Friends of Old Brick try for last-minute rescue

By DAVID DEMOCRAT
Staff Writer

The state Board of Registration has refused a renewal application by the Old Brick Historical Society to become a nonprofit corporation, which would have made the society an independent nonprofit with responsibility for taking over the management and operation of the city's main landmark, the Old Brick Historic Preservation and Museum, the Associated Press has learned.

The Old Brick Historical Society, which has owned and operated the Old Brick Historical Museum since 1987, had applied for a renewal of its status as a nonprofit corporation, which would have enabled it to keep the museum open after former city mayor Mary Louise McLaughlin's administration closed it in May.

If the society's application is denied, the Old Brick Historical Society will be forced to find another group to take over the museum's management.

The Old Brick Historical Society has been in operation since 1987, and has managed the museum since 1990. It has been operating on a shoestring budget, and has been unable to attract enough visitors to sustain itself.

The Old Brick Historical Society has been a major source of revenue for the city, and has been a major tourist destination. The society has been able to maintain the museum's operations, but has been unable to make any improvements to the building.

UI program popular

by MARY SCHMIDT

Staff Writer

The University of Iowa has a new program that is gaining popularity.

It's called D.B.A. (Doctor of Business Administration) and is being offered through the Graduate College.

The program, which has been offered for the past two years, has a enrollment of 50 students.

The program focuses on providing advanced business education for practicing managers and executives.

There are several benefits to this program. First, it offers a unique opportunity for those who have already achieved a high level of success in their careers to further their education and enhance their leadership skills.

Second, the program provides a blend of theoretical and practical knowledge, which is essential for today's rapidly changing business environment.

Third, the program is designed to be flexible, allowing students to complete their coursework at their own pace.

Finally, the program offers a strong network of alumni who can provide a valuable mentorship and support system.

Overall, the D.B.A. program is a valuable asset to those who are interested in advancing their careers and expanding their knowledge in the field of business administration.
Mark-trial judge ponders fair trial, free press

YOU CITY, Iowa (AP) — Judge Carroll Osmundson, who presided over the Mark murder trial, says he is prepared to rule on the defendant’s request for a new trial if he finds clear evidence of a defendant’s fair trial.

The trial ended in a hung jury after the man who was convicted of murder and sentenced to life in prison was found not guilty by reason of insanity. The defendant had been acquitted of first-degree murder and second-degree murder.

The judge said he would consider the defendant’s request for a new trial if he finds clear evidence of a defendant’s fair trial.

Judge Osmundson ruled that the defendant was not prejudiced by the trial and that the defendant’s rights were not violated.

The defendant’s attorney, who also represented the defendant in the trial, said the judge’s decision was fair and reasonable.

The defendant was acquitted of the charges and was released from prison.

Judge Osmundson said that the defendant will be tried again if he finds clear evidence of a defendant’s fair trial.

USSR: making progress on its own

By ERVIN MARKOV
Reprinted from the University of Minnesota's Daily Universe.

In an article (India, May 18), John Waring asserted that the "U.S.S.R. is facing a serious economic problem." It seems that such projectiles once again are being tossed about as if they were fact, when the economic conditions in the U.S.S.R. are not only not in crisis, but are improving. It is true that the Soviet Union reports a deficit in 1980, but this cannot be seen as indicative of a serious economic problem. In fact, the Soviet economy has been making steady progress in recent years, as evidenced by the increase in the production of consumer goods.

The Soviet Union reports that its economic growth rate was 5.2% in 1980, compared to 4.8% in 1979. This represents a continuation of the consistent economic growth that has been occurring in the country for several years. The government has been successful in increasing the production of consumer goods, which is one of the key indicators of economic growth.

In addition, the government has been successful in increasing the production of capital goods, which is necessary for the long-term growth of the economy. The government has also been successful in reducing the burden of government debt, which has been a major concern in recent years.

Furthermore, the government has been successful in increasing the production of consumer goods for the export market, which is important for the country's economy. The government has also been successful in increasing the production of consumer goods for the domestic market, which is important for the country's economy.

In conclusion, the economic conditions in the U.S.S.R. are not in crisis, but are improving. The University of Iowa wrestling team was more than happy to see the finality of the Big Ten 115-pound tournament.

Yagla defeated Indiana’s John Linn, 13-3, to qualify for his first national championship.

"I’m happy to be going to Madison," Yagla said. "I’m happy to get it over with. It’s been a long time coming."

Mytnyk, a senior, defeated Illinois’ Dan Wozniak, 13-3, to qualify for his second straight national championship.

"I’m happy to be going to Madison as an alternate," Mytnyk said. "I’m happy to get it over with. It’s been a long time coming."

Both Yagla and Mytnyk will be trying to become the first Iowa wrestlers to qualify for the Olympics since 1984.

The Olympic trials will be held in Madison, Wisconsin, on March 19-20.
