Alleged irregularities may bring challenge to school elections

BY MARC SOLSON

Last Tuesday's School Board election may be challenged due to alleged voter registration irregularities.

Josef Wood, 20, Jacob B. St., and John Doe, 558 Maple Dr., County Board of Supervisors Monday, 5 Public Schools. Wood and Doe maintained that they were not registered to vote, although they said they were registered to vote for the November election.

Mr. Wood confirmed that he had not registered to vote for the November election. He said he registered to vote for the November election and that there were no secret deals or promises made for the November election.

Mr. Doe added that the alleged irregularities involved the use of crossing guards during the November election. He said there were no secret deals or promises made for the November election.

In other business, the Board of Supervisors approved the appointment of Schneider Johnson to the University Affairs Commission and the reappointment of Victor Van Winkle as a member of the Board of School Board Unification.

On Tuesday, Schneider Johnson said that his appointment to the University Affairs Commission would begin on September 17th, 1985. He said he would take eight disputed ballots in the Board of School Board Unification process before the canvass is completed.

On Tuesday, Joe Johnson, 558 Maple Dr., went to the town Board of School Board Unification with a complaint that there were no secret deals or promises made for the November election.

Federal judge dismisses charges against AIM leaders Banks, Means

BY PAUL, Man., AP— A federal judge Monday dismissed all five charges against two American Indian Movement leaders charged in the Wounded Knee, S.D. take over last year. The two leaders, a nation for which they had been held for trial in federal court, were acquitted of all charges.

District Court Judge Fred Nelson, government spokesperson, was recommending the charges. The trial had lasted about three weeks.

FBI reports that AI. (United States) and Means had been cleared of all charges. The FBI had concluded that there was no evidence to support the charges.

However, the FBI still had not cleared Means of any involvement in the Wounded Knee strike. The FBI had concluded that Means had been present in the town at the time.

The judge ruled that the evidence presented by the government was insufficient to support the charges.

The government had charged the two leaders with conspiracy to commit murder, obstruction of justice, and civil rights violations.

The judge ruled that the government had failed to prove its case beyond a reasonable doubt.

The government had argued that the leaders had conspired to commit murder in connection with the Wounded Knee strike.

The judge noted that the government had failed to prove that the leaders had actually conspired to commit murder.

The judge also ruled that the government had failed to prove that the leaders had obstructed justice.

Hall transfer status still ‘up in the air’

The reclassification status of possible transfer students of UI is still up in the air after James Hilty, UI’s director of admission, announced that he did not know if the UI would transfer students in the fall 1975. It was still not known whether or not UI would transfer students to other schools.

Hilty and UI’s director of enrollment, L. R. Hedrick, have announced that UI’s policy regarding transfers of UI students to other schools will be determined by the UI’s policy on transfers and the UI’s policy regarding the UI’s policy.

The UI’s policy on transfers is to transfer students to other schools if the UI’s policy on transfers is to transfer students to other schools.

The Hobbesian World of Earl Butz

See of Agriculture Earl Butz has been named to head the American delegation to the United Nations Economic Food Commission. In the naming of Butz to such a position in roughly eight months, the Department of Agriculture has charged of first graders' field trip.

The Butz government is in the process of developing a plan to fight the world's food crisis. The market will be stocked with food grains to support the growing population. The Secretary's office has taken the initiative to serve the public, which is essentially where the plan comes in.

Butz also stated that the U.S. is working on a plan to move the nation's food reserves to the United Nations. He said that the reserves should be placed in the hands of the U.N. for use in the United Nations' response to the world's food crisis.

The establishment of such a stockpile of food grains will serve to depress the prices that farmers would receive for their crops. The fear that these grain prices will rise to such levels is the reason for the stockpiling of food.

Refusal to break the English language

The problem of broken English is a serious matter. It is not just a matter of language, but it is also a matter of respect and dignity. It is important to recognize the importance of language and the respect it brings.

Policy may change if the situation is perceived as a national security issue. The Secretary's office is working on a plan to change the policy and bring a new method of handling the situation.

"winds of change"

What safeguards are needed to maintain the stability of the American delegation? The Secretary's office is working on a plan to establish a world-wide agricultural development program. The U.N. system is a viable option to achieve this goal.

Bangladesh Reel

The situation in Bangladesh is critical. The government has been affected by a severe drought and a political crisis. The United Nations is working on a plan to establish a world-wide agricultural development program to address the situation.

EPC considers proposal allowing undergraduates to aid low-income people

By ALISON NAPOLI

The EPC (Equity, Diversity, and Participation Committee) is considering a proposal that would allow undergraduates to participate in low-income aid programs. The proposal is aimed at addressing the lack of diversity in the current program.

The proposal includes measures to ensure that undergraduates have the necessary skills and training to be effective in these programs, as well as provisions to ensure that they are treated fairly and with respect.

The EPC is expected to vote on the proposal at its next meeting, scheduled for next week.

Editor's note: The following is a second of a series of departmental features on the U's and university departments. Yesterday we left off on a trip through the solar system. Today we visit Phobos.

The Phobos probe was launched from Earth several months ago. It's now on a collision course with the Jovian satellite. The probe will be inserted into Phobos's orbit in a few hours. The Jovian satellite is the largest object in the solar system within the orbit of Jupiter. Phobos is the largest of the many smaller moons of Jupiter.

The Phobos probe is equipped with a camera that will take high-resolution images of the surface of Phobos. The images will be transmitted back to Earth for analysis. The data will be used to study the geology and composition of the Jovian moon. The probe will also collect scientific data on the environment of the Jovian system and contribute to our understanding of the solar system.

The Phobos probe is a small spacecraft designed to study the Jovian system. It is part of a larger mission to study the Jovian system and its moons. The Phobos probe is a key part of this mission and will provide valuable data on the Jovian system.

Big George Injured
Foreman-Ali clash delayed

For Sale (R.I. AP) — A postponement of at least one week is the scheduled flag. It will have to wait, of course, to wrestle and the Ali Much for the talents of former heavyweight champ George Foreman and Muhammad Ali was removed Monday when Foreman suffered a cut on his right eye against Floyd Patterson in New York. Video Techniques, promoters of what is in the No. 1 career, postponed a match between one week and 10 days because of precautionary. A full gash Foreman suffered between his right eye and eyebrow in a Monday morning training session against Bill "Dick" Donnelly, a truncator for Video Techniques, cut in New York.

The world may be unaware yet as to what the posture is. There is no further action as the promotion of the right eye and the medical situation.

It was not immediately known how the postponement would be on the contract and decided pieces which have already been made for the box-office drawing of the fight.

There were conflicting versions at the injury’s seriousness. The Iowa management, which has made heavy investments in the fight as a showcase of the importance and competence of Ali, postponed the postponement, wished to maximize the gravity of the injury and averted any further postponement. Dr. Peter Becker, Foreman’s personal physician in Houston, has advised the postponement. He said a session within an 11-day period after the injury. “It will be a long time before I would be opened for a routine flu that would be in a matter of two weeks after the injury. The fight was not held until a month ago.”

George Foreman was sent to a hospital by his team after the injury. His eye was bandaged, but he was wearing a nose guard against his nose.

Ali reacted to the news curiously, his first fight announcement that the postponement. Ali’s management informed that the postponement. He was prepared to give a sight for a light dinner, made a joke that he would 'be coming a weigh-off with all the weight of the fight, that’s George Foreman.”

Sales of the fight reported to gross $30 million in New York, Ali and Foreman are to receive $20 million each for the fight.

The cut came on Foreman’s hard day of training so far.

Social Rick Penny, a two-year starter at free safety, will have surgery to repair a bone fracture today and will be lost for the season.

Pennie, from Carthage, Mo., was hurt last week in practice. For the third time in his career he was ruled out for the season. According to a bone injury, which caused a leg fracture, Pennie, who is not only a football player on the Carthage, Mo., but a baseball player on the baseball team at Carthage, Mo., will have surgery to repair the bone fracture today.

Nelh and Gil Mohler, Pennie’s roommates, and Wally Feltz, Pennie’s other roommates, have been ruled out for the season. The three roommates were injured in a home game against the Carthage, Mo., last week.

Carnese, a 125-pounder, is one of the Carthage, Mo., baseball team. He is also a cartoonist. Penny’s injury was not as serious as the other two injuries.

Carnese, who is a football player and a cartoonist, has been ruled out for the season. He is not playing football until he leaves the hospital.

The Carthage, Mo., team has not played since the injury. They were scheduled to play against the Carthage, Mo., team in their home game against the Carthage, Mo., last week.

Carnese, who is a cartoonist and a football player, is also a member of the Carthage, Mo., team. He is not playing football until he leaves the hospital.

Hawkeye hopes soar after Michigan show

By BRIAN M. HUTTZ

Coach Bob Commings, an Iowa grad who is a relative of a young man and thousands of fans are in attendance, as he takes the field at Memorial Stadium on Saturday. The Hawkeyes were coming off a 24-14 loss to Michigan State, and the team had been largely criticized for its performance in that game. Commings was quoted as saying, "We're going to show the country that we can play football."

The team had been particularly focused on improving its defense, and Commings was known for his ability to balance the offense and defense. He had been pushing his players to work harder and play smarter. The team had made some improvements, but it was clear that there was still work to be done. Commings was quoted as saying, "We're not happy with the way we played against Michigan State, but we know we can get better."

The team had also been working on improving its special teams, with Commings saying, "We need to be better on special teams. We have a lot of work to do there." The team had been struggling on both sides of the ball, but Commings was confident that the team could turn things around. He had been pushing his players to be more aggressive and to take control of the game. He had been saying, "We need to be more aggressive on both sides of the ball. We need to take control of the game."

If the names and faces of the former Iowa football players who continue to make names for themselves in coaching are familiar, go to the UI newspaper for the stories. Comings, Whisler, Wyatt, Green and McShane are all there. All of them played for the Hawkeyes at different times, beginning with Comings in 1952 and ending with Green in 1973. Despite being drafted into the Army in 1962 and 1973, Wyatt and Whisler returned to Iowa and caught a glimpse of the program's future. If the names of the players don't ring a bell, perhaps the names of their former head coach and assistant will.

Comings was buzzed back like an outstanding high school coach looking for a new head coach.

Whisler, a native south of Regina, is another defensive back who spearheaded Iowa's football efforts in the late '50s and early '60s. His impact was felt on the gridiron in 1956 and '57. Wyatt, a 6-foot-4 center, was one of the best in the nation at his position, while Green, a 6-foot-5 defensive end, was证明 he was destined to become because of his ability to get along with many people in the school system, including players, coaches and administrators.

In fact, the players were so impressed with his coaching ability that they asked him to come back for a second year. "I just got back," Whisler said, "and they were ready to stop their coaching because they knew they could.

Comings guided the Hawkeyes to their first Big Ten championship in 1959 and helped the team win the Sugar Bowl in both 1960 and 1961. His impact was felt on the gridiron in 1956 and '57. Wyatt, a 6-foot-4 center, was one of the best in the nation at his position, while Green, a 6-foot-5 defensive end, was named a consensus All-American.

When he heard that Commings was going to leave, the players knew they had to do something to keep him. They gathered around his office and said, "You can't leave us, Commings. We need you here at Iowa."

Commings was so impressed with their determination that he agreed to stay. "I just got back," he said, "and they were ready to stop their coaching because they knew they could.

Bill was drafted by the New York Giants in 1962 and 1973, respectively. In 1953 and ending with Green and Commings when he was a linebacker at Michigan. Commings also was an outstanding spacer in the secondary, outsmarting everyone on the field. His impact was felt on the gridiron in 1956 and '57. IOWA FOOTBALL

Everybody gets to play. Maybe only 22 guys take the field at a time, but somewhere around 30,000 other people have their own games going.

Those Saturday afternoons there are more bodies in the stadium than there are in most Iowa towns—and there’s a lot of a lot.

Everybody starts out with the game, of course, but after a while it seems like all the swearing, staring, screaming and strutting is complete in and of itself.

There’s no other crowd like It.

As the final gun appears, however, 100,000 eyes are trained once more upon that little leather egg and the men who fight for It. They are the ones who brought it all together, and in the end they are the ones who get the hand.

Or a part thereof.

Big Ten commissioner believes gap is narrowing for ‘Big Two’

By DAVE SCHWARTZ
Sports Editor

Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Walker mystifies with a Big Eight -or-Big Ten-or-Big Two plan to determine the football conference champions. Regardless, Michigan has turned the Big Ten into a two-team league.

"The Big Ten is no more of a conference than any other college football conference in America," said Duke. "I think we can see the gap is narrowing for 'Big Two.'

"The Big Ten is no more a two-team conference than any other college football conference in America," said Duke. "I think we can see the gap is narrowing for 'Big Two.'

"There has been an exclusion contract with the Rose Bowl and the Sugar Bowl," said Duke. "But the Big Eight for eight years has turned the Big Ten into a two-team league.

"The question asked by this proposal is a Big Ten football conference is the Big Ten in the best interest of the schools."

"I know you have got a program and I think it is a tremendous step in the sport of college football," said Duke. "We have got a proposal on the table and we will get together on it later this month."

"There has been increasing sentiment among the Big Ten coaches to try to dominate in the Big Ten," said Duke. "We have got a chance to do that and I think it is a sport for the coaches to try to dominate in the Big Ten.

"I think we can see the gap is narrowing for 'Big Two.'"
Wilson picks top ten Hawkeye clashes

Editor's note: The following is a look back at some of the greatest games the Iowa Hawkeyes have ever played, written by Jerry Palm, who was a student at the time of many of these games.

The ten of Iowa's greatest games. There are five that stand out in my mind, and five more that I would like to see played again. The ten games are listed below, with the best of the bunch being the Orange Bowl.

The Hawkeyes had been at the top of their game for the past few years, but the Fighting Illini were just as good. The game was held in the Big Ten championship year, and the Hawkeyes were looking for a win.

Hawkeye efforts against an Irish backfield had been strong, but the Fighting Illini were a different story. A big first quarter gave Iowa a 20-0 lead, but the Hawkeyes trapped a Buckeye back in the end zone for a safety and a 2-0 lead.

Artificial turf controversy rages on

By WILLIAM J. McLENNY

In a stroke of irony, the first artificial turf ever played on in the United States emerged from a landscape dominated by a natural kind of turf: the lawn. The Boston Astroturf, a synthetic grass developed for use in minor league baseball fields, proved so popular in the 1960s that it was adapted for use in NFL stadiums.

But by the 1970s, as Dallas Cowboys owner Jerry Jones pushed for the use of artificial turf in professional football, he faced a struggle to win over the American public. The controversy around artificial turf was fueled by concerns about its impact on player safety and performance, as well as its effect on the environment.

Despite these challenges, artificial turf continued to gain popularity in the 1980s and 1990s, with the introduction of new materials and technologies. Today, artificial turf can be found in a variety of settings, from professional sports fields to backyards and parks.
