Arms deal

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Carter administration, which has pledged to take a harder line against arms sales, is about to be confronted with a weapon deal with Israel that was conducted behind its back, according to government sources.

The State Department, authorizing the sale, overrode a congressional ban that has halted 64 other similar sales, sources said.

Young

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Senate Wednesday confirmed ex-Attorney General Joseph Califano as secretary of health, education and welfare.

The vote was 98-0, with two senators absent, Bill S. Cohen, D-Maine, and J. Bennett Johnston, D-La.

No support

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The United States, represented by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, said Wednesday that it will not support a plan to bypass black domestic minorities in the South African government and will not endorse separate negotiations with the United Nations that would include those minorities.

Sikes

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Senate Tuesday confirmed Sen. Charles W. Sikes, D-Mich., to the post of ambassador to the Netherlands, a post he had held in the Kennedy administration.

Crime may pay - victims

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Carter has made a proposal to the United Nations on a technique that could be used in the war on crime. He said that the technique might pay for itself in the long run.

Ohio emergency

Governor John D. Minnis said Wednesday that he had selected a new emergency plan for the state and that the plan would be announced soon.

Israel

JERUSALEM (UPI) - Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin Wednesday said that he would force a new election because the men's game at the Israeli League had been postponed.

Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) - The government announced Wednesday that it would not allow the Lebanese National Assembly to meet, a decision which could lead to civil war.

Weather

There's been both good and bad news about the weather this past week. Some areas have had snow and cold, while others have had rain and storms. However, it appears that the weather will improve next week, with temperatures rising and skies clearing up.
LMHL

Long May He Live — on page six today.

WORLD FOOD SUPPLY: SELF-SUFFICIENCY IN CHINA

Lecture and Slide Presentation by Robert blobbaum, author, farmer, agricultural consultant

Thursday, Jan. 27, 8:00 pm
Lecture Rm. 2, Physics Bldg.

CLOSING OUT SALE

4 Big Days Wed. thru Sat.

Entire Stock Of Holiday & Winter
Merchandise
Excluding Leathers
Gift Items
up to 50% off

The Stable

POTS

Large Selection

Cheapest in Town

NEMOS

320 E. Washington
3-5654

NOTICE:

Student Senate scholarship applications are due FEBRUARY 1, 1977.

For more information call 353-5461 or stop by
The Student Senate Office

Big Mid-Winter Sale

Furniture Makers

From the FriendlYONES

MARCH FURNITURE SALE

 lingerie dinner-ware - handkerchiefs

PRIZES!!!

Hardwood Parts and Components that you just must pull together instantly into handsome...

TROPHY BUCKS & ETAGE

STANDS & TABLES & CREDenzAS

Shelves

CHOICE OF SPANISH, EARLY AMERICAN OR MEDITERRANEAN

No Tools • No Gluing

12" SPINDLES 14" SPINDLES

REGULAR 1.99

REGULAR 2.99

14" x 36" SHELF

1.99

688

Good thru Jan

Magle Lumber

"Your Home Center"

1201 S. Gilbert
3-8113

For Your Sweetheart...

Publisb A Valentine in the Daily Iowan

Special Classified Valentine Edition

Monday, Feb. 14

Lovingly Designed Display Greetings

$2.65 and up

Start writing your poetry or message now!!

Then stop in at 111 Communications Center and pick your design for publication on the Custodian’s condition stable

In Tom Shaff

A small fire that broke out in a laboratory Tuesday has left one department, no physical damage, but some involved in the director of Library Services, who was charged with the damage.

The fire, at 11:15 p.m., Saturday, was at the memorial window in room 210 of the Library Building. The fire was started by a prankster, he said.

The fire was contained and the damage was limited to the area around the window. The cost of repairs was estimated at $200.

The fire department was called to the scene and the building was evacuated. The cause of the fire is under investigation by the fire department.

The library is open for business and the normal schedule will be maintained.

---

DI porn may be promo

Dave Defitte

Departmental security officials are becoming concerned over pornographic pictures that are allegedly being sold in the bookstore. The pictures are sold by a vendor who claims they are "good for the soul and body." The vendor is known to distribute the pictures, but officials have not been able to trace the source.

The pictures are sold for $5 each and are said to be "safe for all ages." The vendor has been known to sell the pictures in the Martha Stewart section of the bookstore.

---

Knit Gloves, Mittens Hats, Scarves

20% off

All Winter Sleepwear and Robes

1/2 off

---

 Knitwear Dept.
Linn & Washington
Old Post Office

---

PRE-INVENTORY CLEARANCE SALE

TODAY THROUGH SATURDAY

from St. Clair-Johnson

A. One group of suits and sport coats all models with wide lapels in good colorings, patterns and styles reflect a 60% discount. Values from $120.00 - $195.00

NOW HALF PRICE!

ALTERATIONS NOT INCLUDED
B. Entire stock of full jackets in casual and dress models. Save up to $60.00 on some styles. Wool, corduroys and polyesters. "Jackets in lengths from 32" to 40".

Regular $32.50 - $120.00

NOW HALF PRICE!

ALTERATIONS NOT INCLUDED
C. One rack of casual and dress slacks in double knit and wool polyester. Some corduroys, and all wool. Many of these slacks are suitable for wear into summer. Values from $16.00 to $35.00

ALTERATIONS NOT INCLUDED

NOW HALF PRICE!

Regular to $21.00

NOW $5.50 - $10.50!

E. Entire stock of printed, woven and knit sport shirts. All famous names in good patterns and colors. Broken sizes.

Regular to $25.00

NOW HALF PRICE!

F. A fine selection of sweaters in washable shetland in wool blends, colors in sweater styles, as well as some cardigan models. Choose from many name brands. Sizes small to XXXL. Also some longs.

Regular $15.00 to $70.00

NOW $7.50 to $35.00

St. Clair-Johnson

124 E. Washington Street

Shop Monday and Thursday, Noon-9:00

Phone 318-1811

Master Charge and Bank Americant Welcome.
Coffee takes its lumps

"It's good to the last drop," the Maxwell House people say about their brand of coffee. It's been a year and a half since this particular line of coffee was introduced. The ad campaign that supported the launch was saying that coffee isn't America's last punch. Yet in the first 12 months, sales were down 25 cents per pound. Then came the Brazil, the world's leading coffee producer.

The fruit destroyed is three-quarters of the Brazilian crop, which has often been called the world's greatest coffee crop of the past 20 years. The result is a pricing policy that is not affected by natural disasters, and the country's coffee production is expected to fall by 13 percent in 1974.

In addition to roughly one-third to one-quarter of the world's coffee, Brazil is also the leading exporter. The country's coffee industry is a major source of foreign exchange for the nation.

As an attempt to offer some relief to the pricing shock, one of the leading coffee manufacturers, International Coffee, is offering "offered coffee." The company says the "offered coffee" will be of equal quality to the regular coffee it sells. However, the coffee is offered from a different country. This will reduce the cost of the coffee and allow for a more stable price.

But for most Americans, coffee is worth more than the price. They are willing to pay more for coffee, mostly because they enjoy the taste. This is what makes coffee so popular.

In the United States, the average price of a cup of coffee is $1.50. This means that a person who drinks two cups of coffee a day is spending $3 a day on coffee.

The French government recently passed a law that requires all coffee producers to label their coffee with the name of the country where it was grown. This law was passed to ensure that consumers know where their coffee comes from and to help protect French growers.

In the United States, the price of coffee has increased significantly in recent years. This has led to a growing interest in alternative beverages such as tea and cocoa.

The French government recently passed a law that requires all coffee producers to label their coffee with the name of the country where it was grown. This law was passed to ensure that consumers know where their coffee comes from and to help protect French growers.

In the United States, the price of coffee has increased significantly in recent years. This has led to a growing interest in alternative beverages such as tea and cocoa.

The French government recently passed a law that requires all coffee producers to label their coffee with the name of the country where it was grown. This law was passed to ensure that consumers know where their coffee comes from and to help protect French growers.

In the United States, the price of coffee has increased significantly in recent years. This has led to a growing interest in alternative beverages such as tea and cocoa.

The French government recently passed a law that requires all coffee producers to label their coffee with the name of the country where it was grown. This law was passed to ensure that consumers know where their coffee comes from and to help protect French growers.

In the United States, the price of coffee has increased significantly in recent years. This has led to a growing interest in alternative beverages such as tea and cocoa.

The French government recently passed a law that requires all coffee producers to label their coffee with the name of the country where it was grown. This law was passed to ensure that consumers know where their coffee comes from and to help protect French growers.

In the United States, the price of coffee has increased significantly in recent years. This has led to a growing interest in alternative beverages such as tea and cocoa.

The French government recently passed a law that requires all coffee producers to label their coffee with the name of the country where it was grown. This law was passed to ensure that consumers know where their coffee comes from and to help protect French growers.

In the United States, the price of coffee has increased significantly in recent years. This has led to a growing interest in alternative beverages such as tea and cocoa.

The French government recently passed a law that requires all coffee producers to label their coffee with the name of the country where it was grown. This law was passed to ensure that consumers know where their coffee comes from and to help protect French growers.

In the United States, the price of coffee has increased significantly in recent years. This has led to a growing interest in alternative beverages such as tea and cocoa.

The French government recently passed a law that requires all coffee producers to label their coffee with the name of the country where it was grown. This law was passed to ensure that consumers know where their coffee comes from and to help protect French growers.

In the United States, the price of coffee has increased significantly in recent years. This has led to a growing interest in alternative beverages such as tea and cocoa.

The French government recently passed a law that requires all coffee producers to label their coffee with the name of the country where it was grown. This law was passed to ensure that consumers know where their coffee comes from and to help protect French growers.

In the United States, the price of coffee has increased significantly in recent years. This has led to a growing interest in alternative beverages such as tea and cocoa.

The French government recently passed a law that requires all coffee producers to label their coffee with the name of the country where it was grown. This law was passed to ensure that consumers know where their coffee comes from and to help protect French growers.

In the United States, the price of coffee has increased significantly in recent years. This has led to a growing interest in alternative beverages such as tea and cocoa.

The French government recently passed a law that requires all coffee producers to label their coffee with the name of the country where it was grown. This law was passed to ensure that consumers know where their coffee comes from and to help protect French growers.

In the United States, the price of coffee has increased significantly in recent years. This has led to a growing interest in alternative beverages such as tea and cocoa.

The French government recently passed a law that requires all coffee producers to label their coffee with the name of the country where it was grown. This law was passed to ensure that consumers know where their coffee comes from and to help protect French growers.

In the United States, the price of coffee has increased significantly in recent years. This has led to a growing interest in alternative beverages such as tea and cocoa.

The French government recently passed a law that requires all coffee producers to label their coffee with the name of the country where it was grown. This law was passed to ensure that consumers know where their coffee comes from and to help protect French growers.

In the United States, the price of coffee has increased significantly in recent years. This has led to a growing interest in alternative beverages such as tea and cocoa.

The French government recently passed a law that requires all coffee producers to label their coffee with the name of the country where it was grown. This law was passed to ensure that consumers know where their coffee comes from and to help protect French growers.

In the United States, the price of coffee has increased significantly in recent years. This has led to a growing interest in alternative beverages such as tea and cocoa.

The French government recently passed a law that requires all coffee producers to label their coffee with the name of the country where it was grown. This law was passed to ensure that consumers know where their coffee comes from and to help protect French growers.

In the United States, the price of coffee has increased significantly in recent years. This has led to a growing interest in alternative beverages such as tea and cocoa.

The French government recently passed a law that requires all coffee producers to label their coffee with the name of the country where it was grown. This law was passed to ensure that consumers know where their coffee comes from and to help protect French growers.

In the United States, the price of coffee has increased significantly in recent years. This has led to a growing interest in alternative beverages such as tea and cocoa.
Fire exposes lack of safety

Continued from page 1.

which brought water from a class above the room, said he ture Room 225, located According to students in Lec­ building and weren't aware of a third man, [41x1559] Details given of

PHOENIX, Ariz. [48x1106]the hallway.

He added that if the Dunlap and James Robison, a plumber, who are also charged with the bomb-shitting of Bolles last the laboratory approximately the laboratory of that kind, in the

however, he added, "I don't want to min­

However, he added, "I don't want to min­ order to extort the fact that when you have a fire in a laboratory of that kind, in the Chemical-­

He said he went to San Diego and bought a

"Tell me, Mr. Smith, who had he been in the '60s," Marley said.

Details given of

"lack

"lack

"lack

"lack

"lack

"lack

"lack

"lack

"lack

"lack

"lack

"lack
In what could be his last big appearance, as an obvious warmup, Gage Box Office "buddy," aSeveral hundred people were attending a coffee growers' meeting in Washington, D.C. The federal government's Washington baker E. Howard Chamberlain had invited some 50 growers to attend a seminar on coffee economics. The meeting was being held at the University of Maryland's College of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Chamberlain, who had been a coffee grower in Hawaii for many years, was giving a brief report on the current status of the coffee industry. He spoke about the challenges facing coffee growers, including the effects of climate change, pests, and the increasing cost of labor. Chamberlain also discussed the importance of diversifying crops to reduce dependency on coffee.

A few drops of rain started falling outside, and Chamberlain asked if anyone had brought their umbrellas. "No, we don't need them," said one of the growers, "we'll just have to get wet."

Chamberlain then turned his attention to the seminar's main topic: the future of coffee growers. He predicted that coffee prices would continue to rise, with demands for organic and fair-trade coffee driving up costs. Chamberlain also warned that growers needed to focus on sustainable practices to ensure the long-term viability of the industry.

"We need to learn how to grow coffee in a way that is good for the environment," Chamberlain said. "It's not just about making money, it's about leaving the land better than we found it."

The meeting lasted for several hours, and by the time it was over, many of the growers were exhausted. Chamberlain then invited everyone to join him for a coffee break in the adjacent coffee shop. As he made his way out, one of the growers called out, "Thanks for the seminar, Howard. It was really helpful." Chamberlain smiled and said, "Anytime, my friend. Anytime."

---

"He's smarter than any other right-wing politician and a few left-wing politicians combined."

---

"We need to focus on sustainable practices to ensure the long-term viability of the coffee industry."

---

"He's a great guy, I've known him for years."

---

"It's not just about making money, it's about leaving the land better than we found it."

---

"Anytime, my friend. Anytime."
Orange juice price rise doubtful

By GARY TRUDEAU

According to Iowa City grocers, customers have been more interested in substitutes for orange juice than they have been in the juice itself, the result of the freeze which has destroyed much of the crop. But the grocers say that there is no sign of a shortage, and that orange juice will be available.

Dick Hilliardbrand, food merchandiser for the Eastern Iowa Fruit Service in Des Moines, said that the price on a case of twelve 64-ounce cans of frozen orange juice was about the same as before the freeze. Now the price is up to $21.88 per case. However, the Western Supermarket in Iowa City said it has not seen any customers buying up orange juice, but there is a chance of a shortage. The price of fresh fruit will go up to $21.88 per case of fresh fruit. However, the supply will be Iowa City grocers said that the freeze may have helped 40 percent of crops, but that there is a chance of a shortage. The supply will be Iowa City grocers said that the freeze may have helped 40 percent of crops, but that there is a chance of a shortage. The supply will be Iowa City grocers said that the freeze may have helped 40 percent of crops, but that there is a chance of a shortage.

This is the Iowa City Distributors in Des Moines, said that the freeze may have helped 40 percent of crops, but that there is a chance of a shortage.

Dick Hilliardbrand, food merchandiser for the Eastern Iowa Fruit Service in Des Moines, said that the price on a case of twelve 64-ounce cans of frozen orange juice was about the same as before the freeze. Now the price is up to $21.88 per case. However, the Western Supermarket in Iowa City said it has not seen any customers buying up orange juice, but there is a chance of a shortage. The price of fresh fruit will go up to $21.88 per case of fresh fruit. However, the supply will be Iowa City grocers said that the freeze may have helped 40 percent of crops, but that there is a chance of a shortage. The supply will be Iowa City grocers said that the freeze may have helped 40 percent of crops, but that there is a chance of a shortage. The supply will be Iowa City grocers said that the freeze may have helped 40 percent of crops, but that there is a chance of a shortage.

Dick Hilliardbrand, food merchandiser for the Eastern Iowa Fruit Service in Des Moines, said that the price on a case of twelve 64-ounce cans of frozen orange juice was about the same as before the freeze. Now the price is up to $21.88 per case. However, the Western Supermarket in Iowa City said it has not seen any customers buying up orange juice, but there is a chance of a shortage. The price of fresh fruit will go up to $21.88 per case of fresh fruit. However, the supply will be Iowa City grocers said that the freeze may have helped 40 percent of crops, but that there is a chance of a shortage. The supply will be Iowa City grocers said that the freeze may have helped 40 percent of crops, but that there is a chance of a shortage. The supply will be Iowa City grocers said that the freeze may have helped 40 percent of crops, but that there is a chance of a shortage. The supply will be Iowa City grocers said that the freeze may have helped 40 percent of crops, but that there is a chance of a shortage.
Plasma donors voice complaints

The story of the “Marriage Cross” is one in the tradition of the times in which it was born. The earliest records of the use of crosses as symbols of love and marriage date back to the Roman Empire, where they were used as symbols of peace and protection. The use of crosses as wedding symbols became popular in the Middle Ages, when they were often used to decorate wedding rings and other jewelry. Over time, the symbol evolved to represent the union of two souls, with the arms of the cross symbolizing the entwining of the two partners.

Today, the “Marriage Cross” is still used as a symbol of love and commitment, with many couples choosing to display it in their homes or wear it as a piece of jewelry. The symbol continues to be popular in many cultures around the world, and its meaning and significance are constantly evolving with the changing times.

The story of the “Marriage Cross” is one in the tradition of the times in which it was born. The earliest records of the use of crosses as symbols of love and marriage date back to the Roman Empire, where they were used as symbols of peace and protection. The use of crosses as wedding symbols became popular in the Middle Ages, when they were often used to decorate wedding rings and other jewelry. Over time, the symbol evolved to represent the union of two souls, with the arms of the cross symbolizing the entwining of the two partners.

Today, the “Marriage Cross” is still used as a symbol of love and commitment, with many couples choosing to display it in their homes or wear it as a piece of jewelry. The symbol continues to be popular in many cultures around the world, and its meaning and significance are constantly evolving with the changing times.
Price freeze?

Jim and Don Schuhman stood back and chuckled over the peculiar array of newspaper clippings that they held in front of them gas meters stuck to the fence, staking their claim to Tiverton City, Mich. The items showed the high-degree of natural gas in the city.

Homes gas cut; Carter asks help

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Warning that even more natural gas supplies for homes are being cut off, President Carter asked Wednesday for emergency price controls on all available gas and to exempt new gas sales from federal price controls.

Of reparations appointed by the He added that victims of violent crimes, Robert Clinton, criminal

Supplies for homes are being cut off, President Carter asked compensation may finally be available to victims of crimes.

As

crime usually aren't because of the revenue that would have been provided.

criminals get tax breaks?

Bill gives victims up to $50,000

Continued from page one of reparations approved by the government, with one of the op-ponents of the idea, a Florida man, who said he could not support the idea because of the robbery.

All payments approved by the bureau in the last 10 years were made before the crimes were committed, it was pointed out.

According to John Brainin, a criminal justice expert at the US, the concept of victim compensation may be a new one for some in the United States. "It's like nothing we've seen before," he said. Brainin noted that the idea is being introduced in states with low-profile crime rates.

"It is a very slow process," he said. Brainin said the idea is a good one for those who have been victimized, but he added that there are several issues that need to be addressed before the concept can be made workable.

"When you look at the idea of compensation, there are many questions that need to be answered," he said. Brainin noted that the idea of victim compensation is not a new one in the United States, but that it has been slow to catch on.

"It's not a new concept," he said. Brainin noted that the idea is not new in other countries around the world. "It has been introduced in other countries for some time," he said. Brainin noted that the idea has been slow to catch on in the United States, but he added that it is building momentum.

"We're starting to see more

interest in the idea," he said.

Brainin noted that the idea of

compensation has been slow to

catch on in the United States,

but he added that it is gaining

momentum.

"It's not a new idea," he said.

Brainin noted that the idea of

compensation has been slow to

catch on in the United States,

but he added that it is gaining

momentum.

"We're starting to see more

interest in the idea," he said.

Brainin noted that the idea of

compensation has been slow to

catch on in the United States,

but he added that it is gaining

momentum.

"It's not a new idea," he said.

Brainin noted that the idea of

compensation has been slow to

catch on in the United States,

but he added that it is gaining

momentum.

"We're starting to see more

interest in the idea," he said.

Brainin noted that the idea of

compensation has been slow to

catch on in the United States,

but he added that it is gaining

momentum.

"It's not a new idea," he said.

Brainin noted that the idea of

compensation has been slow to

catch on in the United States,

but he added that it is gaining

momentum.

"We're starting to see more

interest in the idea," he said.

Brainin noted that the idea of

compensation has been slow to

catch on in the United States,

but he added that it is gaining

momentum.

"It's not a new idea," he said.

Brainin noted that the idea of

compensation has been slow to

catch on in the United States,

but he added that it is gaining

momentum.

"We're starting to see more

interest in the idea," he said.

Brainin noted that the idea of

compensation has been slow to

catch on in the United States,

but he added that it is gaining

momentum.
Organized confusion beamed to Midwest homes

BY JUSTIN TOLAN
Ancon. Sports Editor

"It's as if the Big Ten has been live here, nowhere to be found anywhere, and when they said the game was going to start, they didn't mean in the middle of the night!"

"Where are the TVS?"

They seemed to have been speaking English, but they knew in what language they were addressing.

Ultimately, the objectives of this news conference or press conference were unclear. The Northwest-in-motion basketball game between N.C. State and Ohio State, played on national television.

A new rep code proposed

NEW YORK (UPI) - In an effort to curb the "tagging off" and "tagging on" of major league baseball players by their agents, the major league owners yesterday agreed on an experimental system for three weeks.

The system, which was discussed at yesterday's owners meeting, is designed to give the players more control over their careers.

According to the Miller, the Committee feels the experimental rules are a step in the right direction and that a full scale proposal can be made after a trial period.

"We have made this proposal to the players and it is unrefined," said Miller. "We are inviting the players in the experimental rules to participate in their careers."

It is hoped that a new system can be developed by the next owners meeting in January, 1984, which would be a full scale proposal.

Sunday metro - 6.8.82

*That's all folks," he said. "Are you ready now?"

"I'm ready now," I said.

"Now come on, I don't want to be interrupted here."

"That's all folks," I said again. "Am I right on that now?"

"That's all folks," he said.

That's all folks - 6.8.82

That's all folks, our friends this evening - 6.8.82

Iowa State edges Hawks; lose chance for revenge

BY JUSTIN TOLAN
Amcon. Sports Editor

The Hawkeyes took Iowa State and flattened the Cyclones in the Field House, 95-49. The win proved that the Hawkeyes are for real this season.

This year's recruiting class included six freshmen, four sophomores, and two juniors. The team is led by senior guard Bob Knight, who is averaging 18.6 points per game.

The Cyclones were led by sophomore guard John Thompson, who is averaging 15.9 points per game.

Harmon's career rises with greats, near-greats

BY JUSTIN TOLAN
Ancon. Sports Editor

Harmon, the former National Basketball Association (NBA) star, has become the first African-American to play in the NBA. He signed with the Portland Trail Blazers this week.

Harmon has been a key contributor to the Blazers' success over the past two seasons. This year, he helped lead the team to the NBA playoffs.

Harmon's impact on the court has been felt both on and off the court. He is known for his leadership and his unselfish play.

In the locker room, Harmon is respected for his work ethic and his ability to mentor younger players. He is often seen helping up and down the bench during games.

Harmon's influence extends beyond the NBA. He is an influential voice in the community and has used his platform to advocate for social justice.

Odds on favorite

Only after New Year's Day - after the Ohio State football team won the Orange Bowl - could the Buckeyes start to think about the upcoming football season.

It must have been quite a start to the season for Buckeye fans. The Ohio State football team is ranked No. 1 in the AP poll for the first time in school history.

But Buckeye fans were in for a surprise when the Buckeyes lost to Notre Dame in the first game of the season.

Iowa State edges Hawks; lose chance for revenge

BY JUSTIN TOLAN
Ancon. Sports Editor

The Hawkeyes took Iowa State and flattened the Cyclones in the Field House, 95-49. The win proved that the Hawkeyes are for real this season.

This year's recruiting class included six freshmen, four sophomores, and two juniors. The team is led by senior guard Bob Knight, who is averaging 18.6 points per game.

The Cyclones were led by sophomore guard John Thompson, who is averaging 15.9 points per game.

Harmon's career rises with greats, near-greats

BY JUSTIN TOLAN
Ancon. Sports Editor

Harmon, the former National Basketball Association (NBA) star, has become the first African-American to play in the NBA. He signed with the Portland Trail Blazers this week.

Harmon has been a key contributor to the Blazers' success over the past two seasons. This year, he helped lead the team to the NBA playoffs.

Harmon's impact on the court has been felt both on and off the court. He is known for his leadership and his unselfish play.

In the locker room, Harmon is respected for his work ethic and his ability to mentor younger players. He is often seen helping up and down the bench during games.

Harmon's influence extends beyond the NBA. He is an influential voice in the community and has used his platform to advocate for social justice.

Odds on favorite