Cincinnati Enquirer

Cincinnati, Ohio

Ose selected v.p.

By MELLE ANDREWS
Staff Writer

For the last time in the history of the College Station Association (CSA), two women, Barbara Fann and Boyd, are named in the annual slate of elected officers. The College Station Association elects its officers each January.

Barbara Fann, who is a graduate of Iowa State University, will serve as chairperson of CSA. She is a registered nurse, and is employed by Iowa State University in the Department of Nursing. She will also serve on the board of directors for the College Station Association.

Boyd, who is a senior at Iowa State University, will serve as secretary-treasurer of CSA. He is a member of the College Station Association's board of directors. He will also serve on the board of directors for the College Station Association.

Fann and Boyd have been elected to serve in these positions for the 1976-1977 academic year. They will begin their terms of office in January 1976.

"I am very pleased to see that our College Station Association has elected two women to its ranks," said Boyd. "This is a significant step forward for our organization."
Plaintiffs detail complaints

Urban renewal suit trial opens

By LINDA SCHUPPEN

AND WALTER HEIDTFELDT

An Iowa City widow will go to trial next week in a Des Moines federal court to try to establish that her home was allotted without an adequate hearing.

Mary Duggan will seek $567,000 in compensation for the federal government's 30-year-old Fixture, the Iowa City newspaper.

Mary Duggan, a 72-year-old widow, has claimed she was denied her proper hearing at the Federal Housing Authority hearing in connection with the condemnation of her home for the Iowa City Addition.

Five years ago, the government said her home was condemned for the addition.

Mary Duggan, who is 72 years old, was bom in the city in 1922. She has lived in a house owned by her parents ever since she was born. She inherited the house from her parents in 1972.

When the government said it was condemning her house, Mary Duggan had to leave her home and start living in a hotel.

She has been living in a hotel ever
since the government said it was
condemning her house.

Mary Duggan has been living in a hotel
ever since the government said it was
condemning her house.

She has been living in a hotel ever
since the government said it was
condemning her house.

Mary Duggan has been living in a hotel
ever since the government said it was
condemning her house.

She has been living in a hotel ever
since the government said it was
condemning her house.

Mary Duggan has been living in a hotel
ever since the government said it was
condemning her house.

She has been living in a hotel ever
since the government said it was
condemning her house.

Mary Duggan has been living in a hotel
ever since the government said it was
condemning her house.

She has been living in a hotel ever
since the government said it was
condemning her house.

Mary Duggan has been living in a hotel
ever since the government said it was
condemning her house.

She has been living in a hotel ever
since the government said it was
condemning her house.

Mary Duggan has been living in a hotel
ever since the government said it was
condemning her house.

She has been living in a hotel ever
since the government said it was
condemning her house.

Mary Duggan has been living in a hotel
ever since the government said it was
condemning her house.

She has been living in a hotel ever
since the government said it was
condemning her house.
Out on Highway 61

Inspector: 'basic facts on nuclear power' lack

By R.C. BRADNAU
PRAIRIE CITY, Iowa — Over 300 residents of Prairie City and surrounding areas participated Monday in a public hearing on the power plant proposed for construction in the newspaper.

The meeting was called as an issue by Robert Polland, a former Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) nuclear director. Polland, according to an article in the NRC official, was a former nuclear director for NRC.

At the meeting, some local residents said, "The plant would poison our area."

Roby Harris of Prairie City said, "It's a shame that people sit in their cars and drive by without even seeing how important this is to your community.

Although reaction to the proposed nuclear reactor also was raised, the majority of the community agreed in subscribing the proposed project. The Council of 120 year and older residents, is opposed to the nuclear plant. Over 300 residents of the town, who were not old enough to see the reactor, would have to look at a picture in a book to get an idea of what it would look like.

Polland said that the proposed expansion would not affect the local area. While the proposal would mean a boom for the city, it would not be a threat to the residents.

The City Council of Communities (ECCS) used in today's nuclear reactors is inefficient, Polland said.

Housing Council seeks inspection

By DAVID BISHO

Iowa Housing board would have to pass city inspection before residents could move in under proposed changes of Iowa City's minimum housing standards.

Frederick Brohman, chairman of the Housing Council, said Monday that a proposed change would allow the city to inspect the building process at any time. Formerly, the council inspected the building process only at the completion of the project.

Under subsection (b) of proposed standards, "The structure concerned shall be inspected at each stage of construction and at one or more times during construction to ensure that the building is constructed in accordance with the plans and specifications and is in conformance with minimum safety requirements." Under subsection (c) of proposed standards, "The structure concerned shall be inspected at each stage of construction and at one or more times during construction to ensure that the building is constructed in accordance with the plans and specifications and is in conformance with minimum safety requirements.

The board said that the changes would be approved if the city agrees.

Sabotage claims that buildings or parts of buildings that do not come up with minimum standards are "substandard" and public agencies should be prohibited from purchasing such buildings.

Perrett said the proposed expansion would also accentuate the biological decay of the Mississippi Valley.

"I would like to see it go to the Hancher ticket office," he said. "We have the ticketing office to be held on Tuesday, April 12th at 8:00 p.m."

Ian O'Donnell, a member of the council, said that a new ticketing office would be held on Tuesday, April 12th at 8:00 p.m.

Yamaha presents "Learn to Live." It's a heavy-duty encounter with high fidelity sound. It's a car and a musical sound reproduction. What a smart? Why a smart? A reproduction of state-of-the-art equipment. Yamaha's "Learn to Listen" Seminar is an exciting, informative, multimedia production. A show and tell the world high fidelity cost. And don't tell me anything about the next encounter sound. Yamaha's there for everyone, whether you're an expert or an audiophile. It's not just about your favorite music or sounds, but Yamaha's new unique Orthodynamic head phones-worth $45. See you there?

"American Premiere" Directed by Don Steel

"SECOND WIND"

Starring James Naughton & Lindsay Wagner

Tickets go on sale Wednesday, April 14th, at the Hancher ticket office and the lobby box office at the IMU.

The director will speak before the film. Tickets are $2.00.
They should know better

Female DI staffers often hear outrageous tales of sexism in other newsrooms — that female reporters are asked to deliver the newspaper at 3:30 a.m. or that some editors prefer the smell of men's cologne. These are simply the latest examples of sexism in the newsroom. There is no place for this type of behavior in any newsroom.

Colleagues who have been in the industry for a long time often ask why sexism still exists in our profession. Some say that it is because the industry is dominated by men. Others say that it is because women are not as good at their jobs as men. Still others say that it is because women are not as aggressive as men. Whatever the reason, sexism in the newsroom is unacceptable and must be stopped.

There are a few things that we can do to make the industry more welcoming to women. First, we need to educate ourselves about the issue. We need to learn about the history of sexism in our profession and how it has affected women in the past. Second, we need to create a more welcoming environment for women. We need to make sure that women feel comfortable in our newsrooms and that they are treated with respect. Third, we need to take action when we see sexism in the newsroom. We need to speak out against it and make sure that it is not tolerated.

Sexism is a problem that affects all of us. It affects women and men, young and old, and people of all races. It is a problem that we all need to work together to solve. Let's make sure that the newsroom is a place where everyone can work together to bring about a more fair and equal society.
Redgrave, Keaton, Ibsen knock ‘em out in NYC

by Paul Marquardt

Redgrave, Keaton, Ibsen... three names any fan of the theater world should know. Because if Vanessa Redgrave, Marlene Dietrich and Greta Garbo are no longer with us, then Diane Keaton, Woody Allen and Norman Mailer can claim to be a couple of them.

Diane Keaton has certainly been making waves in the theater world for years now, starring in plays from the Off-Broadway theater onwards. And she recently received a Tony Award nomination for her role in "Private Lives," which shePlayhouse, New York. The play is a delightful comedy set for two, with Keaton playing a young widow who has just been widowed and is trying to make ends meet. She meets a charming and witty man, and they hit it off immediately. The play is a perfect blend of comedy and drama, and Keaton's performance is outstanding.

On the other hand, Vanessa Redgrave has been making waves in the theater world for decades. She's starred in productions from Shakespeare to modern plays, and has received critical acclaim for her performances. She recently starred in a production of "The Seagull," which is a play by Chekhov, and her performance was praised by critics.

And Greta Garbo, well, she's a legend. She made her mark on the silver screen, but her influence on the theater world cannot be understated. She starred in productions of "The Sun" and "La Ronde," and her performances were unforgettable.

In conclusion, Keaton, Ibsen and Redgrave have all made significant contributions to the theater world, and their performances are sure to be a hit. So, if you're a theater fan, don't miss out on these three talented actors.
Callaway hearing halted; changes mind too late

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional hearing into the recent scandal involving Agriculture Secretary Edward H. Callaway was halted Thursday after the secretary changed his mind on the same day he was to testify before a House panel.

Callaway, who had been scheduled to appear before the House Agriculture Committee on Friday, changed his mind Thursday morning, according to a statement from the House committee.

The hearing was postponed until next week, and Callaway will be replaced by Agriculture Secretary Roy D. Martin, who was appointed to the post by President George W. Bush last month.

The hearing was expected to focus on Callaway's role in the administration's decision to allow federal dollars to be used to build a ski resort in Colorado, a decision that has been the subject of controversy in recent weeks.

Representatives on the committee were preparing to call witnesses, including Callaway, to testify about the decision.

Callaway was appointed to the post by President Bush last month, after serving as deputy secretary of the department since 2001.

Callaway's appointment as deputy secretary was announced in January, and he was confirmed by the Senate in February.

The hearing was scheduled to take place Thursday morning, but was postponed until next week after Callaway changed his mind.

The postponed hearing will take place next week, and Callaway will be replaced by Agriculture Secretary Roy D. Martin, who was appointed to the post by President George W. Bush last month.
Stunts, dancing & jumps

BY MARTINE KRAKE

Last week, I had five days of cheerleading. Fifteen years ago and it was the same, I was a high school senior; I was in the stands (I didn't realize it at the time) cheering for the cheerleaders. Now, it is through the cheerleader's name before George's name. I guess I was, but once the game started, I was eliminated. I didn't realize my role anymore.

I was through with the cheerleader's name before George's name. I guess I was, but once the game started, I was eliminated. I didn't realize my role anymore.

Last week I went to four of the games. I am a great basketball fan, but I am not sure if I would have gone to the games if I were interested in the cheerleaders. Most of the games were really good, but I missed the first game because I was at work. I didn't like the first game because I didn't realize my role anymore. I was through with the cheerleader's name before George's name. I guess I was, but once the game started, I was eliminated. I didn't realize my role anymore.

Last week I went to four of the games. I am a great basketball fan, but I am not sure if I would have gone to the games if I were interested in the cheerleaders. Most of the games were really good, but I missed the first game because I was at work. I didn't like the first game because I didn't realize my role anymore. I was through with the cheerleader's name before George's name. I guess I was, but once the game started, I was eliminated. I didn't realize my role anymore.

Last week I went to four of the games. I am a great basketball fan, but I am not sure if I would have gone to the games if I were interested in the cheerleaders. Most of the games were really good, but I missed the first game because I was at work. I didn't like the first game because I didn't realize my role anymore. I was through with the cheerleader's name before George's name. I guess I was, but once the game started, I was eliminated. I didn't realize my role anymore.

Last week I went to four of the games. I am a great basketball fan, but I am not sure if I would have gone to the games if I were interested in the cheerleaders. Most of the games were really good, but I missed the first game because I was at work. I didn't like the first game because I didn't realize my role anymore. I was through with the cheerleader's name before George's name. I guess I was, but once the game started, I was eliminated. I didn't realize my role anymore.

Last week I went to four of the games. I am a great basketball fan, but I am not sure if I would have gone to the games if I were interested in the cheerleaders. Most of the games were really good, but I missed the first game because I was at work. I didn't like the first game because I didn't realize my role anymore. I was through with the cheerleader's name before George's name. I guess I was, but once the game started, I was eliminated. I didn't realize my role anymore.

Last week I went to four of the games. I am a great basketball fan, but I am not sure if I would have gone to the games if I were interested in the cheerleaders. Most of the games were really good, but I missed the first game because I was at work. I didn't like the first game because I didn't realize my role anymore. I was through with the cheerleader's name before George's name. I guess I was, but once the game started, I was eliminated. I didn't realize my role anymore.

Last week I went to four of the games. I am a great basketball fan, but I am not sure if I would have gone to the games if I were interested in the cheerleaders. Most of the games were really good, but I missed the first game because I was at work. I didn't like the first game because I didn't realize my role anymore. I was through with the cheerleader's name before George's name. I guess I was, but once the game started, I was eliminated. I didn't realize my role anymore.

Last week I went to four of the games. I am a great basketball fan, but I am not sure if I would have gone to the games if I were interested in the cheerleaders. Most of the games were really good, but I missed the first game because I was at work. I didn't like the first game because I didn't realize my role anymore. I was through with the cheerleader's name before George's name. I guess I was, but once the game started, I was eliminated. I didn't realize my role anymore.

Last week I went to four of the games. I am a great basketball fan, but I am not sure if I would have gone to the games if I were interested in the cheerleaders. Most of the games were really good, but I missed the first game because I was at work. I didn't like the first game because I didn't realize my role anymore. I was through with the cheerleader's name before George's name. I guess I was, but once the game started, I was eliminated. I didn't realize my role anymore.

Last week I went to four of the games. I am a great basketball fan, but I am not sure if I would have gone to the games if I were interested in the cheerleaders. Most of the games were really good, but I missed the first game because I was at work. I didn't like the first game because I didn't realize my role anymore. I was through with the cheerleader's name before George's name. I guess I was, but once the game started, I was eliminated. I didn't realize my role anymore.

Last week I went to four of the games. I am a great basketball fan, but I am not sure if I would have gone to the games if I were interested in the cheerleaders. Most of the games were really good, but I missed the first game because I was at work. I didn't like the first game because I didn't realize my role anymore. I was through with the cheerleader's name before George's name. I guess I was, but once the game started, I was eliminated. I didn't realize my role anymore.

Last week I went to four of the games. I am a great basketball fan, but I am not sure if I would have gone to the games if I were interested in the cheerleaders. Most of the games were really good, but I missed the first game because I was at work. I didn't like the first game because I didn't realize my role anymore. I was through with the cheerleader's name before George's name. I guess I was, but once the game started, I was eliminated. I didn't realize my role anymore.
Ford got $2 bill first, but yours here today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bill will move to you Tuesday if your home is in the Federal Reserve Bank area of the Federal Reserve Board, or if you have a home in the Federal Reserve Bank area of the Federal Reserve Board.

The bill is expected to be on the floor for the next three days. The bill is expected to be on the floor for the next three days.

The bill is expected to be on the floor for the next three days.

The bill is expected to be on the floor for the next three days.

By BILL GRIFFFITH

Five members of the Iowa Department of Transportation (DOT) have been named to the Iowa Transportation Board of Directors.

The DOT representatives will serve as directors of the Iowa Transportation Board of Directors, which is responsible for the transportation of the state.

The DOT representatives will serve as directors of the Iowa Transportation Board of Directors, which is responsible for the transportation of the state.

The DOT representatives will serve as directors of the Iowa Transportation Board of Directors, which is responsible for the transportation of the state.

The DOT representatives will serve as directors of the Iowa Transportation Board of Directors, which is responsible for the transportation of the state.

The DOT representatives will serve as directors of the Iowa Transportation Board of Directors, which is responsible for the transportation of the state.

The DOT representatives will serve as directors of the Iowa Transportation Board of Directors, which is responsible for the transportation of the state.

The DOT representatives will serve as directors of the Iowa Transportation Board of Directors, which is responsible for the transportation of the state.

The DOT representatives will serve as directors of the Iowa Transportation Board of Directors, which is responsible for the transportation of the state.

The DOT representatives will serve as directors of the Iowa Transportation Board of Directors, which is responsible for the transportation of the state.
The NI-ageement would technlcally have expired June 1, 1978, in the Southern District league. The State and Track men's Triangular at Drake with Northern Iowa, Iowa Southern and a Monday with the milestone Tuesday, but while NBA playoffs open today, there is no news in the case. Porter said the case is still pending.

The Cleveland Cavaliers, who finished second in the Eastern Conference, will be in the playoffs for the first time in franchise history when they will appear in the opening round of the playoffs. Their best source of scoring for the season was Larry Siegfried, who averaged 16.8 points per game. Siegfried is expected to return to the starting lineup after missing practice last week, making his debut in the Easter Conference quarterfinals.

Another key player for the Cavaliers is forward Dan Issel, who averaged 10.7 points and 8.1 rebounds per game. Issel will be key in the Cavaliers' success against the New York Knicks, who are expected to sweep the series in four games.

The Cavaliers have a young and talented roster, with players such as Larry Nance, Ralph Sampson, and Calvin Murphy. However, they will face a tough challenge against the Knicks, who have experienced players such as Walt Frazier, Bob Wilkerson, and Phil Jackson.

The Cavaliers will play their first game against the Knicks on Thursday night at the Cleveland Arena. The game is expected to be a high-scoring affair, with both teams looking to prove their worth in the playoffs. The Cavaliers will need to play a strong game on defense to have a chance of winning.

The series will likely be a long and tough one for the Cavaliers, but they are determined to make a statement in their first playoff appearance. The team has been playing well in the regular season, and they are confident they can make a run in the playoffs.