Carter calls for quick arms agreement

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Jimmy Carter has called on the Soviet Union and China to negotiate a quick agreement on arms reduction, saying that the world needs a "thunderous" agreement now to head off the "bigger three-warhead" threat.

"We have many more warheads, much a higher degree of soverignity in such weapons, independent policies, effective weapons, and almost no checks," the president said.

"The worst case is that the Soviet Union and China, with some third country, might do a 'sneak attack' on the United States, a real attack on the American continent," the president said.

"The United States needs a large-scale reduction of the arms and the threat of arms, and we need a quick agreement," the president said.

"A test of our strengths was the Soviet withdrawal from Cuba," the president said. "But we can't afford to have a large-scale arms race, a large-scale buildup, a large-scale arms race that can go off and be very dangerous."

ARH committee to review judicial board policies

by Neil Brown
Staff Writer

The ARH Associated Student Body (ASB) committee on judicial board policies and procedures meets Tuesday to discuss procedural changes as a result of the state and residence services investigation and the subsequent disciplinary action. The committee met to discuss the failure of the judicial board to follow procedures and to determine what changes need to be made.

The full vote by the ARH Student Senate on Monday, March 15, 1977, to uphold the disciplinary action against six residence hall residents and limit their contact with non-residence hall residents also needs to be considered.

Policies

According to Fink, the proper procedures following a disciplinary hearing were not followed.

The committee decided to present the presentation to the ARH Judicial Board, because a lot of the procedures don't work in the Board's present procedures.

Fink said, "We felt a need to present the presentation of the committee's report along with specific recommendations of the committee and present them to the ARH Judicial Board."

The committee will consider whether the Board's procedures are necessary and if so, whether they should be revised.

The selection process of judicial board members will also be reviewed. Any ARH member is eligible to serve on the judicial board.

City changes 3 bus routes to avoid load-restricted bridges

The City of Iowa City has changed three bus routes to avoid load-restricted bridges.

The changes were made this week at the recommendation of the Iowa City Housing Authority, according to Plante.

Student financial aid priority

PATRICK JENSEN
Iowa City December 14

In recent years, Iowans have been discouraged by the state's lack of commitment to student assistance programs. As a result, many have turned to the federal government for help. This has led to a decrease in the state's share of the cost, which, in turn, has increased the burden on students and their families.

In a recent letter to Gov. Robert Ray, the Iowa State University Student Government Association (ISUSGA) called for an increase in state aid for students. The letter emphasized the importance of tuition assistance and urged the state to make it a priority.

The ISUSGA letter concluded by thanking the governor for his efforts in the past and asking for continued support in the future. It was signed by the president of the university, who also expressed his hope that the state would continue to make education a priority.

Oh, say can you sea

The world's oceans are becoming one of the most interesting international controversies, as we don't have enough trouble on land. In the last 10 years, industry, scientific communities, and environmentalists have been working to acquire valuable minerals and other resources that are already being exploited. The oceans are a mine of economic potential, with vast reserves of economically valuable minerals. In some cases, these resources could yield trillions of dollars to the United States and other countries. The ocean wealth could be shared among the United States and its allies, and the potential economic returns could be shared between nations.

Some nations have been developing the technology to begin mining the oceans. The United States has been very active in this area, and it is clear that the United States has been the most aggressive nation in the development of the ocean wealth. The United States has not been alone in this effort, and other nations have also been working to develop the technology to exploit the ocean wealth. However, it is clear that the United States has been the most aggressive nation in this area.

The United States has made it clear that it will support the ocean wealth as a part of the greater ocean wealth. It is clear that the United States has been the most aggressive nation in this area, and it is clear that the United States will continue to support the ocean wealth as a part of the greater ocean wealth. Fieldhouse dance floor 'off limits to gay dancing'

Fieldhouse dance floor was closed to gay dancing on Saturday night in accordance with an announcement made by the faculty for the evening. The ordnance was passed unanimously by the Faculty Organization and the governing body of the University.

The Faculty Organization passed the ordnance because they felt that the University was not providing a platform for gay students to express their views and concerns. The ordnance was passed without objection and was expected to remain in effect for at least six months.

The University President, Dr. William G. Crownfield, said that the University was committed to providing a safe and inclusive environment for all students. He added that the University was working on developing a new policy that would ensure that all students were treated equally and fairly.

The Faculty Organization was pleased with the University President's statement and said that they would continue to work with the University to ensure that all students were treated equally and fairly.

Kids refute misconceptions about dance

By TOM REID

The Boys' Club of Iowa City is finding that sometimes the best defense against alienation and frustrations of a war-enforced draft-evader is a creative dance lesson.

"I really think dancing should be started at the elementary school level," said Case. "And just through the ordinary school dance classes at the university, more kids are finding real enjoyment and working a lot better."

"I don't think we have been given enough thought as to what we are doing to children," said Case. "But I think the university level is where it should start."

The Boys' Club dance classes have been going for a year now, and Case is very pleased with their results. Case has found that the boys who are drafted are not nearly as responsive, but not nearly as rebellious, as boys who were not drafted. CINCINNATI (UPI)-- Hustler publisher Larry Flynt was found guilty Thursday of obscene mailings and was sentenced to a 12-year prison term. The judge handed down the sentence in response to federal obscenity charges. He also fined him $5,000 on the unconstitutional denial of a 24th Amendment challenge.

The judge handed down the sentence in response to federal obscenity charges. He also fined him $5,000 on the constitutional denial of a 24th Amendment challenge.

"I think the evidence was clear enough to find him guilty," the judge said. "I'm not asking you to agree with me, but I would hope you would agree that I've done the right thing by him.

"I don't think there's any doubt about the size of his business. I don't think there's any doubt about the type of business. I don't think there's any doubt about the size of the audience.

"But there's no doubt about the type of business. It's not like anybody's going to look at it and say, 'Oh, my God, this is creating a public nuisance.'"

The judge said he was "shocked" by the amount of money Flynt had spent on his defense and said he was "very pleased" with the jury's decision and predicted it would be reversed on appeal.

"I think it's going to set the tone in this country as to how those pornography cases can go with those magazines," the judge said. "You can't win if you're going to do this."

Flynt was taken to jail after his conviction for obscenity charges in Cleveland Municipal Court. He was sentenced to a 24-month prison term. He was also fined a total of $5,000.

"It didn't have to be this way," the judge said. "I'm sorry for Mr. Flynt, but I'm sorry for the country."

"I think this is a victory for the public. I think it's a victory for the public interest."

Rienow soph in 'egg-citing' win

BY JUSTIN TOYAN

Sports Editor

Chadrian Rienow, a 1976 sophomore from Muscatine High and Appalachian Hills in Muscatine, Iowa, escaped looming champ Rob Redderick of Drake Monday night at the Field House, 23-18.

Three winless, one-battle teams were expected to meet under the late evening lights of Saturday's promised winter storm. On the contrary, both were in fine, climatic form.

Redderick had just eaten his 75th hard-boiled trout, and he's still going — although looking a little peaked. The raging champion lost for the first time in eight months.

Rienow sirrup was on his face, a smear from Forest City, and she was the winner. The "Sister of Beth" schoolmates could not be wrong, for just as the veteran pushed ahead she showed signs of inevitable sickness. Red grunted, shivered and forced No. 30, when, with a second unanimous-wide crown of hearts, he ran.

Hunterd headrest were Rob Redderick, egg official, pronounced Rienow's upset "the best in quality, quantity and effort."

"Well, right up there at the top," added Ed Nicholls, who with John Kratzer co-sponsored the event.

One guy walking as all-white wonderbread, and nakedness wandered on the scene from the Capitol Palace in Las Vegas, Nev.

"This is great, this is great," said Tim "The Bachelor" Lyttle, a senior who had not had oneaucr day's rest before tonight. "No one could outdo me."

But they were stuffed, not

"The eyes of a man who had been through the kind of thing that only two nights before had witnessed two university groups whip 20 people to a Volkswagen."

The Reindeer competition had to be removed to the North Gym for the St. John's attack, as the four-legged animals might reveal their winning movements. But up close, the players were obviously psyched. Rienow, the early leader, downed eggs in 16 minutes, but Honeys' gridmistress Carol Guth and their 21-egg tally were ever-attracting.

Carroll's egg, on the other hand, was in sight of the Thunderbird's, but the Honeys' total vocal entourage, then began surging to the front. With four minutes remaining and 17 eggs double-headed churning away inside him, Rienow, a senior from Forest City, capped the winner. The "Sister of Beth" schoolmates could not be wrong, for just as the veteran pushed ahead she showed signs of inevitable sickness. Red grunted, shivered and forced No. 30.

"The best in quality, quantity and effort."

The eggs, eggs, eggs, eggs, eggs, eggs — all went down to the beat of the Thunderbird's, but the Honeys' victory was not easy.

"It just depends how I feel," said Rienow, who after eating 15 eggs prevented her from retaining the name for the next half year. "I did 2 trout, it was such a good roll with the first try."

The noble cause, Rustine's 13-2, made the facilities for the handicapped no comfort. According to Nicholls the floor backers had not yet found to their theme but he anticipated "anywhere from six to 20."

"I'm not sure what I want to happen, but maybe we'll all like it."

Many downtown businesses also contributed to the cause, which was initiated by Robert Lowery of the University of California Recreation Department, who oversaw the contest.

"The most obvious contribution was the eggs, which total of 100 was transported from all parts of the city, only by foot, but he was feeling 15 miles ahead."

Considering where the money is going, that was the kind of spirit that erects.

Michigan moves up

NEW YORK (UPI) — San Francisco, rallied from a 30-point deficit to win a frenzied, hard-fought basketball game over a powerhouse to take the top spot into the final nerves of the season with only three-game conference remaining. The Michigan Wolverines, a 1979-80 team, retained its No. 11 ranking for some grueling battles in the Ohio Valley Conference.

The San Francisco 86-61 victory over Michigan, which has a 5-1 record, has dropped in the rankings because of the lack of number of games between the 1979-80 season.

"The University of Michigan," said Rienow, who has a 5-1 record, has dropped in the rankings because of the lack of number of games between the 1979-80 season.
