Judiciary Committee subpoenas 49 presidential conversations

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House Judiciary Committee today renewed its demands that President Nixon provide minutes of meetings he had with various aides and that he testify himself. The committee announced that it will take legal action to compel his appearance.

The committee's request is part of a series of growing pressures on Nixon from Congress. The House voted on Wednesday to authorize impeachment proceedings against Nixon for obstruction of justice.

Soviet dissident makes appeal

MOSCOW (AP) - Disillusioned Andrei Sakharov, subjected to President Brezhnev's harassment and the Communist party leader's lightning strike at his freedom of expression, called for a moratorium on the publications of a Soviet prize.

The scientist's letter came in the midst of a political fight by the Kremlin to have the 72-year-old Sakharov, after years of self-imposed exile, return to Moscow. The letter was sent to the two leaders, a copy of which was given to the United States White House.

Ten conversations related to the ITT lobbying case, for instance, were covered in four subpoenas, and the subcommittee chairman, Rep. John B. Anderson, D-Ill., is planning to extend the inquiry to the State and Treasury departments.

Law may boost credit costs to 18 per cent

WASHINGTON (AP) - Consumer groups pressed for legislation to boost credit costs to 18 per cent, as well.

The consumer groups said the rate increase would be a major setback in the government's efforts to control inflation.

Mortgage

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon is preparing to make a major mortgage adjustment so that the average borrower will be paying an interest rate of 8 per cent.

The decision is seen as a major move by the administration to curb inflation.

Terrorists

RAHABAH, Israel (AP) - Israeli soldiers found three dead terrorists holding hostages in an underground tunnel on Monday, the defense minister said.

The guards, acting on information given by a winner of the Jerusalem lottery, were attacked by the terrorists killed last week, security sources said.

The White House announced that Nixon had offered a $100,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the three.

Two Jordanians were wounded in the gunfight.

Name game

LOS ANGELES (AP) - California's personal names are popular with some actors and actresses.

Among the stars of the famous list, we find...
Citizens present petition

Supervisors debate road improvements

By NOFF WRIGHT

Staff Writer

Mayor Jim Muehlberger's ears must have rung when he heard the sound of sawing and hammering coming from the street corner.

"They're going to improve the road?" he thought to himself. "That's good."

"But wait," he added out loud, "what about the noise?"

The city council was considering a petition that had been presented by a group of residents. They were concerned about the noise generated by the construction work.

"We want to improve the road," said Supervisor Robert J. Burns. "But we also want to hear our neighbors."

"I agree," said Supervisor William Tucker. "We need to find a way to balance the needs of the community."

"I propose we meet with the residents and discuss the best way to proceed," said Supervisor Janice L. Brown.

"Sounds like a good idea," said Mayor Muehlberger. "Let's set a date for the meeting."

UI faculty, staff pledge support

Women's Center to receive funds

By BILL HENNESSY

The reorganization of the Iowa City Women's Center came one step closer to reality on Monday when President Boyd announced that $10,000 was raised and that a new center will be established in the fall.

The money will be used to purchase furniture for the center, which will be located in the basement of the Art Center on Madison and Market Streets.

The new center will be on the second floor of the Art Center and will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.

The center will be open to the public.
A Question of Numbers

Yesterday, Sen. of State Henry Kissinger made a ringing denial of the charge made by Sen. of Sen. Pat Specter that the United States has allowed the Soviet Union to intercept its medium-range missiles.

The Senate's conlessional ratting borders on demagogic fear mongering. Kissinger's argument is based totally on the number of strategic delivery systems (i.e., land and sea based) and may even be a farce, considering the numbers in the hands of the USSR.

The real argument on strategic superiority rests on the numbers of warheads and the actual warheads on the road of demonstration, as shown below.

Johnstone

Yesterday, Sen. of State Henry Kissinger made a ringing denial of the charge made by Sen. of Sen. Pat Specter that the United States has allowed the Soviet Union to intercept its medium-range missiles.

The Senate's conlessional ratting borders on demagogic fear mongering. Kissinger's argument is based totally on the number of strategic delivery systems (i.e., land and sea based) and may even be a farce, considering the numbers in the hands of the USSR.

The real argument on strategic superiority rests on the numbers of warheads and the actual warheads on the road of demonstration, as shown below.

Johnstone

You know them. You've passed them as you walked down the street in town. Perhaps even shaken hands with them. They diagnose themselves as backahurers, blacksheep, and worse. They are the white-trash, the greased-back, the down-at-the-heel, the lowest-drag, the lowest-level people.

In certain large eastern cities, nights of massed demonstrations are going on. They are demonstrations which might have been called antiwar demonstrations, but the antiwar demonstrations are being overtaken by something even more frightening.

The Senate's conlessional ratting borders on demagogic fear mongering. Kissinger's argument is based totally on the number of strategic delivery systems (i.e., land and sea based) and may even be a farce, considering the numbers in the hands of the USSR.

The real argument on strategic superiority rests on the numbers of warheads and the actual warheads on the road of demonstration, as shown below.

Johnstone

You know them. You've passed them as you walked down the street in town. Perhaps even shaken hands with them. They diagnose themselves as backahurers, blacksheep, and worse. They are the white-trash, the greased-back, the down-at-the-heel, the lowest-drag, the lowest-level people.

In certain large eastern cities, nights of massed demonstrations are going on. They are demonstrations which might have been called antiwar demonstrations, but the antiwar demonstrations are being overtaken by something even more frightening.

The Senate's conlessional ratting borders on demagogic fear mongering. Kissinger's argument is based totally on the number of strategic delivery systems (i.e., land and sea based) and may even be a farce, considering the numbers in the hands of the USSR.

The real argument on strategic superiority rests on the numbers of warheads and the actual warheads on the road of demonstration, as shown below.

Johnstone

You know them. You've passed them as you walked down the street in town. Perhaps even shaken hands with them. They diagnose themselves as backahurers, blacksheep, and worse. They are the white-trash, the greased-back, the down-at-the-heel, the lowest-drag, the lowest-level people.

In certain large eastern cities, nights of massed demonstrations are going on. They are demonstrations which might have been called antiwar demonstrations, but the antiwar demonstrations are being overtaken by something even more frightening.

The Senate's conlessional ratting borders on demagogic fear mongering. Kissinger's argument is based totally on the number of strategic delivery systems (i.e., land and sea based) and may even be a farce, considering the numbers in the hands of the USSR.

The real argument on strategic superiority rests on the numbers of warheads and the actual warheads on the road of demonstration, as shown below.

Johnstone

You know them. You've passed them as you walked down the street in town. Perhaps even shaken hands with them. They diagnose themselves as backahurers, blacksheep, and worse. They are the white-trash, the greased-back, the down-at-the-heel, the lowest-drag, the lowest-level people.

In certain large eastern cities, nights of massed demonstrations are going on. They are demonstrations which might have been called antiwar demonstrations, but the antiwar demonstrations are being overtaken by something even more frightening.

The Senate's conlessional ratting borders on demagogic fear mongering. Kissinger's argument is based totally on the number of strategic delivery systems (i.e., land and sea based) and may even be a farce, considering the numbers in the hands of the USSR.

The real argument on strategic superiority rests on the numbers of warheads and the actual warheads on the road of demonstration, as shown below.

Johnstone

You know them. You've passed them as you walked down the street in town. Perhaps even shaken hands with them. They diagnose themselves as backahurers, blacksheep, and worse. They are the white-trash, the greased-back, the down-at-the-heel, the lowest-drag, the lowest-level people.

In certain large eastern cities, nights of massed demonstrations are going on. They are demonstrations which might have been called antiwar demonstrations, but the antiwar demonstrations are being overtaken by something even more frightening.

The Senate's conlessional ratting borders on demagogic fear mongering. Kissinger's argument is based totally on the number of strategic delivery systems (i.e., land and sea based) and may even be a farce, considering the numbers in the hands of the USSR.

The real argument on strategic superiority rests on the numbers of warheads and the actual warheads on the road of demonstration, as shown below.

Johnstone

You know them. You've passed them as you walked down the street in town. Perhaps even shaken hands with them. They diagnose themselves as backahurers, blacksheep, and worse. They are the white-trash, the greased-back, the down-at-the-heel, the lowest-drag, the lowest-level people.

In certain large eastern cities, nights of massed demonstrations are going on. They are demonstrations which might have been called antiwar demonstrations, but the antiwar demonstrations are being overtaken by something even more frightening.

The Senate's conlessional ratting borders on demagogic fear mongering. Kissinger's argument is based totally on the number of strategic delivery systems (i.e., land and sea based) and may even be a farce, considering the numbers in the hands of the USSR.

The real argument on strategic superiority rests on the numbers of warheads and the actual warheads on the road of demonstration, as shown below.

Johnstone

You know them. You've passed them as you walked down the street in town. Perhaps even shaken hands with them. They diagnose themselves as backahurers, blacksheep, and worse. They are the white-trash, the greased-back, the down-at-the-heel, the lowest-drag, the lowest-level people.
DON'T BUY A STEREO

Until You've Heard The Advent Loudspeakers at THE STEREO SHOP

Chatald. Ltd. Sports

Peugeot Bikes In stock

21-"23-24-25" frames U08-PR10-PIX10

Also Iowa's largest display of Sailboats

Chatald Ltd. Sports

338-9505

Breakfast in black and white-

Read The Daily Iowan every morning!

Quality Sound through Quality Equipment

The newspaper at Al Akhbar printed a similar editorial warning the Israelis against using nuclear weapons, saying: "The time has come to recognize that the time for hot heads has ended ... stop the Middle East from becoming a nuclear war zone."

The editorial followed reports published in Cairo that Israel has developed a mobile tactical nuclear weapon.

"The time has come for the Israelis to recognize the futility of their attempts to force the issue of the Arab-Israeli conflict in the Middle East," Al Akhbar said. It said that the Israelis' financial and scientific resources were enough to produce an atomic bomb. President Anwar Sadat, in an interview broadcast by CBS television, and Egypt would face a "complete national situation" if representatives of the United States and Egypt continue to seek a settlement to the Middle East conflict. Egypt will continue to cooperate only with "building and reconstruction," Sadat said.

Al Akhbar accused Israel of using nuclear weapons as a means to threaten Egypt, as well as other Arab countries. It charged that the Israeli government was "in a state of crisis" and that the country was facing "a serious economic crisis." The newspaper accused Israel of "trying to create a situation in which the United Nations would be forced to accept a fait accompli." It warned that "such an attempt will be rejected by the Arab world and the international community."
In the fourteenth century the whole art of ceramic was developed in Europe, and the subsequent holes were created in the 18th century. Among these ceramic pieces, limitations of time were imperative for exploration. The key point was that the last time the Church did not think of this hole. It is in the major parts of the Western world, it is in the major parts of the Western world. The main thing here is that if we can do it well, then nobody else can do it better. This is not "The New Land" ...
Celebrities delight gallery

By BOB JONES and \SUSAN B. THOMAS

Former Yankee baseball star Mickey Mantle gave fans the thrill of a lifetime as he entered the lilting, sunlit scene at the University of Iowa golf course.

"I'm glad they had a ball," he shouted, looking toward the sky. "Mickey's a sure-fire winner. The response from the large gallery of students was a roar of laughter and general agreement.

Comedian Brooks, looking like a court jester to his gaudy brown and yellow trousers and a bright yellow shirt, was one of the many celebrities in the eighth annual VIP golf tournament at the University of Iowa golf course.

The day's crowd favorite was the three-time Open champion, Arnold Palmer. His bearded physique and his intense look as he played, always seemed to emanate a sense of concentration.

"I am a man of many talents," he said to the audience, smiling as he tapped his golf club on the ground.

The Essence of the Game

The game is always the same: to have fun. Fans, the celebrities and the big-name players all follow the route of the tournament.

A crowd of more than 10,000 fans followed the action as the day's sets were played. Some waited with the celebrities and big-name players, while others waited with the audiences as they played.

The Mick

Former Yankee baseball star Mickey Mantle gave fans the thrill of a lifetime as he entered the lilting, sunlit scene at the University of Iowa golf course.

"I'm glad they had a ball," he shouted, looking toward the sky. "Mickey's a sure-fire winner. The response from the large gallery of students was a roar of laughter and general agreement.

Comedian Brooks, looking like a court jester to his gaudy brown and yellow trousers and a bright yellow shirt, was one of the many celebrities in the eighth annual VIP golf tournament at the University of Iowa golf course.

The day's crowd favorite was the three-time Open champion, Arnold Palmer. His bearded physique and his intense look as he played, always seemed to emanate a sense of concentration.

"I am a man of many talents," he said to the audience, smiling as he tapped his golf club on the ground.

The Essence of the Game

The game is always the same: to have fun. Fans, the celebrities and the big-name players all follow the route of the tournament.

A crowd of more than 10,000 fans followed the action as the day's sets were played. Some waited with the celebrities and big-name players, while others waited with the audiences as they played.

The Mick

Former Yankee baseball star Mickey Mantle gave fans the thrill of a lifetime as he entered the lilting, sunlit scene at the University of Iowa golf course.

"I'm glad they had a ball," he shouted, looking toward the sky. "Mickey's a sure-fire winner. The response from the large gallery of students was a roar of laughter and general agreement.

Comedian Brooks, looking like a court jester to his gaudy brown and yellow trousers and a bright yellow shirt, was one of the many celebrities in the eighth annual VIP golf tournament at the University of Iowa golf course.

The day's crowd favorite was the three-time Open champion, Arnold Palmer. His bearded physique and his intense look as he played, always seemed to emanate a sense of concentration.

"I am a man of many talents," he said to the audience, smiling as he tapped his golf club on the ground.

The Essence of the Game

The game is always the same: to have fun. Fans, the celebrities and the big-name players all follow the route of the tournament.

A crowd of more than 10,000 fans followed the action as the day's sets were played. Some waited with the celebrities and big-name players, while others waited with the audiences as they played.

The Mick

Former Yankee baseball star Mickey Mantle gave fans the thrill of a lifetime as he entered the lilting, sunlit scene at the University of Iowa golf course.

"I'm glad they had a ball," he shouted, looking toward the sky. "Mickey's a sure-fire winner. The response from the large gallery of students was a roar of laughter and general agreement.

Comedian Brooks, looking like a court jester to his gaudy brown and yellow trousers and a bright yellow shirt, was one of the many celebrities in the eighth annual VIP golf tournament at the University of Iowa golf course.

The day's crowd favorite was the three-time Open champion, Arnold Palmer. His bearded physique and his intense look as he played, always seemed to emanate a sense of concentration.

"I am a man of many talents," he said to the audience, smiling as he tapped his golf club on the ground.

The Essence of the Game

The game is always the same: to have fun. Fans, the celebrities and the big-name players all follow the route of the tournament.

A crowd of more than 10,000 fans followed the action as the day's sets were played. Some waited with the celebrities and big-name players, while others waited with the audiences as they played.
In the Bud Light Miller Light Tournament, on the Iowa City Country Club's Medalist Course, Arnold Palmer made two-shot swings so easy that the audience thought it was a joke.

The Amana crowd was larger and more lively than in previous years. Arnold Palmer, George Kenyon, and John Yancey were among the stars who attended. The golf tournament was a spectacular event, with a total of 17,000 people in attendance.

The Amana Golf Tournament was the largest and most successful tournament in the history of the Amana Golf Club. The tournament featured many of the top golfers in the country, including Arnold Palmer, who was the highlight of the event.

The tournament was a huge success, with a total of 17,000 people in attendance. The paddies were packed with people, and the atmosphere was electric. The tournament was a testament to the popularity of the sport of golf and the love of the Amana community.

The Amana Golf Tournament was a spectacular event, with a total of 17,000 people in attendance. The paddies were packed with people, and the atmosphere was electric. The tournament was a testament to the popularity of the sport of golf and the love of the Amana community.