Commute lot increase scrapped

By OSCAR HAWKINS

Director of Planning and Parking Operations

Eaton, Ohio

Eaton, March 18--The Board of Regents, meeting in executive session Wednesday, decided to increase parking rates on the Eaton campus by two dollars per semester. The new rates will take effect immediately.

The increase, which was recommended by the Parking Committee, will bring the cost of a parking permit to $90 for the year.

The action was taken after a discussion of the need for additional revenue to cover the costs of managing the parking lot.

The Regents voted unanimously to approve the increase, which was necessary due to rising costs and the need to maintain the quality of the parking lot.

The increase will go into effect immediately, and the new rates will apply to all parking permits sold for the current academic year.

The increase was approved by a unanimous vote of the Regents.

The parking lot is expected to be fully utilized with the new rates, and the Regents expressed confidence that the increased revenue will help cover the costs of operating the parking lot.
In Favor of Impeachment

The first I-Poll of University of Iowa students conducted by The Daily Iowan shows that 73 percent of the people polled believed that President Nixon should be impeached. However, not a single person polled believed that he should be convicted by the Senate.

"Do you think the President should be impeached?"

Yes: 73% No: 27%

"Do you think the President should be convicted by the Senate?"

Yes: 0% No: 100%

The study, which was conducted by telephone between July 17, 11, also showed that within the U-I student body the number of students who confided their opinion of the impeachment with the Senate trial was fairly low. Only 10 percent of the people polled had been a part of any public discussions on the issue.

"The Rlc:hardlon was lood at seems to me that the higher-ups in this case have no one says that they can't do them, least it."

The student opinions were taken from the summer registration list. Random selection of names was based by using the last two digits of the student ID number. The students called in this study had numbers ending in 09-99. A total of 166 fully and incomplete replies were received. The replies were not chosen at random but at ad- equated frequency figures (i.e. those who were asked the question and had a full response).

The small number of respondents on the per- ceptions questions are due mainly to the fact that we did not ask that series of questions if the person confined impeachment with conviction. In order to discover the level of public knowedge on the various aspects of impeach- ment process, the respondents were asked questions concerning the process in their own words. The poll showed that there was a fair level of awareness on technical aspects of the impeachment process. A total of 48 percent of the people polled believed that it was the House's duty to impeach and a total of 51 percent knew that it was the Senate's job to build the trial. A total of 49 percent of the people polled also answered correctly the questions concerning the process. However, only 10 percent of the poll clearly confided impeachment with conviction. This was due, more than likely, not only to the nature of the people questioned (i.e. university students) but also to the number of people involved in the impeachment process.

In short, the study of U-I campus opinion shows that a large majority of students polled are in favor of the use of the constitutional process of impeachment for ending this political scandal. The people are apparently voting as to whether or not justice will be able to pull out the hand in the matter.

Some people have said that no justification for the President of the University ever gives reason as to why he does things? If course not, we should fire the old man and go back to the days when we had a real campus.

"The SOl'MBED are ready to continue the impeachment investigation."

"For the President of the University ever gives reason as to why he does things? If course not, we should fire the old man and go back to the days when we had a real campus.

For the President of the University ever gives reason as to why he does things? If course not, we should fire the old man and go back to the days when we had a real campus.

There has been a lot of backhanded flattery around the country and the people are saying that it is a good thing. It is a good thing. It is a good thing.

Proposal asks UI to appropriate bikeway funds

BY WILLIAM J. MAULFIPPE

Editorial writer

As the bicentennial anniversary approaches, the question of whether the University of Iowa should appropriate funds for a bikeway across the county line is appropriate.

In his capacity as editor of the Daily Iowan, Rich Schmunk wrote: "I believe that the University of Iowa should appropriate funds for a bikeway across the county line," and "I believe that the University of Iowa should appropriate funds for a bikeway across the county line because it would be a valuable addition to the community and would enhance the quality of life for those who live in the area." He further stated: "I believe that the University of Iowa should appropriate funds for a bikeway across the county line because it would be a valuable addition to the community and would enhance the quality of life for those who live in the area."

The Judge
By Emily Jong

J ohn Davis, a former judge in the federal courts in Washington, D.C., is a man of many interests and involvements. Despite his extensive work in the legal field, he enjoys reading books on a variety of subjects, including politics, history, and literature. He is also an active member of several organizations, including the National Association of Retired Federal Employees and the American Bar Association.

Davis is known for his good humor and quick wit. He often uses his legal experience to interpret current events, providing insights that are both entertaining and thought-provoking.

One of his most notable achievements was his role in the prosecution of a major tax fraud case. Davis was instrumental in securing convictions for several high-profile defendants, including a prominent businessman who had been accused of evading taxes. The case received national attention and was widely praised for its thorough investigation and effective prosecution.

Davis has also been actively involved in community service. He volunteers regularly at a local food bank and has served as a mentor to several young people in his neighborhood. His dedication to helping others is one of his most admirable qualities.

Despite his many responsibilities, Davis always manages to strike a balance between work and leisure. He enjoys playing golf and spending time with his family and friends. In his free time, he can be found reading, attending concerts, or simply relaxing at home.

The Judge is a man of many facets, and his contributions to society have been widely recognized. He continues to be an inspiration to those around him, reminding us all of the importance of justice and integrity in our daily lives.
Controversy over King selection

IOWA (AP) - Score: 14-12. Old Bob King was named 25th coach of the Detroit Lions, the NFL team that was founded in 1929 and is now in its 30th season. King was selected over former Kansas City Chiefs Coach Len Dawson, who had coached the team for the past six years and is a former NFL star. Dawson, who led the Chiefs to their only Super Bowl appearance in 1970, expressed his disappointment over not being chosen for the Lions. He said, "I'm not surprised. I've been told for the past six years that I'm not good enough. But I'm not going to quit. I'll keep working and hopefully I'll get another chance." The Lions, who are 2-4 this season, are looking for a new coach to lead them to their first playoff appearance since 1970. King, who has been an NFL assistant for 25 years, is expected to be named consultant for the next few days to determine the team's coaching staff. He said, "I'm excited about this opportunity. I've been waiting for a chance like this for a long time." The Lions, who have lost four of their last five games, are currently third in the NFC Central Division with a 2-4 record. They will play the New England Patriots next Sunday in Foxboro, Massachusetts. The Patriots are 6-0 and are expected to win the division. King, who was previously the offensive coordinator for the San Francisco 49ers, will assume the duties of the co-clining staff."
