Union proposes 15% pay raise

By RANDY KNOX
St. Louis Post Dispatch

Pay raises of approximately 15 per cent for next year were proposed for state workers by the state public employees union, AFSCME, at its convention in Chicago.

The $1.7 billion in pay increases is for the state's 15,000 blue-collar employees and is the largest raise in 15 years.

The state union represents 50,000 workers and 11,000 are in the blue-collar category.

The convention, which began Saturday and ends Tuesday, was called by the union to discuss the issues of pay and working conditions faced by state workers.

The union says the raise is needed to keep pace with inflation and to keep pace with the demands of the job.

Pentagon toughens POW policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Pentagon committee that reviewed the Code of Conduct for prisoners of war said Sunday that violations of the code by nine Vietnam War defendants would warrant sentences of six to 16 years in prison. His conviction resulted largely from a jury's finding that the tactics used in the Vietnam War were illegal.

The committee of four officials, including two officers and seven military officers, including three former POWs, reviewed in person last week including two officers, two military commissioners, and three former POWs.

The committee's report, which lays out specific standards for war crimes, is designed to provide guidance to military lawyers and judges.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A Buffalo insurance broker who already had been cleared of murder in the death of his secretary is being investigated by police in another case, officials said.

A woman was found dead in a hotel room on Tuesday, and police said Wednesday that the man, David S. Brown, is being investigated for the slaying of a 52-year-old woman who worked for him.

In a statement, the Buffalo Police Department said that the investigation is in its early stages and that no charges have been filed.

To the Editor:

My family is currently in the process of refinancing our mortgage and read the good news in the Oregonian about a new loan program with very good interest rates. Our current loan is with a large national bank that has been uncooperative and impossible to deal with. We are switching to the credit union next week. We are very grateful for the Oregonian.

To the Editor:

Your recent editorial gives a very thorough and accurate account of the impact of the changes in the small-arms trade. It is true that the United States is responsible for a significant portion of the small-arms transfers, and your analysis of the reasons behind these transfers is well presented. However, I believe that your conclusion that the United States should reduce its involvement in the small-arms trade is too simplistic. The United States has a long history of supporting its allies and partners, and reducing its involvement in the small-arms trade would have significant foreign policy implications. I urge you to consider these factors in your future analysis.

Group studies sex dysfunction

If someone who didn’t know about the Changing Family Conference — "Marriages: Current Values and Trends" — had last week at the Union, she might have been surprised to find that the Minnesota from a table of statistics, fictional stories, and an illustrated literature might need personal

But the individuals attending the conference were aware of the sexual dysfunction that is often reported in marriage, as well as some of the efforts being made to deal with it.

The theme of the workshop was sexual dysfunction, but much of the discussion the first day dealt with sexual anxiety. Some people were satisfied to be there, but they were also aware that they had a problem because of a "hysterical" or "paralyzing" effect on their sexual function. The second day discussion involved the use of drugs to improve sexual function, and the second day was devoted to the use of drugs to improve sexual function.

A couple who were attending the workshop, Mrs. and Mrs. Smith, expressed amazement about the success of the program. They said they had been married for ten years and had been able to have sexual intercourse only once or twice a month. At the workshop, they learned that there are many different ways to improve sexual function and that they could try a number of things to improve their sexual performance.

The workshop was conducted by Dr. Jane Smith, a psychologist who works at the University of Minnesota. She and her associates have conducted a number of studies in this area.

The workshop was limited to 30 persons, who met at the University of Minnesota for approximately two hours each day of the three-day conference. The age in the group was predominantly over 30, with a number of people over 50.

The workshop was intended to help the couples deal with normal sexual anxiety and to help them deal with problems associated with normal sexual anxiety. Some people were satisfied to be there, but they were also aware that they had a problem because of a "hysterical" or "paralyzing" effect on their sexual function. Therapist stresses commitment

"I am consistent in both the relationship and the treatment," Dr. Arnold Novak said. "The couple who come to see me may want to indicate a couple is serious about, or ready to try to act on, the situation, but afterwards, something that it not for me. She said the most important thing is that anything is special.

A career in couples therapy and personal growth is a very early step in the development. "Families are the games" of the world, they are the environment, the freedom to explore, the opportunity to reach levels at which people can interact, and to interact as they start improving.

Novak went on that Jonnifoli Pioli Mrino; Riel.<nqen intersagional feeding of the family is pitted against the pre forging of the family. The family is treated as a unit, and the therapy process are necessary for the therapy of the family. According to Novak, the Constitution doesn't have the same importance, since she said, as can hypersensitive glands or an older age.

The Hawkeyes outdistance ISU

By ROGER THURSTON

Iowa's women's swimming team was expected to capture first place at state swimming and diving meet held in the Field House Saturday. Their performance exceeded expectations, and the team defeated Northern Iowa, 3:19.6 to 1:56.0, and completed the meet without losing a single event.

Swimming Coach Clinton Pinion said the Firesquad won 11 of the 16 events against Northern Iowa, while earlier in the day, Iowa defeated the University of Wisconsin, 3:52.9 to 3:53.3. Pinion said the Firesquad's win in the 1,000-yard event was one of the highlights of the meet.

The Hawkeyes were led by Jane King and Randy Patton, who each won four events. King won the 200-yard backstroke, 200-yard freestyle, 50-yard backstroke, and 100-yard freestyle. Patton won the 200-yard breaststroke, 200-yard individual medley, 100-yard backstroke, and 100-yard breaststroke.

In addition to Jay's stellar performance, Lindy Slack of Minneapolis, Minnesota won the 1,650-yard freestyle event. Slack, who is a senior at Iowa, was also a winner in the 100-yard backstroke and 500-yard freestyle events.

The Firehouse opened the one- and three-meter diving competition and the Hawkeyes swept the four relay events.

"We just go out and do our best," said Pauli, who placed second in the 100-yard butterfly.

At the state swimming and diving meet, Iowa won the event, and the event, beating four other Iowa women's teams.

Tracksters take easy state title

The Iowa track team was awarded the state track title after Saturday's meet at the Cudahy Gatorade Invitational in Iowa City. The Hawkeyes compiled 61 points to defeat Northern Iowa, who finished with 44 points. Nebraska and Slippery Rock tied for third in the meet.

Schulte, with 13 points, earned the title in the 1,000-yard race. He was pretty stirred up for this weekend's meet, according to this weekend's event in a race of 138 men. (1:40.0 in the 1,000-yard race)

"We thought the timing was just right," said Coach Clinton Pinion. "We have a lot of work to do." The Hawkeyes will take a two-week layoff before traveling to the NCAA Championships in June.

Wrestlers rip Oklahoma

By ROGER THUROW

Freshman Steve Decruza's win in the final seconds of Iowa's 81-78 championship game against Minnesota highlighted a banner of impressive performances for the Hawkeyes. Despiteplaying without two starters, the Hawkeyes won their 17th game of the season, setting a new school record.

Decruza's pin, along with three other pins scored by Steve McHale, Scott Gonzales, and Chuck Young, helped the Hawkeyes to hold off a determined Minnesota team. Despite the Gophers' best efforts, Iowa's defense held firm, allowing only 78 points in the game.

However, the Hawkeyes' victory was not without its challenges. In the first half, Minnesota led for most of the game, but Iowa's defense held steady, keeping the Gophers score below 50 for most of the game.

In the second half, Iowa's offense came alive, scoring 53 points to Minnesota's 45. This was the Hawkeyes' highest scoring half of the season, and it proved to be the difference in the game.

With the win, Iowa moved into first place in the Big Ten Conference, and the Hawkeyes will look to continue their winning streak as they head into the conference tournament next week.
