One or more repetitions for low-level radioactive waste may be in operation in Iowa within the next two years, although the matter's going to be decided soon, according to Fred Darby, Iowa's former radiation commissioner, who said he has not lost the 1,300-foot depth of salt bed necessary to house the waste. Darby said he's set Jan. 16 for presentence hearing of Melvin Hughes, who was convicted of forgery and illegal possession of a weapon in the Hughes' estate. No time was set for Hughes' appeal to the Iowa Supreme Court. Polanski

WASHINGTON, D.C. (UPI) -- Roman Polanski, director of "Rosemary's Baby" and "Peyton Place," will enter the United States legally to serve two years in a California prison where he was convicted of raping a 13-year-old in 1969. Polanski's escape from prison was reported by the Los Angeles Times. Polanski, 46, had been convicted in a nonjury trial by Judge Fredric Faxon in 1969 of having unlawful sexual intercourse with a minor. Iowa considers 'hot dump'

"I think it's important for Iowans to consider why Indians or any communities being a radioactive dump, and that's because of the dangers of radioactive material escaping into the environment," he said.

KQCR-AM, a radio station in Iowa City, Cedar Rapids, has not currently ranked in those under 30,000 people, has apparently touched a nerve through it, according to Fred Darby, Iowa's former radiation commissioner, who said he has not lost the 1,300-foot depth of salt bed necessary to house the waste. The ads, which appeared on television and radio in the general area of Los Angeles, contain not only a tape-recorded message from the accused killer, but also a picture of a woman and her father. Arraignment procedures for the accused were scheduled for this morning.

The woman's father, according to the police, will be allowed to hear the tape-recorded message. According to the police, the accused had previously made contact with the victims and their families.

A presidential peace initiative unveiled yesterday was an overall 10 percent decrease in the number of people reporting crime. The report said.

The phone number later was traced to a man who said "his wife has been dead for two years," according to Stirling's office.

The service received a response from a woman who said "her husband had died three years ago." This was the last call made.

Stones' "gifts" to Nixon raise $3 million ire

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has issued licenses in two major states to a group that it believes is controlled by a large political donor to President Nixon, the Justice Department announced today. In New York, the group seeks to use the licenses to operate a substantial political organization, the Justice Department said. The group, the Southern Political Action Committee, was formed in December by members of the Nixon administration and has raised $3 million for political causes. The licenses allow the group to raise money through political campaigns and to conduct political activities.

Congress gets increases in S.S. taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress agreed yesterday for the first time in its history to raise social security taxes on public and private sector employees. The measure, which passed by a vote of 267 to 133, was the first increase in the social security tax since 1935 and will raise more than $3 billion in federal revenues. The tax increase, which was deemed necessary to sustain the government’s social security program, will apply to all workers earning more than $10,000 per year. The increase will take effect in January 1974 and will be applied to both wages and salaries.

Company town gets evicted

LANE, Ohio (AP) — The town of Lane, Ohio, has been disbanded by the Lane County Court, which has ordered the mayor and council to vacate the town hall and cease all public functions. The order, which was issued by the court, comes after a long dispute between the town and a neighboring company, Lane Mining Company. The company had purchased the town, which is located on its property, in 1910. The dispute has been ongoing for years, with the company claiming ownership of the town and the town council arguing that it was an independent entity.

National farm strike falters

By United Press International

The United Farm Workers of America said yesterday that its strike against the California agricultural companies is faltering. The UFW, which represents thousands of farm workers in the state, has been fighting for better wages and working conditions for years. However, recent developments have raised doubts about the strike's effectiveness. The UFW said that it has received reports of companies paying workers less than the minimum wage or not paying at all. The union also said that it is having trouble getting support from other farmers and farm workers.

CINCINNATI (UPI) - Francis Scott Calder didn't have a dime for the parking meter, but he did have his checkbook with him.

In a gesture that would please the most ardent of slushers, Calder wrote a check for $1 and left it in the meter.

"The check was cashed at 1:45 in the morning. Our machine is still working on the check but we're not sure why," said the meter attendant.

The law has a one-cent minimum charge and Calder's check was good for two cents. The attendant said that he would be handling the situation in the morning.

The machine is equipped with a magnetic strip card reader and Calder's check was read by the machine.

Detroit Pistons dump Brown

DETROIT (UPI) - Rick Brown, 29, had been in the shadow of the Pistons' star players over the past few weeks as an injury-plagued basketball career, then turned into a coaching one. But his success as an assistant coach was eclipsed by the second anniversary of the death of Bob Sharp, who had been Brown's roommate and mentor. Brown, who had been coach of the University of Michigan's basketball team, had also beenSharp's roommate and mentor. On Wednesday, March 18, 1988, Brown was killed in a car accident in Muscatine, Iowa.

The Detroit Pistons announced today that they would honor Sharp's memory by making Brown's former assistant coach, John Kuester, their new head coach. Kuester had served as an assistant coach under Sharp for three years.

Dear Santa: Don't forget Hawks

While making one of our daily treks through the halls of the university, our football team's radio duty was being carried out by the DI Sports Staff. Our sports staff had been dreaming of doing something special to make the radio sportscast more interesting. They were focusing on something that would make the listeners feel as though they were really a part of the game. The idea was to bring the excitement of the game to the listeners, but with a twist. They decided to do a live broadcast from the radio booth during the game, and to make it even more exciting, they planned to include some special guests.

Extra Point
with the DI Sports Staff

When the game started, the radio booth was buzzing with excitement. The DI Sports Staff had been working hard to prepare for this event, and they were determined to make it a success. With the game on the line and the fans cheering loudly, the radio booth became a hotbed of activity. They were fielding calls from fans, taking requests for updates on the game, and providing live commentary on the game.

Iowa teams ready for busy holidays

While most UI students will be concentrating on relaxation over the holiday season, some Iowa athletic teams will be busy preparing for upcoming games.

The women's basketball team will travel to Miami to take on Florida on Dec. 31. They will leave Dec. 29 and return Jan. 2 in Miami. The game will be held at the Miami Orange Bowl.

The women's swimming and diving team will travel to the University of Nebraska at Lincoln for the 11th annual Blue-Iowa Duals on Dec. 16. They will leave Iowa City after the meet and will return Dec. 17. The meet will be held in the Recreation Center Pool.

The men's basketball team will travel to Marietta, Ohio, for a game against Marietta College on Dec. 21. They will leave Dec. 18 and return Dec. 22. The game will be played at Marietta College.

The wrestling team will travel to the University of Illinois for a dual meet on Dec. 18. They will leave Dec. 15 and return Dec. 19. The meet will be held at the University of Illinois.
