President Ford is in a thoughtful mood as he says, "It's going to be a great day for all of us." He says he believes that the pardon will give new life to the Nixon presidency. Ford says Nixon will be "greatly relieved" by the decision. He says the pardon will "help to heal the wounds of the past." He adds, "I know this is a difficult decision to make, but I believe it is the right one." Ford says the pardon will "help to start the healing process." He concludes, "I believe the United States will emerge from this ordeal stronger than ever before."
Hall bail money, transfer may be finalized this week

BY RETHA KINNON
Art Department Editor

The $100 bail on James W. Hay may finally be reduced this week, according to James F. Haye.
Hayes' former attorney and presently in charge of Hall's bail fund, said Monday that he had not last week with "several eastern Iowa people" who, accepting to Hayes, were "very enthusiastic" about purchasing the $100 in bail to release Hayes' value needed.

These people met among themselves this weekend, Hayes said apparently to determine the properties each will volunteer. The group will meet with Hayes today to iron out his decision.

Hayes declined to name the people considering the real estate pledge.

To obtain release on bail, Must meet the following: (1) the court must provide the remainder—$800—in a "free and clear" real estate mortgage, and (2) the floor must be between $1,000 and $1,500 short of the necessary cash amount.

If the property portion of the bond is not, then Hayes figures "no problem is getting the rest.

He said that it is still possible for anyone to decorate the floor at the bail fund at Iowa City's

The Quantity of Mercy

Yesterday morning, President Ford issued a full, and absolute pardon for any crimes former President Richard Nixon may have committed during the Watergate cover-up. Such a bold gesture before the public and the administration has run its course on the question of forgiving those guilty of political and moral excesses in the exercise of mercy.

Many feel that the former President has suffered enough and that he should be permitted to face his destiny in private. The public, however, still harbors a sense of justice, and the truth demands that the investigation of the Watergate cover-up be fully explored so that we no longer be shamed as to his guilt or innocence in the matter.

President Ford’s concern for the safety of Mr. Nixon and his family is understandable. But it is not the suffering of the other persons and their families, convicted and serving time in federal correctional institutions just as bad and just as painful!

Nowhere in the Constitution does it state that a former President is more equal than other felons before the law, or free from criminal prosecution.

But the greatest mistake that President Ford made was to allow the former President to speak to the nation.

Reaction of Hall committee to Bail Article

TO THE EDITOR: The Daily Iowan's recent article concerning the bail issue does not reflect the stand that the Hall committee has taken on the right against National Oppression. In the article, the Daily Iowan stated that the Hall committee would still support the bail fund, and this is not correct.

The bail issue is a very important point of national liberation. We as National Oppressors have been ripped off by individuals in the Committee, and our position is that the Bail Fund is used only for National Oppression. We clearly understand the purpose of the bail fund.

The purpose of the bail fund is to release Jam es Hall and the fight against National Oppression. We believe that the bail fund should be used strictly for James Hall—not for his bail fund. There has been confusion about the accuracy of the story about the activity to Free James Hall. The Committee to Free James Hall is believed to be fraudulent, and one-third of the money raised at these events has not been used for the purpose it was raised. It has been transferred to other causes.

To further clarify, the bail fund is used to support the fight against National Oppression. The Committee to Free James Hall is not a legitimate organization, and we support the National Oppression.

The Hall committee has been divided on this issue. We want to clarify that the Hall committee is not a legitimate organization, and we support the National Oppression.

We would like to publicize our situation. We are also concerned about Murphy's comments. We maintain that the Hall committee is not a legitimate organization, and we support the National Oppression.

Thanks We Need To Know

TO THE EDITOR: In August, Murphy's recent article was called by the Iowa City Education Center concerning the bail issue. The Hall committee was asked if the committee was going to be held. Since the attorney general had not yet released any information when we are mentioned, we couldn't very well reply on a national scale.

It is true that the Bail Fund Committee held a hearing for those employees in 1975-6. But we do not want to rid ourselves of a suspicion that the bail fund was a way of making certain employees and their counsel more aware of certain charges. We believe that the bail fund was used to support the fight against National Oppression. The Hall committee is not a legitimate organization, and we support the National Oppression.

We have gone over to the Law Library and read the article, and we understand the general's opinion of July 15, 1974, and at this time we are in Des Moines asking Mr. Murphy to support the fight against National Oppression. We believe that the bail fund is used strictly for James Hall—not for his bail fund. There has been confusion about the accuracy of the story about the activity to Free James Hall. The Committee to Free James Hall is believed to be fraudulent, and one-third of the money raised at these events has not been used for the purpose it was raised.
Impounded Pets

Dear Survival Line:

In the past eight months I have had to give up the city animal shelter in order to retrieve my impounded dog. Why does the shelter wait until dawn of the next day in order to retrieve these animals? On one occasion, I was a month late in returning a dog to the shelter, for which I received a citation. Several years ago I had a dog impounded and it was very difficult to retrieve him.

The city animal shelter has never been a temple of justice for pet owners. Why can't pet owners retrieve their pets at any time of the day or night?

Sincerely,

The pleasant Indian summer weather was a relief to all customers. With the temperatures in the high sixties, this group decided to go fishing near the Coralville Dam.

"Oh, well I can see that you don't have time to talk to me, the man with the beer said sincerely. "I always have time to talk to the people," the candidate replied."

"But right now he has to catch a train," the mother of two, corranged, and asked Culver a question. That incident probably won the most heated political debate of the campaign; back stage, many agreed that the candidate should have raised the issue.

After the departure of Culver, Congressman Edward McCarthy, who was scheduled to speak, chose instead to speak to the crowd and to spread his message.

"Of course we are going to raise funds," Senator McCarthy assured his audience. They are the party workers, they have always had time to talk to the people," the candidate said.

Could you be a nuclear expert?

(If so, you could earn more than $500 a month your Senior year)

Even if you're a Junior engineering or physical science major, it's not too early to start the heavy scholarship career. And you may want to have some sort of experience in nuclear power. The Navy has a practical problem: you don't want to recruit a nuclear expert too far right away. Why not? Because if you're selected, you won't have to spend more than a year or so in a career. The Navy will begin papering you in the summer of 1976, or as it turns out, this year. What then? After graduation, you will be offered a course in nuclear training from the men who run the nuclear research in the country. Navy men. Knievel's rocket falterers in canyon jump

TWIN FALLS, Idaho (AP) — Evel Knievel's39-year-old son, Robin, went down in the history books Friday night when he crashed his rocket-powered motorcycle in the bottom of a narrow canyon.

Knievel's son was trying to duplicate his father's 1974 stunt, but he didn't get off the ground. He landed hard but wasn't critically injured, according to a news release.

Knievel, the daredevil motorcyclist who, during his heyday, was known as "The King of the Motorcycle Stuntmen," died in 2007.

Robin Knievel had announced plans to attempt the stunt earlier this year, and the event had drawn significant attention.

The stunt was to have taken place at the base of a 50-foot wide, 190-foot deep canyon called Snake River Canyon in Idaho. Knievel's goal was to clear a 300-foot wide gap between two cliffs, one of which is 100 feet high.

Knievel died in 2007 after attempting a similar stunt in Nevada, where he fell from a 135-foot tower and died of injuries.

The stunt was planned as a tribute to Knievel, who gained fame for his daredevil motorcycle stunts in the 1970s. He died in 2007 after attempting a similar stunt in Nevada, where he fell from a 135-foot tower and died of injuries.

The event was scheduled to take place on Saturday, with Knievel's son, Robin, attempting to use a rocket-powered motorcycle to clear the 300-foot gap.

However, Robin Knievel crash-landed his motorcycle in the bottom of the canyon, killing his dreams of replicating his father's feat.

This is not the first time Knievel's son has attempted a stunt in honor of his father. In 2018, he tried to clear a gap in Nevada but crashed.

The original stunt, in 1974, was hailed as a daring feat of engineering and athleticism. Knievel, who was 36 at the time, used two jet engines to power his motorcycle over a gap that was 300 feet wide and 135 feet high.

Knievel's daughter, Michelle, who was 23 at the time, witnessed the stunt from the sidelines.

The event was a huge success and became a symbol of American courage and determination.

Robin Knievel's attempt was met with mixed reactions. Some fans were disappointed, while others were grateful for the opportunity to see Knievel's son attempt the stunt.

The event was held in memory of Knievel's legacy and to honor his memory.
