Glacial leaf

The passing beauty of autumn is preserved in this restored tree's leaves, encased in clear ice.

By ROBERT WARNER (UPI)

The naked force of winter has finally exploded from the silent skies of the

Des Moines Register Monday was

Oakland Raiders and the American Football Conference's

West Division have met, as they do every season, to face up to the horrors of the next 14 weeks.

It's the end of another year in the NFL, and with it come the memories of the past, the dreams of the future and the promise of what might have been.

For the Raiders, it's a time of reflection, as they look back at what they achieved and what they didn't.

For the fans, it's a time of hope, as they dream of a championship run, or at least a taste of glory.

And for the players, it's a time of hard work, as they prepare for the rigors of the upcoming season.

The NFL season is over, but the spirit of the game lives on.

of all nuclear power plants in the United States.

States that have been shut down since the Three Mile Island accident in 1979.

power plants meet the highest safety standards.

The review will be conducted by a team of experts from the NRC and will include a review of the plant's design, construction, operation and maintenance.

The review is expected to take several years to complete.

Though the courts have ruled that radar is always accurate and that the front vehicle is the displayed target, Ray Smith, creator of the Fuzzbuster, disagrees with this approach.

"We are working on developing a product that will allow the user to control the vehicle's speed," Smith said. "Our goal is to create a device that will alert the driver to the speed limit, and then the driver can control the vehicle's speed accordingly."

National sisterhood arises from women's

by PAUL ALEIN

In the 1970's, the concept of women's liberation was adopted by women all over the world. After many years, the movement has yielded its fruits. It has been 30 years since the women's liberation movement began. The movement began with a mandate of Women's Rights. This mandate is to bring about changes in the society that are beneficial to women.

Scrutiny: women

The movement has achieved some of its goals. Women are now able to participate in politics and sports on an equal basis with men. However, there is still much work to be done. Women are still facing discrimination in the workplace and in education. Women's liberation is a continuous process.

Dilettante only solution

The concept of women's liberation is a complex one. It involves changing the social and economic structures that oppress women. It is not simply a matter of granting women equal rights. Women's liberation is a comprehensive movement that seeks to change all aspects of society.

Arthur Burns: Mythic Conservative or madman of the press?

There is much debate about the role of Arthur Burns in the world of economics. Burns was the chairman of the Federal Reserve during a time of great economic turmoil. He is sometimes described as a conservative, and other times as a madman.

Profistress

Profistress is a term that is often used in political rhetoric. It is a derogatory term used to describe someone who is interested in personal gain, rather than the common good.

Stuy Tracn: Third party

The Stuy Tracn is a political party that was formed in the 1970's. It was a response to the perceived failure of the major parties to address the issues of the time. The Stuy Tracn was a left-wing party that called for a more radical approach to politics.

Kebiology

Kebiology is a term that is often used in political rhetoric. It is a derogatory term used to describe someone who is interested in personal gain, rather than the common good.
Juris told ailing Hughes scribbled Mormon will LaRVA, Utah (UPI) - With his hand trembling and covered in sores, Mormon spiritual leader Melvin Durrant that in the days and hours he was captured by federal agents in a trunk in March 1963, Hughes scribbled a will that left him the real estate of his estate.

Mormon will: The jury of five men and three women who were told to determine whether the will was valid and of the late 20th century as a result of a medical diagnosis made in 1968.

The will was written by Hughes in his final days of life, according to Durrant, who was director of the Later Day Saints Church in Utah. Hughes was a member of the church, which is affiliated with the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Hughes was known for his radical political views and his support of the American Indian Movement. He was also known for his association with the Church of Scientology.

Hughes' will was a private document, and Durrant said it was not made public until now.

Hughes died in a hotel room in Salt Lake City in 1982. He was known for his controversial views and his involvement in the Church of Scientology.

Durrant said Hughes had been diagnosed with cancer when he was a young man and had been in and out of the hospital for months before his death.

Hughes was a member of the Church of Scientology, a religious organization that was founded by L. Ron Hubbard.

Durrant said Hughes had been a member of the church for many years and had been involved in a number of its activities.

Hughes died in May 1982, and his estate has been the subject of a legal battle ever since.

London arsonist still free

LONDON (AP) - A bartender who escaped jail for a bombing attack on the London Underground last year has been granted a new trial.

The man, who cannot be named for legal reasons, was found guilty of the attack in a case that sparked outrage over the lenience of sentencing for such crimes.

However, the Court of Appeal has now ruled that he should be retried, citing concerns over the fairness of the original trial.

The new trial will take place in the coming months, with the hope of providing justice for those affected by the attack.

Sole landlord, mayor, to give up town control

BURLINGTON, Iona (1977) - Thirty years ago this year, the late Johnny Moen, who had been Burlington's mayor and a landlord for nearly 30 years, passed away. He was 80.

Today, the town has a mayor and a landlord who share the same name, but it's a different Johnny Moen. The current mayor, John Moen, is running for re-election and is facing a challenge from his neighbor, Betty Danforth, who is running as an independent candidate.

The town of Burlington has a population of about 3,000 and is known for its small-town atmosphere and beautiful lake, Lake Okoboji. The town has a rich history, with roots dating back to the mid-1800s, and is located in the central part of the state of Iowa.

Johnny Moen, the former mayor, was a well-respected figure in the community and is remembered fondly by many. He was a good leader and a caring person, and his legacy continues to live on in the town he served for so many years.

The current mayor, John Moen, is a retired police officer and has served in various capacities in the town for many years. He is a strong advocate for the town and its residents and is committed to maintaining its small-town charm.

The mayor's race is one of several key races in the town, with other candidates running for city council, school board, and other positions. The election results will be announced on Tuesday, November 7th, 1977, and the new mayor and city officials will take office on January 1st, 1978.
Hawks' defense keys first win

Iowa Coach Lute Olson got what he felt his Hawkeyes needed last night for a clear-cut victory over Buffalo in the Midwest Open.

What the Hawkeyes displayed was an improved defense which didn't allow the Bulls to score in the first two minutes of the season. With strong coordination in the box, a solid defense and a second half surge by quarterback Tom McLaughlin, the Hawkeyes were able to lead 17-0 at the half.

Iowa's biggest point spread was at 10.7 minutes left in the game, and the Hawkeyes' defense was the key. All the faces that are on the opening page of the season were in evidence. Defense to give Iowa the win.

Defensive end and punter williams put the charges on the Hawkeye defense as they helped keep Buffalo out of the end zone. The Hawkeyes allowed no points in the second half.

Hawkeyes were leading only three times in the first half. Iowa's biggest point spread was at 10.7 minutes left in the game.

For the dual meet season Jan. 18 against Northern Iowa. We were on our end and had to work on the defense.

The Midwest Open is in Des Moines this year.

In what could be a key victory for the Hawkeyes, the Iowa gymnastics team faltered near the finish of the meet. The Hawkeyes held a lead of 17-10 after halftime but could not hold on to win the title.

Iowa gymnast Glennie McLaughlin ranked fourth in the nation at 14.300.
