Circulation to discuss marijuana ordinance

By KATHLEEN JENKINS

If you can't get a marijuana prescription from your doctor, you may still be able to get a prescription from the city council. The proposed Des Moines ordinance would be discussed at an informal session of the city council at 4 p.m. on Thursday, March 5, according to Mayor Edgar Crammer.

The city council's action would reduce the penalty for simple possession of marijuana to a $5 fine, the same penalty as for public indecency, according to a council report.

The ordinance would make it easier for people to get a prescription for marijuana. It would also provide for the sale of limited amounts of marijuana for medical purposes.

The new rules are expected to take effect in the fall, after the city council approves the ordinance and the state legislature passes a law permitting the sale of marijuana.

This action would be a step towards legalization of marijuana, and it's a good start. However, we should continue to work towards full legalization and decriminalization of marijuana.
Leonard: CIA domestic spying unproven

WASHINGTON AP— The CIA has been barred from using internal moral review functions that were not set up to ensure the CIA's extraterritorial activities in foreign nations, a top attorney general said Thursday.

The new policy, announced by Attorney General William P. Barr, follows the release of a report last month by the Justice Department's Office of the Inspector General, which found that the CIA was engaged in a "pattern and practice" of illegal surveillance of citizens in the United States.

Barr said that the CIA's new policy "prohibits any unauthorized domestic spying or surveillance of anyone in the United States, even if it is in the interests of national security." He added that the policy applies both to the CIA's foreign operations and to its domestic activities.

The CIA has been under increasing scrutiny in recent weeks after the release of a report by the Justice Department's Office of the Inspector General, which found that the CIA was engaged in a "pattern and practice" of illegal surveillance of citizens in the United States.

The new policy, announced by Attorney General William P. Barr, follows the release of a report last month by the Justice Department's Office of the Inspector General, which found that the CIA was engaged in a "pattern and practice" of illegal surveillance of citizens in the United States.

Barr said that the CIA's new policy "prohibits any unauthorized domestic spying or surveillance of anyone in the United States, even if it is in the interests of national security." He added that the policy applies both to the CIA's foreign operations and to its domestic activities.

The CIA has been under increasing scrutiny in recent weeks after the release of a report by the Justice Department's Office of the Inspector General, which found that the CIA was engaged in a "pattern and practice" of illegal surveillance of citizens in the United States.

The new policy, announced by Attorney General William P. Barr, follows the release of a report last month by the Justice Department's Office of the Inspector General, which found that the CIA was engaged in a "pattern and practice" of illegal surveillance of citizens in the United States.

Barr said that the CIA's new policy "prohibits any unauthorized domestic spying or surveillance of anyone in the United States, even if it is in the interests of national security." He added that the policy applies both to the CIA's foreign operations and to its domestic activities.
Soviet-U.S. trade hopes dimming

By KEN KLEIN

The honeymoon in short, is over. The recent propaganda celebrating Soviet-American trade and the announcement of an exchange agreement between the Moscow and Washington business communities are not new.
The Fallacy of Human Rights

I must confess that I asked myself this question: how many times have I read about the history of the Connolley leading to the expiration of April 18, 1973. The negotiating its contract and the potential squabble between two companies. We have a team with a team, so that it is to find a team that will not be doing so. We want to do the negotiations and we will not rest until we have found the team that will do it. The team that is not willing to do it is not a good team. We want to do the negotiations and we will not rest until we have found the team that will do it. The team that is not willing to do it is not a good team. The potential squabble between D&B because the number of NLC members who are eligible for supplementary contract tickets is high in D&B. It is unfair to have to ask a principle: the possibility of employees to accept regular supplementary contract tickets. As far as the opinion, prepare machine-readable copy, meet daily depression and yet achieve financial by so doing. We are working on the opportunities to get the facts right, but we must assume for the facts that they are obvious and not true. They differ from identical contracts that are extended to any other newspaper only in their relative values to the recipients.

On Energy

Mervin David

Frontier America

TO THE EDITOR:

Our company made every attempt to renew the contract with the Mediation and Conciliation Service for the six years we had contracts with them. In the absence of an economic advantage to us in extending the contract, we have no secret ballot election held on campus. The situation seems to be improving, but we are still continuing when we received the six year's contract. Our company made every attempt to renew the contract with the Mediation and Conciliation Service for the six years we had contracts with them.

John Fleming

Gallo Humors UFW Support Committee

On December 19, the Daily Iowa published a letter to the editor written by Jim Walsch, which criticized a student publication. The letter was addressed to the Daily Iowa, the student publication under scrutiny. The letter criticized the publication for its political affiliations and lack of coverage of certain events. The letter was a call to action for the Daily Iowa to improve its coverage and provide a more balanced perspective.

On the same day, the Daily Iowa published an editorial response to the letter. The editorial defended the Daily Iowa's coverage and explained its role as an independent student publication. It emphasized the importance of providing a platform for diverse voices and promoting open dialogue.

The Daily Iowa is an independent student publication that exists to provide a platform for diverse voices and promote open dialogue. It is not beholden to any political affiliation and strives to cover a wide range of events and perspectives.
Two houses, garage damaged over break

Suspicous fires baffle authorities

By MARIA LAWLOR

Iowa City residents in the vicinity of handicap and farm houses had their Christmas Spirit damaged by outbreaks of fires which began with a Christmas tree fire.

City police and fire officials, after investigating incidents in the area.

Pueblo executive officer refuses commendation

IOWA CITY, IOWA (AP) - The Iowa executive officer of the Pueblo, the United States Navy ship which patrolled the United States and the United Kingdom for nearly three months, refused commendation "The whole downstairs was substantially destroyed.

The fire started on the front porch of the house when a pile of old newspapers was set alight in an area of the house which was the scene of a recent burn.

The fire was confined to the downstairs area of the house and was quickly extinguished by the Pueblo's crew members for heroism.

The Pueblo's crew members were notified by onlookers of the fire and quickly arrived on the scene to extinguish the flames. The fire was contained to the downstairs area of the house and the crew members were able to quickly extinguish the flames.

Despite precautions, the fire caused significant damage to the downstairs area of the house. The Pueblo's crew members were able to quickly extinguish the flames and prevent the fire from spreading to the rest of the house.

The Pueblo's crew members were commended for their heroism and the fire was quickly extinguished by the Pueblo's crew members. The fire caused significant damage to the downstairs area of the house, but no one was injured in the incident.
U.S. tries kicking the fossil fuel habit

BY MARK FISKES   Wall Street Journal

The world is in the midst of a revolution in energy. The industrial age began less than two centuries ago, and in the past few years it has been quietly shifting our economy.

Every internal combustion engine is almost totally dependent on fossil fuels—coal and oil. This has presented serious environmental challenges and led to the growth of alternative energy sources. The shift away from fossil fuels is happening at a rate that is transforming our economy.

One byproduct of this transition is the increasing concern about climate change and the need to reduce our reliance on fossil fuels.

Energy is produced and used to power our economies and drive our transportation systems. As we transition away from fossil fuels, we are seeing a rise in the use of renewable energy sources like wind, solar, and hydroelectric power. This shift is happening all over the world, from the United States to China and beyond.

In the United States, the transition away from fossil fuels is being driven by a combination of policy incentives, technological advancements, and consumer demand. The federal government has been a key player in this transition, implementing policies to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and promote the development of renewable energy technologies.

The transition to renewable energy has been driven by advancements in technology and an increasing focus on sustainability. As a result, we are seeing a rise in the use of technologies like solar panels, wind turbines, and battery storage systems.

The shift away from fossil fuels is not without its challenges. There are substantial costs associated with transitioning away from fossil fuels, and there are also concerns about the reliability and stability of the power grid as we increase our reliance on renewable energy sources.

Despite these challenges, the transition away from fossil fuels is happening at an accelerating pace. The world is becoming more reliant on renewable energy sources, and this trend is expected to continue.

The transition away from fossil fuels is not only an economic and environmental issue, but it is also a social and political issue. As we work to transition away from fossil fuels, we must also address the social and political implications of this transition.

The transition away from fossil fuels is an economic opportunity. By investing in renewable energy technologies, we can create jobs and stimulate economic growth.

The transition away from fossil fuels is also an environmental opportunity. By reducing our reliance on fossil fuels, we can reduce greenhouse gas emissions and mitigate the impacts of climate change.

The transition away from fossil fuels is a political opportunity. By working together to address this issue, we can build a more sustainable future for all.

In conclusion, the transition away from fossil fuels is happening at a rapid pace. We are seeing a shift away from fossil fuels in our economies, our transportation systems, and our daily lives.

The transition away from fossil fuels is an opportunity to create a more sustainable future. By investing in renewable energy technologies, we can create jobs, stimulate economic growth, and mitigate the impacts of climate change.

The transition away from fossil fuels is not without its challenges, but we must work together to address these challenges and build a more sustainable future for all.
"...full of sound and fury ...

...signifying nothing."

Ethics group: treatment of terminally ill

By NORMAN BLACK
Associated Press Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Despite increased public and professional discussion, physicians still face the dilemma of facing ethical questions posed by the treatment of a dying patient, according to a survey of the ethical issues involved in such decisions as treatment for a patient who has lived.

To help doctors in such difficult situations have been prompted by the development of new medical procedures and the increasing awareness of the neglected, which have produced the capability to keep alive a patient who a few years ago would certainly have died.

Dr. Nathan Schnaper, however, does not feel the publicity has clarified the ethical questions posed by the treatment of a dying patient.

"The problem is not found here; it's like a maze," said Schnaper, a psychologist and professor at the University of Maryland medical school. "The doctor is looking at the law: If the patient is looking at the law, and the family is looking at the law."

One approach to the problem is the formation of a medical ethics review board. Officials at Johns Hopkins Hospital announced the formation of such a board at the Baltimore hotel on Tuesday. Following national publicity about sucessful case studies involving patient's wishes to be fed without artificial or heroic measures.

The living will is a legally binding document, addressed to the present of the person and the reasons why he dies. Taking a doctor's direct action voluntary in some cases, voluntary in others. These cases would be typified by the "living will." Involuntary action, voluntary inaction, is an example of passive euthanasia, such as the removal of the status from a patient's hospital order.

The patient and his family go through ethical questions, whether a patient he is about to lose, or to case the feeling of guilt." Schnaper expands the definition: "There are several kinds of euthanasia, which usually account for the actions of the person and the reasons why he dies. Voluntary direct is voluntary in some cases, voluntary in others. These cases would be typified by the "living will." Taking a doctor's direct action voluntary in some cases, involuntary in others; involuntary action, voluntary inaction, is an example of passive euthanasia, such as the removal of the status from a patient's hospital order.

Although Schnaper has reservations about the removal of life support, he believes the patient's wish to be active in the decision is important legally. Taking direct action to declare the life of a patient — "patient killing" — is legally defined as murder.

Both Shallenberger and Schnaper object to the use of the word "euthanasia" as synonymous with mercy killing. They deplore the negative connotation the word has received, explaining that euthanasia stems from a Greek word meaning "good death." Schnaper expanded the definition: "There are several kinds of euthanasia, which usually account for the actions of the person and the reasons why he dies. Taking a doctor's direct action voluntary in some cases, voluntary in others. These cases would be typified by the "living will." Involuntary action, voluntary inaction, is an example of passive euthanasia, such as the removal of the status from a patient's hospital order.

The living will is a legally binding document, addressed to the present of the person and the reasons why he dies. Taking a doctor's direct action voluntary in some cases, voluntary in others. These cases would be typified by the "living will." Involuntary action, voluntary inaction, is an example of passive euthanasia, such as the removal of the status from a patient's hospital order.

The patient and his family go through ethical questions, whether a patient he is about to lose, or to case the feeling of guilt." Schnaper expands the definition: "There are several kinds of euthanasia, which usually account for the actions of the person and the reasons why he dies. Voluntary direct is voluntary in some cases, voluntary in others. These cases would be typified by the "living will." Taking a doctor's direct action voluntary in some cases, involuntary in others; involuntary action, voluntary inaction, is an example of passive euthanasia, such as the removal of the status from a patient's hospital order.

Although Schnaper has reservations about the removal of life support, he believes the patient's wish to be active in the decision is important legally. Taking direct action to declare the life of a patient — "patient killing" — is legally defined as murder.

Both Shallenberger and Schnaper object to the use of the word "euthanasia" as synonymous with mercy killing. They deplore the negative connotation the word has received, explaining that euthanasia stems from a Greek word meaning "good death." Schnaper expanded the definition: "There are several kinds of euthanasia, which usually account for the actions of the person and the reasons why he dies. Taking a doctor's direct action voluntary in some cases, voluntary in others. These cases would be typified by the "living will." Involuntary action, voluntary inaction, is an example of passive euthanasia, such as the removal of the status from a patient's hospital order.

The living will is a legally binding document, addressed to the present of the person and the reasons why he dies. Taking a doctor's direct action voluntary in some cases, voluntary in others. These cases would be typified by the "living will." Involuntary action, voluntary inaction, is an example of passive euthanasia, such as the removal of the status from a patient's hospital order.

The patient and his family go through ethical questions, whether a patient he is about to lose, or to case the feeling of guilt." Schnaper expands the definition: "There are several kinds of euthanasia, which usually account for the actions of the person and the reasons why he dies. Taking a doctor's direct action voluntary in some cases, voluntary in others. These cases would be typified by the "living will." Involuntary action, voluntary inaction, is an example of passive euthanasia, such as the removal of the status from a patient's hospital order.

The living will is a legally binding document, addressed to the present of the person and the reasons why he dies. Taking a doctor's direct action voluntary in some cases, voluntary in others. These cases would be typified by the "living will." Involuntary action, voluntary inaction, is an example of passive euthanasia, such as the removal of the status from a patient's hospital order.

The patient and his family go through ethical questions, whether a patient he is about to lose, or to case the feeling of guilt." Schnaper expands the definition: "There are several kinds of euthanasia, which usually account for the actions of the person and the reasons why he dies. Taking a doctor's direct action voluntary in some cases, voluntary in others. These cases would be typified by the "living will." Involuntary action, voluntary inaction, is an example of passive euthanasia, such as the removal of the status from a patient's hospital order.

The living will is a legally binding document, addressed to the present of the person and the reasons why he dies. Taking a doctor's direct action voluntary in some cases, voluntary in others. These cases would be typified by the "living will." Involuntary action, voluntary inaction, is an example of passive euthanasia, such as the removal of the status from a patient's hospital order.

The patient and his family go through ethical questions, whether a patient he is about to lose, or to case the feeling of guilt." Schnaper expands the definition: "There are several kinds of euthanasia, which usually account for the actions of the person and the reasons why he dies. Taking a doctor's direct action voluntary in some cases, voluntary in others. These cases would be typified by the "living will." Involuntary action, voluntary inaction, is an example of passive euthanasia, such as the removal of the status from a patient's hospital order.

The living will is a legally binding document, addressed to the present of the person and the reasons why he dies. Taking a doctor's direct action voluntary in some cases, voluntary in others. These cases would be typified by the "living will." Involuntary action, voluntary inaction, is an example of passive euthanasia, such as the removal of the status from a patient's hospital order.

The patient and his family go through ethical questions, whether a patient he is about to lose, or to case the feeling of guilt." Schnaper expands the definition: "There are several kinds of euthanasia, which usually account for the actions of the person and the reasons why he dies. Taking a doctor's direct action voluntary in some cases, voluntary in others. These cases would be typified by the "living will." Involuntary action, voluntary inaction, is an example of passive euthanasia, such as the removal of the status from a patient's hospital order.

The living will is a legally binding document, addressed to the present of the person and the reasons why he dies. Taking a doctor's direct action voluntary in some cases, voluntary in others. These cases would be typified by the "living will." Involuntary action, voluntary inaction, is an example of passive euthanasia, such as the removal of the status from a patient's hospital order.
Cy Douglas

American Studies

Join all the with a grandfatherly greet you and usher you into gracefully cluttering up awesomely of Rapid!> Minnelho the Boone High School ~JMething Douglas grew up in Boone.

And so does he. Douglas, as important to everyone. And this takes place even if there's no one to do it. And get it done.

In this way, we're not "in" the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.

In the same way, we're not

in the story. We're not the ones doing the doing. We're the ones telling the story.
Vikes, Steelers warm up running games for title

NEW ORLEANS—With Super Bowl participants nearing their peak of fitness, there is reason for optimism in the annual schedule. The Minnesota Vikings and the Pittsburgh Steelers, who will meet on Thursday, are expected to be major factors in the Football Championship game. The Vikings, led by quarterback Joe Namath, have played well in recent games and are favored to win.

"I think we've got a good chance," said Namath in a recent interview. "We've got a good team and we're playing well. We've got a lot of confidence going into this game." The Vikings are coming off a 28-14 victory over the Los Angeles Rams in their last game, while the Steelers are coming off a 27-17 win over the Houston Oilers.

"We're feeling good," said Namath. "We're playing well and we're ready to go." The Vikings have won four of their last five games, including a 31-10 victory over the Dallas Cowboys in their last game.

The Steelers, led by quarterback Terry Bradshaw, have won three of their last four games, including a 27-10 victory over the New York Giants in their last game.

"We're playing well," said Bradshaw. "We're feeling good and we're ready to go." The Steelers have won five of their last six games, including a 27-10 victory over the Cleveland Browns in their last game.

Sports Analysis

The Minnesota Vikings have won four of their last five games, including a 28-14 victory over the Los Angeles Rams in their last game. The Vikings have scored 136 points in their last five games and have allowed 101 points.

The Pittsburgh Steelers have won three of their last four games, including a 27-10 victory over the New York Giants in their last game. The Steelers have scored 127 points in their last four games and have allowed 111 points.

"The Vikings are a good team," said Bradshaw. "They're playing well and they're ready to go." The Vikings have scored 136 points in their last five games and have allowed 101 points.

"The Steelers are a good team," said Namath. "They're playing well and they're ready to go." The Steelers have scored 127 points in their last four games and have allowed 111 points.

The Vikings and the Steelers are both strong teams and will provide an exciting game. The Vikings have scored 136 points in their last five games and have allowed 101 points.

"I think we've got a good chance," said Namath. "We've got a good team and we're playing well. We've got a lot of confidence going into this game." The Vikings are coming off a 28-14 victory over the Los Angeles Rams in their last game, while the Steelers are coming off a 27-10 win over the Houston Oilers.

"We're feeling good," said Namath. "We're playing well and we're ready to go." The Vikings have won four of their last five games, including a 31-10 victory over the Dallas Cowboys in their last game.

"We're playing well," said Bradshaw. "We're feeling good and we're ready to go." The Steelers have won five of their last six games, including a 27-10 victory over the Cleveland Browns in their last game.

Future games will be crucial for both teams as they prepare for the championship game. The Vikings have scored 136 points in their last five games and have allowed 101 points.

"The Vikings are a good team," said Bradshaw. "They're playing well and they're ready to go." The Vikings have scored 136 points in their last five games and have allowed 101 points.

"The Steelers are a good team," said Namath. "They're playing well and they're ready to go." The Steelers have scored 127 points in their last four games and have allowed 111 points.

The Vikings and the Steelers are both strong teams and will provide an exciting game. The Vikings have scored 136 points in their last five games and have allowed 101 points.

"I think we've got a good chance," said Namath. "We've got a good team and we're playing well. We've got a lot of confidence going into this game." The Vikings are coming off a 28-14 victory over the Los Angeles Rams in their last game, while the Steelers are coming off a 27-10 win over the Houston Oilers.

"We're feeling good," said Namath. "We're playing well and we're ready to go." The Vikings have won four of their last five games, including a 31-10 victory over the Dallas Cowboys in their last game.

"We're playing well," said Bradshaw. "We're feeling good and we're ready to go." The Steelers have won five of their last six games, including a 27-10 victory over the Cleveland Browns in their last game.

The Vikings and the Steelers are both strong teams and will provide an exciting game. The Vikings have scored 136 points in their last five games and have allowed 101 points.

"I think we've got a good chance," said Namath. "We've got a good team and we're playing well. We've got a lot of confidence going into this game." The Vikings are coming off a 28-14 victory over the Los Angeles Rams in their last game, while the Steelers are coming off a 27-10 win over the Houston Oilers.

"We're feeling good," said Namath. "We're playing well and we're ready to go." The Vikings have won four of their last five games, including a 31-10 victory over the Dallas Cowboys in their last game.

"We're playing well," said Bradshaw. "We're feeling good and we're ready to go." The Steelers have won five of their last six games, including a 27-10 victory over the Cleveland Browns in their last game.
By KIRK CLARK

Iowa’s Don Fjord ran into heavy traffic here in the Hawkeye fold as a junior. Fjord should repeat the same

May determine top ranking
Wrestlers battle No. 7 Spartans

Ron Olavesen

OSH KOSH BIB OVERALLS

in

Corduroy

Denim

Railroad Stripes

Rosen's

118 S. CLINTON

N

Noble Lumber

Clean Sweep

Clearance Sale

Around the Store Items

OSHEA

Neville Lumber

1201 S. Gilbert

Ph. 339-3388

IU Book & Supply Co.

corner of Clinton and Iowa Ave.

"Eastern Iowa's Scientific Calculator Headquarters"

"In the Driver's Seat" at the 1979 Whitney

The Hawkeye

Iniou

Rosen's

Savings

Noble Lumber

1201 S. Gilbert

Ph. 339-3388

IOWA CITY'S AUTHORIZED

Peugeot and Gitane Dealer

15 SOUTH Dubuque

Hollaed Packard’s new HP-55

Programmable Scientific.

You told your new roommate you dig B.B. King and he thinks she's great too.

You owe yourself an Oly.

"You're arriving at an exciting time in the history of the Hawkeye Program. We're building for the next 25 years and B.B. King is one of our greatest." - Office of the President, The University of Iowa

IOWA BOOK & SUPPLY CO.

corner of Clinton and Iowa Ave.

"Eastern Iowa's Scientific Calculator Headquarters"

"In the Driver's Seat" at the 1979 Whitney

The Hawkeye

Iniou

Rosen's

Savings

Noble Lumber

1201 S. Gilbert

Ph. 339-3388

IOWA CITY'S AUTHORIZED

Peugeot and Gitane Dealer

15 SOUTH Dubuque

Hollaed Packard’s new HP-55

Programmable Scientific.

You told your new roommate you dig B.B. King and he thinks she's great too.

You owe yourself an Oly.

"You're arriving at an exciting time in the history of the Hawkeye Program. We're building for the next 25 years and B.B. King is one of our greatest." - Office of the President, The University of Iowa

"You're arriving at an exciting time in the history of the Hawkeye Program. We're building for the next 25 years and B.B. King is one of our greatest." - Office of the President, The University of Iowa

"You're arriving at an exciting time in the history of the Hawkeye Program. We're building for the next 25 years and B.B. King is one of our greatest." - Office of the President, The University of Iowa

"You're arriving at an exciting time in the history of the Hawkeye Program. We're building for the next 25 years and B.B. King is one of our greatest." - Office of the President, The University of Iowa

"You're arriving at an exciting time in the history of the Hawkeye Program. We're building for the next 25 years and B.B. King is one of our greatest." - Office of the President, The University of Iowa

"You're arriving at an exciting time in the history of the Hawkeye Program. We're building for the next 25 years and B.B. King is one of our greatest." - Office of the President, The University of Iowa

"You're arriving at an exciting time in the history of the Hawkeye Program. We're building for the next 25 years and B.B. King is one of our great