Liquor store possible in downtown Iowan

By Tom Dufour

Iowa City, a town of only 5,800 people, looks like it's about to get its own liquor store.

In a move that could prompt the city to open one or two liquor stores in the business district, the city's planning commission held a public hearing Wednesday night to hear from residents and business owners about the possibility of opening such a store.

The commission, which sets land-use policies for the city, is considering allowing liquor stores in the downtown area. The commission has already approved a moratorium on the sale of alcohol in residential areas. But downtown, it would allow liquor stores to be built.

The commission was formed in 1977 and has 10 members. It meets regularly to consider new developments in the city.

The commission's decision would be made based on factors such as the number of people who live or work in the downtown area and the availability of parking.

City planning director Stephen Dufour said the commission is not expected to make a recommendation on the liquor store issue until after its annual meeting in February.

Dufour said the commission will consider other issues before making a decision on the liquor store. Those issues include the number of people who live or work in the downtown area and the availability of parking.

UI enrollment, number of women rise

By JAY STEPHEN Special to the Daily Iowan

The University of Iowa, which has had the total enrollment for women exceed that of men during the past 11 years, has also registered this year the largest percentage increase in the number of women in 11 years.

The number of women students enrolled at the University of Iowa has increased by 33 per cent during the past two years, according to figures compiled by UI President Richey.

This increase has exceeded the number of men students by 13 per cent, bringing the ratio of women to men to its highest point since 1966.

The dual enrollment effect at UI was noted in the fall semester when the number of women students increased by 30 per cent, according to UI statistics.

One reason for the increase, according to UI officials, is the fact that more women are now attending the University of Iowa than ever before.

UI has been placed on the list of the top 20 universities in the nation for the number of women students enrolled.

The enrollment of women at UI has increased from 19 per cent in 1966 to 27 per cent in 1968, according to UI President Richey.

The increase in the number of women students at UI has been particularly noted in the undergraduates and secondary schools.

The enrollment of women in these schools has gone from 11 per cent in 1966 to 17 per cent in 1968, according to UI figures.

The increase in the number of women students at UI has also been noted in the rate of enrollment of women in the schools of education, business, and engineering.

The enrollment of women in these schools has increased from 22 per cent in 1966 to 28 per cent in 1968, according to UI figures.

The increase in the number of women students at UI has also been noted in the rate of enrollment of women in the schools of arts and sciences.

The enrollment of women in these schools has increased from 17 per cent in 1966 to 20 per cent in 1968, according to UI figures.

The increase in the number of women students at UI has also been noted in the rate of enrollment of women in the schools of health and human services.

The enrollment of women in these schools has increased from 18 per cent in 1966 to 22 per cent in 1968, according to UI figures.

Renewal of victims

Throughout the town of urban renewal, Iowa City officials have created a resolution of hate judgment and sensitivity to the desires and needs of others. Recently, Iowa City officials have created a resolution of hate judgment and sensitivity to the desires and needs of others. In addition, a new ordinance has been approved that makes it illegal to discriminate against individuals on the basis of their race, color, religion, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, or disability. This new ordinance is intended to provide greater protection against discrimination in housing, employment, and public accommodations. The new ordinance also includes a provision that prohibits public employees from engaging in discriminatory conduct.

The new ordinance will be effective immediately and will apply to all public employees. The city is committed to enforcing this ordinance and will take appropriate action against any employee who engages in discriminatory conduct.

We urge you to support this new ordinance and to work with us to ensure that all individuals are treated with respect and dignity, regardless of their race, color, religion, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, or disability.
Strike violence erupts, eastern coalfields quiet

By Political Press International

Individually monitored pits and union-coal operators were left in the dark on Thursday night when the bureau of vital statistics released figures indicating that 76 miners were killed in various accidents in the coalfields.

A number of the fatalities occurred in the eastern coalfields, where the operators were reportedly working to maintain order.

The figures were released by the bureau of vital statistics, which said that the number of fatalities in the coalfields had increased by 20 per cent over the same period last year.

Union coal operators have long maintained that the figures are not accurate and that the number of fatalities is higher than reported.

The operators have repeatedly called for better monitoring of the coalfields and for the government to take action to prevent the accidents.

A number of the fatalities occurred in mines that were operating without proper ventilation and ventilation systems, which can lead to suffocation and carbon monoxide poisoning.

The operators have also called for better enforcement of safety regulations and for the government to provide better training for miners.

In other news, the government announced that it would be increasing the number of security forces in the coalfields to prevent further violence.

The decision was made in response to the recent increase in violence, which has led to a number of fatalities and injuries.

MEXICO CITY (UPI) - American prisoners to be repatriated this week under a new bilateral exchange treaty said Thursday they are happy to be going home - even if it means repudiating additional time in prison.

"We don't really know what to expect," Henry Wood, 48, of San Mateo, Calif., said Thursday. "We have been here for so long and we have a lot of friends here that we want to see."

Another prisoner, who asked not to be named, said he was coming to parole in the United States.

On Friday, prisoner John W. Bita, 43, of Pflugerville, Texas, was released from prison in Mexico.

Bita, who had been in prison for two years, was one of the 32 prisoners who are scheduled to be repatriated this week.

According to reports, the prisoners will be flown to San Antonio, Texas, on Sunday on a chartered flight arranged by the Mexican government.

The prisoners were to be flown to the United States on Sunday morning and will arrive back here around midday.

The Robbersons, who are originally from Brownsville, Texas, were released from prison in Mexico.

Herbal remedies ease winter ills

By VIRGINIA ROUSE

Your nose is growing an itch this week, but don’t worry—your year is not as bad as it sounds. December is not the only month that can bring cold symptoms. As the days grow shorter and the temperatures drop, it is time to start thinking about natural healing methods.

There are many herbs that can help with the symptoms of winter sickness. For example, yarrow tea is great for colds and flu. Yarrow is a common herb that grows in many parts of the world, and it is used to treat a variety of ailments. To make yarrow tea, simply boil a cup of water with a few sprigs of yarrow. The tea will be ready in a few minutes, and it will help alleviate your cold symptoms.

Another herb that is great for colds and flu is sage. Sage is a herb that has been used for centuries to treat a variety of ailments. To make sage tea, simply boil a cup of water with a few sprigs of sage. The tea will be ready in a few minutes, and it will help alleviate your cold symptoms.

If you are feeling rundown and tired during the winter months, there are many herbs that can help boost your energy levels. For example, ginseng is a herb that is great for energy. Ginseng can be taken in a variety of forms, such as tea or supplements. To make ginseng tea, simply boil a cup of water with a few sprigs of ginseng. The tea will be ready in a few minutes, and it will help boost your energy levels.

If you are feeling anxious or stressed during the winter months, there are many herbs that can help calm your mind. For example, valerian is a herb that is great for stress relief. Valerian can be taken in a variety of forms, such as tea or supplements. To make valerian tea, simply boil a cup of water with a few sprigs of valerian. The tea will be ready in a few minutes, and it will help calm your mind.

If you are feeling down or depressed during the winter months, there are many herbs that can help lift your spirits. For example, St. John’s wort is a herb that is great for depression. St. John’s wort can be taken in a variety of forms, such as tea or supplements. To make St. John’s wort tea, simply boil a cup of water with a few sprigs of St. John’s wort. The tea will be ready in a few minutes, and it will help lift your spirits.

In conclusion, there are many herbs that can help with the symptoms of winter sickness. These herbs can be taken in a variety of forms, such as tea or supplements. To make these teas, simply boil a cup of water with a few sprigs of the herb. The tea will be ready in a few minutes, and it will help relieve your symptoms.

Presley mimic delivers "embarrassing parody"

Johnny Wise

There are accusations when the best defense we give up who get more problema from working in a narrower range of goals and tools to their advantage. It seems that the whole original is still on the first song of their album. What else: that's the way it was and that's meant as a parody of Presley. This was the latest in a series of such parodies, by the way, the show quite accurately.

Student admits thefts, stole cars to commute

SOUTHEASTERN, N.Y. — A 19-year-old student who admitted stealing cars up to 100 times around the area of 61st Avenue and 1st Street in this town, has been charged with theft in a case that was settled this week. The police reported that the car was stolen by William Walsh of 101 William Floyd Parkway, who was charged with a felony.

When police arrested the suspect, identified as Michael Walsh of the Southeastern police department, they also arrested two other men, Friday, police said, tapping a two-month investigation by the officers and young police and the Suffolk County Community College police.

The officer said, Wednesday, police said Walsh of the husband, the suspect, was arrested last week, where he was charged initially with the count of second degree theft. He was charged with the count of second degree theft.

After 7 pm.
Next year you could be on scholarship.

An Air Force ROTC 2-year scholarship. Which not only pays your tuition, but also gives you $100 a month allowance. And picks up the tab for your books and lab fees, as well.

And after college, you’ll receive a commission in the Air Force...go on to further, specialized training...and get started as an Air Force officer. There’ll be travel, responsibility, and a lot of other benefits.

But it all starts right here...in college...in the Air Force ROTC. Things will look up...so look us up. No obligation, of course.
