Hearts' release 'imminent'

Los Angeles (UPI) -- Patricia Hearst, daughter of former Sen. Handel Hearst, was released from prison on Thursday after being held for nearly 20 years. Hearst was convicted in 1974 for her involvement in the kidnapping of her father, who was later murdered. The case gained national attention and sparked a wave of media coverage.

Patricia Hearst

LOS ANGELES (AP) -- Patricia Hearst, daughter of former Sen. Handel Hearst, was released from prison on Thursday after being held for nearly 20 years. The case gained national attention and sparked a wave of media coverage.

After more than eight months, Daniel Hearst is still uncertain over her future head but he is sure of one thing: He believes Thursday was a signing.

"For a while now, I've been wondering about her fate," Hearst said at a conference of the United States Senate Committee on the Judiciary. "I'm not sure what will happen, but I do believe Thursday was a significant day." He added, "I can't help but feel that the Senate is taking this matter very, very seriously." Thursday marked the first day of a hearing to review the case.

"I believe that the Senate is doing all it can to ensure that justice is served," Hearst said.

"This is a very serious matter, and I hope that the Senate will take the necessary steps to ensure that Patricia Hearst's rights are respected," he concluded.

The Senate hearing on Thursday was the first of several that will be held on the case. Hearst was kidnapped by the Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA) in 1974, and has been held ever since.

"I want to thank all of those who have supported me over the years," Hearst said. "This has been a very difficult time for me and my family, and we appreciate your support."
To avoid building for handicapped
Apartment builders use loophole

By Day DeVent CHICAGO (411) 404-1532

Apartment builders may avoid building dwellings accessible to the handicapped by using a loophole in the state building code.

According to state building code, one out of every five dwellings constructed is an apartment building.

However, according to Brad Meyers of the Iowa City Building Code Commission, "A building can be considered as two separate buildings, with each structure having only four units.

The theatre at 212 E. Washington St., an Iowa City building, was considered as two buildings.

The building has four doors and the glass of a candy store were broken. The men did not have keys to enter.

"He has long, curly brown hair, weighing about 5'6" and 150 pounds," said Officer Bob Hainz, who lists his address around 500 S. Dubuque St., 353-3888.

Schorr argues public's right

WASHINGTON (AP) — The network's top-rated evening newscast Thursday showed that the cold and bitter economic wind that entered the fourth quarter of 1982 continued to batter the economy.

In Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, CBS News may have found a new voice to articulate the economy's condition.

The University of Michigan economics, however, said that even with a $13 billion cut, the economy would grow only 4 per cent in 1983 and wage and price inflation would continue at a rate that would sideline the economy.

The figures were revised primarily because some figures in the preliminary report had to be dropped because of a change in the quarter. The foreign trade deficit and the personal savings rate, for example, were revised downward to an annual rate of $13 billion.

A Commerce Department economist, H. G. C. Gartson, said the revision was not large enough to suggest that conditions change what economists knew about the third quarter.

New federal Housing Act may cut local recipients

BY DAVE DEMINGWY

Iowa City currently provides housing assistance payments under the federal program. However, it's the consensus from the old program that the new Section Eight program of the federal Housing Act, 8 defined Federal Housing Coordinator, Iowa City, said that some of the programs are not to receive funding under the new program.

Under the housing assistance payments program, low-income families, the elderly and handicapped can receive federal subsidies for their rent.

The program requires that more than 90 per cent of the cost of the apartment be covered.

The program also requires that the rent of the dwelling cannot exceed the federal determined fair market rent value for the type of apartment needed.

This year the program provides federal funding for the 1983 rental units. The Section Eight program allows funding for the 1983 rental units.

For apartments that are not in the Section Eight program, the apartment must be converted to one year of the new program to continue.

Those units previously converted to Section Eight must be financed to 100 per cent of the local housing needs.

Lack of intelligence

With each new revelation of ineptitude, the reputation of the CIA as an "intelligence" organization becomes increasingly tattered. The latest CIA stupidity is no light to lift, in view of the legal and political implications of the agency's questionable policies in South Korea and in its United States - becoming even more evident of the need for Congress to confront the CIA on its performance and legal authorities in their investigations of the pattern of DODA's letdown and disillusionment.

According to congressional investigators, the CIA was aware that the ROK was using illegal methods, and not only that, but the CIA was aware that the ROK was using those methods in the United States against people the United States has supported financially. The CIA, in fact, initially even replaced its intelligence agencies and people associated with those agencies. This person was assigned duties of supervising activities on the demilitarized zone and to other after-sacrifices, which, although important, may not have been the most urgent matters.

But what must not be said is that a person who has done that in handling personal affairs — to the point of wanting to kill for him. Just as he is the fact that, at present, Michael Halper, director of the ROK's office, still has not had the chance to improve conditions in South Korea.

"Our staff is primarily dealing with the matter," he said, and added that they are working on the "professional frame of our office. But he does not wish his staff to be involved."

It does slightly disturb a person who does not try to take that step in the face of their own affairs but that should be the judgment of its own professional medical staff.

Until it is determined whether the person can function as an RA or not this person should not have least temporarily be removed from his present RA duty, and replace the two RA and the residents of that floor.

Cancer research ban ‘barbaric’

WASHINGTON (AP) — In those dark moments when we see the enemy as it truly is, there are a few changes we can make and do our best to face what comes.

People have been arrested for bringing laetrile into the country; doctors have been prosecuted for using it on their patients; the Food and Drug Administration won't even use the word “experimental” on its patients.

The real enemy is not the drug, but the power that the scientific establishment has over our society.

CHANCE TO TRAVEL AND STUDY OFF CAMPUS

Campus on Wheels is a private organization formed by a group of university students and a Kansas City company. It provides a way of traveling places and doing things you’ve never thought possible with the opportunity to be the universe’s credit card, yet spending less than you would if you were living on campus.

During a semester you will see Chicago and Washington D.C., hike the Appalachian Trail, go deep sea fishing, snorkel off the Florida Keys, cross the country by train, see the Grand Canyon, go night driving up the Rockies, visit San Francisco and Los Angeles, visit Las Vegas and Ziegfield Follies, backpack abandoned trails in the Grand Canyon and ski in the Rockies.

For semester students it’s more like living a month-long trip for two months. A group is being formed on the Lute campus to go on the Spring 1972 expedition. Ads can be enhanced by experience without sacrificing excitement and enjoyment. Our staff aids students in planning and carrying through with independent study approvals in any field.

Due to group purchasing, total cost of this expedition is only $1,380.00. Financial aid is available.

We have a good response to previous ads in the Daily Iowan and will be sending members of our group to talk with interested students. Meet with them Saturday, November 20, in the Kirkwood Room at the Memorial Union, Drop in anytime between 10 and 5. If you can’t make it to the meeting, call collect 338-9505 for more information. We can accept only a limited number of participants, so please call us immediately.

The art of gestures

Powers: 'Everybody is a mime'

By Bucky Coleman

Powers is the art of communicating stories and actions through gestures and movements. It is an extension of the gestures most people use every day, according to mime teacher and performer Roscoe "Bucky" Coleman.

"When you're doing mime, you're just using your body to tell a story," said Powers. "You can use your hands, your feet, your face, anything you want to tell a story without words." Powers is teaching a mime workshop at the Iowa City Public Library this weekend.

"Mime is a language that everyone understands," said Powers. "People from all over the world can communicate through mime." Powers will be teaching mime workshops at the library on Saturday and Sunday.

Play story of conflicting worlds

By Valerie Sullivan

A romantic comedy, coming-of-age tale, and political commentary about the state of the world, "The Daily Iowan" is a play that will have you on the edge of your seat.

The story follows the life of a young man named Seth, who is struggling to make ends meet while attending college. Seth meets a girl named Emma, who is trying to make a difference in the world through her activism.

As they grow closer, they realize that their differing beliefs and values are causing them to conflict. But they also realize that they can work together to make a change.

"The Daily Iowan" is a play that explores the conflicts and contradictions of modern life," said the director Ken Chambers. "It's a story about love and loss, about hope and despair."

Winter sports scene — just waiting for the snow

By SUE STEUBENBURG

As soon as the temperature starts to drop and the clouds come rolling in, skiers and snowboarders will be out in the cold weather and snow to enjoy winter sports in the Iowa City area. Preparation for these winter sports starts now, such as ice skating, pond hockey, cross-country skiing, and snowshoeing, are all available in the area.

Finally, for those who like the thrill of dirt, but would rather stick to a level surface, there are many options for dirt biking available at weekends.

One event is reserved solely for women: the annual women's title. A Former College Men's Championship is held at the Hickory Hill home of Mary Lea.

The nuns of the nunnery, the March 4th Society, and the Women's College of the University of Iowa, are all planning to participate in the event, which is expected to draw a large crowd.

The event is open to women of all ages and skill levels, and is expected to be a fun and exciting way to celebrate women's day.

Reds say fair offer was made to Gullett

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Close to the finish, Reds Executive Vice President Bill Kinnebrew said the club had made a "fair offer" to the southpaw he thought had made a "day offer" to the Indians playing against the Reds.

Kapstein said the Reds were asked to match the Indians offer and if they did "they guarantee themselves a fair offer." Kinnebrew said the Reds had been after Wagner for some time and "we hope the Indians will make us an offer." However, Wagner did not look forward to the Indians making an offer to the southpaw. He said the Reds had been trying to sign Wagner for a long time.

several moments that might have been this week. "I think the Ohio State football team is having a tremendous season."

Rod Fitch's Ohio State team has done something this season that it hasn't done in a long time: it hasn't lost a game to a Big Ten team. "We've got the edge on defense. Michigan's offense is quick, very fast, and that's why they beat us," said Fitch. "If they had a backup, they might have made much more of a statement this year."

Defensive back Jim Stob said the Michigan State team has a lot of talent, but they're not playing as a team. "They're not playing as a team," said Stob. "They're not playing as a team.

Iowa has also been on a roll, scoring big wins against Penn State and Penn State last weekend against Purdue, it's questionable as to whether we fumbled after a knee injury. Junior Dan McLaughlin will most likely start at quarterback with Devone Pires working on the side."

"We have really only beaten one team this year, speaking of the negative side," Comings said, "and that's Northwestern. In the positive side, we have only been taken serious one and that was Ohio State, and we bested them.

But we could win more with those two played together. If you play young people and you don't, it doesn't make a difference. I'm playing with a lot of young people and they just play and they don't include me because they have truth on their side.
