

The post-Vietnam syndrome is a result of the American public's emotional response to the Vietnam veterans. Because Vietnam veterans are seen as having stirred up the American public, they are looked upon as scapegoats. This is a result of the American public's emotional response to the Vietnam veterans.

"Some of the things that they have learned by fighting for peace and reform are so disturbing that they have taught to the American public," Blaney said.

The post-Vietnam syndrome is known to be quite prevalent in the United States. It is a result of the American public's emotional response to the Vietnam veterans.

Recent reports have indicated that more than 300,000 veterans are being treated for the post-Vietnam syndrome. This is a result of the American public's emotional response to the Vietnam veterans.

The typical CAMBUS rider had his hands full on campus Wednesday afternoon. With the results of the third annual CAMBUS survey reported, students are upset over the program.

Last year's survey results indicated that the system serves both students and faculty. However, this year's survey results indicate that the system serves primarily the students.

"The system serves both students and faculty," said Mike Dare, vice president of the Student Government Association. "The system is part of a national trend.

"We need a system that is more personalized than one that is part of a national trend," Dare said.

2nd annual Herky Awards

Drowning

The Herky Award is given to someone whose actions or events demonstrate a willingness to risk one's life to save another, and whose actions or events are an inspiration to the people of the university. The award is named after the late Hawkeye football coach, Johnny Majors, who died in 1974.

Drowning is a terrible thing to witness. It's even worse when you're the one who has to do something about it. That's what happened to Mike Murray, a sophomore engineering student at the University of Iowa, on May 6, 1974. Murray was swimming in a lake near the campus when he saw a woman going under. He immediately jumped in the water and began to swim towards her. After a few strokes, he reached her and pulled her to the surface. The woman was able to breathe again and was taken to a hospital. Murray's quick thinking and brave actions saved her life. He received the 1974 Herky Award for his heroism.

Mansfield: 'time to cool it'

The top Democratic leaders of Congress have urged President Jimmy Carter to cool down a Labor Day protest strike that could cloud the outcome of the November election. "Time to cool it," Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said in a statement released Monday. "The Labor Day strike is being organized to penalize workers in the hands of the courts and the Internal Revenue Service.""The strike is not the answer," said House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., criticizing the protest against the federal government. "It may not be the answer to the immediate problems that are being faced by our government, but it is not the answer," O'Neill said. Fairport mines rock from old ballads

Killer's note: "This is the second of a three-part series exploring British folk-rock."

Feature Writer

When Fairport Convention was in its formative stage, there were still echoes of the late 1960s in the music of some of Britain's leading folk-rock groups, including Fairport Convention and their next release, "Liege and Lief," comes out October 12. A look at the group's musical heritage could be said to express the best of the more exclusively British musical forms .

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Texans opened in a swirl of controversy involving the national anthem. The players did not participate in the national anthem before the game, but they did sing the "Time for Change" song. The team is in their first year in the league and many of the players are still adjusting to the new schedule. It was the first time the organization has tried to address the anthem issue. The Texans are not in the top three in terms of the amount of money they spend on football. The practice facility, the Houston Texans have been struggling to find a solution to the anthem issue.

YOU'RE SERIOUS ABOUT PHOTOGRAPHY.

SO IS THE CANON F-1

To you, photography is more than a hobby. This may never want to become a professional. Yet, your photography is as important as means of self-expression to you as your speeches. You demand the same excellence in your photographic equipment as you do in other photographic skills. The Canon F-1 is the camera that can fill any photographic task to which you put it. It can start up in any ability in your situation.

Naturally, a great camera like the Canon F-1 won't guarantee great results. That's up to you. Yet — it's not to say that you can get as many analytical questions as you can with a photographic editor. Part of the reason for this is the F-1 system. It does in the world of photos, in color and black-and-white, in the world of action and sports photography. There's nothing 'addled' on it in itself. Everything is as it's designed to be, and it's capable of being everything you want it to be. There's never anything worrying about your camera or film shooting. And that's what's so great about the Canon F-1. Controls fall into place under your hand, and every professional who depends on a camera needs a camera like the Canon F-1 for the important things. You get back a camera you can trust. Nothing is more important than the camera you take with you to a job. And that's what's so great about the Canon F-1. Controls fall into place under your hand, and every professional who depends on a camera needs a camera like the Canon F-1 for the important things.
