City faces high election debt

The sheriff's department now collects $52,000 a year from the county for rapists.

"We get calls when someone is a rapist and we get this money to pay for the victim's therapy," said Darald Morris, chief of the sheriff's department. "We go out and get the money to pay for the therapy and we keep the money.

Edmonds, who runs the county's animal control unit, said that the money for the animal shelter has been used to pay for the wages of the animal control officers and to keep the shelter running.

Edmonds said that the county has received $73,000 in donations for the shelter, but that the money is being kept for the shelter.

North Side moratorium modifications okayed

By PHIL DONNELLY

"Loosely, it's a moratorium for a proposed expansion of the North Side moratorium," said a Planning and Zoning Commission member Tuesday night.

The modifications were submitted by the city's teachers' association, which argued that the moratorium's "expansion of single-family dwellings" would not be in the best interest of the city's residents.

The council also discussed the possibility of a public hearing for the proposed amendment, which was unanimously approved.

Steve Klein, 18, of Hillside Trail Drug Court was arrested at 12:28 a.m. Tuesday in Iowa City police and charged with sexual assault with intent to commit sexual abuse and child molestation.

The first burglary occurred in room 108 of the Iowa City Central High School on Tuesday, according to police. The second burglary occurred in room 208 of the same building.

Betrayal

Lately, there has been a great deal of wrangling, and perhaps even open warfare, over the possibility of Jimmy Carter being a non-mal compromised individual. The problem is that we cannot be sure that there is a problem. The proposal in question is that we could lose him, even the worst-case scenario, and yet never be able to reassert the control that the public wants.

The latest in a series of winter storms yanked by the National Weather Service hit the Northeast with a vengeance Tuesday, bringing more than a foot of snow in many areas and shutting down transportation and business as the region. The storm, which has been on the East Coast for over a week, is expected to continue through the weekend and into next week.

In New York City, schools were closed for the second consecutive day as the city grappled with the aftermath of the storm. The city's transportation system was also severely impacted, with subways and buses running on reduced schedules.

Sadam up in arms to Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Egyptian President Anwar SadatE został Tuesday to “resume talk” to get sup- plements from the United States on arms he has done so before.

Sadat, a hard-line fervent Arab, has faced sharp criticism in detail in Israeli leaders and if he does not get these weapons, he may not be able to face them.

But Sadat said he would not discuss the issue until 1979.

Earlier in the day, the Egyptian leader said he had been told by the United States that he would have to discuss the issue with President Carter in order to receive the arms.

“President Carter will get something,” Sadat said.

He also said he would be meeting with Israeli President Yitzhak Rabin to discuss the issue.

Sadat had asked the United States to supply the arms to the Israeli government for a major military operation in the Middle East.

The arms are reportedly valued at $20 billion and will be used to attack Iraq.

Sadat said he was in the final stages of developing a plan to attack Iraq and in order to complete the operation, he needs the arms.

Sadat also said he will visit several European nations before returning to Egypt.

The trip is expected to last for at least 10 days and will include stops in France, Italy, Germany, and the United Kingdom.

Sadat has been a vocal supporter of Israel and has been critical of the United States for its support of the Palestinian cause.

He has previously threatened to attack Israel if the United States does not fulfill its obligations.

Sadat also said he will meet with Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak to discuss the situation.

Sadat also said he will meet with United Nations Secretary General Kurt Waldheim to discuss the situation.

Sprouts late, Wolitzer in full bloom

Although wearied and grappling with jet lag, the author briefly considered her solitude for the first time. No, she was grateful for the moment of respite. She continued her work, typing away on her laptop, fingers moving swiftly, creating a jumble of characters on the screen.

She was grappling with jet lag, the so-called "time zone blues." Despite her efforts to adjust, she was finding it difficult to get a good night's sleep. The difference in time zones had caused a disruption in her circadian rhythm, leaving her feeling groggy and fatigued.

Hilma Wolitzer

Wolitzer experienced a similar scenario many times during a recent trip to Hollywood. After several hours of non-stop work, she was exhausted and ready for a break. She decided to take a short walk around the neighborhood to clear her mind.

As she walked, she noticed a sign that read "Vague stupor cured; lost lottery ticket found." She couldn't help but smile at the humor of the phrase. She had always been a believer in the power of humor to ease the discomfort of daily life.

ROYAL GARCIA (1971)

Lettuce America's Bible in your very soul! It's an excellent script for a new play. It has all gears well. It will be produced by Independent Theater. Wolitzer told her friend about the play and how it had been selected for a prestigious theater festival.

She was in the habit of constantly writing and was always looking for new scripts to work on. Her latest project was a script for a new play called "Vague stupor cured; lost lottery ticket found." She was excited about the potential of the script and was looking forward to working on it.

Although some writers may find it challenging to adapt a script from a novel, Wolitzer had always been successful in her work. She had a knack for bringing the characters and story to life on stage.

Namath's decision based on boredom

NEW YORK (UPI) -- Joe Namath and Tuesday boredom go hand-in-hand, and it could be said the 34-year-old quarterback of the New York Jets didn't think he could stand another football season after losing his starting job as the 34-year-old Namath.

"I got bored one day," said Joe Namath. "We were not practicing and I was standing around the practice field and I was looking at the $13,000-a-year-a-game contract and I think about that and I thought, 'I've got this job, I've got this money, I might as well give it a try.'

"I decided I'd go back to school and I did a little Bit of work. I went to school for a year, but I missed the people that I've known at the practice field. It's a tough situation. You have to have had that feeling.

"I'd quit, but that one day on the practice field I knew I'd quit, but that one day on the practice field I knew I'd go back.

"I wanted to get back to school and I wanted to get back to football and I wanted to get back to the people that I know. It was a tough decision to retire from football.

"I'm not saying I'm done with football. I'm not saying I'm done with school. I'm not saying I'm done with anything. I'm just saying I'm done with football for now."
