Feldick irate over gynecology complaints

Doumdeakes elects to go with Siglin for president

"Nursing, like any other academic area," she said. "The nursing faculty has had no support, and when they try to get it, they are met with resistance. Whether it's the College of Medicine or the Vice Provost's office, no one seems to know what they are supposed to do." Feldick said that the nurses have been trying to get the faculty to approve a nursing program for several years, but have been stymied by lack of support from others.

"The nurses are frustrated," Feldick said. "They feel that they have been ignored and that their concerns have not been addressed." Feldick said that she has been working to bring more attention to the nurses' issues, and that she hopes that her election will bring more support for the nurses.

Feldick said that she plans to work with the nurses to develop a nursing program, and to make sure that their concerns are addressed.

The Iowa City Council Tuesday heard a municipal energy proposal calling for the establishment of a city energy conservation commission, an energy coordinator, and a series of regulations. The proposal was submitted by the Iowa City Energy Conservation Committee, which has been formed to address the issue of energy conservation in the community.

The council also approved a request from Ralph Miller for a temporary furlough from the police force in connection with the funeral of his mother. The funeral was scheduled for this Wednesday in connection with the Communist party Secretary of the state, who passed away on Tuesday.

Common questions on nutrition answered

By TOM MAPF
Mail Writer

March 17 is National Nutrition Week, and doctors at the University of Iowa Hospitals Dietary Department answer questions about nutrition.

Dr. George Cunningham and Nancy Cunningham, nurse coordinators in the UI Hospitals Dietary Department, answered these questions that people commonly ask about nutrition.

Why do people become overweight?

The answer to basically a nutritional problem — as long as calories are taken in and used up, more weight is gained. College students usually eat regular meals during the day and then over snack foods at night. Fruits to eat with milk, carrots must be eliminated from the regular meals. It is important not to eat certain types of foods, however. Variety is necessary for proper nutrition, and anything should be eaten, it should be the right size of portions.

How do you ensure that you are eating foods with nutritional value?

A chart should be made from a variety of foods in the four basic food groups: fruits, vegetables, milk, and meat or meat substitutes. To get all of the basic groups, it is necessary to eat the white of eggs, not just the yolk.

Dr. Cunningham and Nancy Cunningham, nurse coordinators in the UI Hospitals Dietary Department, answered these questions that people commonly ask about nutrition.

In order to meet the daily nutritional requirements, a person should not be cut, it should be calculated. There is no challenge for filling out the election forms for filling out the election forms.

In related action, the Election Board's point of view, "Iowa's own Nutritional Guide" is to make it easy to vote for the election board member. Cunningham and Kistler have consented to assist. Now is the time of the year when PLANT FARM converts its greenhouse to growing vegetable and flower garden starts, which we will offer for sale in the Spring.

To give us more growing space for our spring crops we need to sell a list of foliage plants NOW. The plants which will be offered for sale fall into three categories.

(1) LARGE OR UNUSUAL PLANTS which we have used for propagation (including many cacti and succulents which we have never offered for sale before.)

(2) High quality house plants at discount prices.

(3) "UNFINISHED" plants. These are healthy plants with minor defects such as a damaged leaf or a crooked stem. All unlimited plants, with time, will be prime houseplants.

We will be offering these plants at substantial discounts. Now you will be able to get many of the houseplants you've always wanted at a FRACTION of their USUAL cost.

Progress in reverse

After the Civil War, black Americans gained un-precedented opportunities to vote, go to college, and improve their lives. But by 1977, the changes they had hoped for seemed to be receding.

Frederick Douglass didn't last long. Though the passing of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 was an important step, it was not enough to ensure the equality of black Americans. The Voting Rights Act was passed in 1965, and it did help to ensure that blacks wouldn't vote, but it also showed that even when blacks had the right to vote, they still faced many obstacles.

The Cooper Union was founded in 1859, and it was one of the first institutions of higher learning to be established in the United States. It was founded by three New York City merchants, and it was intended to provide education to all people, regardless of their race or social class.

The Cooper Union was a place where young people could come together to learn important skills and gain knowledge. It was a place where they could come to understand the world around them and to develop the skills they needed to succeed in life.

The Cooper Union was also a place where people could come to understand the importance of education. It was a place where they could come to understand that education was the key to success and prosperity.

In summary, I took the article (as did many others) to be racist. Norton already on your side - they certainly don't shoot innocent people who are colleagues, which is why you, my friend, can only be expected to understand the complexities of the case. As with every other African country in the world, the goal was to have a government that was stable and that would be able to provide for the needs of its people.

Cunningham cancellation an insult

To the Editor:

Despite two advertisements in the Feb. 21 Des Moines Register and a Feb. 21 telegram to the Iowa City Free Press stating as a fact: "The University of Iowa-Clinic's basketball season will not be cancelled in order to stave off the educational impact of the current social climat..." the cancellation of the Iowa men's basketball season was meant to provide garbage men, not doctors.

I am glad the RSB took some small steps toward elimination of property taxes to be levied on all property in the city. However, should they consider the impact of the tax on those properties that are owner-occupied and paid for in full?

criticized in the press for his approach to education. In all, everyone else was agitated by his unorthodox practices, mysticism, and teaching, which led to a lawsuit that he lost.

In the same year, Thatcher was elected president of the university. Sherrill Eichler, resigned, saying, "It is the last straw that I have borne. I have had to accept and practice theories of religion and teachings which the board of regents has made difficult for me to maintain.

He had little experience as a professor, but Hinrichs and Leonard were simply ignored. The university, which had been working to establish a Liberal Arts College, became the center of controversy.

"Thatcher was no different, for he had been working to establish a Liberal Arts College. When the students objected, it was with a show of support."

"In this way, what is essentially a Liberal Arts College, has been established with the help of President Hinrichs, who has been working to establish a Liberal Arts College.

Regents bargaining team rejects UNI proposals
by RANDY KNOPER
(Updated Edition)

The bargaining teams have narrowed the list of issues to be addressed in the contract negotiations. The new list includes academic freedom, tenure, salary and benefits, and the Northern Iowa faculty's action proposal.

On Wednesday, the Northern Iowa faculty's action proposal was submitted to the regents. The proposal includes a 15-day notice period, the right to strike, and the right to organize.

The regents are expected to respond to the proposal within the next few days. The union is optimistic about the prospects for a settlement.

The union has also requested that the regents consider the Northern Iowa faculty's action proposal as a model for other universities.

Buckeyes beat Big Ten

Don't count the Iowa basketball team out of the National Invitation Tournament (NIT) yet. If there's a road to the NIT, then the Hawkeyes figured it was the one to take until they fell prey to a late-game rally by Wisconsin Saturday. Iowa's ninth-ranked Hawkeyes fell to 10-8 overall when their season-high 14-point lead against the Badgers was erased by a 22-7 second-halftime run.

"You don't know whether you're going to be in the NIT or not," said John Beeman, Iowa's coach. "But you know you've got a chance to make your best effort."

Wisconsin Saturday, Iowa's one-time Big Ten contender took a three-game losing streak and was winless in the conference. "I don't think they're lying flat on their backs," said Beeman of the Hawkeyes. "I don't think they're going to be easy to beat."

"We've got a group of players that isn't bad," added Beeman. "If Iowa can win the Big Ten, it can win a NIT."

Last March, the Hawkeyes' season ended after finishing fourth in the Big Ten tournament, but that wouldn't mean much in the conference this year. "We're not going to take the Big Ten for granted," said Beeman. "We have to prove that to teams in the Big Ten this year." Beeman's team has a shot at proving it in the NIT this weekend. "The NIT's a great opportunity to show that you can win," he said.

But make no mistake: Beeman's team is not the same one that finished fourth last year. "This team is not a mirror image of last year's," said Beeman. "This team is better."
