SOMALIA BREAKS WITH SOVIETS

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Somalia has severed relations with the Soviet Union and indicated it will not take part in the proposed "friendship conference" in Moscow that the Soviet government had hoped would include most of the non-aligned nations.

This was the earliest indication yet that the Soviet effort to build a coalition of non-aligned nations to support Moscow's world policies is running into difficulty.

Soviet Premier Leonid Brezhnev had invited 33 non-aligned nations to participate in the conference, which has been scheduled for mid-February.

It was not immediately clear whether the invitations were extended to every non-aligned nation or whether some of the smaller states were expected to send observers.

Field Marshal Mohamed Siad Barre, head of the Somali government, said in an interview in the capital of Mogadishu that the conference would not be attended by Somalia.

He was reported to have said the conference would have "nothing to do with us." No further details were available.

Mr. Barre said the conference would have been "ill-timed." He added that the government of Somalia was "pointing its efforts toward the United Nations." The United Nations, he said, had been "proving itself friendly to the cause of Somalia in the United Nations as a member of the third world." Mr. Barre said the Somali government would continue to work toward increasing its representation in U.N. agencies.

Soviet spokesmen have said the conference is intended to illustrate the close bond they have with the non-aligned world. The conference is also to be attended by the leaders of the Soviet Union, China, and Cuba, who belong to the non-aligned camp.

After the interview, Mr. Barre gave his first major news conference in 13 months.

Soviet sources have said that the Moscow conference is to be attended by 40 or 50 non-aligned leaders, including those of Yugoslavia, India, and Egypt.

Mr. Barre, a former kingpin in the anti-colonial struggle that swept Africa during World War II, is reported to be 67 years old and to be in reasonably good health. The interview was his first since August 1979, when he was reported to have been hospitalized after a heart attack.

It is not clear from the interview whether Mr. Barre was given any indication during the conference that he would be a guest of the Soviet Union.

Mr. Barre, who is reported to have been a close friend of the late Soviet Premier Aleksei Kosygin and a major supporter of the Soviet drive to promote world revolution through non-aligned countries, has long been known for his hard-line socialist policies and his close ties to Moscow.

The interview was given to an Italian news agency, which published it in Mogadishu on Tuesday.

Earlier in the week, the Soviet government had released a film shot in Somalia which showed Mogadishu with Soviet tanks and warplanes in the background.

Mr. Barre said the interview was given at the request of the Italian news agency, which was interested in interviewing him to get his reaction to the release of the film.

He said that the interview was given after the film was shown in Mogadishu, where it was met with mixed reactions from people who weredivisionary of his government and those who liked it.

Mr. Barre said he was surprised at the interest in the interview and that he had expected it to be released in Mogadishu.

He said that he was pleased to be able to talk to the Italian news agency about his views on the situation in Somalia and the world.

Police Beat

A US student was arrested early Saturday morning by Iowa City police after allegedly stealing a credit card from an Iowa Hall dorm.

Following the theft, a dormitory student noticed a ping pong ball in a second-floor window and called campus police. When asked what the ping pong ball was doing there, the student responded: "I was trying to make a joke," the student told police.

The student, named John Smith, was arrested for the theft and released on a personal recognizance bond.

Myers slams Leach's background and record

Myers and leading Iowa Democrats are denouncing the "incompetence and deceit" of First District congressman Wally Leach in a new ad campaign.

The ad, called "Deceit," features a man's voiceover that says, "Wally Leach is too weak to be your congressman."

"Leach's track record in Congress and the Iowa Legislature is a disgrace," Myers said.

"In a Special Session of the Legislature, he voted against every proposal that would benefit the people of Iowa," Myers said.

"Leach's record is one of failure and mediocrity," Myers said.

"When it comes to representing the people of Iowa, Leach has a long history of failing to deliver," Myers said.

Leach's record includes voting against

Myers said the ad campaign is part of a broader effort to oust Leach from office.

"We want to make sure the people of Iowa know what Wally Leach has done for them," Myers said.

"We want to make sure the people of Iowa know Wally Leach is not the person they need in Congress," Myers said.

Leach's campaign has launched a counter-attack, accusing Myers of being a "career politician."
Consult: no Israeli plans of nuclear force

By BILL JOHNSON

Israel has no announced specific weapons program but will remain opaquely and quietly involved in the arms race of the Middle East. According to experts on the situation in Chicago, "Israel has not been on the map in the nuclear arms race, and it's not likely to change," one of them said. "We have to be careful not to make any assumptions about the country's intentions."

Concerning the proposal that nuclear weapons should be introduced into the region, this expert continued, "We have heard that Iran and Pakistan are interested in developing nuclear weapons. However, the situation in Israel is much more complex, and it's difficult to make any definite predictions." He added, "It's important to note that Israel's neighbors are also in the arms race, and we must consider the possibility that they might develop nuclear weapons as well."

Abortion

A proposal to amend Illinois law was moved in the Illinois House on Wednesday, March 2, 1977, a few days after the Illinois Senate passed a similar measure. The bill would have made it a felony for a doctor to perform an abortion for any reason other than the life of the mother. The Illinois Senate approved the bill by a 36-17 vote. The Illinois House approved the bill by a 69-47 vote.

The proposal was prompted by a recent decision by the United States Supreme Court in Roe v. Wade. The Supreme Court ruled that the right to an abortion was a constitutional right. The Illinois measure would have nullified the Supreme Court decision.

The bill was sponsored by Representative John G. Bunnell (D-Winneshiek) and Senator John F. Cullerton (D-Chicago). The measure was intended to protect the life of the fetus, they said.

The bill was opposed by a number of groups, including the American Civil Liberties Union and the National Organization for Women. They argued that the bill would have limited women's access to safe and legal abortion.

The Illinois legislature rejected the proposal. The measure was defeated in the Illinois Senate by a vote of 36-17 and in the Illinois House by a vote of 69-47.

Scrutiny, the community

State Senator Frank G. Samuels, D-Dupage, and State Representative Francis J. Lynch, D-Chicago, are sponsoring legislation that would require local health departments to report all deaths to the state health department. The measure is designed to improve the accuracy of death certificates and to prevent fraud.

The legislation was introduced in response to a recent study that found that some death certificates were inaccurate or incomplete. The study found that some death certificates did not report the cause of death or the date of death accurately.

The legislation would require local health departments to report all deaths to the state health department. The state health department would then review the death certificates and make any necessary corrections.

The legislation is supported by a number of organizations, including the American Medical Association and the American Public Health Association.

Iowa premed student finds AMA's dietary ignorance

A senior year in the University of Iowa medical school, a student, Michael Humes, has written a book about the AMA's dietary ignorance. The book is entitled "The AMA and the Diet: A Critical Examination of the AMA's Dietary Guidelines." The book is a critical examination of the AMA's dietary guidelines and their impact on public health.

Humes, a premed student at the University of Iowa, has been critical of the AMA's dietary guidelines for many years. He has written articles and given lectures on the subject of dietary guidelines.

Humes' book is a detailed examination of the AMA's dietary guidelines and their impact on public health. The book includes a history of the AMA's dietary guidelines, an analysis of the guidelines, and a critique of the guidelines.

The book is available for $20.00 from Michael Humes, 231 S. Market, Iowa City, IA 52240.
New faces, same slant on City Council

Sibert said, adding that she doesn’t know how much about them she’ll have to evaluate him. Before he goes to the council, he’ll have to form an impression of the person he’ll be dealing with.

In the case of the other candidates, some have previously been on the council, while others are running for the first time.

Re-elected council members today, in alphabetical order, are Mike Smith, Linus Smith, Wally Luecke, Bob McJefferson, Don McEwen, and Tom Selzer.

New faces on the council include: Eileen Wagenknecht, William E. Turner, John F. Foster, and James L. Conklin.

The two new council members will be sworn in on March 1.

At the December hearing, Wagenknecht stated that she saw no reason for the ordinance to be changed.

"If I had to vote on it, I would vote for the status quo," Wagenknecht said. "If the city council had a different opinion, then it should be allowed to vote for the ordinance to be changed.

Turner, a real estate agent, said he would vote for the ordinance to be changed.

"I think the city council should have the right to change the ordinance," Turner said. "It’s important to have the city council have the right to change the ordinance."

Hawks cash in on Badger mistakes

By ROGER THUROW

January 11, 1975

The Hawks entered the third quarter behind 14-7, but came back to win 28-14 as John Sidwell made two field goals and two extra points. Wisconsin's Adolphus formed a 20-yard field goal to take a 3-0 lead in the first quarter, and the score stayed at 3-0 until the half. In the third quarter, Badger coach Mike McLaughlin called a punt, which was blocked by Iowa's Tracy Brown, and Iowa recovered the ball at the Badger 29. The Hawks scored three field goals on the drive, including two points after. In the fourth quarter, Iowa scored an easy 65-yard touchdown on the opening play, and Iowa scored again on a 7-yard touchdown pass from John Sidwell to Tom Rusk. The Badgers scored on a 45-yard touchdown pass from Tom Rusk to Charlie Stebbins.

Defenders coach Tom Livby had tried to have the defense work in a 4-3-3 formation, but the Hawks' defense was able to stop the Badgers' offense effectively. Iowa's defense was led by theaptly-named "Beadled mirrors," a reference to the Hawks' defense's ability to confuse the Badgers' offense.

Football champs crowned

Alpha Chi Omega and Delta Upsilon had a big day in the third annual co-ed track meet, held at the University of Iowa's Kinnick Stadium. In the meet, the Hawks scored 181 points, compared to the Badgers' 159 points. The Hawks won the men's and women's team titles, as well as the men's and women's relay races. The meet was held on the university's campus, and the Hawk's victory was the first for the team in the meet.

UL soccer takes third

The University of Iowa men's soccer team took third place in the Big Ten Conference. The team finished with a record of 9-5-2, including a 4-3 victory over Ohio State in the conference championship game. The team was led by captain John Sidwell, who scored 10 goals and had 9 assists.
