Faculty duties lightened to allow more research

By ROBERT KIPNER

DC, News Editor

DC Faculty Senate Tuesday approved a proposal that would provide existing programs for research faculty improvement.

The current programs-- In-Dependent Instruction Seminars, Research Fellowships, Research Subsidies and Cold Hard Research Fellowship--would be combined under a "Developmental Assignment Program." "That's a very good way of looking at it," said Professor Beame, who chairs the senate committee on faculty affairs.

The senate committee, which is comprised of faculty members who undergo each year. Beame said that with the current programs, "all the work is done to increase the visibility of the institution." Beame said that the new program would allow people to focus on specific areas of research.

SANDFRAN--A report on Patricia Hearst's mental competency was not made for at least a few weeks because psychiatrists need more time to concentrate on the case, the judge said Tuesday.

U.S. District Judge Oliver Center said psychiatrists who have been examining Miss Hearst's mental health over the past few weeks need more time to concentrate on the case. The judge said that psychiatrists need more time to concentrate on the case.

A hearing had been set for Tuesday on the findings of the preliminary psychiatric report released to the prosecution last week. The judge said that psychiatrists need more time to concentrate on the case.

In other developments:

Hearst's attorneys filed a motion asking the judge to appoint a "special master" who will have the power to name new psychiatrists to examine Miss Hearst. The judge said that psychiatrists need more time to concentrate on the case.

The judge also said that he has asked the prosecution to provide the defense with more information on Miss Hearst's mental health.

Carnival (AP) — James Costello, often described as a "magician" in the circus business, will start working the Magic near the city hall in search of lost treasures and the legendary city of Atlantis.

The world-renowned magician told newsmen that a recent agreement with Greek archaeologists and historians between 1956 and 1960 caused them to discover a hidden treasure near the island of Santorini. He believes he can help solve the mystery.

"We may produce a greater center of excitement and activities for your exploration of the Aegean Sea, or on the other hand very little," Costello said. "I do not intend to reveal any information leading to the solution of the mystery of Atlantis."

The Greek government has been interested in working with valuable artifacts from the Aegean civilization, some of which are believed to be associated with the legendary city of Atlantis.

The project is being funded by the Greek government. The government held a meeting in Athens and made plans to dig for information on the lost city.

"We have made plans to dig for information on the lost city," one government official said. "We believe the artifacts may lead to the discovery of the city of Atlantis."
Turner, servant of none

Public servants may come and public servants may go, but Huyperion hangs on.

Last Friday your public servant and editor. Mark H. Turner, gave legal approval to an Iowa National Guard agreement to lease public land to the nearby privately owned Hyperion Club. This, legally, logically, enough, will be used for tennis courts.

According to Turner, the lease is "clearly legal." In his statement, Turner further wondered how, if a state attorney general chose to look into this matter, he would find a legal view. \[Legal\]

The form of one Keith Jarrett, however, will tee more helmets probably being all they have cracked their heads on. It is important to consider the potential implications of such a lease agreement.

"Two recent articles in the editorial page have caught my attention. The first was on the present movement of the late and early "Jim Carrey:" the actor who has been involved in social and political issues or a university, most recently university, without "any means." This is not to be confused with the much-loved "performer," whom some say is worth "five" or "seven" times his current worth.

TO THE EDITOR:

First, I am not opposed to student involvement in the decision-making process, but I am concerned about the lack of meaningful participation in the students' decision-making process. To date, student representatives have only been able to attend meetings of the Student Senate. However, many students feel they are not being heard. Mr. Jarrett has stated that he is concerned about the lack of student involvement in the decision-making process.

The question of whether or not "protest" or "peace" is the answer to many of our problems is one that we must continue to explore. It is important to consider the potential implications of such a lease agreement.

Jarrett, a perturbing god

TO THE EDITOR:

The recent decision to build a motorcycle club is a disturbing one. The proposed location for this club is within Iowa City and not far from the university campus. This club will be open to the public and will offer motorcycle rentals, which will attract both students and non-students.

In his statement, Turner further wondered how, if a state attorney general chose to look into this matter, he would find a legal view. This is not to be confused with the much-loved "performer," whom some say is worth "five" or "seven" times his current worth.

Post’ finally faces union

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pay for the top five officials at a federal office that administers the nation’s veterans’ benefits program was coming out of a semi-secret arrangement by the Department of Veterans Affairs.

As organizations reversed, congressmen were asked to put the VA building, repaying prisoners from inmates when the entire view was an option.

Mark Bogen, executive vice president of the American Bar Association, told a news conference that the two sides hadn’t agreed on the Post until Friday night. It was the first time in the Post since 1976 that the newspaper had a command contract that ensured carriers’ contract expired for five.

The newspaper, which has been operating as a non-profit since 1973, was hit with a second strike. This one by the members of the mailers union, who walked off the job Monday night.

Reported by the Associated Press.

It's Boston vs. Cincinnati

A's dynasty swept under

OAKLAND (AP) — Boston took a 5-1 lead into the ninth inning, allowing Oakland rescue投手to twice climb back into the game. But the A's shut out the Red Sox and captured a 3-5 victory at Horseshoe Stadium, extending their record to 2-0 in the American League pennant race.

The game was moved to Horseshoe Stadium after the original location was deemed unsuitable due to a scheduling conflict.

Reds win it in 10 innings

PITTSBURGH (AP) — After a tense and thrilling extra-inning game, the Reds emerged victorious after a dramatic walk-off home run by Cincinnati's star outfielder.

With the score tied, the Reds' lead-off hitter stepped up to the plate with two outs in the bottom of the 10th inning. Home plate umpire called a strike on the first pitch, but on the second pitch, the Reds' star outfielder launched a home run that cleared the fence, securing the victory for Cincinnati.
