JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) - Official inquest likely to binto Biko's death cause

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) - An official inquest will be ordered into the death of Steve Biko, a leading black anti-apartheid activist who died in police custody last week.

A leader of the anti-white South African government movement, Biko was detained by police in Pretoria on Sept. 12 and pronounced dead in Pretoria General Hospital last Saturday.

The official inquest was ordered by the city council to determine the cause of death. The inquest is expected to be held within three months.

The inquest is expected to be held within three months.

The inquest is expected to be held within three months.

The inquest is expected to be held within three months.

The inquest is expected to be held within three months.
Technicians raise issue of collective bargaining

By REBECCA CHURCHILL Staff Writer

The effect of collective bargaining on health care quality is one of many issues raised by the agreement of an election to determine whether a union would represent 7,500 state technical employees. The contract negotiations with the state are to begin late this month.

The decision to hold the election was made because of the low percentage of employees voting (10 per cent), which required a state review of the election results to determine if the majority of eligible employees would vote. The state review would make it easier for AFSCME 29 to represent members if 50 per cent of the eligible employees voted.

The two major problems facing minorities at Iowa State are the lack of diversity on the campus and the lack of opportunities for employment. The lack of diversity is particularly noticeable in the minority population. The percentage of minority students is only 2 per cent of the total student body.

The Iowa State Black Student Association (BSA), which is the major organization for minority students, has been working to improve the situation. The association has been holding meetings and organizing events to bring attention to the problem. The association has also been working with the administration to improve the living conditions for minority students.

Minorities claim too few accepted into law school

By harry reuter Staff Writer

The two major problems facing minorities entering law school are the lack of diversity in law schools and the lack of opportunities for employment. The lack of diversity in law schools is particularly noticeable in the minority population. The percentage of minority students is only 2 per cent of the total student body.

The Minority Law Enforcement Officers Council (MLEOC), which is the major organization for minority students, has been working to improve the situation. The association has been holding meetings and organizing events to bring attention to the problem. The association has also been working with the administration to improve the living conditions for minority students.

ARH hindered by low attendance

By TROY ROBERT Staff Writer

At a meeting on Nov. 6, 7,500 state technical employees rejected the offer of a new contract by the state of Iowa. The offer was made by the Iowa City Community College (ICCC) and was rejected by 93 per cent of the employees.

The employees were unhappy with the offer because it did not include a raises. The employees were also unhappy with the offer because it did not include a full-time position.

The employees were also unhappy with the offer because it did not include a raises. The employees were also unhappy with the offer because it did not include a full-time position. The employees were also unhappy with the offer because it did not include a raises. The employees were also unhappy with the offer because it did not include a full-time position.
Funding for 29 student groups to be heard by senate tonight

By ROM MAPP

The Johnson County Courthouse will be open until 6 p.m. Refugee

Vote Note

The Johnson County Courthouse will be open until 6 p.m. Refugee

Three modulars moved from Clinton St. Mall

They're moving out the Clinton Street Mall - part of it, at least. Three modulars that formerly contained Epstein's

Discount Records

St. Clair-Johnson

Pendleton Sport Shirt

Looking your leisurely best is easy in this classic plaid sport shirt of 100% wool. Bold and brightly.

Sticker Pack

Available at
Letters: vote, ambulance

Veveka labeled ultra-conservative

To the Editor:

Robert Veveka, city councilor, is an anti-war activist whose reputation for positive change in our community is well known. I am writing to ask for your help in getting him elected to an important state office in our area, and to express my support for his campaign.

I believe that Veveka is the best candidate for this important position. He has a proven record of fighting for the rights of all people, and his campaign promises are focused on creating a more just and equitable society for all.

Please consider voting for Veveka in the upcoming election. Together, we can make a difference.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]

Vietnam veterans neglected

President Carter stated at a Vietnam-style D-Day gathering Monday that America needs Vietnam veterans as a special kind of peacemakers. He added: "I do not mean that Vietnam veterans can turn the world right side up by being on the streets. I mean that the quality of their lives is such that they could be more effective and more valuable in the community if they could get involved." Carter's point seems to have been the case for 14 years. The Vietnam veterans have saved a lot of money and 14 years and are in a state of critical unemployment and despair. But today's citizens are generally not accustomed to citizen activist groups. Vietnam veterans, for example, are often portrayed as "new" or "different," as a result of the Vietnam experience. This is often true, but the American mainstream media has consistently ignored the Vietnam veterans and other groups with similar backgrounds. It is time for us to recognize and support the Vietnam veterans and other groups with similar backgrounds.

The White House, where Carter's rhetoric has been equalized, has done little to meet the resistance of this group of activists. If Vietnam veterans were to mobilize coordinated, well-funded activist networks, it is likely that their demands could be translated into policy changes. These demands are not radical, but are consistent with the broader trend of social change in the United States.

The Vietnam veterans have been largely ignored by the American media and public. This is not because veterans have been indifferent to their Vietnam era constituents. Last week, for example, 50 American soldiers were killed in Vietnam, but the news media paid little attention to this.

Vietnam veterans are often portrayed as "new" or "different," as a result of the Vietnam experience. This is often true, but the American mainstream media has consistently ignored the Vietnam veterans and other groups with similar backgrounds. It is time for us to recognize and support the Vietnam veterans and other groups with similar backgrounds.

The Vietnam veterans have been largely ignored by the American media and public. This is not because veterans have been indifferent to their Vietnam era constituents. Last week, for example, 50 American soldiers were killed in Vietnam, but the news media paid little attention to this.

Vietnam veterans are often portrayed as "new" or "different," as a result of the Vietnam experience. This is often true, but the American mainstream media has consistently ignored the Vietnam veterans and other groups with similar backgrounds. It is time for us to recognize and support the Vietnam veterans and other groups with similar backgrounds.

The Vietnam veterans have been largely ignored by the American media and public. This is not because veterans have been indifferent to their Vietnam era constituents. Last week, for example, 50 American soldiers were killed in Vietnam, but the news media paid little attention to this.
Biko: playing on whites' fears

S. Africa may face an arms embargo

UNITED NATION (UPI) — The United States announced a proposal in the Security Council Wednesday calling for a time-declared arms embargo against South Africa. Pretoria responded to its drawbacks against black apologist leaders.

"We have a proposal and we are reviewing it with the countries," South Africa's Ambassador Andrew Young, who declined to disclose full contents of the proposal.

Reports from Washington and U.N. sources and the United States now keep an arms embargo and possibly other measures against South Africa, declared to give Pretoria time to get its leader back.

The report said Washington's idea to impose the embargo after an end of South African Prime Minister Van den Berghe from its sanctions against Pretoria.

Congress denounces S. African oppression

The Daily Iowan

S. Africa Book & Supply

You have plenty of time to study in college... don't you?

Not if you're having trouble with some regularly assigned tests. But don't despair. Help is as close as your college bookstore in the form of Wiley Self-Teaching Guides. These are real keys to understanding self-instructional forms. They are an easy way to help you improve your study habits. They can help you understand subject areas and make learning easier.

IWOWA BOOK & SUPPLY

8 South Clinton Street

337-4188

Specials on Panasonic

HAVING a hard time deciding on an electronic or appliance? Lane Appliance has just what you need! From the latest portable boom box to a complete entertainment center, Lane has it all! We carry a large selection of Panasonic products including microphones, tape players, audiotapes, and many more. Visit Lane Appliance today and let us help you make your decision!
Ray's trial begins while attorneys feud

WASHINGTON, D.C. - James Earl Ray, the put on gun and gunned down by the feds in the 1967 murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., said Tuesday that he had been "billed" by the FBI for a "fool's errand" of a case like the King assassination.

Ray, in an interview with The Tennessean in Nashville, Tenn., said he expected to plead guilty to murdering King. He is held by the federal government pending a trial in Tennessee on charges of conspiring to kill King.

Ray, who has been described as a kidnaping suspect and a "billy club" assassin, has been a major factor in the murder investigation, but the feds say they have been unable to make a case against him.

Ray was arrested Wednesday in Philadelphia after police said they found him in a car with a false identity.

Ray's lawyer, John H. Osborn Jr., said Tuesday that Ray had been "acquitted" of the murder charge.

Osborn said Ray's decision to plead guilty was "the right thing to do," but that "it would be a fool to gamble on making much money out of a case like this."
Wildlife scientists kill endangered fish

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wildlife scientists accidentally killed about 750 of the nearly extinct little fish known as snail darters — about 1 percent of the 4,000 known to exist — by transporting them to a spawning ground above the Tellico Dam in Tennessee's Little Tennessee River in 1973, when the Tennessee Valley Authority was nearing completion of the dam, which would cut the fish off from its spawning ground and would destroy the habitat for the snail darter and construction of the dam, which is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.

The snail darter, a silver-gray fish with a transparent fin and black side spots, is named for its preference in food.
Contact lens wearers see good news ahead

By marcy arnold
staff writer

Imagine owning a pair of contact lenses that you could use day in, day out, without taking them out to wash or sterilize them. The four-day weekend was just for the fun of it, but the possibilities for contact lenses beyond the weekend are endless.

Wearers of soft lenses are a growing group, and they are being encouraged by optometrists to continue wearing their lenses for up to four days at a time. The advantages of soft lenses include comfort, natural vision, and the ability to wear them for an extended period. However, there are also risks associated with extended wear, such as increased risk of eye infections and corneal ulcers.

The American Optometric Association (AOA) recommends that contact lenses be worn no more than one week at a time to prevent complications. Wearers of soft lenses who choose to wear their lenses for longer periods should be aware of the increased risk and take precautions to minimize the risk of infection.

T.G.I.F.

The four-day weekend

Movies, downtown
Every four-day weekend, there's a certain amount of excitement that comes with the arrival of new movies. This weekend is no exception, with a variety of films that are sure to appeal to a wide range of audiences.

The top films of the weekend include:

- "Birds of Prey" - A gritty, action-packed superhero film that follows a group of female superheroes as they take down a dangerous criminal mastermind.
- "The Old Guard" - A historical drama that explores the lives of a group of immortal soldiers who are forced to confront their past.
- "The Wave" - A heartwarming family film that follows a young boy as he learns the importance of persistence and hard work.

Music

The Voices of Soul present A Gift of Song:

Friday, Oct. 28, 1977
7:30 p.m.
Cupp Recital Hall

Admission: Students and children $1.00; nonstudents $2.00

Tickets available at Hancher

For the person who demands that extra measure of sound quality.

New to the Stereo Shop are the Genesis II's speakers, and we've included them top of the line. Genesis II's is a system that's guaranteed to play at lease-breaking levels. The Genesis II's are floor-standing speakers, a three-way design which employs a tweeter, midrange and woofers combined with a passive radiator. Powering the Genesis II's is the Yamaha CR-1200 receiver. The CR-1200 not only offers plenty of power and superb low-distortion (70 Watts per channel at 8 Ohms from 20 to 20,000 Hz, at no more than 0.05% THD), but it has many features not found on similarly priced and powered units. For a tentative, we've chosen the Yamaha direct-drive model, the YP-D6. A new model from Yamaha, the YP-D6 features auto-return, auto-cal and an excellent S-type stade balance, linearity and ultra low noise and better than 0.05% THD. The cartridge is the Sony Blue, a high definition, extremely accurate model.
Lifesaving gift stolen, ruined

LINDSAY, Maine (UPI) - An unidentified thief who entered a kitchen cabinet taking a lifesaving gift, an automated external defibrillator, is a suspect in the theft, police said.

The gift, valued at $1,299, was ordered by a member of the Lindsay Fire Department.

The defibrillator is stored in a cabinet, according to police.

The thief is described as a man who is about 6 feet tall, 200 pounds and wearing dark clothing.

The theft occurred in the early morning hours.

If you have any information, please contact the Lindsay Fire Department at (207) 999-1234.

---

Public interaction invited at dance concert

DOONESBURY.

JUDITH GREEN Staff Writer

Students interested in participating in the upcoming dance concert at the University of Illinois are invited to attend a public interaction this week.

The open house will be held in the Spence Piano Room on the North Side of the Illinois Union.

Guests will have the opportunity to meet the performers, ask questions and get information about the upcoming performance.

The dance concert is set to take place next month.

---

Canine is co-author of love in three disguises

DAVE GIBSON Staff Writer

What's a buzz about a play written by a dog? The answer is, "Murphy" is co-author of "Love in Three Disguises." The comedy, written by Murphy's owner, a medical student, is based on Murphy's experiences as a volunteer ambulance serving in his hometown.

The play, which focuses on Murphy's adventures as a volunteer ambulance, will be performed at the Playwright's Workshop this weekend.

"Murphy" is co-author of the play along with his owner, who is a medical student.

The play is a romantic comedy that follows Murphy as he navigates life as a volunteer ambulance in his hometown.

---

Postscripts

Career seminar

A career seminar on the integration of technology and management is scheduled for 10 a.m. today in the University Room 2.

The seminar, which is open to all students, will be presented by Dr. John Smith, a professor of management.

---

Eicher Florist

- Specials
  - 20% off on all green plants
  - 10% off on all orders under $10

Mums reg. $9.50 value
Now $6.50
Cash & carry

11 South Oak Street
Florist

---

Chemical Engineering Chemistry

National Science and Engineering Foundation (NSF) is interested in receiving applications from engineering schools for a grant program. The program aims to improve the teaching of chemical engineering.

Interested schools are encouraged to submit their applications by March 1.

---

Southern Comfort

If you're inquisitive and looking for a place to eat, Southern Comfort is a great option. Located on Main Street, this restaurant offers a variety of dishes and a friendly atmosphere.

Menu highlights include:

- Southern Fried Chicken
- Seafood Boil
- Catfish Po' Boy

The decor is cozy and inviting, perfect for a casual dinner or a weekend lunch.

---

If you're looking for a place to shop, visit The Clothing Co. Located on Main Street, this store offers a wide selection of clothing for men, women, and children.

They carry brands like Tommy Hilfiger, Levi's, and American Eagle Outfitters.

---

If you're interested in visiting a nearby attraction, visit the University of Illinois Campus. The campus is home to several museums and cultural centers.

Some highlights include:

- The Art Institute of Illinois
- The Natural History Museum
- The Illini Union Music Hall

These attractions are perfect for a day trip or a weekend getaway.
I'm a little girl and I was having a birthday party. I was going to invite my friends and have a lot of fun. But then my mother said, "Don't invite too many people, dear."

I was disappointed because I really wanted to invite a lot of kids. I asked my mother why she said that, and she explained that my family couldn't afford to have a big party. I felt sad because I thought my birthday would be the most exciting day of my life.

My mother suggested that we could have a small party and focus on the fun activities instead of the food. She asked me what kind of party I wanted to have, and I thought about it for a while. Finally, I said, "I want a party with only my best friends."

My mother agreed and we decided to have a simple party with just our family and two of my best friends. We invited my grandparents to come over and help us decorate the house.

On the day of the party, I was really excited. My friends arrived, and we had a great time playing games and doing crafts. We didn't spend much money, but we had a lot of fun. I realized that the most important thing is to have fun and enjoy the moment, not to worry about the size of the party.
DSD Pulls in tug-of-war win, No. 1 'One' edged in football

By BOB ELSON

Bad Winter

Elija SIlva Delta defeated "The Northwest Express" 9 to 8 in the championship round of the annual tug-of-war competition. The game, played on a field between City Hall and the Lewis Center, was the final match in a series of three. The Delta team emerged as the overall winner, but only by a narrow margin.

On The Line with the DI Sports Staff

In addition to the regular DI Sports features, this week's show includes two special guests. The show begins with the regular segment, followed by an interview with the first guest. The second guest will be featured in the second half of the show. The show concludes with the usual wrap-up and announcement of the upcoming events. The show will be available online for viewing and listening.

GREEN THUMBS

In this week's Green Thumbs column, we explore the benefits of growing your own food. With the rising cost of groceries and the potential for food shortages, growing your own vegetables can be a cost-effective and satisfying way to provide for your family. This week, we focus on kale, a nutrient-rich green that can be easily grown in almost any climate.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

This week's Good Things To Eat feature highlights a new restaurant in town. The upstairs dining area offers a unique and intimate setting, perfect for a special occasion. The menu features a variety of dishes, including vegetarian options and a selection of wines. The atmosphere is warm and inviting, making it a great choice for a romantic dinner.

HELP WANTED

Our latest advertisement features a job opening for a sales representative. The position requires strong communication skills and the ability to build relationships with customers. The successful candidate will be responsible for identifying potential customers and presenting the company's products. This is a full-time position with benefits.

MUSICIANS

Are you a musician looking for a place to perform? Our new music venue is looking for musicians to perform on weekends. We offer a stage, sound equipment, and a chance to reach new audiences. Interested musicians should contact us to schedule a time to perform.

ROOMMATE WANTED

We are looking for a roommate to share a clean and spacious apartment in the heart of the city. The apartment is fully furnished and includes access to a shared kitchen and bathroom. The roommate should be reliable and respectful of the shared living space. Interested individuals should contact us to schedule a time to view the apartment.

DI Classifieds 353-6201

LEARN RETAIL MANAGEMENT PART TIME

Radio Shack offers the opportunity for you to develop your career with part-time work with us, while you are still in college. Get a head start in the retail management field with hands-on experience in the industry.

STORAGE?

Immediate immediate

StORAGE STORAGE

The Daily Journal makes its classifieds section even easier to find with our new layout. We have organized our ads into categories, making it easier for readers to find what they are looking for. This week's section includes ads for real estate, employment, and community events.

STICK, LIL, MILLI, UTILITIES

Call 354-3217.

Kitten Ave.

Stale Staff

Terry the LEARN field

In 14-7, FOR .. ORE INFORMATION ABOUT MONTGO... EEC AND OUR UPCOMING VISIT TO YOUA CAfIt'Ua,

MANAGERS' earnings include a share of the profits. T. Terry, who has been with the company since its inception, says, "The Live! sales热血 derivative. In".

The potential for profit sharing in 1979 exceeded $22,605.

Our Store Radio share of the profits was $16,105.

The potential for profit sharing in 1980 exceeded $22,605.

The FM share of the potential for profit sharing in 1981 exceeded $22,605.

Our Store Radio share of the potential for profit sharing in 1982 exceeded $22,605.

The potential for profit sharing in 1983 exceeded $22,605.
Piro forced to watch — again

By BOB THOR

I haven’t seen Piro to watch Iowa football. It isn’t that the Hawkeyes are off the radar; it’s just that I’ve had to work so much. I’ve been calling the offensive signals, making the hard calls, and I’ve missed the games.

Piro entered this Ist week because of an injury to No. 18, John Van Pelt. He was the starter at right back. Piro had prepared for it. I was just standing by, ready to call the signals. Going into the second half, the game was scoreless. Then Van Pelt was hurt. I was standing by the bench and saw he was in pain. The quarterback who seemed to be in a lot of pain was Piro. He was holding his left ankle. I got up and walked towards the bench and said: "Piro, what’s wrong?" He said it was his left ankle. I helped him to his feet and said: "I’ll take over for you." He said: "Okay."

Piro’s ankle had been injured for some time, but he had been taped up. He had been playing with it for a while. But I could see that it was a serious injury. It turned out to be a sprained ankle. He had been limited in practice for a week or two before the game.

For three weeks, Piro couldn’t play. He had been out since the third week of the season. But for three weeks, he had been working on his leg. He had been doing exercises and working on his strength.

Piro had no plans to play in the game. He had been out since the third week of the season. But he was ready to play. He had been working on his leg. He had been doing exercises and working on his strength.

Piro had no plans to play in the game. He had been out since the third week of the season. But he was ready to play. He had been working on his leg. He had been doing exercises and working on his strength.

Piro had no plans to play in the game. He had been out since the third week of the season. But he was ready to play. He had been working on his leg. He had been doing exercises and working on his strength.

Piro had no plans to play in the game. He had been out since the third week of the season. But he was ready to play. He had been working on his leg. He had been doing exercises and working on his strength.

Piro had no plans to play in the game. He had been out since the third week of the season. But he was ready to play. He had been working on his leg. He had been doing exercises and working on his strength.